McNaughton To Command Second Front?

MONTREAL, June 22—(Monday)—(CP)—The Gazette, in a dispatch from its Washington correspondent, L. S. B. Shapiro, says today that Lt.-Gen. A. G. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian corps overseas, "is heavily favored to assume supreme command of all united nations forces charged with opening the second front in Europe, probably during 1942."

The dispatch quotes a military source as confirming that "without question the British War Office favors Gen. McNaughton above all others" and that "the British War Office is so deeply impressed by the Canadian commander on his visit here last winter that they are here likely to support the choice of the British war office."

First Attack On Canadian Soil In This War.

OTTAWA, June 21—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston announced late today that Dominion Government telegraph station at Estevan Point, Vancouver Island, was shelled by a submarine at 10:35 P. M. Pacific time Saturday night. No damage resulted, the announcement said.

Col. Ralston gave no other details of the attack beyond the fact that the information was received here from the commander-in-chief, west coast defence.

War Situation Last Night

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON, Associated Press War Analyst)

The European scene, clouded by fresh uncertainties in Russia and North Africa, dominates the war news. All observers agreed it is developments to eastward that brought Prime Minister Churchill again to the United States to talk war strategy with President Roosevelt.

Westward, the war clouds have been lightened by United States air-naval successes in the Coral Sea and the North Pacific, successes that put a crimp in Japanese striking power against any United Nation except China—and possibly Russia. Chinese sources insist that Japan now is preparing for a back-door intervention in the war in Europe by attacking Siberia, probably in July.

The Chungking reasoning on which that is based, as differentiated from Chinese information as to Japanese troop or plane movements, does not seem convincing. Certainly the outcome of American-Japanese air and sea clashes in the North Pacific did little to help mount a Nipponese attack on Russia.

There and in the Coral Sea Japanese strength in ships, planes, skilled air crews and, above all, plane carriers was heavily whittled down. Those are military elements on which Tokyo must count heavily if it is in fact planning a surprise attack on Russia.

They would be more essential in meeting possible American use of the Alaska-Aleutian Islands-Kamachata air lanes westward to help Russia or hammer Japan than any base the enemy has or could set up in the Western Aleutians for interception purposes. Those fog-shrouded and often weather-bound rocky extensions of the Western Hemisphere could be bypassed easily. The very conditions that make it difficult to blast the Japanese off of them no less serve to make them of small value for interception purposes.

But as for Chinese reports of impending Japanese-Russian hostilities, some other motive for the Midway and Aleutian forays must be sought. The theory that Japan wants to build an air security zone around her home area can and no doubt does partially explain the far-flung Japanese effort to knock out China or at least drive her forces beyond easy bombing reach of Japan. It seems improbable, however, that Japan would take on another adversary or ignore the growing menace of American-Australian forces short of glittering opportunity or imperative necessity.

Soviets Take Huge Toll Of German Dead

Russians Report Enemy Losses Total 100,000 Already In Battle.

(By Henry C. Cassidy)
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

MOSCOW, June 22—(Monday)—(AP)—Beginning the second year of the war against the Axis with "no surrender" resistance along the entire 2,000-mile front, Russia announced today that the enemy had succeeded in driving a wedge into the defenses of Sevastopol although at the cost of tremendous sacrifices.

The price paid by the Axis was indicated in newspaper dispatches reporting that at least seven Axis divisions—five German and two Rumanian—a-totaling up to 100,000 men have been wiped out in the bitter battle for the Crimean port.

Earlier newspaper dispatches from the roaring battle front said that the Germans, by dint of superior numbers and the use of heavy armor, forced the Red army back to central defense lines in the southern zone of the Sevastopol fortifications yesterday.

Fort were surrounded in some instances; there was hand-to-hand fighting at many points.

There were no substantial changes reported to have gone underground when German soldiers occupied the upper storeys of huge fortifications and the Red army fought on from subterranean corridors and defenses.

