The End of the Century Calendar.

The great progress of the printer's art in the nineteenth century is fittingly marked in this closing year by the artistic calendar we have just received from N. W. Ayer & Son, newspaper and magazine advertising agents, Philadelphia. True to their motto of "Keeping everlastingly at it," Messrs. Ayer & Son have so made this calendar, year after year, that a demand for it has sprung up that always quickly absorbs the edition. This calendar's proportions are commensurate with its dignity as an art work, but its size is determined solely by utility. The figures are of the generous dimensions that quickly catch the eye and make it a favorite with business men; there are also helpful suggestions accompanying each month's figures, and there is a rich ensemble of color and design. This edition will not last long; while it does, those who send 25 cents to the publishers will receive a copy postpaid.

Bentley's Liniment will cure Croup in a few minutes.

Lipton Makes Application.

CHICAGO, Jan 20—Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the last year's America's Cup challenger, Shamrock, has applied for membership in the Chicago Board of Trade. Sir Thomas has owned and operated a meat preserving and pork packing plant at the stock yards for several years, but heretofore has had no membership in the Board of Trade, being represented by the manager of his Chicago office,

Croup, the dread of every mother is instantly relieved by Bentley's Liniment.

Mud-Colored Horses.

Even the horses are being dyed khaki-color in South Africa. Black and White says the coloring lasts for two months, and does the horses no harm.

Among the sandy hillocks, khaki is a most puzzling color for the Boers. It is much to be preferred to either black or white, and experienced campaigners assert that if it had not been so frequently used to clothe the British troops the loss of life would have been much greater. The Canadian Militia department made no mistake when it resolves to clothe the contingent for South Africa with this material.—London Advertiser.

Mourning Envelopes Forbidden in France.

Henceforth mourning envelopes are not to pass through the French post. The notepaper may have as deep an edge as the sender desires, but the cover must be white, or may be tinted, but is not to have a black edge. It is not that the department is out of sympathy with the expression of mourning by means of stationery; on the contrary, the sending of mourning cards is a decided source of revenue. It is that experience has shown the post office authorities that mourning envelopes are easily tampered with. They can be opened, and if the gummed edge is torn or frayed in the process a little ink rubbed over the black surface makes everything look right. A white envelope so interfered with would tell its own tale.—Philadelphia Record.

My father aye tell me, my mother an 'a,
Ye'd mak a gude husband and keep me aye braw;
It's true I love Johnnie, he's young and he's bonnie,
But waes me, I ken, he was naething ava?

A FIRESIDE SPAT.

'You don't appear to be very amiable tonight, said Mrs. Dawson.

'I don't see that I have any immediate reason to,' retorted Mr. Dawson.

'It seems to me that one should be amiable naturally, without a reason,' said Mrs. Dawson.

'It that so?' growled her lord and master.

'Of course if one has any cause to be unamiable, it would be a different matter.'

'You're getting quite philosophic as your years grow on you,' said the amiable Mr. Dawson.

''You're getting awful bad tempered, I know that. What's the matter with you to-night?'

'Oh, a man's liable to feel cheerful, coming home, after working in an office all day, to find cold beef and potatoes served up to him for dinner, isn't he?' exclaimed Mr. Dawson with the greatest bitterness.

Mrs Dawson burst out laughing.

'So that's what is bothering you.'

'Funy, isn't it?' said Mr. Dawson.

'A man is never above his stomach.'

A sage remark,' observed Mr. Dawson.

'I remember the time when you used to eat cold beef with positive volacity.'

'Times have changed.'

'Yes, and so have you. You have become a bad-tempered misanthrope, and I can account for it in only one way.

'And what's that?' demanded Mr. Dawson, scornfully.

'The fact that you always had a tendency to dyspepsia. You have developed into a regular dyspeptic crank, and I recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to you.'

'I have you and your cooking to thank for it then,' said Mr. Dawson.

'You know that is untrue,' said Mrs. Dawson.

I know nothing of the kind,' said Mr. Dawson.

'Well I won't lose my temper over it, said Mrs. Dawson. 'I'm not a dyspeptic and I have eaten the same meals as you have for the last fifteen years,' she added as the last word.

A tendency to Dyspepsia is often inherited. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure dyspepsia in any case.

DEAR BRETHERN, GREETING.

We wish you prosperity and happiness during the year upon which we have just entered.

That our order has been conducive of which good is true and that much yet remains for us to do is equally true. Therefore, we must not throw off our individual responsibility in this matter of such importance to our country, to our nation and to our God.

We must be in earnest in order to accomplish the noble purposes of our time-honored institution. Then, let us meet with Maple Leaf Division, Freetown, Wednesday 31st inst., actuated by a desire to disseminate the grand cardinal principles of Love, Purity and Fidelity.

The usual railway privileges will be granted. Tickets will be issued on the 30th and 31st good for return up to and on Monday Feb. 5th.

Certificates of attendance will be required on the home trip.

We wish to have as large a representation as possible. Please don't forget the date—Wednesday, 31st inst. 1900.

DIED.

At Haverhill, Mass., on Sunday, Dec. 17th, Mary E. Platt, aged 40 years. The deceased was a woman of sweet and gentle disposition, and died as she had lived, trusting firmly in the merits of her Redeemer. Her remains were laid to rest in the presence of a large crowd of friends, in the family plot at Montrose, P. E. I.

At Elmsdale, on Friday, the 13th inst., George Hardy, in the 29th year of his age. During his long and painful illness he exhibited wonderful patience and resignation to the Divine will, and met the last enemy without a murmur, "having a desire to depart to be with Christ which is far better." He leaves a wife and two small children to mourn their loss.

CROUPS, Coughs and Colds are all quickly cured by Pyny-Pe toral. It lossens the cough almost instantly, and cures readily the most obstinate cold. Manufactured by the proprietors of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer.

A BOSTON despatch to the St. John Telegraph says:—The steamer Halifax outward bound from Boston to Halifax, is ashore on the flats off Spectacle Island in the lower harbor. Her position was learned by accident. Since the United States tug Resolute was sunk there has been no communication with Fort Warren after dark. Tonight a number of officers at the fort wishing to come to the city chartered a tug and as they come up the harbor the Halifax was discovered. The Halifax is resting easily and she will probably float on the next tide. Later: The steamer Halifax floated on the tide shortly before 1 o'clock to-day and proceeded for her destination.

A Physician is not always at hand. Guard yourself against sudden coughs and colds by keeping a bottle of Pain-Killer in the house. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c. and 50c.
