the betrothal was gone through, and then the calm Ramabai secretly notified that the hour for escape was at hand; for everywhere, now that the ceremony was done, vigilance would be lax.

Immediately the high priest announced that the successful candidate would be conducted to the palace zenana and confined there till the final ceremonies were over. Unbalked dreamed of what he had seen.

To Ramabai was given the exalted honor of conducting the king and his betrothed to their respective quarters. Once in the private passage way to the harem, or zenana, Ramabai threw caution to the winds. "We must go a roundabout way to the garden of brides, which will be deserted. Outside the gate Bruce Sahib and Ahmed and Lal Singh await the elephants. Once we catch them we are safe. And in a month's time I shall return."

Montaine one of the leopard keepers rushed frantically into the throne room, exclaiming that the seven guardian leopards were at large. Even as he spoke one of the leopards appeared in the musician's balcony. The panic which followed was not to be described. A wild scramble ensued towards all exits.

The fugitives entered the royal zenana. Kathlyn proceeded at once to the exit which led to the garden of brides. There she waited for her father and Ramabai, who had paused by the door of one of the zenana chambers. Between them and Kathlyn lay the plagues.

Ramabai addressed the lady of the zenana, telling her that if guards should come to state that Kathlyn was concealed in her own chamber.

heard the leopard crash through the flimsy wicker door. She reached and entered the palanquin not a moment too soon. She huddled down close to the floor. The leopard trotted round and round, snarling and sniffing. Presently he was joined by another. From afar she could hear shouting. She readily understood. Through some carelessness the leopards of the treasury were at liberty, her life and that of her father was in jeopardy. Just without the garden of brides was Bruce and help, and she dared not move!

Bruce, from his howdahs, heard the noise in the palace; female shrieks commands, a shot from a musket. What in heaven's name had happened? Where was Kathlyn? Why did she not appear? He fingered his revolver. But Ahmed signaled to him not to stir. The knowledge of whatever had happened must be brought to them on their lives they dared not go in search of it.

This comes from your damnable oriental way of doing things. If I had had my way, Umballah would be dead and buried."

"All in good time, Sahib."

"The elephants stirred restlessly, for they scented the cat whom they hated.

Within the palanquin Kathlyn dared scarcely to breathe; for outside seven leopards prowled and sniffed and snarled!

Beyond the gate to the garden of brides Ahmed and Lal Singh waited with elephants. From here they would make the north gate, transfer to new elephants, and leave Allahabad and its evil schemes behind. They created no suspicion. There were many elephants about the palace this day. In one of the howdahs sat Bruce, armed, in the other, Pundita, trembling with dread. So many times had Shiva, that evil spawn, intervened that Pundita would not believe all was well till they had crossed the frontier.

"They will be coming soon, Sahib," said Ahmed.

Bruce wiped the sweat from his palms and nodded.

Now, when Umballah and his captain of the guards departed with the betrothal chain they did not firmly close the outer door, which shut off the leopards from the main palace. The leopards were immediately freed and began their prowling through the corridors, snarling and growling as they scented the air through which the two men had just passed. One paused by the door, impatiently thrusting out a paw. The door gave. In the throne room the mockery of

To this the young woman readily agreed.

Suddenly a leopard appeared behind the Colonel and Ramabai, Kathlyn, being that to discover the presence of the animal, cried out a warning.

"Fly, Kit! Save yourself! I am accursed!" called the Colonel.

Ramabai and the young woman at the chamber door hurriedly drew the Colonel into the chamber and shut the door. The Colonel struggled, but Ramabai held him tightly.

"We are unarmed, Sahib," he said, "and the Memsabih never loses her head."

"Ramabai, I tell you I shall die here. It is useless to attempt to aid me. I am accursed, accursed! Kit, Kit!"

The leopard stood undecided before the door which had closed in his face. Then he discovered Kathlyn, fumbling at the wicker door—at the far side of the swimming pool. There was something upon which to wreak his temper; for all this unusual commotion and freedom had disturbed him greatly. Kathlyn opened the wicker door, closing it behind her. Clear headed, as Ramabai had said, she recollected the palanquin which had been last to enter the garden of brides. She ran into the garden, flew to the palanquin just as she
