THE CANNIBALS OF THE NEW HEBRIDES

Described as a Timid Lot of People - They Kill Just as a Matter of Course

MELBOURNE, Feb. 3.—Mr. Everard Turner, high commissioner for the Western Pacific in an interview gives an interesting account of the cannibals of New Hebrides. During the course of the interview he says: "The New Hebrideans are not a race but a collection of small fragments of different races fortuitously brought to these islands by the winds and waves from distant places in the seas to the eastward and the westward. Generally each group of families—for that is really the most definite designation that can be given to a social unit—speaks a different language to its most immediate neighbors on the same small island.

"By a strange misconception and abuse of terms these people are often spoken of as fierce savages constantly engaged in internecine war. They are not savages in the ordinary connotation of the term, though they are savages—that is savages or people of the woods in the true sense. In place of being fierce they are timid, as timid a people as any on the face of the earth, hardly venturing beyond their own villages for fear almost of their own shadows. They wage no internecine war, but being absolutely without sense of the value of humanity they kill on any provocation, be it merely their own hunger or we without any qualm of conscience kill a rabbit, or be it by the real or imaginary offence of another man as we blamelessly kill a mosquito which has bitten or might bite us. These are not a people on whom it is reasonable in us to pour abuse; our true course is to reform them if we can or if this is impossible then to see that they do us no injury till they reach the then inevitable end of final vanishing from the earth."

Grier, an Omaha newspaper man. The investigation is being made in the interest of the Smithsonian Institute. Dr. Hrdlicka is the foremost anthropologist of the day and his report on the Nebraska man is anxiously awaited by scientific men everywhere. The recent report of Dr. Osborne, of Columbia university, placed the Nebraska man as being the lowest order of thinking man ever discovered. WASHINGTON TALK ABOUT WAR WITH JAPS

A Sensational Story

Cause of Trouble Will Be The Control of The Pacific - Conference At White House - Hostilities May Not Be Soon Declared, But Preparations For Defence Are To Be Made.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—"War with Japan is inevitable. It will not come today tomorrow, but sooner or later a test of strength will come on the question of which nation shall control the Pacific. This fact is realized by the leading members of the President's administration. Consequently, the policy is to shape matters to meet the crisis when it arrives. This statement was made to a press correspondent today by one of the men who were called to the White House late yesterday afternoon to discuss the Japanese matter with the President. Those present were the President, Secretary Root, Secretary McCall and all the members of the California delegation in Congress, save Representative McLaughlin. There was a frank exchange of views, in which the possibility of serious trouble with Japan were discussed, as well as the steps that should be taken to avert conflict and at the same time prepare the country against attack.

There was plain talking of the kind the President would not like to have come to the ears of outsiders, and before his callers departed he bound them all to say nothing of what had taken place, beyond a prepared statement, which was given out, announcing that a harmonious discussion of the Japanese question had taken place and that certain members of the California school board had been asked to come to Washington. PEARL HARBOR, HONOLULU, TO BE FORTIFIED.

While the President was trying to mollify the California Congressmen, expecting promises from them not to do anything that would hamper the administration in its settlement of the Japanese school controversy, Secretary Taft, at the other end of the capital, was telling members of the Senate Military Committee of the imperative need for immediate fortification at Pearl Harbor.

Honolulu. He asked the committee to increase its appropriation for this work from $100,000 to $350,000, and so earnest was his plea that the committee has decided to give to him the additional money desired. Honolulu is in a practically defenseless state. In the view of these important happenings there is to day more talk of possible trouble with Japan than at any time since the San Francisco school controversy was at its height. UNCERTAINTY AS TO ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE.

Another disturbing element that may be mentioned in this connection is the unfriendly sentiment developed in certain English quarters over the Swettenham incident. The fact that the governor was not recalled was a disappointment to the administration, and grave doubts have been cast as to where English sympathies would be in the event of a war between this country and Japan.

