THE MARKETS

(Canadian Press.)

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 1—A fair export trade was transacted in Canadian grain on the Montreal market today. There was some demand for ocean grain room from West and St. John and a moderate amount of business was transacted at firm rates. The domestic trade in American corn was quieter there being only sales of a few odd loads made for prompt shipment from Chicago. In oats the feeling was very firm but prices were unchanged with sales of car lots of Ontario and Quebec No. 2 white being made at 53 cents, No. 3 white at 51½ cents and No 4 white at 49½ cents per bushel ex-track. Ontario malting barley sold at 85½ cents per bushel. Owing to the strength displayed in the Canadian cash wheat situation the local market for spring wheat grades of flour was stronger and one of the leading millers marked up prices twenty cents per barrel and they now quote car lots of first patents $8.90, second patents at $8.40, and strong bakers at $8.20, and the range now for the first grade is $8.90 to $9.10, second $8.40 to $8.60, and strong $8.20 to $8.40 per barrel in jute bags ex-track.

There were no new developments in the winter wheat flour market. The only important change made in the mill feed market was an advance of $1.00 per ton for middlings while the tone of the other lines was very firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was active and firm.

The egg market was quiet and unchanged and prices for all grades of butter and cheese were well maintained under a fair demand.

OTTAWA, Dec. 1—Eggs — No change is noted in the Canadian egg situation today. New York market is also unchanged while Chicago is higher. A stronger feeling in the market for turkeys is reported from Montreal. Toronto unchanged jobbing fresh specials 70, extras 75, firsts 60, storage extras 46, firsts 41, seconds 36. The turkey market shows strength with choice dressed quality lots selling at 36 to 38, other poultry unchanged. Winnipeg dealers are quoting country shippers extras 65, firsts 50 to 55, seconds 32 to 33, live springs 12 to 19, fowl 9 to 14, roosters 6, ducks 11, geese 10, turkeys 15 to 22, dressed turkeys 22 to 28. Calgary jobbing storage extras $12.90 per case, firsts $12.00, seconds $9.90. Edmonton unchanged poultry receipts light, live chickens 14, fowl 12, turkeys 19, ducks 12, geese 11. No. 1 dressed turkeys 25. Vancouver dealers are paying country points extras 58, firsts 56, live poultry light hens 18, heavy 24, light springs 25, heavy 28, dressed chickens 35 to 40. St. John jobbing fresh extras 60, firsts 50, chickens 35 to 40, fowl 25 to 30, turkeys 50.

Our Dairy Industry

(J. A. MacDONALD, Dairy Supt.)

According to the figures just issued by the Dominion Grading Department at Montreal the quality of the Island cheese this season shows an increase of No. 1 grade of 30 percent. over last season which would mean a money value of $5,000 on the season's make. This, with the increase in price, should make the present season a profitable one for factory patrons.

The Island butter manufactured this season was the type suitable for export markets. As a result in the neighborhood of 5,000 boxes were shipped to Montreal and commanded the highest market prices. This movement of summer butter had the effect of leaving the local market in a healthy condition and at present there is a good demand and price for fresh made goods. This should have the effect of stimulating winter dairying and put the industry on a more profitable basis.

The great necessity of the industry on the sland today is greater production whereby the hauling and operating expenses can be reduced and leave a bigger net return for the producers. The cheapest and most effective way to do this is by testing the herd for butter fat production and keeping the calves from the best producing cows. As the sire is conceded to be over 75 per cent of the herd, it is hard to estimate the value of a good sire. In many cases the profit from the good cows goes to pay the board of the poor ones. This gives a set back to the industry when in reality it is the result of poor management. In the event of lower prices there are two outstanding facts that will have to be met and that is to produce the milk as cheaply and get as good a price as those places we are competing with.

It has been fully demonstrated that milk and its products are the cheapest and most essential food. This fact establishes the permanency of the dairy industry. Dairying is the most profitable branch of farming. It increases the fertility of the soil instead of decreasing it. It can be made a steady income practically all year. It gives quicker returns for money invested. It costs less in freight to put on the outside markets owing to the greater value per hundred weight of butter and cheese in comparison with other farm products.

