DEBATE

used so much by the farmers in shipping their produce. It is true that we followed their policy, except in one regard. It cost us twice as much to build a road as it did them.

Public Health: We are told there are many sufferers from tuberculosis. But it seems we will have no more of this since, we are told "My government is going to give us a diagnostician." But what I am interested in is the cure of the patient. There was a day in this province when we had a sanatorium. It was a benefaction—given us by Sir Charles Dalton. It is a small return to give us a diagnostician instead of a sanatorium. It is true that it might have cost them some money to have kept it up, but they could have closed it all down, except one ward, which they might well have operated.

They said that Sir Charles Dalton at the time that he was looking for a government or some similar post or emolument. But it was not so; he had had a bereavement through this disease, and wanted to do what he could to help other sufferers. They thought so little of his gift that they gave it back to him.

Unless some man like Sir Charles Dalton, we will not have one a day. A diagnostician is all very well, but I think it will just be another job for one of their friends. There'll be three more prosecutors, four more school inspectors, and God knows how many more jobs before the session is over!

Agriculture—The Minister of Agriculture was not sent to Europe by this Government. I don't see how, in view of the entertainment he had much time to find out about agricultural conditions. If he really learnt anything of value, I hope he'll give it to the people. I don't know whether this gentleman has the interests of agriculture very much at heart after all.

There was convention after convention at Ottawa. And now the Premier says there is a possibility of our $125,000 being reduced. Is that what he calls a successful convention?

But there has of late been a convention in Charlottetown and I think that the Minister of Agriculture will have something to answer for concerning his attitude there. There is such a thing as an Australian Treaty, under which butter and cheese enter this country almost free of duty. It was never a good treaty, and the dairy associations all over Canada are protesting against it. (Here Dr. MacDonald read a clause from the report of the National Dairy Council, showing its disapproval of the treaty.)

Now, gentlemen, you can see how this treaty affects the dairy industry in this country. Dairying in New Zealand and Australia has many advantages, on account of their excellent grass lands and climate. They can produce at times when we cannot. Now we have been told by the Minister of Agriculture that to be profitable, dairying must be carried out all the year round. This means winter dairying and under this treaty we have severe competition at the time when conditions are hardest for us—namely, in the winter.

We may grow seed potatoes, and raise foxes, but if we want our country to be prosperous, we must have a flourishing dairy industry. And we cannot do that in the face of such competition.

The United States saw this some years ago, and raised the duty from 8 cents to 12 cents per pound against imported butter. As a consequence three states, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota combined produce more butter and cheese than Canada, Australia, and New Zealand put together.

At this dairymen meeting, then, there was a resolution brought forward in the interest of the dairying industry. He knew that if that resolution went by it was a black eye to his friends in Ottawa. It is said in fact, that there was a gentleman from Ottawa who was speaking to my hon. friend before the meeting about it.

Our hon. friend didn't want the resolution to go before the meeting at all and he did succeed in having part of it struck out. He gave as his reason that the treaty was advantageous because we were exporting more to Australia than we bought from her. In other words—sacrifice the dairying industry to the pulp and automobile industries!

The speaker expressed his pleasure that the province had done so well last year in the quality of its cheese and butter. Through the butter and cheese grades well now, it is not so many years since the time of the Bell Government when it did not grade at all well. In fact at that time it is understood that a large quantity was turned into soap grease. Here the speaker paid a tribute of thanks to Mr. John A. MacDonald, dairy inspector, who had carried out his work in an excellent and highly efficient manner.

Prohibition—I'm sure the people outside the bar of the house are surprised at not seeing here six judges, drunk, imbeciles, if they were to judge by the way we were represented in the last campaign. If you take six men collectively, you'll not find six more sober on your own side. And no doubt you'll find some there too, who will take a little drop of Scotch. There was a great deal of intolerance; because we were not prohibitionists, we were not fit to live. The men who supported our policy did not want to see rum shops at every cross country, become drunkards.

There were clerks who took part in that sort of thing who might better have stuck to their own profession. Many people have doubts about prohibition, and for my part I think it is fundamentally wrong to try to keep men from taking a drink by force.

When we see men ordained to teach and preach locking for a law to break them up, it is prima facie evidence that they are men who have been a great influence for temperance; they did it, not by law, but by moral suasion.

The leader of the government has given us quite a history. And it is a strange thing that a man like that, leader of the government who, as he says, never took a drink should start a political organization on glass—sometimes he is glad to get it, but I wouldn't start a political platform on Sunday. But he's fallen out with his friends when he came down to Charlottetown and met our eastern contingent, he had to change his mind. He says that the government and the Temperance Alliance are as one. But I don't see how this can be, when he is at loggerheads with their president and secretary.

