

Lots Of Strength On Maritimes Big 3 This Season

Intense Interest Among Hockey Fans — Abbies And Wolves Practiced Last Night — Hawks On Thursday.

MONCTON, November 7.—Frosty weather, news of the big league training camps and the fact that the Moncton Hawks have been in intensive training for some weeks and are now rapidly attaining a physical condition which will enable them to step on to the ice by next Thursday in form that a Moncton team probably never has enjoyed before, has produced a decided boiling of the "hockey pot" locally. Rumors are flying thick and fast and the interest runs higher than ever. Conjecture as to who Coach Nicklin will use on the team and in what positions he will place them, is rife, and the announcement that ice will be started in the Stadium on Monday has made hockey the main topic about the streets of every sport fans gather.

A Three Team Loop

As matters stand, the league in which the Hawks will operate will be a three team loop, although there is a possibility of its later becoming a four team circuit but, that is still unsettled. Provisions were made when the league was formed to leave to the discretion of the teams already entered, the matter of admitting others. Saint John was understood to be making efforts to secure a team worthy of the second section of the schedule. Dalhousie Rangers at that said they were definitely out, and today it has been announced that their players have been released.

At any rate, the Rangers' players have been touring the province looking for some way in which to play hockey in the "Big Three" as the new league has become known. Some have been known to approach local hockey heads.

Indicates Good Crowds

Reports on the sale of holding tickets for the season is one of the bright spots and indications are that there will be new attendance records hung up at the big municipal rink this winter. Last season's holders are being given an opportunity of securing the same seats they occupied last winter and have first choice. The management reports that the seats are going quickly. It may be no uncommon thing to see the Stadium crowded to capacity this season.

That the fans are due to get their money's worth seems to be taken for granted, for all three teams in the Big Three circuit, which may become the Big Four before Spring, have been strengthened greatly since last season. The coming of Halifax into the loop has added an inter-provincial interest and the reports from Nova Scotia are to the effect that the Wolves will not be lacking in power. The Abbies need little introduction. They were stronger last year and stronger than ever this season. Here in Moncton, Nicklin's black and white-jerseyed Hawks also are added much power and, from accounts coming from Halifax and Charlottetown, are looked upon as one of the greatest teams ever assembled in the Maritimes. This, however, remains to be seen but nothing is being left undone to make them a formidable squad.

Fourteen on Squad

The squad now comprises fourteen players with Captain Jimmie Foster, net minder extraordinary, still available for duty between the posts. He will without a doubt be supported by a good spare goalie, but as yet none has been added to the squad.

Defensively, the Hawks have two full lines. Bill Gill and Len Burage, who held down the burly positions last year, are both back and in fine fettle, then there is Ed Kervin, who is showing his real hockey ability last winter, when he was cut down with a broken leg. Last, but not least, is a newcomer with a splendid reputation, Foster Wooley, formerly alternate defenseman with the Winnipeg Peps, Olympic champions last year. Wooley has been transferred to Moncton by the firm which employs him and is an athlete in every respect. With these players to choose from, a merry battle is anticipated for the regular starting job as defensemen.

There are three front lines available for the Hawks, and it is probable there will be some shifts around before the season opens. It is said on good authority that Coach Nicklin will convert Bert Connelly into a center ice man and have him as a pivot for Sammy McManus and Aubrey Webster, both of whom played with the Fredericton Capitals last season. Duke McDonald will form the pivot for another line, being flanked on the right side by Monty Muckle, high scorer in the league last year, and on the other side by Norm Cook or perhaps somebody else.

For the third line, Dud James, one of the greatest center ice men produced in the Maritimes, is available with Ken Carroll and Nucker Irvine ready for duty as wingmen. All three of these men are newcomers to the Hawks. James starred last season and Ken Carroll, one of the league's high scorers, with a weak team such as Bathurst produced last winter. Irvine was the speed merchant of the Wolverines, Nova Scotia champions, last year.

Cost Of Mounted Police Service

(Canadian Press)
OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—The total cost of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Prince Edward Island is $5,965 a month, contingent on the amount of cruising of the preventive service vessels during the winter months and cost of repairs, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons today.

All told, 34 officers and men comprise this force in P. E. I.