President Thompson of the club, in replying to the toast, "The President," said: "Who does not admire 'Teddy' and his big stick? I wish to a third term for him." Following the dinner, toasts to King Edward and President Roosevelt were drunk standing, to the strains of "God Save the King," and "The Star Spangled Banner," respectively.

Among the guests were: Prof. John Galbraith, Principal of the School of Practical Science at the University. Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, &c.

SELLING COAL BELOW COST

Vancouver Dealers Act Generously During Temporary Shortage Fuel

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 3.—The coal dealers of Vancouver deserve Carnegie medals for their heroic conduct in not raising prices during the fuel famine. In fact they have been delivering coal at an actual loss. Macdonald, Marpole & Co., who handle the Dunsmuir colliers' output here, are selling at $7 a ton coal that costs them $7.25. In order that rich and poor may be served alike they only allow each customer half a ton this week and they will keep the allowance at that point till there is no further danger of a shortage. It costs the firm $3 a ton at the mines, 25 cents for wharfage, and freight from Vancouver, Island added to the costs of delivery makes the other $2. Evans, Coleman & Evans, who represented the Western Fuel Company sell their coal at $8.50 a ton on the wharf here, the customer hiring an express wagon to deliver it.

SAYS HARRIMAN KILLED BUSINESS

Graham Declares Magdote Drove Steamship Line to Wall

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. Feb. 2. Evidence which was intended to show that the operations of E. H. Harriman on the Pacific coast constitute a violation of the interstate commerce law, was offered before commissioner Franklin K. Lane today.

C. A. Sovereign brought out that Harriman paid for the Co's Bay properties a price out of proportion to the value, the idea to be as a possibility of competition. E. A. Graham, who supplied this testimony, created another sensation. He told how, when Harriman acquired the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company in 1901, his agents circulated literature in China and Japan, warning merchants and others not to ship freight over the Graham line, the Oregon & Oriental, as it had no transportation facilities on this side of the ocean.

"As a result of these methods," said the witness, "Graham's line went out of the business."

MOST VIOLENT OF EARTHQUAKES

Solomon Islands Upset By a Shock which Last No Lives

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—The Solomon Islands in the South Seas, were visited by a fearful earthquake, several months ago, in which the earth was opened and deep gorges created. The entire appearance of the islands was changed. There was no loss of life. The news was brought here by Governor O. B. L. Moore, who arrived yesterday from Samoa. He stated that a trading schooner came into Apia with the news shortly before he sailed. It is deemed probable that the earthquake was the one recorded then on the seismographs, in various parts of the world. According to the instrument at Apia,

McBride Wins In B. C. Elections

ABEGWEITS VS THE CRYSTALS

The Game Comes to a Sudden Stop Owing to Rough Play

[BY TELEPHONE.]

Notwithstanding the extremely stormy night, there was quite a large gathering at Crystalline rink last night to witness the match between the Abegweits of Charlottetown and the Crystals of Summerside.

The game started at 8:15 and after about six minutes Lightizer of the Abegweits met a hockey stick which suspended business for about fifteen minutes. The young man was not seriously hurt and play was resumed. Here Holman refused to play on account of alleged unfair play by one of the Abegweits. The teams now lined up six Crystals against seven Abegweits. Two minutes after play was resumed, McNeill of the Crystals was given two minutes' rest. The teams were now 5 to 7.

Shortly after resuming play the Crystals scored a goal from a face-off by the Abegweits. After a few minutes Currie of the Crystals was given a rest. Again play was resumed and this time another goal was shot by the Crystals. The next hit was a knock-out sustained by James McMillan, from a check from McNeill. Up to this stage of the game it was quite evident that the Crystals were having the best of it. While McMillan was recovering from his injuries, a council of war was held by the Abegweits, and they decided not to resume play and the game went to the Crystals by default.

The above account is The Guardian's telegraphic despatch from its regular Summerside correspondent who describes the match as one of the "worst exhibitions of rough play ever witnessed. It is evident that the game marked a very wide departure from those principles of good athletics which should characterize all varieties of sport, and which should be particularly observed in the game of hockey.