Carried Coal In Lunch Box

TORONTO, Dec. 1—A lump at a time Frank Middleton carried home a ton and a half of coal in his lunch box. The coal was the property of the Canadian Pacific Railway, of which he was an employee.

He pleaded guilty of taking the coal in police court today, but the Magistrate thought he had been sufficiently punished by the loss of his job, and he was remanded for sentence.

More Beer, Less Spirits In England

LONDON, Eng., Dec. 1.—People are drinking beer and less spirits than formerly, wine is more popular and the consumption of tobacco remains virtually stationary.

These facts are forthcoming in the annual customs and excise report. The consumption of wine in England has been rising continuously since 1921. Although it is not officially so stated, it is believed this increase is due at least in part to wine drinking becoming popular with Englishmen who were serving with the forces on the Continent.

Rare Intellectual Treat

The vision of this country seemed to be Imperial unity. Dr. Roberts did not believe that Canada should be a nation separate from the Empire, nor that the Empire could exist without Canada. The two were more or less complimentary. In the future of the great Empire the speaker believed firmly No people were more fitted to save the world than the slow but indomitably sure British race of ours, and Canada was the keystone of the Empire, if there was anything at all in her tradition. It would not do to forget our brethren in Quebec, who had safeguarded the nation in the wars of 1776 and 1812, and without whom Canada could not be.

This talk on patriotism, continued the speaker was necessary to explain some of his verses he would now read. He would begin with a sonnet that he would dearly love to see taught to the school children. He was not sure whether it could be ranked as first rate poetry or not, but he did feel that it was first rate sentiment. Followed the recital of "For Dominion Day" which Dr. Roberts wrote soon after the Riel rebellion. He next read "Canadian Streams" apologising for not having mentioned a P. E. I. river. All his poetry he said, could be placed in three classes, the French Period; the Loyalist Period and After Confederation.

His stories of wild life he said were founded on his study of nature as a boy in the woods of Dorchester N. B. He always spent his vacations in the Canadian wildernesses, and had studied as a psychologist as well as a naturalist. He believed firmly, as did most trappers and hunters, that within their limits animals were able to reason. He had tried to learn something of their motives in action. When he had made this study it was without any thought of ever writing about it. Personally he did not believe much in seeking for material, but believed in using material that took him. Only lately he had spent a year in North Africa among the Arabs, and had been so influenced there that he had written assiduously. What he wrote of was the backwoods of New Brunswick. He was also greatly stimulated to work while on his first visit to Venice and he wrote a novel and several poems on Nova Scotia themes.

The speaker then referred to his experiences in the marketing of his wild life stories, which at first no publisher would buy, and which brought far below the usual payment for his work. A. T. Seton, reading his first book, had asked him to write stories for his animal pictures. Roberts on the other hand had advised Seton to write his own stories, and the result was that the latter's returns in some cases were about eight times as great for this type of story. Seton and he were the only writers of purely animal fiction. Kipling's Jungle Stories were never intended to be taken as animal stories, but invested dumb creatures with the attributes of human beings.

The Doctor next read as peculiarly appropriate to the occasion, "The Potato Harvest," followed by "When the Cattle Come to Drink." His personal reminiscences of Sarah Bernhardt, Roosevelt, Bliss Carmen, and others, were full of pleasant humor. The latter, he said, was not only his cousin, his personal friend, but also "his most hated rival."

Speaking of Carmen he said that he felt that an effort should be made to bring that writer to the Island. He was certainly the crowning glory of Canada, and the speaker classed him as one of the two greatest living writers of lyric poetry in the English language, the other one being Yeats.

His next selection, "The Piping of the Pools" was about the "Night ingales of New Brunswick." There was no more beautiful sound in nature, said he, than the piping of the frogs.

When the lecturer would have closed his lecture the audience with insistent encores pressed him to continue, and it was only after reading several additional selections that he was allowed to remain seated.

Mr. W. E. Bentley in moving, and Mr. J.P. Gordon in seconding, a vote of thanks that was very complimentary to the speaker, referred to the debt of gratitude that Charlottetown now owed to Dr. Roberts, not only for his visit, but also for the way in which his poems are building up the national unity of Canada. No nation could perish that could produce such men as Dr. Roberts.

Last night's lecture was under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire, which is to be commended in its enterprise in bringing such talented men to speak to Island audiences.

