Patriotism Unquestioned

(Canadian Press) OTTAWA, Ont., June 16—The government was without any communication on the matter of Russian clothing being imported into Canada and being sold in Montreal, the Prime Minister today told E. W. Jacobs, (Liberal, Cartier). The House of Commons was amused, when Mr. Jacobs drew attention to the fact that when he brought the matter up yesterday he had been reported in Hansard as saying, that if it were true such clothing was being sold in Montreal, "we'd have wolves in sheep's clothing." "Of course, I mean we'd have sheep in wolves' clothing," remarked Mr. Jacobs. "I say this in order that future generations might see that my patriotism is unquestioned."

Grand Jury Report

Following was the report of the Grand Jury: To the Honorable Chief Justice Mathieson and to the presiding judges of the Supreme Court—may it please your Lordships, we, the members of the Grand Jury assembled, beg leave to submit the following report. It is with pleasure we note the absence of crime from the docket, and the old time custom of presenting the Honorable the Chief Justice with a pair of white gloves, emblematic of this event, will be hailed with pleasure by all. With the increased auto traffic on our streets and highways we recommend a rigid enforcement of all traffic laws, we would further recommend that all vehicles on the highways be equipped to carry a light, so as to further protect life and property. We would also recommend that some employment be provided for the prisoners in the jail. We visited Falconwood Hospital, the Infirmary and the Jail, we found conditions satisfactory in all three institutions. Falconwood Hospital under the management of Dr. McLaughlin is conducting the affairs of the institution in keeping with the policies of his recent predecessors. Dr. McLaughlin's assistants, nurses and attendants are courteous and attentive to the patients. Inmates of the infirmary are well looked after, with general conditions up to a fairly high standard, and the jail under the supervision of the keeper, Mr. Dwyer, appears to be well cared for and shows careful management. We would recommend that a fire escape be placed in the male ward at Falconwood Hospital, and that a building to store the coal be provided. S. A. McDONALD Foreman, for self and fellows. His Lordship complimented the jury on their report, and on the manner in which they had discharged their duties. He made reference to the necessity of the strict enforcement of all traffic laws. The following judgments were delivered: In the matter of the application of Francis Murphy for a writ of certiorari His Lordship allowed the application and set aside the conviction, allowing costs to neither party. The respondents were given the usual protection order, Mr. Justice Saunders concurring. In the matter of the King vs Linus Christopher, Summerside, an appeal on the part of the Crown to amend a conviction under the Excise Act, Mr. Justice Arsenault delivered the judgment of the court dismissing the appeal on the grounds it was now too late to amend the conviction, the defend-

Tribute To Former United States Pres.

(Canadian Press) MARION, Ohio, June 16—Paying tribute to "a kindly and gentle spirit," President Hoover this afternoon dedicated the Memorial to Warren G. Harding, 29th President of the United States. Mrs. Hoover lauded President Harding as "a mind and character fitted for the task where the one transcendent need was the healing quality of gentleness and friendliness," in the days after the Great War when the United States suffered from discrimination of finances, overwhelming taxes, prostration of agriculture and business, widespread unemployment, and bitterness over the treaty of Versailles. "It was his mission," he said, "to compose prejudices and conflicts at home, to lessen the threats of renewed wars throughout the world. He succeeded in these tasks, and he succeeded further. The Washington Arms Conference for the reduction and limitation of battle ships identified his administration with the first step in history toward the disarmament of the world."
