A Win Over Sharkey Probably Means A Championship Fight In London Later On.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The possibility of a fight with Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship in London—a part of his native realm—dangles today before the craggy countenance of Tom Heenev, burly hero of the British Empire, in Tex Rickard's never ending hunt for little material.

The durable Anzac who left his plumbing tools "down under" in New Zealand to fight his way into a bout with Jack Sharkey, would like nothing better than the match now drifting about in the back of the promoter's mind. First, of course, he must dispose of the loquacious gob from Boston in a 12 round match in Madison Square Garden Friday night. Betting odds are 8 to 5 that he won't, but none have been made within Tom's hearing.

The blue eyed curly-headed giant—an Irishman every inch—appeared today to have more than a possibility of facing a "home" crowd some time next summer in the Wembley Stadium, just outside of London. And the hope came straight from Tex Rickard.

"All England needs to gain such a match is courage with a willingness to cooperate," Tex said. With him was Bernard Mortimer, London fight promoter, who assured Rickard that the site was available, the Olympic season propitious, and that financial backing would be forthcoming as soon as he returned to Great Britain.

There was also an indication that showing against Sharkey to arouse consideration of a match abroad with Jack Dempsey, who toured Europe in triumphant fashion several years ago.

L. O. C. Bowling

Last night on the L. O. C. alleys a well contested game was rolled when the Invincibles met the Crescents and defeated them by a margin of 162 pins. The game was a real good one and the Invincibles put up some of the best scores rolled this year, while the Crescents had hard luck against them although they rolled a great game.

In a game that was closely contested from start to finish, Fred Ranahan emerged the winner over his opponent, Charles Stewart, by the narrow margin of 20 points, the final scores reading Ranahan 500, Stewart 480.

The interest in these matches is increasing with every game and the fans should see some wonderful games in the next few weeks.

If it can be arranged the next game will take place this evening at 7 o'clock.

BILLIARDS

The fifth game in the Provincial Championship took place at the Sunnyside Billiard Parlours yesterday evening in a game that was closely contested from start to finish.

Fred Ranahan emerged the winner over his opponent, Charles Stewart, by the narrow margin of 20 points, the final scores reading Ranahan 500, Stewart 480.

SECOND GAME ISLAND LEAGUE THIS EVENING

The Abegweits and Crystals are all set for their second clash for honors in the Prince Edward Island Hockey League. Still smarting over their recent shut-out at the hands of the Abegweits last Tuesday night the Western puck chasers will arrive by special train this evening determined to wipe out old scores and to place themselves in the running for the Provincial hockey championship.

The Crystals have a smart and rugged team this year and are in good shape to make the red and black clan travel from bell to bell tonight.

The cold snap of yesterday and last night has enabled John McLean to get a few good floods on, therefore all and sundry are assured a good surface for tonight's tilt.

Y's Men's Banquet

"Hail! Hail! the gang's all here" is just about the most effective way of describing the Y's Men's banquet yesterday evening. This fact in itself was responsible for a condition which might well have assumed a most serious aspect—namely, that condition which exists when the supply of food is somewhat below the demand. It must here be said, however, that the ladies who "handle the vittles" were in no way to blame for the temporary famine, it may have been a blessing in disguise, for, as some of us are well aware there are several members who frequently take advantage of surplus food and their indiscretion is rewarded by indigestion.

There has been some parlaying after a light repast and songs were rendered by the ensemble, and rendered in a truly remarkable fashion.

The musical number on the programme was a vocal duet by Messrs Tweedy and Johnston. Edith's Dream is "er", and was sung in the most pleasing manner truly befitting the title and also the two weeks' hard practice that they had devoted to it.

After some matters of business had been settled, the speaker of the evening, Mr. R. L. Colton was called upon and gave a short but exceedingly interesting and instructive address on Prince Edward Island—its past, its present and its prospects for the future. The club's appreciation was amply evinced by the loud applause which was accorded the speaker at the close of his address.

The meeting then adjourned with "The King."

Great Demand For Amateur Cards In Maritime Circles

AMHERST, Jan. 12.—There has been a tremendous rush of renewal forms and amateur applications within the last few days, and Charles D. Shipley, Secretary of the M.P.B.A.A.U.C. has been literally swamped with these demands for amateur cards.

The instructions issued by the M.A.H.A. to the effect that all hockey players must have their amateur cards before securing playing certificates from the Hockey Association has meant much extra work for the M.P.B. officials.

