Crop Not So Heavy. A tour across the Island this week leads the Government to believe that the potato crop is not as heavy as first anticipated. Harvesting is estimated at from seventy-five to eighty per cent completed.

Although there has been big yields in some areas there are several sections reporting a lighter crop than last year. Except for a few local blight infested fields a quality good crop is expected. Where very heavy applications of fertilizer were used, there seems to be a large percentage of over-sized potatoes. However, this situation is spotty too.

Word has come through that the United States one million bushel tablestock quota for Canada was filled during the week. Very few island potatoes went through under this agreement.

On the overall picture, the October potato estimates indicate that these will be about the same as in Canada and the United States that will be required for tablestock and seed this season.

The whole problem is one of orderly marketing and proper distribution, something that farm people must organize to handle themselves if the problem is to be solved.

Orderly Marketing. Members of the recently appointed Turnip Industry Committee met on Tuesday to discuss the possibilities of using our Provincial and Dominion marketing legislation to improve our turnip marketing system. They were very cordially received.

This is the first request for the establishment of such a board in this Province, and naturally some objections were raised. The matter of procedure for having such a scheme drawn up and presented had to be decided also.

Some members thought that our marketing system was a gamble and gambling with the farmers' products could not be controlled. However, considering that almost every other industry or profession is organized to protect their interests, it is not surprising that they can sell the products of their labor at uniform rates without any price cutting or gambling. Farmers should be entitled to some control in the marketing of their products.

Producing sufficient food, keeping our young people on the farms, the prosperity and contentment in our rural communities, these are the things that the world, is all based on orderly distribution to assure markets at a fair price to consumer, distributor and the producer. Such marketing schemes are being worked out in other provinces and countries to the advantage of all three groups.

Farmers are now becoming market conscious because they feel and know that, having reached a high standard in production levels with wartime controls, they must turn their attention to orderly marketing of their products.

Failures and disappointments with such schemes and organizations in the past have provided experience and plans for orderly marketing of their products. If we are to have an orderly system of marketing our products and distributing the world's food, it must be based on a sound and orderly system of marketing at home.

The decision reached at Tuesday's meeting is that, when such marketing plans have been agreed upon, they be submitted to the Minister of Agriculture. He will then submit the scheme along with suggestions for a board to the Executive Council. Then if any further information or explanations are required the committee representing the industry concerned will be called upon. This procedure is being worked out and will be pursued immediately in connection with our turnip board.

GOVT. TOOK

Continued from page 1. the shipments among creameries and packers in the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia. The Government found it took the biggest loss on shipments from Denmark which provided the bulk of the butter. The total loss was $729,000, costing $8,351,343, was $729,000.

Most of Australian and New Zealand butter was under contract for shipment to the United Kingdom but under a clause in the agreement which allowed shipment to dollar areas to build dollar reserves, these two countries split a $4,800,000 Canadian order. The Government paid each of them approximately $1,600,000. A Government loss of $4,478 was the result of the Australian deal and a loss of $66,467 on the New Zealand deal.

Why the Government sustained the loss was not disclosed in the statement. However, it appeared to result from a refusal of Canadian butter dealers to pay the high 74-cent-a-pound price, even though there was a big demand and a scarcity of butter. The Government got rid of the butter and chalked up a loss to the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation, a Government price-stabilization agency.

An odd fact about the Australian shipments was that while the Australian butter entered Canada through the port of Vancouver, New Zealand's product came through Halifax. Denmark butter entered Canada at three points—Halifax, Saint John, N.B., and Montreal.

Farm Forums provide this approach. It is a medium that can be used by any group or organization for study and action.

It's away again next Monday night for the Fall and Winter. Several planning meetings will be held next week among the leaders of last year's Forums, representatives from Women's Institutes, Co-operatives, Junior Farmers and other local groups to plan the winter's program. The local market report will follow the National program.

Everybody interested in attending these meetings is welcome. If you cannot attend the meeting but would like to see the program, contact a group in your own district. Literature and information can be obtained simply by writing the Federation office. Constructive criticism and suggestions with regard to these programs are welcome too. Do not pass judgment on the set-up until you have experienced it. All that goes with these friendly get-togethers and comes from reaching conclusions in a truly democratic way.

The topics for discussion this year are of general interest and we believe with the market report combined the program will be very interesting and informative. For real results though, it must be supported by group discussion and action.

