IN ORIGINAL

(Reading a recently published poem, it seemed to have in it a striking similarity to other forms of expression, known variously as "Futuristic", "Modernistic", etc. In painting these so-called schools have largely disappeared since science discovered such expression to be only the reflexes of certain mental disorders in many cases.)

Are words the bricks and boards of which we build
A house of thought, a castle or a sty;
And poet he, who works with plane and saw
To build a residence or lay a walk.
Be not deceived: There is no artistry
In poetry that's not in carpentry.
And what are painters? Surely craftsmen taught
To capture for the future what they see;
Nor can they magnify nor yet withhold,
Nor fall from Truth to unreality:

An ancient barn, a broken door that hangs,
In loose neglect, held by a rusty hinge,
Some wisps of straw, a hub and half a wheel,
The shadows in their place, the sun just so.
But yet, another finds a little more,
And looks and pokes. He knows:
It should be there; a tiny castoff shoe,
So worn, and weathered by the wind and rain,
That turns his painting into history.
A tiny something that he knows will tell
A truer story than the elements
Of sun in place, the brooklet winding by
Or mountains in the distance looming high.

Ah yes, the artist must be something more
Than poet, painter or who'd set a style
In any field to found a school of apes
Aligned to follow dead conformity;
Good in its place to suit its mode and time,
To lay foundations, not to bond or bind
Mankind as prisoners of antiquity.

A home grotesque, a barn deformed in shape,
A garden filled with pits of sublety,
Would send their authors to the balmy-house;
But, when it comes to words, a lunatic
Can raise an edifice delirious
And call it art: But we have had enough
Of Futuristic inmbecility
And all such symptoms of insanity,
That break all lines of shade and reasoning.

And what were art unless it were sincere,
A mockery, a fiction or a sneer?
We'd ask you also, Are they not the same,
Its tools in any field from pen to spade;
For are they not but quality of mind
And heart possessed in all communities?
Sincerity, the timbre of the soul
Without which man or woman were a sham
On yours or mine or any other stage.

Who paint or play are but a counterpart,
With those who view a more important part.
The farmyard scene; the face benignant, calm:
The kitchen atmosphere of love and charm;
Are of their authors in original;
While he or she who sings or paints or plays,
Is but a medium through whom they send
Their scenes and portraits into hearts of men.

Presentation

On Saturday, Jan. 2, a very happy and pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Barrett, Kingston, when the members of Queen Mary L.O.B.A. assembled to express their appreciation to Mrs. Barrett who is a very valuable and highly esteemed member of this order.

Mr. Davis Ward capably presided as chairman and in some well-chosen words stated the purpose of the gathering. He then called upon Miss Mildred Auld who read an appropriate address, while Mrs. Davis Ward presented Mrs. Barrett with a beautiful gift which she graciously acknowledged. Mr. Barrett also thanked the members for the kindness and thoughtfulness which they had shown and wished to Queen Mary Lodge every success throughout the new year which has just been ushered in. All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

The remainder of the evening was spent in games, social intercourse and instrumental music furnished by Mrs. Everett Holmes and Mr. Davis Ward. A delectable luncheon was served by the ladies and all too soon a very pleasant evening was brought to a close.

It is worthy of note that Mr. and Mrs. Barrett have recently had the privilege of observing the Golden Anniversary of their wedding and to this worthy couple go the best wishes of a host of friends for continued health and success throughout the ensuing years.

Following is the address:—

Dear Sister Barrett,—We, the members of Queen Mary L.O.B.A. felt we could not let this glad season of the year pass without expressing to you in some small way our appreciation of the work you have done in our order.

Being a charter member, you have ever given of your time unsparingly in all that pertained to the welfare of our lodge and always a constant attendant you have proven to be a true and faithful member and so tonight we wish you to know that we are grateful for the vital help which you have ever been ready to render.

We are proud tonight to have the privilege of extending heartiest felicitations on the Golden Anniversary of your wedding which you have recently observed. We realize what a wonderful privilege is yours to look back over those fifty years of intermingled sunshine and shadow and reflect the many successes which have crowned both your life and that of your esteemed partner.

In conclusion we would ask you to accept this small token of our appreciation not for the worth it signifies but as a mere symbol of the esteem in which you are held by the members of this lodge.

To you and Mr. Barrett we extend hearty greetings for a Happy New Year and may you both continue to be blessed with health, happiness and success throughout the days which are yet to come.

Signed on behalf of Queen Mary, L.O.B.A., Kingston.

Trinity W. M. S. Elects Officers At Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church was held in the Social Hall on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 6, at 3.30 p.m. with the newly elected President, Mrs. (Rev.) Geo. Miller presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of "Standing at the Portal of the Opening Year", followed by prayer by the President and all members joining in the general thanksgiving.

After the reading of scripture selections two very interesting letters were read, one by Mrs. A. C. Sinclair from Mrs. (Rev.) A. R. Graham, missionary in Central India, telling of her work there since returning, and sending hearty thanks for the money given her for the work while home last fall.