Mr. Shipley stated today that indications pointed toward a record registration, although he could not say definitely how many athletes had been listed, as cards had been issued to other responsible officials who have not yet reported back to the Secretary. Mr. Shipley declared that there seemed to be an increased interest in amateur affairs throughout the Provinces, as many smaller towns, had applied for information regarding affiliation, and had also registered many athletes.

Aside from the difficulties in Pictou County, where the secession cry has again been raised Mr. Shipley remarked that the season was progressing smoothly, with no trouble in sight, and the election will be held on Feb. 8th. The following candidates are, it is understood, in the field for civic honours: For Mayor, Councillor Yeo and Moran; For Councilors: Ward 1, Councillor Dougan, Mr. W. G. Burke; Ward 2, Messrs M. W. Reardon, Victor Coyle, Thos. Campbell; Ward 3, Councillor A. A. Hennessey, Mr. Arthur McDougall; Ward 4, Councillor E. A. Foster, Messrs B. Roy Holman, P. W. Turner, J. D. Annual Meeting C. N. Railways System Committee

(Special to the Guardian) MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—With S. J. Hungford, Vice President in charge of operations in the chair, the system general committee of the Canadian National Railways, was today convened at the head office, McGill Street, for the annual meeting. The system committee meeting is attended by the Executive and General Officers representing all departments of the railway activities, operating, traffic, finance, mechanical, equipment, colonization, telegraphs, express, electric lines, forest protection and radio being included.

The purpose of the gathering is to discuss all matters in these various departments affecting service to the public and the means of further improving such service both regarding the transportation of passengers and the carriage of freight and express.

Officials who have been in attendance at the Passenger Traffic Conference joined the gathering at the travelling public.

It was further noted that the performance of Principal Passenger trains has been improved, an increase being obtained in the on-time arrival at terminals, placing the National System in the front of first class railroads in this continent.

Those present at the meeting included A. E. Warren, President; General Manager, Central Region; C. G. Bowker, General Manager, Grand Trunk Western Lines; W. A. Kingsland, Winnipeg, General Manager, Western Region and W. C. Appleton, Moncton, General Manager, Atlantic Region.

Suggestion Does Not Get United States Approval

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—France's counter suggestion for a condition of the proposed treaty for perpetual peace that the pact condemn only "aggressive war" does not have the approval of the United States government, and the state department has so replied to Paris.

The new treaty in the discussions of the past has been one of contention to bar the way to ultimate negotiation of a treaty between France and the United States, and ultimately with all powers, declaring against war as a weapon in international relations.

There has been indications that virtually all other phases of the proposed pact are acceptable to both sides and there is confidence here that remaining differences will be worked out.

The United States government is set for this in a second note from the State Department, as clinging to its original stand that the treaty's declaration be against war without any qualifying or modifying definition attached.

This was forecast as inevitable when the French government responded to the first Kellogg note advocating a multilateral anti-war agreement along with renewal of the arbitration treaties which expires this year.

When the document was ready to send to Paris Secretary Kellogg discussed its contents with Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee. Neither would discuss it, although the Senator described it as "bully".

Senator Borah's indication that he considered the French proposal would be rejected. He has frequently opposed any attempt to continue agreements to outlaw wars to the restricting language of "aggressive wars", his contention being that no means exists of determining the aggressor.

Charged With Perjury

A case of some interest received its preliminary hearing at the police court yesterday. It was a charge of perjury brought against Clarence Power and arose in the following manner: On the night of Oct. 17th last, at about half past ten o'clock, William Heron was assaulted and robbed of a sum of money. Two brothers, Walter Power and Clarence Power were apprehended and brought to trial before Stipendiary Magistrate Marlin. On the evidence submitted, Clarence Power was discharged, while Walter Power was convicted on a charge of robbery with violence, and sentenced to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary.

On January 5th, Walter Power applied to the Supreme Court for leave to appeal, submitting, among other evidence, an affidavit made by his brother Clarence that he (Clarence) had committed the assault. The application was not granted, and by reason of this affidavit, the crown preferred a charge of perjury against Clarence Power.

In yesterday's hearing of the case, evidence was brought by the defence to show that, at the time of the robbery, namely about 10.30 in the evening, the defendant, who was visiting at the time with Mr. and Mrs. Byers left the system of the defendant, while his brother Walter, who was also in the same house, remained there. William Heron, for the crown testified his assault was Walter Power. In addition to this, other evidence was heard on both sides.