Federation Film Here. "Tomorrow morning there will be 55,000 more people for breakfast than there was this morning and the next day there will be 55,000 more and so on. There is twenty-five million new mouths to fill in the world each year. But we are not producing 55,000 new cups of milk or 55,000 new bowls of rice or 55,000 new loaves of bread. Until we do, there cannot be any lasting peace in the world. Freedom can't be built on empty stomachs."

This was the theme of the short film based on the I. F. A. P. conference and shown at the Capital Theatre in Charlottetown the first of this week. This Film Board is organized to make this material available for circulation throughout the Province in a few months.

Monthly Meeting Of Local K. of C.

The regular monthly meeting of the Charlottetown Knights of Columbus was held Tuesday evening with the Grand Knight, Lieut. Col. L. F. MacDonald, presiding.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, activities of the various committees were reported. Five-point program was presented by the Sick, Membership, Raffles and Bowling. The chairman of these committees are: Bros. George Cheverie, Claude Carroll, Deputy Grand Knight Louis Butler, J. A. Doyle, Walter Morrissey and A. MacDonald, Bro. Chas. Praught.

Appointed as treasurer, succeeded Gerald F. Murtagh, who is now employed by the Civil Service in Ottawa.

Among the important decisions arrived at were: The tendering of a banquet to the K. of C. Juniors' ball team in recognition of their outstanding efforts in the past season, the beginning of the usual fall and winter raffles for members, and a concerted effort by the Council regarding the publication of comics which feature crime and immoral topics. In respect to the last decision the local Council unanimously agreed to have our Dominion representatives at Ottawa support a proposed Bill at Ottawa to prevent the publication of such damaging literature in Canada.

The highlight of the evening followed, when the Lecturer, Bro. Wilfred Smith, called upon His Excellency, Most Rev. James Boyle, to address the members. His Excellency dealt with some of the main features of his Ad Limina visit to Rome. The Grand Knight thanked Bishop Boyle on behalf of the Council for his most inspirational and entertaining address.

The meeting concluded with prayer by His Excellency.

Shortage of Native Songs Seen Serious

HALIFAX, Oct. 20 (CP)—Dr. J. Murray Gibson of Montreal told the annual convention of the Canadian Tourist Association today the shortage of regional native songs in Canada "is a serious thing."

He said there were many place names in the Dominion which lend themselves to song, "British Columbia," he said, "has 88 place names which lend themselves to song-writing." National songs would add color to the Dominion's tourist programs.

He noted reports that the CBC is planning to commission a series of songs about the Dominion.

Big Fish. If farm people, especially the younger group, are going to understand many of these rural problems and be sufficiently informed to do something about them, there must be some way of approaching and discussing them together.

President Reviews Work Of Fisheries Federation

President Burhoe in his annual report expressed appreciation of the action of the Provincial Government in establishing a Department of Industry and Natural Resources, which included provision for the promotion of fisheries, also for completion of a modern cold storage plant, now operating under this Department, and for an annual grant to the Federation of $500.

The President reviewed the year's activities, which included representation at a meeting in Moncton attended by the Federal Minister of Fisheries and deputies gathered to exchange ideas on the long-range programme of the department, also at the annual meeting in Ottawa of the Fisheries Council of Canada. He went on to say:

"A delegation met in Moncton with other delegations from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to discuss our wants before the advisory committee to the Fisheries Prices Support Board. I think I can safely say that not one voice was raised against our limited support in some sections of the Maritimes who would need it and whom we now know needed it badly. I would like to comment on what followed. One cannot help knowing that the advisory committee's report was favorable, but to what purpose when the main board's unfavorable decision was withheld until Parliament was dissolved and we had no representation.

"We are a non-political body and we have refrained from political activities in Ottawa in any form, but I think it is my duty to set the true facts before you regarding the interview with the Prime Minister. Some damaging statements have been made about our Federation regarding this meeting and you and the general public should know that these statements are without foundation.

"I am pleased to say that we planned to support a national song-writing contest and said this project could be encouraged in its earlier stages by the Provincial governments.

"In answer to a statement published in a Prince County paper that some of the members of our local Government agreed on a stand taken by Mr. St. Laurent, I would refer that paper to the minutes of the last legislature where a resolution was passed without dissent supporting our request for the proposed support.

"Lastly I take issue with the paper which plucked the word 'apology' from its context and made it into headlines. Your Federation had nothing to apologize for regarding this interview or its arrangement. It did, as any gentleman would do, apologize for the harsh words exchanged in the heat of that particular moment. This incident is closed and perhaps in the light of present events the decision was more wise than ours."
