

Dental Notice!

During the thirty years which I have devoted to the practice of Dentistry in P. E. I. I have kept fully abreast of the times by a close study of the progress made in the science, by testing every apparently desirable new feature introduced, and by adopting all such as have commended themselves to me as conducive to painless treatment, as time saving, or as productive of more artistic and comfortable results. In pursuit of this course, I have from time to time visited the large American dental institutions and centres of supply. During a recent visit to New York I secured the latest and most approved labor saving appliances and studied the most advanced methods of Crown and Bridge work making me therefore in a position to do this class of work at less than half the price hitherto charged in this Province. I also purchased some Entirely new Appliances for regulating children's teeth, a branch of the profession very much neglected here. I am administering NARCOTIC for the PAINLESS EXTRACTING OF TEETH, a safe, pleasant, anesthetic, occupies only from one to two minutes, no unpleasant after effects, NO EXTRA CHARGE. I have had thirty years experience giving anesthetics. Prices for Crown and Bridge work, Gold Crown 22k, $1.50 to $3.00, teeth tipped with G. Id $2.00 to $2.50. I guarantee all work and will be glad to show specimens.

ENGLAND'S OLDEST WOMAN IS DEAD

She Was a Friend of the Late Queen Victoria

She Met Marshal Blucher and Entertained the Prussian General After Waterloo—Made a Trip to Russia at 92.

Mrs. Margaret Neve, King's ward's oldest subject, died on Saturday, April 4, 1903, at her home in Guernsey. For 110 years she preserved her health, strength and even her eyesight, and was known throughout the United Kingdom. She was a wealthy woman, lived on a charming estate and gladly welcomed visitors. She was a friend of the late Queen Victoria, and never missed sending on Her Majesty's birthday a telegram of congratulation to her. The Queen never forgot to return the compliment and had Mrs. Neve's portrait hung in a conspicuous place at Osborne. When ninety-two years old Mrs. Neve went to Cracow to see Kosciusko's monument. She enjoyed the trip so much that she went on to Russia, accompanied only by her younger sister, who was eighty-nine years of age. Mrs. Neve lived the simple life of a country gentlewoman and was keenly interested in her estate, over which he walked unaided by stick or arm. She retained the old-fashioned fondness for the darning needle, work which she accomplished without glasses. Among the many accomplishments of Mrs. Neve, who entertained Marshal Blucher shortly after the battle of Waterloo, was a translation which she made of Dante's works into French. She had been a widow for the last half century, had no children, and in May would have been 111 years of age. The fact of the great age of Mrs. Neve is substantiated by the preservation of her baptismal register. Beautiful grounds surround Rouge Huis, the home of Mrs. Neve. Mrs. Neve's first recollection seems to be that of leaving her native island at the age of thirteen, in order to proceed to Bristol, situated between the counties of Gloucester and Somerset, to be educated. This trip had, of course, in those days to be accomplished in a sailing boat. Mrs. Neve's impressions of the great battle of Trafalgar were rather faint, but of Waterloo, fought in the year of her marriage, 1815, she had the most vivid recollections. She wedded a Kentish gentleman, and enjoyed twenty-five years of conjugal happiness traveling about the Continent. Among many other places they visited the historic field of Waterloo, a souvenir of which this wonderful old lady retained to the day of her death. It was in the form of a buckle belt marked with an "W", and most evidently he belonged to a soldier of the Imperial Guard.

So inherent was the love of travel that Mrs. Neve continued her custom of visiting foreign countries even up to the advanced age of ninety-two, when she went to Russia. To habits of simplicity and early rising Mrs. Neve attributed much of the health which she enjoyed during her long life. It was her custom to partake of only three meals in the course of the day, and to eat absolutely nothing between them. Against afternoon tea she set her face like a flint, and nobody could persuade her to drink the beverage except at the usual hour for supper. Until as recently as five years ago it was Mrs. Neve's custom to walk to church, situated at a distance of half a mile from Rouge Huis, both going and returning.

He Got Even.
The late Paul Leicester Ford had, as every one knows, a deformity of the spine. Any reference to this he resented, sometimes with considerable acrimony.

On one occasion in Ford's youth he paid an overbold compliment to a girl whom he admired.

"You are," he said, "the handsomest young woman I have ever seen."

The girl, vexed, answered rudely: "I wish I could say as much for you, Mr. Ford."

"You could," Ford retorted, "if you would lie as I did."

The Supplementary Set.
During a lesson in physiology Willie's teacher asked him if he knew the name of the last teeth people get, to which he replied: "Yes'm; false teeth!"

Woman's Logic.
Husband—But, my dear, we can't afford to give a dinner party. Wife—I know we can't; but if we don't give it everybody will know we can't afford it.—Pick-Me-Up.

TRIED AGAIN AND WAS CURED
A. Bailey, After Repeated Disappointments, Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

WINNIPEG, MAN., May 25.—(Special).—So many deaths are charged to Kidney Disease and ailments resulting from disordered Kidneys that the cure of Mr. H. Bailey, of 256 Patrick street, of this city, is being widely discussed. Mr. Bailey says: "Some time ago I suffered a lot with pains across my back and in the region of the Kidneys. I had spent considerable money in England treating this ailment, but got no permanent relief. "All by chance I read of the wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills and though my previous failures made me hesitate I finally decided to try them. It was a fortunate thing for me that I did. "After taking three boxes, I found myself perfectly free from any pain whatever, and no matter what stooping or lifting work I do, I never have the old pain. "It is now two years since I was cured, and I think in justice to Dodd's Kidney Pills, I have the right to recommend them to anyone suffering from Kidney Disease."
