

ITALY'S FLAG FLOATS OVER SULTANIA

Few Were Killed During the Brief Bombardment

DELIBAT, on the Tunisian Frontier, Oct. 6—Six soldiers and six Jews were killed and five soldiers and one Jew were wounded during the bombardment of Tripoli.

Europeans, of whom there are still 4,000 in Tripoli, were unharmed. Most of the citizens remained impassive during the bombardment.

LONDON, Oct. 6—The Italian flag floats over Sultania fort at Tripoli. Part of the fleet is anchored in the harbor and other warships lie a short distance from the dismantled fortifications.

Few bodies have been found among the ruins and apparently no great number of Turks were killed by the bombardment.

PILFERERS ARRESTED AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, Penn., Oct. 4—The first arrests for robbery since the disastrous flood of Saturday were made today when two foreign women were caught by a State trooper while prying open the lid of a trunk. The women are Mrs. Peter Shava and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Shava.

The women arrested appealed to State Senator F. E. Baldwin to intercede for them, but he refused. They were taken to the county jail at Conowingo. Their home then was searched and furs and jewelry valued at $1000 or more were recovered, many of the pieces of which were identified.

HUSBAND FLEES

Joseph Shave, husband of the young woman, is accused of participating in the thefts. He has fled.

The visit of Governor John K. Tener, the recovery of seven more bodies and the funerals of a number of other victims, further improvement of the system of clearing the ruins and feeding the augmented force of workmen, marked the day as one of the greatest progress thus far in relieving the stricken town.

Stronger than ever this morning was the general opinion that the Governor's visit indicated that the State officials are looking over the situation with a view of ascertaining their authority in conducting an investigation as to the liability and responsibility for the condition of the dam.

With the bodies recovered today, there are but 30 persons unaccounted for, according to the official announcement from headquarters.

As the bodies are identified, more haste than heretofore is used in disposing of them, because of the warm weather and drizzling rain. The unidentified are not held longer than over night, and then are buried at public expense. The carcasses of animals killed or drowned have been incinerated.

FIVE FUNERALS AT ONCE

Six funerals were held today, five from the Swedish church, the only one left standing. At this little edifice, bare and crude in its appointments, all the funerals were held, one after the other.

The five caskets were placed side by side before the pulpit at one time and as one service was completed a minister of another denomination would succeed for the next funeral. Farm wagons had been obtained for the funerals. The Rev. E. B. Harter of the Methodist Church, read the services as the bodies were buried.

The cemetery, Forest Hills, is a barren hill slope facing the afflicted Sinebush valley.

There were about 100 men at work on the ruins today, and the work of this increased force showed encouraging results.

Among the relics recovered today is the safe of the Masonic Lodge, somewhat battered, but intact, with the lodge records.

A check for $1000 was received today for the unfortunates in Austin.

A WHALE ASHORE AT TIGNISH

Much interest has been taken in Prince County and a great deal of talk has been occasioned throughout the Province of the discovery of a whale ashore at Tignish.

On Wednesday afternoon James Myrick, of the firm of J. H. Myrick & Co., Tignish, noticed a large object floating in the harbor. Accompanied by others he proceeded in a motor boat to investigate and on approaching the object found it to be a whale of huge dimensions for these waters.

The mammal was towed ashore at high tide and now lies as far ashore as it could be towed. It is sixty feet in length and about ten feet in diameter and an estimate places the weight at about twenty tons.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The National Commission today decided to play the first of the world's baseball championship games at the Polo grounds here Saturday, Oct. 14.

BEACHY DARES 35-MILE WIND

BROCKTON, Oct. 4—Sheets of rain, driven across the Brockton fair grounds by 35-mile wind, put out of commission every outdoor attraction of the second day of the Brockton fair with the exception of Lincoln Beachy and his Curtiss biplane.

About 9000 persons came out to the grounds and slid around in the soup of rich brown mud which took the place of the late earth. A little before 3 o'clock Beachy came out to the hangar and cast a modest eye over the mournful assemblage.

"Poor audience," said he, "they haven't got anything to look at. I guess I'll fly." Atwood had visited the grounds late in the morning and declared that it would be madness to go up in such weather. Neither Atwood nor Beachy was asked to fly by the fair committee.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, however, Beachy's machine was wheeled out to the end of the oval, and with a delay of less than a minute his diminutive aviator climbed into his seat and started down the field. The puddles which he struck before he could get his plane off the earth were so plentiful and so deep that the wheels of his airplane threw quarts of water up on to his planes.