After all the evidence had been heard, the defendant's attorney asked that the prisoner be discharged on the grounds of the evidence which had been adduced by the defence.

His Honour stated that the crown had made out a prima facie case, and that, as it was a preliminary investigating action he had no power to weigh evidence and give a decision in the matter.

He therefore committed the accused for trial in the Supreme Court.

Donald MacKinnon, K. C., appeared for the defence, and the Attorney General for the Crown.

A New Prohibition Bible

The extent to which extreme prohibitionists and other reform fanatics are now going in their efforts to bludgeon society into acceptance of their standards of right and wrong is plainly shown by William Arthur Deacon in "Potecch, A Pot-Pouri of Canadian Essays," a book which has lately been added to the local Public Library. In an article in this book entitled, "Making the Bible safe for Democracy," Mr. Deacon points out that extremists have not hesitated to tamper even with the Bible in their crusading endeavors. They have dropped two-thirds of the Old Testament and one-third of the New in their efforts to improve it.

"No matter how much one may approve of the idea of editing the Bible to make the reading easier and more coherent, and even of the original meaning more clearly, despite the incidental sacrifice of the literary qualities of the Authorized Version unavoidable in such an act, one is yet forced to the conclusion that some motive besides pure scholarship has prompted the issue of 'The Shorter Bible' (Edited by Charles Foster Kent and Associates; Chas. Scribner's Sons, New York).

The motive, says Mr. Deacon, is not hard to deduce. "The rigid puritanism that is fast engulfing the United States, as witnessed in their crusading endeavors, prohibition, censorship of literature, and Sunday Blue Laws, has always been hampered by the sacred books of Christendom. Discussions on these topics often contain disturbing references to scriptural sanctions for the most of the law of the land, and the law of the land is being framed to prohibit printed mention of adultery and fornication would banish the Bible from the book-stores, and to the defiant Sabbath-breaking of Jesus that day among the corn when he told the Jews they were fools to be so strict. The real goal of the reformers for their reforms is leading them inevitably to discard the Sacred Books; and 'The Shorter Bible' furnishes what must be for them a delightful compromise—the dropping of the inconvenient portions. Yet the close connection generally existing between puritanism and fundamentalism makes it extremely strange to see a puritanical, voluntary censoring of the Word of God, which amounts to a denial of the infallibility of the Book.

The avowed object of this publication is to combine a revised version with Dr. Moulton's ideal of restoring literary and historical coherence as in 'The Modern Reader's Bible,' and the elimination of duplicated or insignificant passages. But those who are to tolerate enough to possess 'The Modern Reader's Bible' will remember that Dr. Moulton, himself a great scholar, stuck to the King James version on account of its unequalled beauty of language, and while he re-arranged the text in a more logical manner he did not leave any of it out. And it is this 'The Shorter Bible' that are most noteworthy.

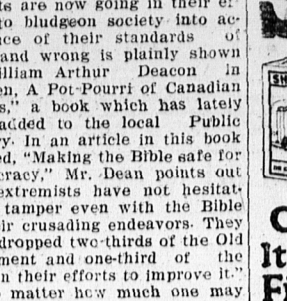

"These were attributed by many reviewers, and particularly in the late Fred Paul's trenchant editorial in 'Saturday Night,' to a hidden desire to produce a 'New Bible' that was more palatable to all casual or approving references to wine had been deleted, while all condemnatory references had been retained. Many specific instances were cited, including the change in David's rationing of the Israelites from 'a fagon of wine' to 'a cake of raisins.' Mr. Paul received a letter from H. A. Kent, Professor of Old Testament Language and Literature at Presbyterian College, Halifax, objecting to the whole spirit of his editorial and stating that the 'raisin-cake' alteration was made in the English 'Revised Version' of 1885, and is a literal translation. Per- haps it is, but the Biblical writers talked symbolically and figuratively very often, and the wine offers a better balanced ration with the bread than a package of raisins, however, is a dried raisin. I how to the learned explanation and thank the writer for it; but must add in honesty that he omitted all reference to the many other instances Mr. Paul gave; and after investigation I do not see how we can escape the conclusion that there has been a deliberate attempt to expurgate the Bible so as to make it tally with some current notions of morality.

"No case amounts to much; together they are overwhelmingly convincing of not only the drastic but also the underdone nature of the revisions. In Genesis 1x, 21, we used to read how Noah celebrated his first harvest after the flood. He 'drank of the wine and was drunken,' which information has been deleted from 'The Shorter Bible.'