Dog Died Of A Broken Heart

MOSSBANK, Sask., Dec. 1.—This is a story of a dog that died of a broken heart. Mrs. N. Hay of this district, possessed a pet Pomeranian, which was greatly attached to her. Called suddenly to Winnipeg, the owner was unable to make arrangements for the shipment of the dog. It was taken to friends where it was given every attention. The dog took up a patient watch at the house door, and whined and cried for its mistress. Not a particle of food would the animal touch. For two weeks the devoted pet kept guard, but the strain proved too great and a few days before the owner returned, the dog died. Now Mrs. Hay is grieving.

Boring For Oil Begun

thing possible to make them comfortable, even to housing in the lower part of the derrick, a somewhat arbitrary proceeding.

The living quarters at the camp are indeed comfortable, and radio, graphaphone, and other amusements are provided the men when off duty. The total complement is about thirty men, under Mr. Stuntz with Mr. Ben Poinsett, Accountant second in command.

Before the drilling started the crew dressed one of the huge bits, which had first been heatd on a fire and was then beat into shape at the point and tempered. The hammering is done with a steam driven ram, which hits a blow of about five hundred pounds, and is a dangerous tool in the hands of an amateur. Both this process and the beginning of boring were done under a battery of cameras and a moving picture machine, which also took full advantage of the all-important ceremony in the derrick.

At the far end of the camp is the boiler house, manned by a crew of two, Mr. Earl MacLean and Mr. Tom McTavish. It will burn about a thousand tons of coal this winter.

After the midday lunch served under the capable direction of the chef, Mr. Horace Smith, happy speeches were made by several members of the party, and in a spir it of fun the company crowned Mr. Stuntz the King of Governor's Island. After humorous speeches appropriate to the occasion had been made by Mr. Edgar Shaw and Hon. Adrien Arsenault, a vote of thanks to Messrs. Stuntz and Poinsett for their hospitality, was moved by Mr. Justice Arsenault and seconded by Judge Stewart.

In his address Judge Arsenault remarked that the enterprise of the Dougherty Company the history of whose proceedings on the Island he traced in detail, would not end until at least three wells had been unsuccessfully sunk. The first well is situated at the peak of the anticline, the most favorable site on the Island.

Mr. Stuntz and Mr. Poinsett, after receiving three hearty cheers from the assembled company, replied in fitting terms.

Following were the party that made the trip.

Premier Stewart, Hon. J. H. Myers, Chief Justice Mathieson, Judge Stewart, Judge Arsenault, Rev. Dr. Thomas Curran, Rev. Maurice McDonald, Dr. A. B. Barburton, Hon. Adrian Arsenault, U. S. Montreal Firms In Stockyards Pact

MONTREAL, Dec. 1.—Formation of live stock exchanges in this city to protect farmers against exploitation has been decided following an agreement between the two stockyards, one in the east end of the city owned and operated by the C. P. R. and the other operated by other interests in the west end. A special committee has been named to revise the rules and regulations of the Stockyards and these revisions have been approved by the federal government.

Under the new rules, bond of $10.000 shall be furnished by all members of the live stock exchanges as a guarantee of good faith and it is further provided that commission men shall not purchase live stock on their own account but shall act as agents of the farmers' produce. This will not preclude dealers from transacting business on the markets in selling their own stock, nor does it prevent farmers from doing so as far as their own stock is concerned.

Potato Growers To Reap Harvest

MONTREAL, Dec. 1—Owing to the small yield of potatoes in the State of Maine this year, growers of this vegetable in Prince Edward Island have benefited to the extent of $2,000,000 and have thus netted profits larger than those recorded for any previous season. His Honor Frank R. Heartz, Charlottetown, Lieutenant Governor of the Island, noted this and other signs of agricultural prosperity in that part of the Maritimes, in an interview here today.

"However," said Mr. Heartz, "it looked a short time ago as though we would lose part of the potato crop by frost. Due to the prompt action of Sir Henry Thornton in sending a large number of refrigerator cars, we were able to get all of the crop shipped up to the present time.

"Never before have conditions in Prince Edward Island been better than they are now, owing to the excellent crops and the high prices. The total income from the exports for the year amounted to between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000."

