From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is evidence enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

Prohibition.—The Government has provided for importation, inspection and sale of liquors without profit to vendors and for a plebiscite on Prohibition Act to be held on January 21st next.

Returned Soldiers—Government gave grants to each soldier and each unit proceeding overseas; attended to the needs of men overseas and their dependents by having grievances adjusted, by assisting all associations connected with the war, by forwarding shipments of tobacco overseas for the soldiers, by extending financial assistance to the G.W.V.A. and the Ladies' Auxiliary thereof, by assisting in receiving the soldiers on their return and putting them up at hotels instead of sending them to barracks as was done in other provinces, by pressing for and having opened in this province the Soldiers' Land Settlement office, the Employment Bureau, the Department of Soldiers' Re-establishment, the Pension office, a Vocational Training office, a Returned Soldiers' Aid Committee, a Convalescent Home, and a Sanatorium for the Tuberculous; and lastly, by granting soldiers the franchise.

Returned men encouraged and assisted to become farmers; Federal Public Works such as the continuance of the standardization of the railway to be urged, and co-operation with towns and villages for encouragement of building operations.
