LEAGUE OF THE CROSS ENTERTAINMENT AT FALCONWOOD

CALEDONIA CLUB.—The monthly meeting of the Caledonian Club was held in the rooms last evening. President Thomas White in the Chair. Chairman D. F. Bethune reported on behalf of the Burns' Concert Committee, that this year's entertainment had proved one of the most successful in the long history of the Club.

The League of the Cross Band and Entertainment Club presented an enjoyable concert in the hall at Falconwood Hospital on Monday evening January 28th. The renditions of the Entertainment Club were interwoven with selections from the band and for about two hours the performers delighted the audience with a program which would do credit to professional artists.

LUXURIOUS LIVING Simpler Living is Not Yet Considered in New York Hotels

A woman of modest means on her way north had to stop off over night in Philadelphia. She went to various hotels and was told they were overcrowded. At last she found one, not the most prominent hotel in town by any means, in which she got a room and bath. The rate was $4. The woman had to count her dollars with care, but after she had been in that room a while she forgot the pang it cost her to give up $4 for opportunity to sleep and bathe.

The doctor then dealt with the work of the Hospital commending it to the charity of the public. He pointed out the invaluable work the institution was doing and remarked upon the efficient conduct of it through the competent staff employed. That the entertainment was appreciated was obvious from the splendid order that was maintained. This would also give the visitors, he said, an idea of the effective management of the institution.

A HUGE MACHINE PRODUCES DRAFTEES OR EXEMPTIONS How the Work is Being Done in Alberta.

"See that man there!" and the military registrar pointed to a husky individual who was endeavoring to hide his light under a bushel at the far end of the hall. "That man is, I firmly believe, a self-mutilator," remarked the registrar. "But, unfortunately, I have not sufficient evidence to make any charge."

The Official Standing.

Some 18,601 claims for exemption have been allowed, 4,710 claims disallowed, besides the four thousand odd men liable to the call under Class 1 who did not claim exemption, but reported for duty.

A Huge Machine.

"This office is like one huge machine. The raw material is represented by the number of men liable to the call under the first class. The finished product, the men we are absolutely through with are those who are drafted into the army or the ones who receive complete exemption and are not appealed against."

PERSONALS

Mr. E. H. McEachern was a passenger yesterday to Georgetown.

Mrs. Percy S. Mutch, of Earncliffe, has returned to her home after a pleasant visit with friends in Keppoch and vicinity.

Miss Viola Mullen, returned to Halifax yesterday to resume her studies at Mount St Vincent Academy, also Miss Hilda Jenkins, returned to Sacred Heart Convent.

Mr. John Hoffman, commercial traveller and a former resident of Charlottetown, is visiting the city and his many friends are very glad to see him.

"Not nearly as many as it is popularly believed." "It is similar to the morbidly curious who always gather around the mangled remains. Many people would like to see the registrar's faces turned into an ancient press gang, and defaulters manhandled on the streets. We have a system which absolutely accounts for every man liable to service, and though, in some instances, it takes time to settle the case that man is either exempted or he goes into the army," concluded the registrar.

ETERNITY

"Christ is my home—endless home Let change or desolation come Let the loved spot which saw my birth Be buried and pass with heaven and earth Yet Christ remains a home for me My portion through eternity"

ELLA McNEILL

Christ is my home Oh! world so gay, Invite me not with you to stay, Ask me not of thy joys to taste Nor on thy pleasures time to waste, Christ is my home to Him, I flee, My portion thro' eternity.

Christ is my home a pilgrim I, Thro' a strange land am passing by Oh! ask me not to tarry here I'm hastening to my home so dear The home which Christ has bought for me My portion thro' eternity.

Christ is my home, some day I know He'll call me hence, I'll gladly go To dwell with Him in regions bright Where Christ Himself shall be the light Where Christ in glory waits for me My portion of eternity.

Christ is my home my endless rest Oh! many I once lean on his breast Oh! happy hour where from this clay My soul is free to fly away To Christ whose blood has cleansed me My portion thro' eternity.

New Method of Treating Wounds in Use at Millbany Hospital

Gratifying success has attended the ozone-treatment department of the Queen Alexandra Hospital for Soldiers at Millbank. About eighteen months ago the treatment, which consists of allowing a stream of ozone to pour into the innermost crevices of old chronic wounds, was given an experimental trial. Now it has taken its place as one of the most valuable means at the surgeon's disposal in the hurrying on of the cure of deep-seated, intractable wounds.

Mr. W. J. Brawders, Band Master, replied on behalf of the League of the Cross saying that it afforded the "League Boys" the greatest pleasure to make an evening enjoyable for the patients of Falconwood. He explained that the band was now really a new band having been reorganized only a short time. Practically all the members of the old band had come overseas with the result that they had to take in a number of young boys; what had been accomplished in a few months had been maintained in their playing, which would speak for itself. Band Master Brawders hoped that they would soon be able to return again to give another concert. Delectable refreshments were served by the genial and courteous staff of the Hospital. The visitors were conveyed to and from the Hospital in large and comfortable sleighs and all expressed themselves in the lines of their song as having, had "A big night, tonight." Rev. Maurice McDonald, Rector of the Cathedral, and Rev. Francis McQuaid accompanied the performers.

HAS GREATER ENDURANCE

Mostly, doctors are of the opinion that woman has as great, if not greater, endurance than man. They point out that while it may take us out of the exclusive field of physiology and into the depths of psychology, an investigation will prove that the average female is perhaps better able to face compositely and undergo severe operations, to bear excruciating pain, than is her stronger brother. This, we are reminded, is very probably due to woman's mental attitude; to the fact that they feel it is part of their burden to bear suffering, while a toothache will make the usually pain-free male fuss himself into nervous prostration.—Winston Fleming, in Illustrated World.
