WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

Grass Serves as Mulch Grown Between Row Crops

A new idea in mulching, tested by the Ohio State University, is grass, grown between the rows of garden crops, to keep the soil loose and granular, and insure proper aeration.

Mulches as a substitute for cultivation are growing in favor. They have been shown by scientific test to be superior to as well as easier than, cultivation as a means of keeping the soil moist, preventing the formation of a crust and insuring aeration—the constant renewal of air in the soil, which is necessary to vigorous growth.

Mulches of fresh organic material, such as manure, straw, alfalfa, peat moss, lawn clippings and others, stabilize the granular structure of soils and prevent surface compaction, says the Ohio report.

In testing various mulching materials, it was found that when grass was sown between plant rows, it produced the same effect as a good manure mulch, at considerably less expense.

Sown at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 square feet, this grass makes a thick growth, the report says. Chewing's fescue is used because it withstands shade cast by the plants. Towards fall the grass dies out. Crop production is said to be as good as when any other mulching material is used, and the cost less.

This report suggests that hereafter home gardeners can sow grass seed between rows of flowers and vegetables and instead of cultivating, use a lawnmower. Ryegrass is suggested for garden use rather than a fescue.

Many other materials have been used successfully to mulch gar-

Paper Laid Between Garden Rows and Held Down by Wire Staples, Keeps Down Weeds, and Keeps in Water.

Waste lumber is used. Rolls of asphalted paper held down with wire staples has been used successfully on many crops. Newspapers will serve for this purpose, laid down wet, using several thicknesses, and anchoring with staples or stones.

Waste lumber is used by some gardeners, to shade the ground between rows. By laying down boards when planting the garden, and walking on them rather than the soil, the ground is kept loose and by shifting the boards between rows, weeds can be killed without hoeing.

Excellent results can be obtained from a heavy mulch of lawn clippings, applied a little at a time. The first application should be mixed with the top soil, and then allowed to penetrate the soil. Tomatoes especially like a mulch of this kind.

F.A.O. Co-Ordinates Relief Measures

In order to consider the present urgent food problems, a meeting of the F.A.O. (Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations) has been convened for May 30 at Washington, D.C. Those invited to attend include responsible ministers from countries, including Canada, that have a major contribution to make, as well as representatives of UNRRA, the Combined Food Board, and other international organizations concerned with food and agriculture. Dr. G. S. I. Barton, Dominion Deputy Minister of Agriculture, is the representative of Canada on the Executive Committee of F.A.O.

The meeting is the outcome of the international food situation which, made worse by drought, the failure of the monsoon in India and the rains in Africa, and other factors, impelled the United Nations Assembly in London to pass a resolution requesting international organizations concerned with food and agriculture to intensify efforts to obtain as full information as possible on the world food position and future outlook, in order to assist governments in determining their short and long term policy.

The purpose of the May meeting of the F.A.O. is to assess the present food position and the prospect for 1946-47; to decide on practical measures for assuring the most effective distribution and use of available supplies; to determine practical measures for increasing supplies for next winter and also for the winter of 1947-48; to work out means whereby F.A.O. can keep the world food position under continuous review and report thereon to governments, and to consider means for better co-ordination of the activities of the existing action agencies.

The F.A.O. does not itself undertake direct distribution of relief or other executive functions. It is essentially an investigative, advisory, and co-ordinating body, and it will act in this capacity for the temporary international agencies concerned with food and agriculture, and for governments. It will aim to dovetail long-term plans with the urgent production and distribution needs of the next year or two and thus help nations to avoid a post-war agricultural depression. The Headquarters of F.A.O., for the time being, are in Washington, D.C.

57-Pound Prisoner Now Weighs 140

(By The Canadian Press)

VANCOUVER, May 14—Sapper Bill Goddard of the Royal Engineers weighs 140 pounds, looks fighting fit, has a thick shock of dark, wavy hair and a heavy black beard that needs daily shaving.

Five months ago he was brought to Vancouver Military Hospital on a stretcher, a liberated prisoner-of-war of the Japanese. He weighed 57 pounds, his head and body were hairless, covered with tropical ulcers and sores. He was wracked with dysentery and often scrambling in delirium. He was not expected to live.

Thursday he will leave Vancouver for his home near Ipswich, Suffolk, England, to rejoin his father and sister, who he has not seen since he sailed in 1941 for Singapore.

Bill was captured in Singapore in 1942. Liberated by the Americans in September, 1945, he was brought to Vancouver Military Hospital.

Two Children Die In Dwelling Fire

MONTREAL, May 14—(CP)—Two youngsters were burned to death and their 30-year-old mother was left in critical condition in a fire which early tonight endangered a whole row of houses on downtown Dalhousie Street.

