Personality!

When Ziegfeld selects them, you can be sure they have personality. This lovely New York girl, now appearing in "Rio Rita," has talent—and beauty, too—enhanced by wonderful skin and the softest waves of dark brown hair.
"When friends ask me what I do to make my hair so soft and gleamy," says Miss Hargrave, "I have to think twice to tell them, because I give so little time to it. The method I use is very popular among New York girls. I just put a little Danderine on my brush each time I use it. I am letting my hair grow; but you'd never know it. Danderine keeps it so soft and easy to arrange and holds it in place so wonderfully. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance. Friends are always commenting on it. There isn't a trace of dandruff left now that I'm using Danderine regularly. And it keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I used to."
Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair, brings out its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine! It makes the hair easy to dress; keeps it in place. It usually checks dandruff. It isn't oily; doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. A delicately fragrant necessity for the well-groomed girl!

Disgruntled Wives Send an SOS to Husbands. Are Movies Harmful to the Young?—The Wife Who Neglects Her Husband for Her Mother.

Hello Husbands—This is Station B. S. F. L. broadcasting. You men with brides of only a few months are in a fair way of losing them if you don't take a little advice from one of them.

Since the day when I said "I do" I have never received a compliment from my husband, although before our marriage he never failed to comment at least four times an hour on my beauty, which is the same now as it was then. He never brings me flowers or candy. I am expected to live in recollection of his generosity in our pre-nuptial days, but I find, as do all young wives, that I have a good forgetter and that the fact that my husband still loves me keeps slipping my memory. I need to be constantly reminded that I was picked to carry on his name because of my superior looks, intelligence and general mode of behavior.

Just remember this, my fine neglectful men, that there is always some rough tweed shoulder standing ready and anxious to be the resting place for the head of some forsaken wife, and some man willing to comfort her. And your wife is no exception to the rule. If we women have a responsibility for making you a comfortable home, you have the responsibility of making us a loving home. B. S. F. L. signing off.

BRIDES STARVED FOR LOVE.

Answer:
Heed this SOS call the brides ascending over the stormy matrimonial sea of the first year of married life. Mr. Young Husband, Go to the rescue of these poor little girls who haven't yet learned how to navigate the domestic barque nor how to pour oil on the troubled waters and who are so surprised and hurt to find that marriage isn't just a pleasure excursion with a captain who is always holding their hands and telling them how beautiful and wonderful they are.

You can't blame 'em, you know, because that is what you have led them to expect. Of course, they knew that father and mother didn't spend much time billing and cooing, and mother would probably have dropped dead with surprise if father had paid her a spontaneous compliment and that father's kisses are flavored with ham and eggs instead of sentiment, but she somehow thought it would be all different when she got married to you.

She simply couldn't imagine you cooling down from fever heat to sub-normal. She couldn't imagine you stopping your love-making and petting.

She couldn't picture you giving her a peck on the back of her ear instead of a long, thrilling kiss, and so when she finds herself standing in mamma's shoes with a husband who takes her for granted and says it with beefsteaks instead of violets, it is no wonder that she is disappointed. More, she is chagrined and hurt and jealous and resentful and she begins to feel like retaliating and to think that if you don't appreciate her there are plenty of men who will.

It is a foolish attitude to take, of course; for aren't you giving her the surest proof in the world that you love her by working your head off to give her luxuries? But it is a condition and not a theory that confront you. And there aren't many brides who are Solomons in paticcoats and there are mighty few acts of folly of which a green-eyed woman cannot be guilty.

Furthermore, it is true what this disgruntled bride says. There are plenty of men waiting round to let these disappointed young wives weep out their loneliness on their shoulders and to feed them on the soft talk for which they are hungering and on which they are accustomed to being fed and which they can no more do without than a dope fiend can his morphine or his cocaine.

So, Mr. Young Husband, don't let your romantic little wife have to go to some other man for her kisses. Do the petting yourself. Keep up the jolly and you will save yourself and her a lot of trouble and keep out of the divorce courts.

After a while she will settle down into the business of life and she will comprehend that because a man isn't always assuring his wife that he loves her it is no indication that he has ceased to care for her and because he isn't always flattering her it isn't any sign that he doesn't admire her.

But break her into it gently. Don't stop your jolly at the altar with a suddenness as if you had been smitten dumb. The job is too great. Sometimes it jars her principles loose. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—What about the movies? I am a boy 18 years old who will enter college next fall. All my life I have been kept away from the movies until just this last year when I have gone against my mother's wishes. She objects strenuously to them and says they are no place for a clean boy or girl to go to. I see no harm in going to a good picture. Who is right, mother or I?? A BOY.

Answer:
You are. Your mother's objection to the movies is evidently based on prejudice and not on knowledge, for while there are some pictures that it would be better, perhaps, for immature boys and girls not to see, the great majority of them are entirely unobjectionable and in many cases educational and inspirational.

For your mother not to let you go to see a moving picture because there are some sensational ones in as foolish as it would be for her to refuse to let you read a book because there are many books that are immoral. As a matter of fact there are many more books that are harmful than there are many more books that are harmful than there are pictures. There is a censor of films but not of literature.

Personally, I have never been able to see the wisdom of trying to keep everything that told about the darker side of life away from girls and boys. Ignorance is not innocence. It doesn't make for innocence or for the safety of the young to keep them ignorant of facts that they must some day face in one way or another.

They have to live in the world as it is, not as their mothers wish it were, and the more they know about it the better fitted they are to take care of themselves. The more danger signals we erect along a perilous road the better chance the young have of negotiating it without mishap.