The second was read by Mrs. (Rev.) W. A. Thompson, from Dr. Florence Murray in Korea giving a very descriptive account of her work. The retiring secretary gave a very splendid report of the year's work. The treasurer, Mrs. R. E. Mutch reported the Society had raised during the year the sum of $1123.69.

The President spoke of the wonderful work accomplished and gave grateful thanks to the Evening Auxiliary, Mission Band, and all other departments which helped raise the encouraging amount, and above all gave thanks to the Giver of all good.

After the reports of the other departments had been given the meeting closed with the Mispah Benediction.

Address and Presentation

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. MacLean and family, Canoe Cove, December 29, 1936, when friends and neighbours gathered to welcome them to their new home. After all had assembled Mr. L. T. Beaton was appointed to take the chair and after a few brief remarks called upon Miss Annie MacKinnon to read an address while Mr. Neil MacCannell presented them with a well filled purse. Mr. MacLean then thanked all for their kindness. Then all joined in singing For they are jolly good Fellows. After which a dainty lunch was served by the ladies. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and dancing.

Following is the address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. MacLean and family,

We your friends and neighbours of Canoe Cove and vicinity are gathered here this evening to extend to you our best wishes. We are pleased to welcome you all into our midst and although you are strangers to us we hope in the days to come you may experience great joy and pleasure in your associations with us. We feel we could not let this opportunity pass without in some way expressing our feeling of welcome to you all. We now ask you to accept this small gift, may it always be a reminder of our friendship and good wishes towards you.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours.

'Salvation Through Faith' Theme Of Sermon

On Sunday evening in the Presbyterian Church, Kensington, Rev. W. O. Rhoad preached to an appreciative and attentive congregation, taking for his subject "Salvation through Faith", as found in Romans 4:12-17.

Following is a brief outline of the address:

In this passage of Scripture the apostle Paul is continuing his argument of justification by faith and he is continuing his proof of it from the Old Testament. He speaks first of the covenant which God made with Abraham. To this covenant there was attached a promise. The promise was that he was to be heir of the world. This promise did not come by means of the Law because this promise was given to Abraham centuries before the giving of the law through Moses. This promise came through the righteousness of faith.

This promise was made to Abraham and to his seed. Those who believe in Christ are the true spiritual heirs of Abraham. For the promise made by God to Abraham was concerning Christ. God said to Abraham, "And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed." (Genesis 22:18). That promise was concerning Christ who was a descendant of Abraham. Abraham believed and accepted that promise. Through Christ salvation is brought to all who believe in him and hence all the nations of the earth are blessed in Christ who is the seed of Abraham. Abraham believed the promise, so must we also believe in Christ.

But the promise is also that believers, the spiritual heirs of Abraham, shall be great. "Thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies." (Genesis 22:17). The heirs of Abraham shall be a great host. Paul in interpreting this says that Abraham was heir of the world. In other words the belief of the apostle is that history is moving to a consumation. It is moving to a consumation in which the kingdom of God will be visibly established and over which Christ shall visibly reign. Abraham looked forward to that time and received it by faith. It must have seemed quite impossible in his time. He was a wanderer. He owned no land. He and his household, the worshippers of the true God, were few in numbers. Yet he knew that God had spoken and he believed that what God had spoken was true. It was not what Abraham could do or what he could establish, it was rather what God would do. So we also today believe in Christ and believe the promise of God, that God will establish his kingdom and that Christ shall visibly reign. Come what may, God's word will be fulfilled. No power on earth will be able to stop that fulfillment. Our hopes are built upon the confidence which we have in God.

The promise made to Abraham came before the giving of the law through Moses. The law is different from the covenant made with Abraham. The promise was of grace. It was received by faith. Not so with the law. Paul never speaks disparagingly of the law. But its nature is different from the promise. It has a different purpose. Its purpose is to hold up a perfect ethical standard. It is to reveal the conduct which is well pleasing in God's sight. Man must pay attention to these things. But the law is not the means to salvation nor the means for establishing the kingdom of God. It marks the line between what is right and what is wrong and the judgment of God which is upon all wrong doing. It is therefore the revelation of the wrath of God upon the human race, for as Paul has shown in previous chapters of this book, all have sinned. Our salvation then does not come by means of the law but rather by means of faith in the promise of God.

The promise then which was made to Abraham is altogether of grace and is received by faith. Paul makes mention of the miraculous power of God in this connection. Abraham would not have had a natural heir except for the miraculous power of God in giving to Abraham, Isaac who was his rightful heir. So also Abraham would have no spirtual heirs except for the miraculous power of God. It would seem as though this is the reason that Paul is speaking in this connection of the miraculous power of God.

What do we mean when we say that Abraham would have no spiritual heirs except through the miraculous power of God. We mean that the true Church would have no members except for the miraculous power of God. The Church is not a society of respectable people who are seeking to improve the world and to establish the Kingdom of God. The true Church is an organism of born again people. Jesus said to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." The Holy Spirit enters the heart which is dead in sin and makes it alive and enables him to believe on Christ and to love God. Except for this miraculous power of God there would be no members of the true Church. The Church is an organism of redeemed sinners.

