

75th Anniversary Of Trinity United Church

Special services are to be held in Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, next Sunday to mark the 75th anniversary of the dedication of the building, "the Wesleyan Chapel," as it was officially called at the time of its construction, "the brick church" as it came to be more commonly known.

The completion of this building in 1864 marked the climax of a long development in the Methodist Church in Charlottetown, from the small beginnings at the opening of the century to a state of great prominence and influence. This was the third church home of the denomination. The first chapel was situated in Richmond Street, the site of the present Royal Bank. This was opened in 1816 and was occupied until about 1835 when a larger building was erected on the site where the Hertz Memorial Hall now stands. The congregation grew rapidly in numbers, necessitating two enlargements of this building, and in the early 1860's it was determined to erect a larger and permanent building. The new church, now known as Trinity United, was opened for public worship on November 13th, 1864, just three quarters of a century ago.

During this period changes have taken place and notable occasions have been recorded in the history of the congregation; but for the most part it was a time marked only by steady growth and quiet, unobtrusive progress. Owing to the rule of the short pastorate operating in the Methodist Church no less than twenty-four ministers have presided over the congregation during these 75 years. The church had become one of the foremost in the available area and the ablest men of the time were among its ministers. Rev. Dr. Ritchie, Rev. Henry Boyd, Rev. John Lathern, Rev. John Burwash, Rev. Job Shenton, Rev. Dr. Dobson, and other eminent men, noted for the gifts of eloquence and learning which they brought to their task. Under Rev. Howard Sprague, assistant to Dr. Ritchie in 1865, and again in 1874, under Rev. D. D. Currie, the church took place which greatly quickened the spiritual life of the people and brought large numbers into the membership of the church.

Material improvements were made from time to time. In the days of Mr. Shenton (1885-88), the first pipe organ was installed. This instrument, which was modernized and greatly improved a few years ago. Extensive alterations to the church building were effected during Rev. G. M. Campbell's pastorate, (1894-99) the present hardwood ceiling being substituted for the original one of plaster, and new windows, including some of stained glass, replacing the plain old windows with their small rectangular panes. In 1914 the old oak pews removed and the present fine oak pews installed. At this time pews were abolished and all seats made free. The school room in the basement was completely renovated and modernized in 1923 and converted into what has since been known as the Social Hall, with club rooms, a kitchen, a board room and excellent facilities for young people's activities and other social purposes. The greatest improvement to the church property was the erection of Hertz Memorial Hall in 1910-11, a gift of Richard and Frank Hertz in memory of the late Benjamin Hertz. This Hall is connected by a passage way with the Social Hall. It is well adapted for Sunday School work and for public meetings.

ward, finding themselves with common tasks in a common environment, they came together in union after union like the tributaries of a great river system. In 1925 the latest, though it is hoped, not the last, of the great church unions was effected when the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Methodist Church, and the Association of Congregational Churches of Canada, were merged in the United Church of Canada. The congregations in Charlottetown having elected to remain out of the union, a large number of their members and adherents who favored the union became associated with the First Methodist Church, the name of which was now changed to Trinity United Church. Rev. Wofford Ryan, B. A., was pastor at the time of union. Since that event the increased numbers and activities of the congregation have necessitated the services of two ordained ministers continuously. Rev. Dr. E. H. Ramsay became associated with Mr. Ryan in 1925. The latter was succeeded by Rev. Hammond Johnson in 1927. On Mr. Johnson's resignation after two years' service, Rev. C. N. Brown, in 1934 Rev. Hugh Miller, M. A., B. D., the present senior minister, was inducted along with Rev. J. W. Barbour, B. A., B. D., as assistant. Mr. Barbour served in that capacity for two years, followed by Rev. A. M. McKenzie, B. A., B. D., in 1938, and the present assistant pastor, Rev. M. Murray, B. A., B. D., present the communion roll numbers about 1200, and there are upwards of three thousand souls under the pastoral care of the church.