The victims were Henry Costello, six, and his sister Margaret Ross, 3 1/2, children of Henry Costello who was not in the house when the fire started. Mrs. Costello was removed to hospital in a critical condition.

The cause of undetermined origin, broke out in the Costello flat, and only quick action by firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the adjoining residences, occupied by more than 20 families.

Food Survey By Prices Board

OTTAWA, May 14—(CP)—The Prices Board said today in a monthly summary of the Dominion's food situation that beef and butter had taken top priority in the public interest, with a tightening up of beef supplies and a curbing of the butter shortage.

The survey also showed that while the large cities, particularly Toronto, were the first to feel the pinch of beef distribution, there was ample meat, such as lamb, veal and other meats, going into domestic markets in Canada to satisfy the consumer ration of two pounds a person a week.

There was general improvement in the butter situation for consumers here at present but shortage supplies were far below normal, with cheese factories resuming operation in May.

A slump in milk and butter may result, but this should clear up shortly as supplies at various points are expected to be plentiful. The shortage, however, when cattle go to pasture.

Depleted Stocks

Depleted stocks of beef in British Columbia, southern Alberta, Ontario urban centres and the Maritimes were in part due to a seasonal decline in cattle deliveries, but also to less marketing of cattle to stockyards and packers. Sales were mostly to smaller buyers.

Nova Scotia, Quebec and Saskatchewan showed a "fair amount" of pork and pork products. While supplies elsewhere were not always sufficient for demand, they were more plentiful than for some time. A few lamb carcasses were reported in Ontario, but frozen lamb and storage stocks were more prevalent. New Brunswick had a surplus of mutton for the needs.

The mid-month adjustment in the mark-up basis on imported cabbage, carrots, beets, turnips and onions, resulted in better distribution. Limited hothouse supplies were available, such as tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce. Asparagus and celery were plentiful, but some varieties of canned vegetables were scarce in every area.

New Potatoes

New potatoes in southwestern Ontario were expected between June 20 and July 1, and early deliveries of onions between July 1 and 15, with seed onions ready around the middle of August.

Large quantities of carrots were planted under contract with canners and there were increased acreages of cabbages, cauliflower and celery. Asparagus and radishes now were available.

New Brunswick was having difficulty in getting tablestock potatoes, but seed potatoes were "very plentiful." Sweet potatoes were available throughout the Maritimes.

Sugar was plentiful everywhere, but there was a general shortage of corn syrup. In New Brunswick, supplies of maple syrup and maple cream were in excess of last season.

Why a STILL GREATER SHARE OF THE INCOME TAX may fall on INDIVIDUALS

There is a very grave danger that a higher percentage of the country's revenue than at present may have to come in the future from your personal income tax.

Tax-free co-operatives, crown companies, government and municipally owned corporations are rapidly expanding in numbers and scope. Because of the fact that they escape paying income tax, the government is already losing 125 millions of dollars of potential revenue annually (Estimate of Professor J. L. McDougall presented to a special committee of the Senate).

That means that all individual tax payers in Canada pay an extra $50.00 each, on the average, in income tax, so that these corporations may be tax-free.

4500 tax-free co-operatives

Some 4500 co-operatives in this country have been escaping income tax because they claimed that co-operatives make no profits.

A Royal Commission on Co-operatives has declared that co-operatives do make profits, and has recommended that their profits be taxed. But it has also recommended that profits paid out to customers in the form of "patronage dividends" should be treated as an expense in computing taxable income.

If this latter recommendation of the Royal Commission becomes law, co-operatives and other businesses will be at liberty to pay out all their earnings as patronage dividends, leaving nothing to tax. Co-operatives and privately owned businesses would be entirely free to decide whether or not they chose to pay income tax.

All profits must be taxed equally

If this country is going to have an income tax law, then all profits must be taxed, and taxed fairly. We do not object to the payment of "patronage dividends" out of profits after income tax has been paid. But we do object to the recommendation that patronage dividends be classed as an ordinary expense of doing business. "Patronage dividends" must be placed in the same category as the dividends from any privately owned business.

Revision of The Income War Tax Act, insofar as it concerns Co-operatives, will come before the current Session of Parliament. It is of utmost importance that such revisions shall bring tax equality to all groups. We urge that the income tax payers of Canada insist that their elected representatives in the House of Commons see that the heavy burden of income tax is shared fairly by all.

The Income Tax Payers Association has no objection to the principles of co-operative trading. It should be the right of every Canadian to trade as he desires. Our objective is to ensure that no section of business unloads its share of income taxation and cost of the war on other business or on individual income tax payers.