We see then that our salvation is not something which we earn. It is the free gift of God to us. He not only justifies us (declares us righteous) but he makes us his heirs. We do not go about to establish and earn this inheritance, but simply inherit because of the grace of God.—B.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JOHN MOONEY

On Sunday, Dec. 27, 1936, the residents of Iona and surrounding communities were shocked to hear of the rather sudden death of Mrs. John Mooney, at an early hour that morning.

The deceased who was in her 78th year, had enjoyed excellent health up till within one week previous to her death, when she contracted a cold which developed into bronchitis, and though at first her illness was not considered serious, she gradually weakened. When it became apparent that she might not recover her beloved pastor, Rev. Father McCarthy was summoned to her bedside and he administered to her the last sad rites of the Holy Catholic Church, of which she was ever a most devout and faithful member. Within a few hours after receiving those last sacraments she lapsed into unconsciousness and surrounded by her family and friends and with Rev. Wm. McCabe reciting the "Prayers for the Dying" she passed peacefully away at 4 a. m. on the above mentioned date.

When very young Mrs. Mooney (whose maiden name was Margaret Walsh) was afflicted with a malady which left her a life-long cripple and only those who knew her intimately realized the intense suffering she, at times, had to endure, but she was never heard to complain. Affliction was, in her, the wholesome soil wherein virtues such as patience, honor, sweet humanity, calm and fortitude took root and strongly flourished. Of her it may be truly said that her whole life was a continuous preparation for Eternity. Of a family of ten only two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Kenny and Mrs. Charles McCarthy, of Morell, survive; her only brother, John J. Walsh, of Elliotvale, having passed away last August.

Besides her two sisters, she leaves to mourn the loss and cherish the memory of a kind and devoted mother, her family consisting of two daughters, Mrs. Owen McKenna, Vernon, P. E. I., and Mrs. Joseph Roche of Iona; and two sons, Francis, of Winchester, Mass., and Wilfred with whom she resided in the old home and by whom she was most tenderly loved and cared for during her declining years. Despite the cold and the almost impassable condition of the roads her funeral to St. Michael's Church, on Tuesday morning, Dec. 29th, was largely attended.

After Requiem High Mass had been celebrated by Father McCarthy, who also performed the services at the grave her remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband, who predeceased her three years ago. Her pall-bearers were four of her nephews: George Walsh, Elliottvale; Galicius Praught, Alberry Plains; P. J. McKenna and Thomas Troy, of Greenfield, and John Connolly and Joseph Roche, of Iona. May she rest in peace.

We have loved her during life. Let us not forget her in death until we have conducted her by our prayers to a happy and glorious Resurrection.

In Memoriam

REV. THEODORE GALLANT

The parishioners of Sturgeon were shocked to hear of the unexpected news of the death of Rev. Theodore Gallant, Mont Carmel, which occurred New Year's afternoon. Father Gallant was pastor of St. Paul's Church, Sturgeon, for eighteen years and endeared himself to all those with whom he came in contact. It was in this parish he celebrated the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood.

There are many monuments to his memory around the church property, among them the beautiful St. Paul's Parish Hall, erected and paid for by his efforts through musical entertainments.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated for him on January 4th by the present pastor, Rev. F. L. Mullally, the church being crowded by his former parishioners who felt his death very severely, and who came to pay tribute to one who was beloved by all, and whose memory shall ever remain with them.

TO PETER AND SYLVIA

Excuse me folks, but even jokes
Can sometimes end in malice;
So Peter here, a word of cheer,
To you and Mary Alice.

The girl in fun, some verses spun,
Both witty, wise, and tender;
But still she should, for Peter's good
Have signified her gender.

He spied a plan, of mortal man,
To wreck his theme poetic,
By showing strife, in rural life,
Anent the mere ascetic.

The argument that came and went
Was light but pleasant reading;
The two were right, so why should spite
Lurk in their honest pleading?

In Forest Hill, the maidens still
Are sweet, and growing sweeter;
They have that smile, devoid of guile,
That makes the world completer.

But time will pass, and boy and lass
Can easily led astray be;
With chewing gum, and drinking rum,
And petting parties maybe.

The earth is big, but man can rig,
And wire, and bind together
Each human coul, from pole to pole,
In warm or stormy weather.

From Mandalay to Rollo Bay,
From Spain to Montague,
The air vibrates, and perolates
The radio speaker through.

We hear the tales, the mirth, and wails,
Of folks in every nation;
And often add, for good or bad,
Each startling revelation.

We build our lives, as science drives
Us on to changed emotions;
Reactions new, will trickle through
Disturbing worn-out notions.

A question now, we must allow:
What could be sweeter, Peter,
Than swapping rhymes of modern time,
With a lass who lot her meter?

A Face Covered With Pimples Causes Much Embarrassment

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

There is little doubt but that impure and impoverished blood is the soil on which those red, white, pus filled pimples develop and thrive, and that nothing short of a vigorous, persistent blood purifying treatment will eradicate them from the system.

Burdock Blood Bitters banishes bad blood and with the bad blood banished the skin becomes free from pimples.

Try a few bottles and be convinced.