Returns From Inspection Tour

(Special To The Guardian)
MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 7.—Returning after a tour of inspection of the Company's lines and facilities in the Maritimes, D. E. Galloway, Assistant Vice President in charge of Canadian National Telegraphs, returned to Montreal this afternoon on the Ocean Limited of the Canadian National Railways.

He found the telegraph facilities, including lines, in the Maritimes in a highly efficient state and ample to take care of a considerable increase in volume of business. The carrier current system which was recently installed between Moncton, Quebec and Montreal is working very satisfactory, he said, and has considerably added to the facilities for the transmission of telegraphic messages between these centres.

Three channels are at present in operation with provision for adding additional channels as business warrants. Between Moncton and Saint John four channels are in operation. We have noted a considerable increase in the number of tickets installed in brokers offices in Toronto and Montreal and other large centres since the first of July, which, Mr. Galloway continued, would indicate a return to more prosperous business conditions.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Primo Carnera last night toyed with Les Kennedy, 210 pound Los Angeles battler, before knocking him out in third round with a barrage of short left and right hooks to the head. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds. The Italian giant weighed 260 but stepped about the arena's 18-foot ring with the grace of a middleweight.

TUG-OF-WAR

In the report, recently published of the tug-of-war between St. Eleanors and Miscouche, the donor of the $5 prize should have been given as Mr. Wallace MacCallum.

The following is an interesting sketch taken from the Ottawa Journal on Cy Denney, present coach of the Senators—and by the way, Denney is a close friend of Jimmy Gardner, Abbie coach:

From all over the National Hockey circuit expressions of goodwill for "Cy" Denney, the popular Senator coach, have come. The gentlemanly coach was a favorite in his playing days, and even rival camps would be glad to see him bring his team, if not exactly to the top, at least within a step or two of the flag.

Basil O'Meara, who has followed Denney's career intimately, pens this appreciation of him in the Montreal Star:

"Cy Denney, Ottawa manager, starts in with good prospects in handling the rejuvenated Ottawa Senators. He needs little introduction to hockey fans. No player in hockey ever had his record of breaking up tie games. It was a business with the pudgy performer to land the winning goal. One of the deadliest shots in the game, he was for years among the top scorers. He had that quality of being able to shoot without telegraphing that seems to be a lost art with many in these later days. Cy bent many a stick out of shape, as he constantly worked to get a crook in the blade of his fial, and he seldom missed. He knew the weakness of every goal-tend in the league, and was first to find that Gardiner was only vulnerable to low left hand shots across the ankles.

"The first time Cy ever faced Gardiner the latter beat him in close half a dozen times. He beat everybody else, and he had Senators bowlegged trying to get even a tally. Hawks were futile in front of him but Gardiner was invincible. Sitting on the bench in the third period Denney turned to Dave Gill: 'Let me out there, Dave. I think I can get a goal.' At the next stop Cy went on. He took the puck from Nighbor drifted in, let fly a ripper across 'Chuck's' ankles, and ambled off as soon as he saw the man with the flag in the old Coliseum raise his hand.

"On another occasion he won a title for Ottawa in 1923. In the previous game he had been silt from ear to ear by Billy Coutu, had his hemstitched head swathed in bandages as he watched Canadiens pull up on a two goal lead gained by Ottawa in the first game in Montreal. It was the occasion when Leo Dandurand suspended Coutu and Cleghorn for incidents connected with the previous encounter, which left Ottawas without the services of Denney and Hitchman. Canadiens sent out Odie Cleghorn, and Didier Pitre on the defence. They played a remarkable game, held out Ottawa's sharpshooters, were leading all their ripe experience to Canucks' defensive play. The visitors were still tied, and leading on the game 2-0. Tommy Gorman fidgeted on the Ottawa bench, fairly tearing his tie to shreds, while he roared encouragement to Senators.

"Denney, half dazed, with the blood oozing through his white bandages, sat alongside of him with two blankets over his uniform. The period was well under way. Joliat, Boucher and Morenz were peppering Benedict, while Odie and Didier were stonewalling behind them. Gorman took an anxious glance at the clock, pulled the blankets off Cy, sent him into action with the admonition, 'Just one shot Cy and give it all you have.' Cy wobbled in his position, set himself as the teams faced off. Nighbor, who never missed in an emergency, drew the puck skillfully, shot a parallel pass to Cy. The latter took it and shot with the one motion. George Veziha never saw the puck till it lit behind. Senators packed up half an hour afterward on their trek to the coast.

