Dealers are looking for a firmer market on this article from now on until spring, as the stocks on the other side are undoubtedly small.—Maritime Merchant.

C. White of Brighton, Charlottetown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. B. McLeod, M. A., pastor of the Union Square, Presbyterian Church, Somerville, Mass. The bride was charmingly gowned in white silk, while the bridesmaid Miss Maud E. Fraser, sister of the bride wore a dainty dress of sheer pink organdie. The groom was supported by Charles L. THE home of Mrs. John S. Fraser, 48 Walden Street, North Cambridge, Mass., was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday evening, Oct. 30th, 1905, when, in the presence of a few intimate friends, her daughter Mina May was united in marriage to Russell Edgar White, son of Wm. C. White of Brighton, Charlottetown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. B. McLeod, M. A., pastor of the Union Square, Presbyterian Church, Somerville, Mass. The bride was charmingly gowned in white silk, while the bridesmaid Miss Maud E. Fraser, sister of the bride wore a dainty dress of sheer pink organdie. The groom was supported by Charles L. Miller of Cambridge, Mass. An elaborate breakfast was served after the ceremony. The presents were numerous and valuable, testifying to the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. White are held. The bride and groom are natives of Charlottetown. Mr. and Mrs. White will reside at 38 Oxford St., Somerville, Mass. To the happy young couple, The Guardian extends hearty best wishes.