There's a new wing promised for the jail. But he'll have to build another soon, because the people are going to have their little drink, don't you worry about that. I wish I could tell you what I know about places where moonshine and home brew can be had. They think because they don't see as much moonshine that it's not being manufactured. Two big stills were found lately, for instance. And I'm going to tell you, I'd just as soon drink some of this moonshine, as some of the liquor purchased at the vendors. A man who I prescribed for needed a little hot punch. He got a bottle from the vendor's. When he opened it, and the aroma of the stuff got through the house, I told him that he had better prepare for death.

Dr. MacDonald—Yes, I did. I certainly did, and it was awful. It was a shame that a man should be deprived of $3.75 for such a deception. It was terrible stuff to be put out from any dispensary. Scripts—The doctors in this country have been made the goat too long. Why not have a commission for the doctors under oath and out how many scripts they issued for medicinal purposes? I'll go in and tell the truth. You'll get the surprise of your life.

Put the screws on, good and tight. We don't have to drink liquor. I know doctors in this island who don't write a script from one year's end to the other. Why should we fear the burden of the Prohibition Act?

We have heard too, of the prosperity of the United States. A little later on when it suits their book they tell us that the people there are walking the streets unemployed, while Canada—which is not Prohibition—is getting more prosperous.

However, we are perfectly satisfied to abide by the verdict. Government Control is a closed book. Let the Government have their plebiscite and act accordingly. I would like to see the Premier if Government Control carries. I would advise him to accept the judgment of his people.

Mr. H. Gordon (Lib)—After extending the customary compliments, and congratulating those of the Opposition who had survived the storm, he took up the speech from the throne and dealt with it clause by clause.

Speaking of the Australian Treaty he said that we should consider the fact that the imports of Australian butter were small compared to the milk we exported to the United States.

IN MEMORIAM

MYRTLE ROSS

The home and family of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ross, Mill View, was again shocked and saddened on March 20th, when they received the telegram that their young daughter, Alice Myrtle had passed away in the Prince Edward Island Hospital, Charlottetown at the early age of 20 years, she being the second member of the family in less than a year and a half, the other member being George Wallace the eldest son who was killed on Nov. 17.

The deceased who was taken to Charlottetown on Friday, March 16th, underwent an operation for appendicitis, which proved unsuccessful.

But after having done all that could be done, God called her safely home where she shall rest internally.

The remains were conveyed home Wednesday morning by road. Besides her sorrowing parents there are left to mourn the sorrowing brothers and sisters, Mary, Elsie, Gordon and James all at home.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord, When love has bound the heart, 'Tis hard, so hard to speak the word, We must forever part.

Dearest loved one, we must lay thee In the peaceful grave's embrace; But thy memory will be cherished 'Till we see thy heavenly face.

One by one earth's ties are broken, As we see our love decay; And the hopes so fondly cherished Brightened but to pass away.

One by one our hopes grow light, Or As we near the shining shore, Wait the loved ones gone before. Inserted by her mother, Mrs. John B. Ross.

law. The moonshiners have gone into their holes like rats around our part of the country.

Mr. Allan Stewart (Lib)—Spoke of the good effects of co-operation among the farmers in Belgium, and described it as practiced by a group of five farmers in a highland glen.

He told of his visit to Ypres, and paid a tribute to the late Earl Haig. In connection with Roads, Mr. Stewart said there were two classes of roads—summer roads and winter roads. The latter have never been much of a credit. He did not approve of the side hitch and did not think it advisable to have a law to enforce its use.

Health—The scourge of Tuberculosis seems to be coming back to the country. Nothing could have been done with the Dalton Sanatorium but tear it down, for no water was available there.

Mr. P. A. Scully (Lib)—Our prosperity is due in a great measure to wise legislation and the sane policy of the Liberal party, both here and at Ottawa. He was surprised at the pessimistic view of Dr. MacDonald. Such views have a bad effect. He alluded, in this connection to the "whisper of death" articles which had appeared in the Montreal Star. Such articles would scare immigrants away. The Guardian's article "Hell with the lid off" would have a like effect.

Fisheries—Mr. Scully believed the bad conditions in this industry to be only temporary. The Japanese crabs are playing havoc with the price of our lobsters. A gentleman who knew told him that these Japanese crabs, before being placed on the market, had to pass a rigid government inspection. He was in favor of just such an inspection for the products of our fisheries. United States protection just doubles the price of our fish in that market. The Conservatives brought about the defeat of reciprocity in 1911. This would have given our products an entry to United States markets.

Education—Our system of education is not too bad. The teachers, it is true, are not paid enough because the country cannot afford it.

Public Health—He would like to see a sanatorium provided but where is the money to come from? In this connection Mr. Scully praised the work of the Women's Institutes, which he said, was the finest organization in the country today. He felt that it would not be long before we devised some means of fighting tuberculosis.

Roads—Mr. Scully criticized the late government's upkeep of the roads, claiming that the condition, in some places was appalling. The government have a new road policy under consideration.