"Other incidents omitted are the references in Genesis XIX 30, to Lot's drunkenness and the iniquity of his daughters, and to John, XII, 1-11. 'We used to read that dramatic episode of the woman taken in adultery, culminated in the memorable words: 'Neither do I condemn thee; go and sin no more.' The incident contained an important teaching favoring tolerance and condemning hypocrisy. This story in its entirety has disappeared from the Galilean records as found in the Revised Version. The omission is retained in all its glory. There has been no move toward suppressing Biblical examples of crookedness and double-dealing.

"For some unexplained reasons of David the deplorable relations of David accurately—possibly because Jehovah is represented in this case as offended at the lapse. But the whole of 11 Kings, XIII, telling of Ammon's unsavory dealings with Tamar, is left out as are other and similar passages almost without number.

"But now we come to a slightly different class of amendments. 'As Jesus sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with him and ate and drank with him.' (Matthew IX, 10) has had the sting taken out of it by calling these persons 'tax-gatherers and outcasts,' which has the effect of turning Jesus, the rebel against the letter of the harsh Jewish law, into a settler-worked-up and ill-diffident summer—at least into something more respectable than a comrade and a friend of 'sinners.'

Mr. Deacon cites other instances of 'tactful omission' in his book, which has been reviewed and highly commended by E. W. Heron, Literary Editor of the Ottawa Citizen. Mr. Deacon, who is a lawyer by profession and a graduate of the University of Manitoba, is Literary Editor of Saturday Night, Canadian correspondent of the Saturday Review of Literature (New York) and a member of the contributing staffs of Literary Review of New York Evening Post and International Book Review.

Thrills And Laughter Feature Capitol Week End Bill

The perfect combination of entertainment value has been effected in Universal's "Galloping Fury," starring Hoot Gibson which is being screened at the Capitol Theatre.

With Western pictures holding the limelight, of course, the popularity of the picture is being second in public appeal—a combined appeal amounting to 95 per cent. of the public's likes, according to statisticians—Gibson has incorporated all the desirable qualities of a perfect picture—entertaining and highly dramatic.

Gibson, himself, of course, is the Hoot of old; a real Achilles of the screen, invulnerable and courageous dashing and debonair. "Galloping Fury" is suited perfectly to his versatile talents and the picture is a real gem. The man who has turned out so many popular short stories from which so many successful photoplays have been made.

Sally Rand as the heroine is attractive and clever, as a rider and an actress. Other features are very funny in another of his droll characterizations while Max Asher as a comedy cowboy adds further laughs to a perfectly balanced picture.

To Reeves Eason goes credit for turning out one of the finest of Westerns.

Other members of the cast who enact their roles with naturalness are Frank Beal, Ed. Coxen, Duke R. Lee, Peevee Holmes and Black Tawk.

Just one big laugh after another is "Fighting Fathers" with Max Davidson. A show to see and enjoy. Don't miss it.

THE MARKETS

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—A feature of the domestic grain trade here today was the good account for scalping oats for export, and for sales of quite a few loads were made at 42 cents per bushel, extra track, Fort William for shipment. The trade in other grades of oats was quiet the demand being easy for odd cars and prices were unchanged. The movement of spring and winter wheat grades of flour was steady but prices were steady. The market for millfeed was without any new feature to note, prices being maintained on account of the number of orders coming forward and the somewhat limited quantities available. A steady trade was done in standard grades of rolled oats and the undertone of the market was firm owing to the liberal supplies of fresh eggs coming forward the undertone to the market continues easy but there was no change in prices. The demand was good. The receipts were 1,149 cases. Only a moderate amount of business was done in potatoes and prices were steady. Sales of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were made at $1.15 per bag of 90 lbs. Prince Edward Island White Potatoes at $1.05 per bag of 90 lbs. New Brunswick Green Mountains at $1 per bag of 90 lbs. in bulk, and New Brunswick White potatoes at 95 cents per bag of 90 lbs. in bulk, extra track. There was no improvement in the demand for imported beans but the tone of the market was firm. Car lots of choice white hand-picked are selling at $2.65 per bushel, extra track and in bulk at $2.75 per bushel extra track. The latter trade continued extremely quiet and prices were unchanged. The receipts were 89 packages. Little business was done in cheese there being practically no demand from any source. The receipts were 22 boxes.
