Is "The Haig" Through?

Walter Hagen is the old master nearing the end of the golf trail... or will he eventually snap out of his slump?

Walter Hagen has vied with Robert Tyre Jones in personifying skill at golf for the past decade and a half. Wherever tales are told concerning extraordinary golf over a span of years, "The Haig" will always be mentioned frequently. Four times winner of the British Open Championship—the oldest and grandest of all world golf classics—Hagen is assured of sporting immortality. For sixteen years "Sir Walter" has flamed among links masters and now they're whispering that he's slipping.

YESTERDAY AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

It was announced yesterday that the meetings in the Central Christian Church would close with the mass meeting on Thursday night. Dr. Whitson stating the meetings would continue one night longer than first planned because of the interest. Monday and Tuesday nights the services will begin at 7.30 sharp closing exactly at 8.25. In time for any who desire to attend the Rotary Concert and the meeting also. It was suggested, however, that only those attend the meeting who would remain until 8.25. The subject tonight will be "Jesus and the Colt He Rode." Tuesday night the Evangelist will "speak on" "Diving for Pearls" Wednesday on "Christ's Second Coming" and Thursday, the last night on "Harvest." There were five converts came forward yesterday making thus far 35 new members since the meeting began. Dr. Whitson's evening sermon was the most dramatic he has thus far delivered and the divinity of Christ was his theme. He said, "To affirm that Jesus was a good man but not divine, is to take a position inconsistent, illogical and untenable. Again and again he laid claim to divinity. He was either what he claimed to be or he was a liar. The Old Testament testified to his divinity. The New Testament confirmed it and history has demonstrated it. Judge Dillard of Fort Scott, Texas was a seceder. A friend one day found him reading 'The Old Testament.' What are you doing, Dillard?" he asked. "I'm trying to find God," was the reply. "There is one way only to find God," was the answer of the friend. "And that is through Jesus Christ. Turn to the Gospel and you will find Him." Judge Dillard read the Gospels and he found God in Christ. Jesus came to represent God. He was the incarnation of God, the babe of the manger, hanging on a

SOUTHERN NOTES

The lamb-like mood of earlier March has been changed to the savage ferocity of a tiger, but no serious wounds have yet been inflicted. It is still too early to put off our protective armor, which has been our shield against winter's fitful attacks. A great checker tournament to decide the checker championship of Canada is now being held in the city of Winnipeg and the most brilliant opponents of the game have gathered in that city from all parts of Canada. Some hint that one of our bootleggers is apt to be crowned king and return with the coveted trophy in his hip pocket. Northumberland Strait is again packed with ice almost from shore to shore, some of it packed and rafted into huge masses like miniature icebergs. It will need much yesterday wind and strong tides to sweep it out to the roomier waters of the gulf. Fishermen are completing preparations for pulling to sea after long and steady toil. They look forward hopefully to reaping a good harvest of the sea. Mr. Charles Lutz recently arrived from Olden, Me., was a visitor to the city this week. He intends to take up lobster fishing in which he has had considerable experience

Discuss The Rules At C.H.A. Annual

At the annual convention of the Canadian Hockey Association, which was held in Toronto last week, a resolution was passed that the rules of the game be discussed and amended. The association is composed of amateur hockey clubs throughout the Dominion and is the governing body for the sport in Canada. The annual convention is one of the most important events in the hockey calendar and is attended by representatives from all parts of the country. The discussion of the rules is a matter of great importance to the players and spectators alike and is usually a very interesting and profitable one. The association is also responsible for the organization of the national hockey championship and for the promotion of the sport in general. The annual convention is a time when the members of the association can meet and discuss the various matters of interest to them and can also elect their representatives to the governing body for the following year. The convention is usually held in a large city and is a very important event in the hockey calendar.

MENACE TO WILL IMPORT WILL NOT BASKET-BALL CANUCKS WILL MEET BRUINS FOR THE TITLE

BOSTON, March 29.—After branding injuries above the shoulders of hockey players as a menace to the game, President O. F. Adams of the Boston Bruins, yesterday said he intended to fight for their elimination at the next meeting of the governors of the National Hockey League. Mr. Adams said that the only way to prevent high sticking and deliberate cutting of a player is to make the penalty of such offenses so heavy that the players would be compelled to carry their sticks in a safe fashion.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 28.—Several Upper Canadian hockey players will pasture with Maritime Provinces amateur hockey clubs during the 1930-31 season, according to present reports. While the next season is far away hockey leaders throughout the Maritimes are already discussing prospects for 1931. Maritime sport leaders were quite pleased with the showing of the Truro Bearcats in their Allan Cup series with Montreal A. A. A. but these solos will not be content until the Allan Cup reaches the Maritime Provinces for the first time.

Crystal Sisters Unable To Make Arrangements For Canadian Playdowns.