I can't think of any other one thing that has done more to educate and amuse and cheer up humanity at large than have the moving pictures. They bring romance into drab lives. They rest the tired business man and give the weary housewife something to think about as she goes about her tasks. They enable those who never travel to see all the wonders of far places.

They permit us all who are stay-at-homes to attend every public function, meet every famous person, sit at every great banquet, take part in every great event in the world and to be barred from them is to be cut off from one of the greatest advantages of modern civilization. Induce your mother to go to see a movie and you will convert her and make her a fan. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—When mother-in-law and son-in-law can't get along together what is the remedy? My wife spends all of her time at her mother's

For Better Pies and Cakes

PURITY FLOUR

Facts and recipes to prove that PURITY is "Best for All Your Baking"

"In making cakes," say baking authorities:
"You must bear in mind that Purity is a strong rich flour with great expanding qualities. If your cake recipe calls for ordinary pastry flour, use 1 tablespoon less per cup of Purity Flour, and if milk is called for use half milk and half water (luke-warm), and your cake will stay moist longer."
Purity Flour gives extra richness and flavour to cakes—they keep fresh and moist for days when made with this famous flour.

"In baking pies," say baking experts:
"You will get pastry that melts in your mouth if you use Purity Flour in the right way. For instance, here is an economical, tested recipe for pie crust that is very successful: 2½ cups Purity Flour, 1 cup lard, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup cold water. (This makes enough for two pies). For extra rich pastry, use half butter and half lard."
Mix the flour and salt, cutting in the shortening until the mixture is like fine meal, gradually adding the extra quantity of water—but not a drop more—and roll out thin. Remember, a dough heavy with water will not flake up in the oven as too much moisture prevents quick action of the heat.

"PURITY" ICE BOX COOKIES—NEW!

1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup Purity Flour
2 cups raisins
1 cup nuts and raisins chopped (optional)

Make the dough in a roll and keep it overnight in the ice box or a cool place... next day you can slice it readily for baking, without extra flour to keep it from sticking.

SPICED "PURITY" LAYER CAKE

2 cups brown sugar, cream with ½ cup of butter, add 2 beaten eggs, stir in 1 cup sour milk, add 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon and ginger and ½ nutmeg, and 2 cups of Purity Flour. Dissolve 1 teaspoon of soda in ¼ cup of boiling water. Add last to cake mixture and bake in layers, using date filling.

"PURITY" 5-HOUR DINNER ROLLS

1½ cups tepid milk
1 cup compressed yeast cake
1 tablespoon sugar
3 cups Purity Flour

Dissolve yeast in the water, add to milk with the salt, then beat in 2½ cups flour. When light, in about an hour, add the sugar, the shortening (melted), the egg and balance of flour to knead, shape into dinner rolls and let rise to double in bulk and bake in moderate oven (375°).

DAINTY SWISS ROLL

4 medium sized eggs
¾ cup white sugar
1 cup Purity Flour

1 teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon baking soda

Mix in the order given, sifting the last three items in together. Beat well and bake in large dripping tin. Have ready three-quarters of a cup of jam (warmed) and a warm towel with sugar scattered over it. Turn the cake on to the towel, spread with jam, roll quickly and keep in towel until cool. Home-made lemon curd or any jelly can be used for filling.

PRIZE WINNING "PURITY" TEA BISCUITS

4 cups Purity Flour
3 heaping teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon shortening

Sift well the flour, salt and baking powder, then add butter and shortening, mixing thoroughly. Then add enough milk to make a soft dough, mixing first with a knife and finish with the hands on board. Roll out and cut in cakes 1 inch thick. Bake in a fairly hot oven from 12 to 15 minutes.
A little white sugar may be added to flour mixture if desired—about one tablespoon. When taken from oven place in a cool spot.

Tea Stains
Ice-tea stains can be removed from linen by soaking the stain as soon as possible in Javelle water and then pouring boiling water through it.

Odors
To remove odors from the ice box, cupboard, or pantry, fill a dish with boiling water and drop in a piece of charcoal.

Doughnuts
To avoid the grease in doughnuts try adding a pinch of ginger.

Maid (to master returning from club): "Please, sir, mistress is packing her trunks, she intends to leave you."
Master: "Hush! Not a word! I have come home too soon."

and I come home to a note saying: "You will find your supper in the oven. I am at Mother's."

For The Cook

CHOCOLATE DOUBLES

Two eggs, two-thirds cup sugar, 1½ squares chocolate, ½ cup nut meats, one teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup candied cherries, one cup pastry flour, one teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, one teaspoon melted shortening. Beat eggs well, add sugar, salt, flour, sifted with baking powder and mixed with chopped nut meats and candied cherries, cut in pieces. Then add chocolate, melted, and vanilla, and the melted shortening (the shortening may be omitted if desired). Drop by spoonfuls on a greased sheet, shape in rounds, and press a nut meat or candied cherry on half of them. Bake till brown. Spread underside of half the cake with jelly or frosting, and press the other half on them.

HALIFAX LOSES RUM-RUNNING TRADE

HALIFAX, N. S., April 19.—A rum-runner usually leaves about $5,000,000 a trip to its base for fuel and supplies, and Halifax firms have lost thousands of dollars since this sort of vessel was forced to stop calling here with liquor cargoes. Nearly all of the oil-burners are now using St. Pierre, Miquelon, as their base, and as facilities for coaling steamers are rapidly nearing completion at that place, the picturesque rum-runners may cease visiting this port.