On other sectors of the front, the Soviet Bureau of Information said, "The Russian planes were playing a big part in the defence of the Soviet land, the communique indicated. It

Nazi Picked Up; Check Underway

MONTREAL, June 21—(CP)—A man who was a German prisoner of war, and who wore the uniform of the German Luftwaffe, was held by Royal Canadian Mounted Police here tonight, pending a check by authorities as to his identity.

(No announcement has been made as to any prisoners missing from internment camps in Canada.)

The man said that he escaped from a camp in Northern Ontario and passed through Montreal Friday night, accepted a lift in an automobile from a tourist from a car at Lacolle, Que., on the New York border, and crossed the border safely. He said he was arrested in the vicinity of Rouses Point, N. Y. after four days of liberty.

The man said no one had questioned him, despite his uniform, until his arrest in New York. He said he had hidden in railway yards and skirting the most populated areas on his trek south.

After his capture by United States authorities, he said, he was turned over to Canadian immigration officials and later transferred to the custody of the R. C. M. P.

The man was said to have $83 in Canadian currency in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Urges Second Front At Once

Waive the attack-on-Siberia motive and the most probable explanation of the Midway-North Pacific operations would be a diversion.

Waive the attack-on-Siberia motive and the most probable explanation of the Midway-North Pacific operations would be a diversion. Tokyo might have calculated to draw American sea and air power to that sector in preparation for a sudden, new invasion attempt against Australia or the islands off her eastern coast.

If that was the Tokyo design, its authors have had a rude shock. They found American air and sea forces on the job in the north with no prejudice to protection of South Pacific routes to Australia, and they have suffered losses that certainly put a deep dent in Japanese ability to mount a distant sea-borne offensive against the United States, Australia or in the Indian Ocean.

Compulsory Savings Next?

OTTAWA, June 21—(CP)—Tax provisions of the budget Finance Minister Ilsley will bring into the House of Commons Tuesday are at least a closely-guarded secret but members of Parliament wondered over the weekend whether the government would embark on compulsory savings. The suggestion frequently has been heard that, in addition to increasing the income taxes and patently the national defence tax, tax payers would be required to invest weekly in savings certificates or other war securities. So far such investments have been voluntary.

ARREST 7 AT ASBESTOS

SHERBROOKE, Que., June 21—(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police have arrested seven men from nearby Asbestos in connection with the freeing of two soldiers from the Asbestos jail by a crowd of men several weeks ago.

Officials would not divulge the nature of the charges against the men, and their names were withheld. It was expected they would appear before a district court tomorrow.

Japs Put Forces Ashore At Kiska In Aleutians

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—The United States Navy announced today that the Japanese have put forces ashore at Kiska Island and are apparently attempting to establish some sort of base on that island, only 385 miles from the navy's Dutch Harbor base in the western hemisphere was made known in a communique which said that army bombers, raiding the harbor at Kiska, had sunk a transport and apparently hit a cruiser.

Establish Base

"Tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on land," the communique said.

This indicated that the enemy had made some progress since a navy communique June 12 reported Japanese ships in the harbor at Kiska and the landing of small enemy forces at Attu. The latter island is about 275 miles west of Kiska in the Aleutian chain which stretches out from Alaska toward Japan.

In reporting the army bomber raid, the navy's communique—its first in a week on developments in the Aleutians—observed that operations against the Japanese "continued to be restricted by considerations of weather and great distances."

The raid by army bombers was made "within the last few days," the navy said. Its results had not been reported previously.

The hit on the cruiser and the sinking of a transport raised the announced total of enemy vessels sunk or damaged to at least four cruisers, a destroyer, a gunboat and two transports.

Big Purge Underway In Germany

LONDON, June 21—(CP)—All persons within the German Reich Party today were being purged, it was said by the German news and propaganda agency.

Elimination of this "element of unrest of the first order," said D.N.B., is "very important, particularly in wartime."

Enemy Cruiser Sunk?

