Huge Troop Carrying Plane Is Aim Of Air Powers

NEW YORK, May 7.—The "Air-craft Year Book" issued today by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, says that "huge multi-engine machines carrying 50 soldiers with full fighting equipment, or their equivalent in bombs," is what air powers are striving to develop within the next few years.

Such mammoth machines, the year book says, would be capable of 300-miles-an-hour speed at an altitude of three miles.

Of Germany and her air force, the publication says:

"Within the space of two years of the most intense effort Germany, with 17 airplane factories and nine engine plants, has succeeded in turning out some 600 military airplanes. With the exception of seven experimental types, including three light bombardment and one heavy bomber, none of the German planes has been developed to a state of speed and performance which would warrant matching strength with either the French or Polish equipment."

France has more combat planes than any other power, according to the publication. It goes on to say "France has approximately 3,200 fighters, bombers and observation machines at home, with some 400 others in the colonies."

"But actually, the British Empire is the strongest power in the air. The British have 2,800 combat planes, of which 1,300 are kept in the British Isles, 450 are assigned to the navy, 600 are with Royal Air Force contingents on duty abroad, and 500 are maintained by other air forces, in the Dominions and other possessions of the Empire."

R.C.A.F. Planes For Service In Maritimes

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, May 7.—Bad weather today prevented four Royal Canadian Air Force airplanes from leaving Longueuil Airport for Halifax, N.S., where they are scheduled to take up preventive work on the Atlantic seaboard.

Weather permitting, the planes will leave tomorrow. Stationed at Barrington Passage, N.S., the four are expected to be utilized also in a passenger service. The four recon-ditioned machines were fully tested on Monday.

New Department For Quebec Govt.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) QUEBEC, May 7.—Creation of a department of municipal affairs, trade and commerce was approved by the Quebec Legislative Assembly today. The committee of the whole today... has not been announced who will head the new department.

Vote in favor of the plan was 28-9, an amendment by Antonio Elie (Cons. Yamaoka), seeking that the department be established without increasing the number of ministers in the cabinet, being rejected by the same vote.

(C. E. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, May 7.—Establishment of a $1,000,000 National Park in Nova Scotia is authorized in a government bill that received second reading in the Legislature today with the blessing of both sides of the House.

It permits the acquisition of 250,000 acres of land and its transfer to the federal government. The governor-in-council is given the power to raise not more than $1,000,000 for the park.

neighborhood. On Sunday they attend thanksgiving service in Usher Hall. They stay at Carbery Tower.

The chief rabbi, Dr. J. H. Hertz, has sent instructions to all the synagogues in the country regarding special Silver Jubilee services. Synagogues will have the choice of two alternative forms of service to be held either on the Saturday or Sunday following Jubilee Day.

Special Prayer

A special prayer for the King written by the chief rabbi says: "We, the children of Israel, thank thee in safety under thy shadow, join in thanksgiving unto thee, who cast our lot in these lands, and hast kept us in life, preserved us, and enabled us to reach this day. We extol and exalt Thy holy name for all the good which Thou hast bestowed upon our King, in sickness Thou did cause the sun of healing to rise for him. Thou hast widened the borders of his Dominion, and his sway extends over the Holy Land, the land of Israel. Verily Thou didst enlarge the commonwealth; Thou didst shield it amidst the dangers and terrors of devastating war, so that it has become famous in its greatness and in its pursuit of peace and righteousness."

Masefield's Jubilee Poem

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, May 7.—John Masefield, Great Britain's poet laureate, broadcast Monday this special Jubilee poem:

Oh, God, Whose mercy led us through the years of war into this lonely mortal's despair,
 Grant that the world may make a new man's spirit that his own quarrels cease.
 Father, hear us as we sing and bless this country and her King,
 O Son, Whose fellowship consoles all lonely mortals in despair,
 Help us to brother human souls to lovely lives everywhere.
 Father hear us as we sing and bless this country and her King,
 O Spirit, Who are infinite in wisdom, duty, joy and truth,
 Come Thou into our minds with light, renew our nation unto youth,
 Father, hear us as we sing, and bless this country and her King.

FOUR DIE AS RESIDENCE IS BURNED

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) BOSTON, May 7.—Four persons perished today in a fire which swept the four-story Back Bay mansion of John Lavallo, internationally known portrait artist, great war bobbing pilot and grandson of a former dictator of the Argentine Republic.