GLACE BAY, Nov. 7.—A matter of $1,000, or 2,000 spectators at 50c per head, is what stands behind the Montreal Winged Wheelers, English Rugby champions of Upper Canada, coming to Glace Bay.

The Montreal team request that they be given a guarantee of $1,000 to come to Glace Bay to meet the Caledonia team, present holders of the McTier Cup.

The request of the Montreal team was dealt with at a meeting of the executive of the Caledonia Club tonight, and discussed and looked into from all angles. The members of the executive felt that giving such a guarantee as the one asked would be a big problem to-day, with conditions in Cape Breton as they are, and the gamble on the weather that would have to be taken.

A counter proposal was ordered sent to the Montreal club, and Manager Stewart McDonald will telegraph this to the Montrealers tomorrow. Until a reply to this proposal is submitted by the Caledonia club is received, it cannot be definitely stated when the Montreal team will play here or whether they will come at all this year to try and win back the McTier Cup.

Gardner Popular
Is Jimmy Gardner, 1932-33 coach of the Abegweits popular with the local fans? Well, if the whole-hearted ovation tendered him by 1,800 fans at the Forum last night is any criterion, then the cagey and genial Gardner is as solid in Charlottetown as the Rock of Gibraltar.

The Montrealer was introduced to the fans last night by Colonel D. A. MacKinnon, and the acknowledgement was one hundred percent in the form of three hearty cheers for the Upper Canadian and veteran of many professional hockey wars.

Fourteen players as full of hockey as an egg is full of meat, skated onto the ice last night and breezed through an hour's work that gave them their ice legs preparatory to a stiff season ahead. This morning another practice is called for 10 o'clock when Coach Gardner will start the serious work of building his machine.

The players turning out last night were: Bubar, Gross, Oliver, Ferguson, Jemmett, Beaton, Lawlor, Kane, Schwab, Hudson, Estabrooks.

Govt. Machinery For Bond Issues Functions Smoothly

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—Last year, for the National Service Loan, there were 109,000 individual applications, which involved an immense amount of detail for the branch officers of the receiver general. On that occasion, the rush came at the end of the first week and tapered off gradually as the flow of subscriptions from outside points were filled. This year it is not expected that there will be so many applications in view of the fact that the total amount of bonds to be issued is not nearly as large as the $221,000 National Service Loan.

26 SPANISH SAILORS HELD FOR MUTINY

(Canadian Press)
ST. PIERRE, Miq., Nov. 7.—Trial for mutiny on the high seas faces twenty-six Spanish sailors, who crossed Cabot Strait on the steamer Magnhid, bound for Halifax en route to their native country. They will arrive at the Nova Scotia port tomorrow, and thence will be shipped to Spain to answer charges of refusing duty aboard the trawler Euskalerra out of San Sebastian.

The Euskalerra, carrying a crew of fifty-three men, was operating on St. Pierre Bank in late October when a dispute arose over the use of the water ration. Half the crew refused to work, and the vessel proceeded to St. Pierre to report to the Spanish consul and notify local authorities. Officials said the affair was "really insignificant."

The twenty-six were placed ashore in custody and put on board the Magnhid yesterday.

Meanwhile, the Euskalerra completed her crew with seamen from St. Pierre and returned to the Banks on November 3.

Investigation Of Combines Act Is Requested

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7.—The Department of Labor today received an application for an investigation under the Combines Act into the tobacco industry in western Ontario. It probably will be granted.

Growers of tobacco claim a combine exists among buyers, depressing prices and competition. The application for an investigation came from Tillsonburg, Ont.

A few days ago in the House of Commons Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, said if an application were received "immediate and appropriate" action would be taken.

Chinese Invents New Type Engine

SHANGHAI, Nov. 7.—Successful road tests have just been completed at Changsha, in Hunan Province, of an automobile engine which operates entirely on the fumes from charcoal. At Changsha, gasoline costs $1.50 a gallon in Chinese money, and careful tests are said to prove that the new charcoal engine can be operated over a stated mileage at one-tenth the cost of an automobile or motor truck propelled by a gasoline engine.

The inventor of the charcoal engine is Shan Teh, an engineer employed by the Hunan Provincial Government.

The charcoal-burning apparatus can be mounted on any type of motor car or truck without remodeling the mechanical equipment. So far successful tests have been made