When he did get into the air, the driving wind tilted him in a most precarious fashion. Pitching and tossing he kept right ahead, and climbed aerially toward the dark gray mist banks which were driving across the field. At the height of about 800 feet, he banked recklessly, and cut a couple of figure eights by way of diversion, while the crowd cheered and applauded him continuously. As she swooped to the earth for a perfect landing, he was given a great ovation.

The horse show events were run off until 2 o'clock, when the muddy condition of the ring and the torrents of rain forced the officials to call the show off for the day. Nine classes were shown. The Avondale Farm of Housatonic took two blues, while the other blues went to Spencer Borden of Fall River, F. Lothrop Ames of North Easton, Dr. P. J. Cronon of Boston, Mrs. John S. Ames of North Easton, R. H. McCormack of Bar Harbor, Mrs. J. S. Walsh of New York, and Julian Morris of Keswick, Va.

Thomas W. Lawson carried away the big honors in the cattle exhibit. His cattle competed with those of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and in practically every instance the Lawson cattle were victorious.

Thomas W. Lawson defeated Alfred Vanderbilt in the dairy show. Lawson's bull won the grand championship, while his cow won the first prize in the jersey class. Lawson took many other prizes with his ani and exhibits, more in fact than Vanderbilt did with his.

Owing to the condition of the racing track only the three minor harness racing events were run off. Three big stake races and five other races have been postponed until tomorrow. Inasmuch as the weather predictions are for unsettled weather tomorrow, the fair will probably be continued through Saturday.

ELECTION COST STEPHENSON $30,000

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 5—When U. S. Senator Isaac Stephenson found that his expenses for nomination at the primaries in 1908 were running so high that the item for beer and cigars alone amounted to $30,000 and the aggregate fast approaching the final total of $107,793, he remonstrated and told his campaign managers "I want to win the nomination but I don't want to buy it."

This was part of the testimony given today before the testimony committee, which is investigating charges that bribery and corruption contributed to Senator Stephenson's election.

In reply to his complaint, Senator Stephenson was told that the primary nomination, former Congressman Samuel A. Cook, who spent $42,203; former state Senator William H. Matton, who spent $30,002, and Francis R. McGovern, now governor of Wisconsin, who spent $11,063—were making a hard fight, their expenses finally aggregating $38,268.

This together with Senator Stephenson's expenses, made a total for the Republican Senatorial campaign that year of $191,061.

It was testified by E. A. Edmunds, Mr. Stephenson's campaign manager, that the senator usually issued checks for more money, when told of the activities of his opponents. He sometimes was provoked that so much money was being spent.

FOREIGN WEDDING ENDS IN BLOODSHED

GLACE BAY, October 4—A wedding in the foreigner colony at New Aberdeen last night wound up with bloodshed, two men, a Russian and a Poleander, being now in St. Joseph's hospital suffering from stabs inflicted on each other. One was stabbed in the head and the other twice in the shoulder.

Little is yet known about the affair, but the Coal company's police and interpreters are trying to learn the facts. One of the men in the hospital has not awakened up to noon, since being taken to the hospital. The other does not speak English, so that nothing can be learned from him. Neither the police nor hospital management have yet been able to learn the names of the wounded men.

The stabbing occurred about one o'clock this morning in a house at the back rows, New Aberdeen, where a wedding celebration made the night joyful. That there had been a stabbing was reported to Sergeant West bond, of the company's police. He hurried to the scene, and on the way met one of the men, with two wounds in his shoulder, who told him in broken English of an attack on him. Taking this man with him, Sergeant Bond went to the house, where he found the second man, who was also wounded and blamed the first complainant.

MAKING THINGS SUNSHINY

Have you ever had your day suddenly turn sunny because of a cheerful word? Have you ever wondered if this could be the same world, because someone had been unexpectedly kind to you? You can make to-day the same for somebody. It is only a question of a little imagination, a little time and trouble. Think now, "What can I do today to make someone happy?"—old persons, children, servants,—even a bird! Why not? or sugar for the bird? Why not?

"A commonplace life!" we say, and we sigh; But why should we sigh as we say?

The commonplace sun in the commonplace sky
Makes up the commonplace day.
The moon and the stars are commonplace things,
And the flower that blooms and the bird that sings;
But dark were the world and sad our lot
If the flowers should fail and the sun shine not—
And God who studies each separate soul
Out of commonplace lives makes his beautiful whole.