Two victims were his crippled 70 year old mother and his daughter Alice, 14. Both were found in the ruins of their beds. The two others were Miss Mary Dolan, 24, and Miss Kathleen Costello, 25, maid. Crushed by burns they lost their grip on fourth floor window sill and fell to the pavement before firemen could erect ladders.

Seven others were injured, including two other daughters of Lavallo, Ellen Elaine, six, and Mary, 13, who suffered critical injuries in leaps to safety from the flames.

Neither Lavallo nor his second wife were at home. Lavallo was in New York while Mrs. Lavallo was believed to be in Cincinnati.

The blaze started apparently at the bottom of a dumb-water shaft and quickly mushroomed through the house, trapping sleepers on upper floors. A policeman who discovered smoke pouring from windows found the building a mass of flames as he raced back from sounding the first alarm.

German Leaders Urge Policy Of Conciliation

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, May 7.—(C. P. Havas)—Reports were current today in official circles that Reichswehr and Reichsbank leaders, fearful of a hostile foreign reaction, have convinced Chancellor Adolf Hitler Germany's foreign policy for the present must be moderate and conciliatory.

Reichswehr Minister General Werner von Blomberg and Reichsbank President Dr. Hjalmar Schacht were said to have urged this policy.

The former contended Germany needed "a period of calm in international diplomacy" until 1937 and the latter warned against the danger of increasing difficulty in obtaining foreign currencies to purchase raw materials.

Students Pass Business Exams

At an examination concluded on Thursday last, May 2nd in the shorthand and typewriting departments of the Charlottetown Business College—R. R. Bell, Esq., final examiner, the following students passed with high satisfactorily: Miss Mary MacFarlane, Summerside; Miss Virginia Scarth, City; Miss Leah MacLeod, Montague; Miss Mary I. MacMillan, B. A., B. Comm. (Dal.), North River; and Miss Marie L. Clark, B. A., (Dal.), City. Miss Clark, apart from the regular routine work in taking the prescribed courses, gave special instruction in English, in which she specialized while at Dalhousie University.

In examining the papers presented by these candidates, Mr. Bell, the examiner, said that "They were the best I have ever examined." Such graduates should find little or no difficulty in obtaining good positions, for they have been most painstaking students.

ITALY TO DOUBLE FORCE IN AFRICA

(By Andrew Berling, Associated Press Foreign Staff) (By Guardian's Special Wire) ROME, May 7.—Italy moved to double her force of 100,000 soldiers in East Africa today as a government official, with Benito Mussolini looking on, told the Chamber of Deputies the Ethiopian situation "is a problem of vast importance, embracing the whole European civilization."

A loud roar of approval went up from the deputies.

THREE NEW PROBLEMS

Orders for the mobilization of three new divisions of fighting men, as revealed in an official communication, are expected to provide "a powerful instrument of war."

The best informed quarters said Italy's forces already in the colonies, beset by troublesome incidents with the British Government, now total approximately 100,000 men.

Colonial Undersecretary Alessandro Lessona told the Chamber: "Italy has the right to see that aggressions such as that at Ualul and Afud in East Africa border incidents which strain the nations' ties are not repeated, and that obligations contained in the treaty of friendship are respected."

Four new battalions are to be constituted in Italy and two are to be composed of native troops of East Africa.

Bare Kidnap-Extortion Plot

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) KANSAS CITY, May 7.—A friend of U. S. Attorney General Homer Cummings—wealthy James M. Kemper—was disclosed today as the target of a crude $250,000 kidnap-extortion plot.

Edward E. Conroy, special agent of the federal bureau of investigation here, revealed the plot in announcing that a jittery, shabbily-dressed youth who said he was Peter Warren, 20, has been held since May 3.

Charges of attempting to extort the quarter-million dollars from Kemper, President of the Commerce Trust Company, were filed by U. S. District Attorney Maurice M. Milligan. The accused man, pale and frightened, pleaded not guilty before a United States commissioner and waived preliminary hearing.

THROUGH CHEERS KING, QUEEN

LONDON, May 7.—Jubilee Day has come and gone but crowds continued tonight to keep a throng-hold on London's West End.

A dense throng hemming in Buckingham Palace and cheering every time a window was opened, or at any other signs of life, let loose a terrific roar which was heard as far as Piccadilly when the King and Queen stepped out on the balcony for a few minutes.

