OTTER IN P. E. ISLAND

Our Fur Bearing Animals By Robt. Jenkins.

AN INTERESTING REVIEW

With Mention of Many of the Places Traversed by the Animal.

[Prince Edward Island Magazine] Thirty-five or forty years ago it was no unusual sight to see an otter track or slide passing over the newly fallen snow. A favorite course for them to travel lay between Moss Lake through to Wisener's or Heard's Mill Pond and on by Black Creek to Pisquid, and there the writer, in his younger days had many an opportunity of observing them. About thirty-five years ago quite a number of otters wintered at Wisener's Mill Pond. The dam had broken away after the first frost and the windfalls, stumps and rushes kept the ice up clear of the water, thus forming a model home for these shy and crafty animals. I remember once being badly disappointed following one of these otter trails. It ran from Ferguson's Mill Pond to the South Creek at Mount Albion; and, when it came to the roadway, suddenly ended. I did not know then that the otter could travel without making this kind of a track and I spent considerable time looking for a further trace of him but could not find it.

The only conclusion I could come to was that it had taken wings and sped away or turned and followed the same track back. But a few days afterwards the mystery was solved. Behind my father's barn, which was situated in a thick bush, I saw an unusual kind of a track, (I generally had my eye open for anything like that). It indicated some very long leaps and what was it but the same otter track. The travelled road had turned him off; and he had made for the first bush in sight. Coming suddenly to the barn he had again started off north and seemed to have given up the idea of getting to the south feeding ground.

The best laid schemes of otters as well as mice and men often fail. This otter exploded several of my ideas. One was that he walked along on his fore legs and drew his hind parts after him now I believe the theory is that he makes this sliding mark with his neck. Anyway I am satisfied that he can use his hind legs to good advantage and can stand upright on them too. Another idea I had was that otters travelled slowly and could be outrun by a man but by the leaps this one made when he saw my father's barn and from information gained since I believe they can travel pretty fast.

Mr. White, of Donagh, told me he once saw one under a log and having no proper covering as the creek was low he ran across the fields and covered the ground almost as fast as a dog.

Three winters ago I saw several tracks crossing from Moss Lake to Wisener's Pond; but the tracks being a few days old I did not follow them. I could scarcely believe my eyesight, as I thought otters on P. E. Island were animals of the past; but a short time afterwards I saw two fine skins with Mr. Higgins, of Charlottetown, and their original wearers had been caught or trapped at Pisquid—probably two of the otter whose tracks I saw.

Charles Kelly, an adept sportsman of Monaghan Road, tells me he got several of these animals in his day. The year they wintered at Wisener's Pond he went on watch one night with a neighbor of the same name. They built a snow house, near McAdam's Spring, but the first night proved too cold and they had to leave before morning. The next night they prepared themselves better to stay it out.

DRUNKENNESS IS A DISEASE AND CAN BE CURED

IS YOUR HUSBAND, BROTHER, FATHER, or any of your relatives afflicted with the Disease of Drunkenness? With a sure cure which can be given with or without the knowledge of the patient. Read the following which speaks for itself.—
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. Dec. 1, 1900.
DR. W. H. SAUNDERS & CO., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Sirs:—Kindly accept my thanks for the wonderful and permanent cures you have wrought on many members of my congregation. I have organized a society among my members to promote and advertise this most safe and speedy cure for this dreaded disease which so many are afflicted with. You will learn in the very near future of the result of their labors. I sincerely hope that God will bless you and allow you to still continue in this great and good work in saving our fellow mortals from the scene of destruction, and place them on the road to live a sober and righteous life. Only wishing I could do more to assist you in this noble and worthy work, I am, Yours in Christ,
Rev. J. M. B.

We have and are curing thousands, and we have hundreds of testimonials on file speaking of these wonderful cures. Send for particulars, enclosing 2 cent stamp to my address.

and about daylight they heard the otters splashing in the big spring quite near. Two of the otters came out and sat on the bank. The watchers fired and wounded both of the animals, but before they could get within reach the otters had scrambled into the water. They caught one and threw him on terra firma, but the other one managed to get away.

Mr. Kelly says he was watching another night and just about daybreak he saw an otter on a log, fishing. It would dive down and bring up fresh water shell-fish or clam [there are some of these clams in this creek and also in Black Creek, and they seem a favorite food of the otter] open it, and swallow it with a gulp; letting the shell fall into the water. Mr. Kelly was spending his time snapping at his highness from his snow house. The gun had got wet, and do what he might he could not get it off. Finally he came to the last cap but before using it he reprimed his gun, and took every precaution possible, but the result was a snap again. I suppose had some of the small boys at Mount Albion been within hearing distance they would have called for a bucket of water. (This was a favorite expression when we heard a gun miss fire). There was nothing now to be done but pack arms and go home, leaving the otter to finish his breakfast in peace.

The next otter Mr. Kelly shot was at Heard's Mill Pond. Following the track to an opening in the ice he secured a concealed place and watched. In a short time the otter came up on the ice. He fired and the animal plunged into the opening again and was lost to sight; but 'imagine the sportsman's surprise to see it coming up at another place quite near. The shot had evidently struck him and he did not care to remain under water. The next place the poor otter 'hors de combat.'

Mr. Kelly says he had the first otter skinned by an Indian as he did not know much about it himself. Brother Indian with an eye to business offered him a very modest sum for the skin which however Mr. Kelly refused much to his profit as he found out afterwards when he was disposed of it.

I will close this article now as my limited knowledge forbids me writing more. Perhaps some of the readers of the Magazine will give something more interesting some other time about others of our fur-bearing animals.

Great Victory.

BARNABY RIVER, N. B. Mar.—Few cases of illness and recovery have excited the interest in this community, as has the kidney trouble of Mr. Cornelius Crotte.

Mr. Crotte's treatment by the doctors at home and in the hospital, and the fact that they absolutely gave him up as a case beyond all hope, is well known. His subsequent restoration by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills reads like a miracle. "For five years I have suffered off and on with kidney trouble. Last fall I had an attack, for which the doctors had little hope of my recovery. I was obliged to go to the hospital for treatment, but it did me no good, so I came home given up by the doctors. A friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the first box I improved. Now I am at my work every day."

'Sammy, Beware of the Widows.'

said Mr. Weller to his son, speaking from experience. But more prejudicial to success is a misnomer. Therefore beware of misnomers. The correct use of adjectives in advertising may be determined by one simple rule. Put the right word in the right place. Two little boys were sailing their boats across the Atlantic Ocean in the back yard. "The ocean's busted!" exclaimed Jimmy, "Dam it!" said Jonny. The right word in the right place, certainly, but this same expression at another time and place would have brought upon Jonny a castigation for the use of profane language.

SOME WON'T BELIEVE IT.

Many people who have suffered the acute misery of itching or bleeding piles for years in spite of medicines and operations won't believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is an actual cure. There has never yet been a person to doubt the efficacy of this great preparation after using one box. It acts like magic in stopping the pain and itching, and is positively guaranteed to cure any case of bleeding or protruding piles. Ask your neighbor about it. Your dealer has it.

LIFE ON THE RAIL.

Mr. Geo. Cummings, Barrie, Ont., one of the best known engineers on the G. R. T. writes:—For years I suffered from kidney disease brought on by railroad life. The doctors called it "railroad kidney" but could give me no permanent relief. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills saying they had cured him. A few boxes of this grand medicine completely cured me, putting an end to those dreadful pains in the back and greatly strengthening the kidneys. I am a well man to-day, thanks to Dr. Chase. On pill a dose, 25 cents a box.