A survey of the fisheries and the silver fox industry revealed cause for satisfaction, he said. "While the raising of foxes," continued Mr. Heartz, "for commercial purposes, has passed its zenith, the business is by no means dead and should continue to bring in money for some years to come. During the past summer the fox industry appeared to be on the wane. But it has taken a forward movement lately. People have said that the lobster industry has ceased to be a source of revenue to the Prince Edward Islander. About 40,000 cases of lobsters were exported this year—a good output. The season has been a successful one."

Ship Trainload Of Japanese Oranges

VANCOUVER, Dec. 31.—The first of a number of solid trainloads of Japanese oranges, scheduled to go east from Vancouver over the C.P. R. within the next few weeks, left here early this morning for prairie points and Toronto. This train, which will travel as special freight consists of twenty-five cars, and is expected to reach Calgary within the next forty-eight hours. The shipment consists of 50,000 boxes, or approximately 3,000,000 oranges, and represents the first big consignment of this Christmas delicacy to reach the Canadian market. For the next several weeks all liners arriving in Victoria and Vancouver from the Orient will bring in heavy cargoes of Japanese oranges. The movement started two weeks ago with the arrival of the C.P. S.S. Empress of Canada, which brought in about six carloads.

Today's shipment, now enroute east, reached Victoria on the President Jefferson, and perhaps the largest consignment of the season, consisting of forty-nine carloads totalling 100,000 boxes, is due to reach Vancouver on Monday on the C.P. S.S. Empress of Russia.

Of the twenty-five cars which left Vancouver today, one will go to Toronto, the remaining twenty-four being destined for Winnipeg, Portage, Brandon, Neepawa, Regina, Wayburn, Medicine Hat, Kerrobert, Coleman and Swift Current. The largest local consignment, consisting of six cars, will go to Regina, while Moosejaw will take four.

Rev. Neil Herman Delivers Lecture At Wheatley River

"Gossip and Gossipers" was the subject of an inspiring and at the same time very interesting lecture delivered on Monday evening by the Rev. Neil Herman before a good-sized audience in Wheatly River Hall, Mr. T. D. Ling acted as chairman.

This lecture was the last of a series of entertainments put on by the Monument committee of Wheatly River district, and the announcement was made during the meeting by Major D. A. MacDonald, chairman of the committee, that with the proceeds of Monday evening, the Monument fund had "Gone over the top." Wheatly River settlement is to be congratulated in having, well within a year of the inception of the movement, been able to pay in full the cost of the handsome memorial to the fallen that has been erected there.

Rev. Neil Herman's lecture, which was a fearless and searching exposition of his subject, interpolated with much humor, and an address that would well bear being repeated before a much larger audience, was divided into several categories, treating of the effect of idle or malicious gossip upon national business, religious, and home life.

Gossip, said Mr. Herman, was just as much to be feared in international affairs as in society. The horrors and devastation of the Great War could be definitely laid at the door of the Germans who flooded their country with such a propaganda of gossip that the people and the children of Germany were ultimately led to believe that their country was empowered to shape the destiny of the world, and that the way to do this was along the lines of militarism. Reports entirely unfounded on fact, published in the great and lesser newspapers of the world, and exaggerating the building up of another nations defences, or putting a wrong interpretation upon them, had more than once brought about international strife, and will in all likelihood do so again.

Taking up the effect of gossip on business, the learned lecturer said that this insidious evil would in time break up even the most prosperous and thriving business. The Stock Exchanges, in which men seemed to be taken with a mild form of insanity, was the stamping ground of gossip. Speculators sent out at regular intervals reports that were compiled for their own benefit and pocket, regardless of the facts of the case.

It was a sorrowful thing to relate, he continued, that even the church was not immune from this vile influence. Often a minister was picked to pieces by members of his congregation, and his family, business, and social relations dissected with the single aim of working mischief. And when once talk of this kind came into being, its clamor rose until the unfortunate and helpless clergyman was ousted from his church.

Mr. Herman closed a very able lecture by going into details on the greater social phase of the evil, and exhorted his audience to do what they could, whenever possible to discourage the spread of gossip that would tend to hurt any individual or creed, without being of any real value to anyone.

After a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Herman moved by Mr. William Crewe, a member of the committee, seconded by Mr. Norman Ling, and tendered the recipient by the audience in the form of three hearty cheers, the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.