Buckingham Palace shared favor with St. James Palace, where the Prince of Wales gave a colorful Jubilee party. Traffic in other streets was disrupted as sightseers made a tour of flood-lighted buildings.

FILMING SOCCER TO SHOW PLAYS

LONDON, May 7.—(By Canadian Press)—Consisting of eight reels each depicting a particular phase of soccer, a film is being made through the efforts of the English football association.

NEW BRUNSWICK R.C.M.P. PROBE ADJOURNED

Inquiry to Re-open At Bathurst May 16th—Veniot On Scene.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) FREDERICTON, N. B., May 7.—Hon. Dr. Peter Veniot, who has offered to stake his House of Commons seat on the proving of charges he levelled against the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, gained a point and lost one today before the Federal Government's investigating Royal Commission. After agreeing to shift the scene of the inquiry to Bathurst, N. B., Chief Justice J. B. M. Baxter of New Brunswick refused the former postmaster-general's request for an adjournment beyond the prorogation of Parliament.

Last night the Commissioner adjourned the probe to May 16, promising to sit two days and return to Bathurst the next week if necessary to wind up the investigation. Dr. Veniot had objected to the commission sitting while Parliament was on—as it may now—since he would be kept away from the House.

VENIOT EXPLAINS

The Gloucester member went before the commission today to ask for the change in the time and place of the inquiry and explain why he was not here when it opened last week to produce proof of his allegations that R. O. M. P. officers used third degree methods, burned a seized shop's stores before hungry people and allowed police ships to lie at anchor in Bathurst while rum-runners operated unmolested not far away.

Denials to the accusations had been entered by the R. O. M. P. and their witnesses at the earlier hearing.

Witnesses in support of the charges, Dr. Veniot asserted, could not have been transported then because of the poor condition of Gloucester County's roads. They could they all be brought to the Capital even now, he said, because some were mothers who could not leave home long enough, and there were other difficulties. Dr. Veniot indicated he had about 40 witnesses in all.

DECLINES TO GIVE EVIDENCE

He himself was invited by the Commissioner today to give evidence based on personal observation bearing on the charges he made in Parliament. But he declined the offer, reserving his sworn testimony until later, when he felt it could be corroborated by other evidence.

Dr. Veniot said again that he intended seeking an extension of the Commission's terms of reference when Parliament opens. Certain of his general and specific charges, he contended, had been omitted from the reference.

The former Cabinet minister's appearance was marked by verbal clashes with C. L. Dougherty, Conservative, who took a run-up with the Minister of Justice, Dr. Veniot declared he was "sooner stand losing the case" rather than have some of his witnesses "forced" to travel to Fredericton. He held also he could not be compelled to testify at the present time, though there was no suggestion today that he would be subpoenaed.

Dr. Veniot, who once had protested in the Commons against the selection of Chief Justice Baxter, a former political opponent, said today he felt he would receive justice at the Commissioner's hands. Chief Justice Baxter succeeded Dr. Veniot as Premier of New Brunswick 10 years ago.

teen minutes later the streets were clear of traffic, and only the rumbling of continued shocks disturbed the unshaken silence.

Erwinville joy-makers from country districts rushed back to their homes, finding many destroyed and others badly damaged with their contents shattered. Neither the Coconut Hotel nor any other stone building in this district was left habitable. Chimneys and towers were shaken to the ground and churches were damaged heavily.

Damage to the post office and customs buildings made them unsafe for employees, who were transferred to the public market building.

Yesterday's severe quake followed a series of light shocks during the previous two weeks. Shocks continued last night and today, and the island residents were fearful of further damage.

BASSETERRE, St. Kitts, May 7.—(C. P. Cable)—The island of St. Kitts, northeast of Montserrat, in the British West Indies group, was shaken by a prolonged light earthquake yesterday at 4 p. m. Shortly after a severe shock caused extensive damage in Montserrat.

HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION—Highways of the province are now in fairly good condition, L. B. MacMillan, deputy minister of public works said yesterday. The balance of 50 road-grading machines which had been in Charlottetown all winter being repaired and re-conditioned moved out to various sections of the province today where they will be employed throughout summer months by highway workers. They took a run-up to Summerside yesterday and made the trip in good time" Mr. MacMillan stated. With the exception of a few soft spots where snow had lingered long, the roads were generally good. Throughout the western section of the province the highways were open to open to traffic, he said and cars were making good time on the run eastward to Montague.