In view of the recent disgraceful occurrence at Montreal on the occasion of the Ottawa Wanderer match it is regrettable that a league game in this Province should have been marked by such play.

Visitors from Charlottetown are unanimous in characterizing the attitude of the Summerside players as a deliberately concocted plan to "do up" the Abegweits, but until the referee makes an official statement of the occurrences which caused the Abegweits to withdraw it is impossible to comment upon the deplorable outcome of the game.

AN ABEGWEITS' ACCOUNT OF THE GAME.

A member of the Abegweits Athletic Club, who accompanied the Charlottetown players to Summerside sent the Guardian the following information regarding the game:

Shortly after the game began Holman of the Crystals got the puck and being checked by Lightizer he coolly struck the latter a fearful blow upon the head, inflicting a severe cut and stunning him so that he had to be carried off. For this the referee laid Holman off for the game, Holman admitting his offence.

When Lightizer recovered play was resumed, and five or ten minutes of the very roughest play ensued, at the close of which the score was 2-1 in favor of the Crystals.

Shortly afterwards "Toby" McMillan, a favorite player, got the puck for the Abegweits, and was rushing it to the Crystals' goal, when he was cross checked by McNeill, who previously had been very aggressive, and had been sent to the fence. He had also two or three times struck McNeill during this play but this time he was bound to lay him

Samoa, he lasted for several minutes and was said to be the heaviest shock ever recorded. It was figured that it occurred somewhere in the south but as no report came from any civilized islands it was believed that it occurred at sea.

Probability That the Local Conservatives Have Between 8 or 10 Majority

From advice received in the City it appears that Premier McBride has been returned to power as a result of the local general election held in British Columbia on the 2nd inst.

His majority is variously estimated at from 8 to a dozen but until the receipt of complete dispatches (which at present are coming part-way by steamer) it is impossible to learn full particulars. It seems that the success which attended Premier McBride has resulted from his partly "stand taken" at the conference held to arrange inter-provincial subsidies in Quebec last year. It has been claimed by his admirers that the position of the Premier at the conference has been a difficult one. Surrounded by the representatives of other provinces, the majority of whom of the Liberal persuasion, he still had force of character to repel their advances, their blandishments, and to stand up for the proper measure of justice for the great West. He had been offered a slight pittance. No chance of attaining a settlement presenting itself, he had taken the courageous and the only course open to him—he had withdrawn from the conference. The endorsement of the Premier's attitude in that crisis it was expected would be unanimous—that every constituency, no matter how remote, would unite in recording its favorable opinion of the action taken by the Premier on that historic occasion.

RUSSIA WILL HELP PEASANTS

The Intention of The Rulers is To Honestly Improve Conditions.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 3.—Premier Stolypin has issued an important circular to the Governor General, Governors and Prefects of Russia and the Caucasus emphasizing the Government's desire to cooperate amicably with Parliament. The Premier points out that the representatives of the crown are forbidden to take part in politics, and urges the local authorities to assure full freedom in the elections. However, they must always interpose against the revolutionary propagandists. Continuing the Premier assures the country that the Imperial Parliament "which is the main factor in the regeneration of law and order in the state and of state principles will find in the Government a sincere collaborator in its fruitful and constructive work."

The circular asserts that the Government will adhere to existing laws, it desires to develop the Zemstvo system and to improve the conditions of peasants, making it possible for every energetic peasant to cultivate his own land without impairing the rights of others.

out and he struck him a terrific blow in the head with his hockey stick. This did the trick. McMillan was simply "knocked senseless" and those who know him will admit that it would take a good blow to do it.

As a result the referee refused to let the game proceed, and Captain Gormley of the Abegweits thinking it would be unwise to try to continue in the face of hostility so simply withdrew his men.

Play lasted for about 15 minutes altogether. H. DeBruin was referee.

The game between the intermediate teams of the two teams was played after the first game had come to its sudden sudden close. It resulted in a score of 6-0 in favor of the Crystals.

A number from Charlottetown accompanied the Abegweits to Summerside on the special train yesterday afternoon. The train left Summerside shortly before one this morning on return.
