Audiences Are Thrilled With Parachute Le.

Thrilling behind-the-scenes training scenes of the 601st Parachute Battalion provides the sensational background for RKO Radio's "Parachute Battalion," the feature attraction appearing at the Prince Edward Theatre. The story is one of powerful emotional appeal and includes such favorites as Robert Preston, Nancy Kelly, Edmund O'Brien, and Harry Carey while Jacky Rosen, Paul Kelly, Richard Cromwell and Robert Barrat are featured.

Aside from its suspense, and its perfectly balanced story, "Parachute Battalion" offers astonishing realism, and a truthful depiction of the latest branch of Uncle Sam's fighting forces, the parachute corps.

The story, an original screenplay by John T. Cost and Captain John H. U. S. Air Corps, is invested with meticulous authenticity of background and training routine. Special permission was received from the Army's high command to make the major part of the scenes in Fort Benning, Georgia, home of the 601st Parachute Battalion.

The adventures of four young men from widely divergent backgrounds are chronicled from the time they enlist in the Battalion. It follows their training, the severe routine which changes them from raw material to fighting machines in the most thrilling manner, and the crucial test, the jump from a transport, plane one hundred feet up.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralizing acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

Wedding Anniversary

On the night of Feb. 10th, a very large gathering of friends, neighbours and relatives met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson, Kingsboro, where a reception was held in honour of this very popular and genial couple to celebrate the attainment of their 75th wedding anniversary.

Rev. H. R. Bell, pastor of the United Baptist Church, Kingsboro, of which Mr. and Mrs. Robertson are devout and faithful members, capably acted as chairman.

Conducted by Mrs. George MacDonaid and Rev. Mr. Bell. The bride and groom of 25 years experience were escorted to chairs of honour in the dining-room which were attractively decorated in white pink and silver.

After a few preliminary remarks, Mr. Bell aptly and sincerely congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Robertson on this very important and happy event, the attainment of their silver wedding anniversary.

Rev. Mr. Bell called upon other friends present to offer their felicitations to the happy couple, after which Mrs. Floy MacLean read by Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson.

Dear Friends:

It is with great pleasure we assemble here to-night in the peace of an E. Island home, to rejoice with you and to extend congratulations on this outstanding occasion in your lives. One February night 25 years ago one of our East B. Island's fairest daughters went forth with her consent to found a new home. To-night we see the fruits of your labor and united efforts in a place second to none in comforts and convenience.

Yet a home is something more than material things as phrased by the poet Edgar Guest.

"Home ain't a place that cold can buy or get in in a minute. Afore a home's yours, got to be a heap o' livin' in it."

Yours is a home in the real sense of the word, where old and young find a warm welcome, where your numerous friends delight to visit and partake of your rare hospitality.

'Tis the human touch in this world that counts.

The touch of your hand and mine, which means far more to the fainting heart.

Than shelter and bread, and wine. For shelter is gone, when the night is o'er.

And a home only a day. But the touch of a hand and the sound of the voice bring on in the soul away."

In the religious and social life you occupy a place to fill, always ready and willing to give of your time, talents and means to any cause which has for its object the uplift and benefit of humanity.

We are glad of this opportunity to extend our sentiments of appreciation while extending congratulations on the attainment of the twenty-fifth anniversary of your marriage, we offer you our sincerest wishes that the future years may be happy and that God's richest blessings may be yours.

Your friends and neighbors assembled here wish you to accept this gift in the spirit of good will and that the future years may be happy and that God's richest blessings may be yours.

At the conclusion of the reading of the address, a silver and white decorated coach drawn by Callum MacLean and driven by John Robertson made its magical appearance and presented the beautiful groom of 1917 with a purse and a beautiful bouquet of white roses, a purse and a beautiful bouquet of white roses, a purse and a beautiful bouquet of white roses.

After which the entire party joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mr. Robertson responded by thanking all those who had so generously planned and contributed to the wedding party, adding that the ceremony of 25 years ago was the happiest event in his life and that he had never cherished many beautiful thoughts and memories of that event and the intervening years and rejoiced in the fact that the ceremony who had witnessed at this happy gathering, Mrs. Robertson also very graciously thanked all for their kindness and thoughtfulness and manifested no little degree of surprise and delight at the tangible evidence of their love and devotion for them.

At the close of their remarks Mr. Robertson, or "Jimmie" the name by which he is familiarly known, was given "the high bounce" by a party only too anxious to have this way of expressing their feelings.

While May, (Mrs. Robertson) by way of devotion, was presented with a beautiful pink white and silver cake, which she served to her groom and guests.

After a rousing "sing-song" a complimentary lunch was served by the ladies. The party then stood at attention and joined in singing "God Save the King" and after wishing Jimmie and May many years of happiness health and prosperity, took their departure to their respective homes satisfied that they had had a good time and had done just honour to the occasion.
