BEAVER FLOUR

is because the flour is always the same. It is milled from blended wheat, Ontario fall wheat, strengthened with western spring wheat. Being blended in exact proportions, Beaver Flour is always the same in strength and quality; and always gives the same results, no matter what or when you bake.

It will be a change for the better when you change from western wheat flour to Beaver Flour, milled from blended wheat.

Lowering The High Cost of Living
The women do most of the buying for the home; so we address this ad. to them.
The housewife can perform her "bit" in lowering the high cost of living by buying wisely. When it comes to drugs you must understand that quality is the true test of cheapness. Cheap drugs are worse than worthless, they are often harmful.
Of course it costs us something extra to buy the highest grade drugs, but the increased business which comes to us because of our reputation makes it possible for us to give you extra quality, and extra service without charging you any more, than you would often be required to pay for inferior goods elsewhere.

General Jan Christian Smuts

were being made in London, and with the exception of the premier's, they were about the most widely read. Testimony to this was to be found in the stream of letters which they brought to the newspapers indicating admiration and approval of everything he said.

"This," said General Smuts, in one of his speeches, "is the battle of freedom against bondage. Before the war it was fought abroad that this nation had become corrupted by wealth, that it was growing soft and that the day of trial would find it wanting; but when the blow fell it showed what a free nation could do when it was fed on the stuff of freedom. Today it had become the financial, the moral and, in a sense, the military mainstay of the Allies.

"Looking at this nation as it stands before the world today," he continued, "I feel that liberty, like wisdom, is once more justified of her children. The great British Commonwealth of nations overseas did not always win this bloodshed and the terror of militarism always overshadowing them. They wanted to bend all their energies and resources to the building up of their nation, and that could not be done when they had to be prepared to meet the enemy at every point. Slowly but surely America has come to realize that this struggle was the old struggle for which she had fought in former wars. This is once more George Washington against George III. In other words, the issue of freedom against slavery, of free government against military despotism.

"In my day and in my country," added General Smuts, "I have seen freedom go under, but I have seen it rise again. I have seen that small people of mine, a beaten people, rise again and fighting for the same freedom again, but now no longer for themselves but for the whole of the rest of the world, and the record of their efforts you will find written all over Africa south of the equator.

This is the sort of appeal that Smuts and men of his mind made in South Africa at the beginning of the war. These men realize that British institutions, though indeed forced upon them unwillingly, had been really a blessing. In truth there are no more loyal British imperialists in the empire than these men of South Africa, who fought under Kruger and Botha in the South African war. They were won in the midst of bitterness of their defeat by the generosity which handed their country back to them and gave them a measure of freedom and of real control and opportunity that they had never enjoyed and never would have hoped for under the narrow and almost despotic reign of Kruger and his burghers.

In South Africa they loved him because they have learned to have confidence in him. If some sort of an imperial senate or council of the empire is going to be set up after this war Smuts must be accounted one of the men who will have an important part in guiding its development. If a seer could rise up today and tell Britain that one day within the next five-and-twenty years there would be a premier of the worldwide British empire who would not be a citizen of the British Isles, I suppose the more people would guess Jan Smuts as the man than would name any other citizen of the empire.

ISLAND SOLDIERS AT HALIFAX PLAY BALL

A very interesting and well contested game of baseball was played on Thursday last between the R. C. G. A., and Ives on the diamond of the Galt. Batt. McNab's Island. The first to come to bat was the R. C. G. A., only to go down without a run, next came Ives' and in this innings made three runs. In the second innings Ives' made one and the third made two runs while towards the latter part of the game the R. C. G. A. managed to make five runs, thus bringing the game to an end. Score Ives' 6—R. C. G. A. 5. Laverty, Murphy, Stanley, Steele and Vickerson were the stars, while every man played an excellent game.

Ives' played the Army Service Corp on Monday, June 4th and won with the score at the finish 17 to 8. The next game will be played tomorrow, Thursday evening June 7th between R. C. E. and Ives. Ives team have just received their baseball suits and look splendid. The shirts are of cardinal red, with the pants of grey, socks of grey and red and caps red and grey. They really make a fine showing on the field. The line up is as follows for Ives:—
