DR. F. A. COOK WILL RETURN AND FIGHT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The World publishes a long despatch from London which brings Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Arctic explorer up to date. It contains an account of his flight and his life in London, where he is now living.

The article says in part: The man whose claim to the discovery of the North Pole won him at first the favor of kings, the acknowledgement of savants, the freedom of cities, the hero worship of the continents, and then caused him to be branded and denounced as one of the most monumental fakers the world has ever known, and the man whose flight has baffled every modern agency of pursuit for more than ten months, stood in a dingy office room in a building in the West End of London—a meeting place of his own designation—and smilingly and frankly admitted that he was Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

He did more. He gave in detail and with several amazing revelations the complete story of his flight, which has engaged the attention of every civilized centre on earth. In brief, he left New York November 25, 1909, for Toronto, thence to Halifax, thence to Liverpool, thence to Gibraltar, thence to Tangier, Morocco, thence to Portugal, and from Lisbon to Buenos Ayres; then around the Horn to Valparaiso, Chile; then across the South American continent by horseback and stage over the lordly Andes Mountains and back to Buenos Ayres, and from there to Liverpool and London. He has made his headquarters in the English capital since last May, taking occasional jaunts to the continent. Most of the time he had his wife for company. His children are in European schools.

In all this time of flight and concealment he used but three methods of personal disguise. When he went away he shaved off his mustache. When he stood before the World correspondent he wore a moustache and beard—the beard cut Van Dyke and grizzled at the sides; the moustache instead of being closely cropped, as all photographs of him show he used to wear it, has been allowed to grow long, with flowing ends drooping on either side of the sharply pointed beard.

He has also changed the fashion of wearing his hair. Formerly it was parted on the side and combed with a broad sweep over his forehead. Now it is more closely clipped and brushed forward, forming a sort of hand over his forehead, making his forehead appear low and narrow instead of high and broad.

One of Dr. Cook's most surprising assertions is that for the most part he travelled openly under his own name, the only effort at concealment being that he would register with his initials, F. A. Cook, instead of Frederick A. Cook, as in the hey-day of his fame. But more surprising is the fact—which the World correspondent had opportunity to observe for himself—that Dr. Cook has been living openly in London with an apartment in a Westminister hotel where there are many other Americans; riding in open carriages through crowded streets where thousands of other Americans daily walk and drive. Since he asserts, he has been doing this he arrived in London last May. But more surprising even than that, Dr. Cook declares that when Peary was in London last spring, he the hunted, hiding and denounced Cook, occupied a seat in Albert Hall

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through change of life." Mrs. LUTIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women when Peary, his rival and ex-coriator, lectured before the Royal Geographical Society.

"I stood twenty yards from Peary at that time," chuckled Dr. Cook, and none recognized me.

Moreover, he says he occupied a seat among hundreds of other Americans on one of the grand stands watching the pageant of King Edward's funeral and none knew him. And time and again he sat in trains, on ships, in dining rooms, in theatres, and heard himself discussed—ridiculed, admired for nerve and craft, denounced and defended.

The story of his flight told, Dr. Cook spoke in defiance of the scientists, writers and public that have pilloried him as the monumental faker of the age.

He says he will come back to America and refute them all. He says it will be Peary and not he that will go down in contumely and obloquy when his flight is finished. He declares he was so broken physically that he had to go away to save his life but now that he is well and strong he is coming back, and that when he does the Arctic fur will fly. He jeers at Peary and announces that in the end it will be—Frederick A. Cook—who will enter history's pages as the bona fide discoverer of the North Pole.