It is to be much regretted that after all the Crystal Sisters of Summerside, who have been Maritime champions for the past two years, have not been able to make the final arrangements to play for the Canadian Ladies Hockey championship of Upper Canada. It had been prematurely reported, before the matter was settled, in some of the Island papers that they were leaving on Saturday for Montreal to play the Northern Electric, champions of Quebec on Monday. Owing to the Montreal Forum, which is the only rink available at this time of year, being under contract to hold the rink for the Stanley Cup play-offs the management could not guarantee the rink for the suggested Crystal Sister contest. The Stanley Cup games have never been known to be so late in the season before. It is understood that the Crystal Sisters will be given a chance to play in the Upper Provinces Lady Championship games next year, when they will no doubt give a good account of themselves.

No More 'Primers' For Big Primo

CINCINNATI, O., March 29.—The National Boxing Association gave warning today it may stop what is termed the one-round set-up knock-out tour of Primo Carnera, immense Italian heavyweight, who has been making money by flooring allegedly inferior opponents.

The Ninth Planet

Continued from Page 4 before the announcement could be made which, as C. O. Lampland, astronomer of the observatory at Lowell, states, "appears to mark fulfillment of a prediction" made three decades ago by the founder of the Lowell Observatory. It will require time to fill in details concerning the planet X. Referred to as it is from the sun, moving in an outer space which can receive so little solar heat that the temperature would be low enough to liquefy air, and with so long an orbit that its "year" would equal 200 to 300 terrestrial years, conditions upon it certainly can be nothing like those upon the earth. In size it is announced to be certainly as large as the earth, and perhaps very much larger. As to its actual characteristics it is improbable that very much can be learned. It is known that the remote planets Jupiter and Saturn are of very low density. On their surface, at any rate, they appear to be gaseous, which hardly answers the concept of a frozen world that might be expected at such distances. The new planet may be found to have similar characteristics. If so, interpretation of actual conditions upon it may be no more easy than the interpretation of the observations upon the remote planets which already have been studied, and which so far have encountered many difficulties. The question has been raised as to whether still more worlds may not remain to be conquered. There are known to be many small planets, or "asteroids," and there are probably many more in existence than have actually been recorded. Astronomical calculation seems to indicate that there may be some others of larger size, but scientists say it is unlikely that any more of major proportions are still to be discovered. From the time of the ancients until 1781 the solar system had existed as a compact arrangement of six planets, Mercury, Venus, the Earth, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn, in the order of their distance from the sun. Herschel's discovery of Uranus was accidental; it appeared in his telescope as he was sweeping the heavens and he first set it down as a comet. The small planet Ceres, with an orbit between those of Mars and

Mr. S. F. Doyle Is Presented With Beautiful Medal

Mr. S. F. Doyle, past president of the M. P. B. of A. A. U. of C., and formerly on the Board of Governors for amateur sport in Canada, is the proud possessor of a beautiful President's medal, recently sent him by the Association. The medal, which is of solid gold, has the design of the Maritime Province coat of arms. Mr. Doyle will value the medal not only for its intrinsic value, but also for the sentiment connected with it.

Bathurst High Wins Mar. Title

(Canadian Press) HALIFAX, N. S., Mar. 29.—Bathurst High School hockey team, Intermediate Champions of New Brunswick, added the Maritime crown to their laurels by defeating St. Mary's High, winners of the Nova Scotia title, in the Forum today. The score was 4 to 0. Thousands thru loud speakers that they must be silent and dignified. He recalled that during the war under most violent bombardments this valiant people continued work to produce beautiful lace of world renown. This is our heritage he said, the great American nation would not wish by this unjustified measure to plunge our people into misery. We have hope that the U. S. Senate will not maintain its position.

Jupiter, was discovered in 1801, and was the first of what later turned out to be a whole swarm of asteroids, or tiny planets, in the same region. About 1,000 of them have since been recorded. The name of the new planet probably will remain for astronomical opinion to decide. The two earlier discoveries were first named for men, but the nations which were not so honored objected, and the safer nomenclature of the Roman deities was adopted. The god Uranus, indeed, attained a double recognition. His name having been given to a planet, the planet's name was in turn given to the new metal, uranium, discovered at about the same time.

CANUCKS WILL MEET BRUINS FOR THE TITLE

NEW YORK, March 31.—Canadians, "Flying Frenchmen," and have you—That scrappy, clever and courageous band of puck chasers defeated New York Rangers last night by a score of 2 to 1 in one of the fastest and hardest checking games seen in New York City for many years. They played as if life depended on every stride; each very existence depended on the winning of the hectic set-to here tonight. Rangers were relentless in their attack but this did not hamper the worth in the Canadiens net; he did it fluster to any extent his sturdy defence team mates in front of him who broke up play after play of the Rangers and checked with a vengeance. The entire aggregation were all stars tonight, each and every man working like a well oiled machine, and if they display this brand of hockey, when they meet the cocky Bruins for the world title it looks as if that battered old piece of silverware, the Stanley Cup will again find a resting place in the Canadian dugout, where it has been before.