In addition, there has been a semi-official report of the sinking of a cruiser and the damaging of an aircraft carrier. This report was made in a telegram from Lt.-Gen. D. J. Arnold, commander of the

Praise For U. S. Tanks

(By Edward Kennedy, Associated Press Staff Writer)

CAIRO, June 21—(AP)—Whatever may be said of the fall of Tobruk one thing is certain—the United States' main contribution to the campaign, the General Grant tank, did its job and did it well.

This 28-ton M-3 tank which totes a 75-millimetre gun fought its weight in Germans and came through the great test with colors flying.

One view among military men here is that if there had been more of them there would be a different story tonight.

Another explanation of the debacle was that Marshal Erwin Rommel had a professional German army fighting a British force which was amateurism but very brave and lacking perhaps the single-mindedness of purpose of a regimented Nazi force which had several years' training before the war.

Armor was about even to begin with though in some quarters here it was said that Rommel had a greater number of powerfully-armed tanks.

The Axis commander was not brilliant, but extremely effective. It can be said that he used his anti-tank guns effectively against the British tanks. And he had good organization all along the line.

Naval Clash In Channel

THE SOUTHEAST COAST OF ENGLAND, June 22—(Monday)—(AP)—The sound of gunfire and the thrum of motor of light naval craft in the channel off this coast early today indicated a clash of British and German vessels had occurred.

Flashes of guns and tracer bullets were clearly visible from the shore.

The gunfire lasted a few minutes and then ended abruptly.

Comment On Tobruk Loss

LONDON, June 22—(Monday)—(CP Cable)—Morning papers told the news of Tobruk's fall in brutally frank headlines today such as "disaster at Tobruk" and editorial pages were almost unanimous in demands for an explanation.

The Mirror, frequent government critic, asked: "What has happened to bring about this crisis? The public will want to know and they are entitled to know."

"The sooner Churchill can be back in his place and make a frank and full statement the better," the Mirror added. "We had been led to expect so much and have got so little. What is the mystery of Libya? The nation demands an answer."

The Times said "the loss of many thousands of prisoners at Tobruk together with equipment is inconceivably a disaster."

The Times suggested cautiously that the British Middle East Army needs "radical innovations in tactical method and mechanical design in order to throw Rommel over again."

"It is not unnatural that some misgivings should be felt in this country over the course chosen," the Times added.

The only comfort editorial writers drew from the latest setback was that the reaction of the British public would be one of determination rather than depression.

King Peter Arrives In Washington

WASHINGTON, June 21—(AP)—King Peter of Yugoslavia arrived in Washington by plane this afternoon. The State Department announced, accompanied by the Yugoslavian Foreign Minister, M. Nitchich.

The 18-year-old monarch will leave tomorrow "for a few days in the country" the announcement said, and will travel incognito until Wednesday, when he returns to the capital to begin his official program. King Peter came here from Britain.

Premier King May Visit U. S.

OTTAWA, June 21—(CP)—It was understood here tonight that Prime Minister Mackenzie King might pay a brief visit to the United States while Prime Minister Churchill is there.

Since the arrival in the United States of Mr. Churchill was announced last Thursday from Washington, the British Prime Minister and President Roosevelt have been engaged in conversations. There has been no announcement from the White House as to whether the talks are progressing or what topics are under discussion.

Emerald Jct. Man Drowned At Ottawa

OTTAWA, June 21—(CP)—Emmett Allen, 20, of Emerald Junction, P. E. I., a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, was drowned while swimming Saturday at Brighton Beach in Ottawa. South of the city was stationed at Lac-Beauport, Que., was a week-end guest of Lt.-Col. J. H. Hogan of Ottawa.

Within the last month, he had spent a furlough at his home in this province and only recently returned to duty. The accident occurred while he was on a week-end leave.

The body has been recovered. Besides his parents there survive: a sister, Eileen, wife of Sgt. John Gaudet, R.C.A.F.; Summerside; two brothers, Gerhard and Arnold, both younger boys at home.

He was a grand-son of Dr. A. A. Allen, Cardigan.

Funeral arrangements were not completed last night.