St. Charles Auxiliary Observes Feast

Nov. 4th Feast of St. Charles Borromeo was fittingly observed by the members of the St. Charles Auxiliary of the Society, Rev. Dr. McMahon being absent, mass for the members was celebrated in the chapel by Rev. Fr. Keefe. In the evening a banquet was given by His Excellency the Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Sullivan followed by an inspiring sermon at the close of which he complimented the members on the success of their activities and encouraged them to continue their most praiseworthy work of helping the sick poor.

True to the tradition of other years the members were invited to the Nurses Home parlors and an enjoyable program was presented by the student nurses. Two vocal solos were most pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Dr. Bernard Gillis chaplain of the hospital. Refreshments were then served after which the members and their guests spent the remainder of the evening in music, song and dance which all thoroughly enjoyed.

The following day the monthly meeting of the society was held in the assembly room at the hospital. The drawing of the prizes of the Halloween Tea Lottery took place as follows: 1st prize, $100, Mrs. Frank McKeeney, Ch'own and. An all wool blanket, Miss Estelle McKeeney, Ch'own and. A quilt, Mrs. Vincent Roach, Ch'own and. A set of dishes, Mrs. Mary Donahue, Cornwall.

Rev. Louis A. Dougan won the Halloween card game for a second evening of High Test. The card wrap was won by Master George McKeeney, Ch'own and. Mrs. John O'Connell, Fitzroy St. City won the Cellophane dinner, Sister John Bell, Ch'own and. The members of the society graciously thanked the members of the hospital for their generous cooperation and prayers not only of the staff of the hospital but also of the whole community.

Formerly most of the potash used by the Canadian manufacturers was imported from Germany but now this market is closed and the supply will be brought here mostly from Belgium, Palestine and the United States.

Dr. Clark strongly urges the farmers of Prince Edward Island to preserve their barnyard manure and to guard against leeching from exposure to rain. He advises the farmers to make manure piles and mix the different mixtures to avoid heating.

In conclusion he said that the farmers of this Province have been buying fertilizer with good judgment when it is taken into consideration that only 5 per cent of the fertilizer used in this Province last year was used in this Province last year.

Two Island men were named on the executive of the Maritime Fertilizer Council at a meeting of the Council held at Moncton the week. Dr. W. S. Blair was elected President. The Executive Council includes Vice President A. A. Scales, Freetown, P. E. I., Secretary Treasurer, J. E. MacIntyre, Moncton; directors, G. W. Jones, St. John; Mr. Taylor Freetown; L. W. "Sadie Hawkins Week" Controversy Rages On Campus

EDMONTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The "Sadie Hawkins" controversy continued on the University of Alberta campus today as the Students' Union moved to make sure it was not involved in any way. John J. Lewis, president of the Union, issued a declaration stating that if any student was coerced into accepting an invitation, if accepting involved violation of that student's personal liberty, the case would be reported to the students enforcement committee.

Under the "Sadie Hawkins Act" published in the student newspaper, if any co-ed telephone a male student and tells him "this is Sadie Hawkins soaking," the undergraduate is obliged to accept a proffered social invitation.

French Count On Nature To Aid In Fight

By Pierre La Maziere

WITH FRENCH FORCES ON THE NORTH FRONTIER, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The French high command counted on the barriers of nature, bolstered by a system of fortifications at least as powerful as the German West Wall, to discourage the Germans from attempting to invade France through Belgium or to stop their drive if such an attempt is made, a high military source said tonight.

In addition, French engineers have constructed a series of dams along the Meuse and Sambre rivers which could unleash a torrent to drown everything in its path.

On the Franco-Belgian frontier, if the Germans tried to repeat their 1914 tactic, they would find a new line of fortifications almost as strong as the Maginot Line itself.

When Leopold III, King of the Belgians, proclaimed his country's absolute neutrality in 1937 he nullified the Franco-Belgian joint agreements which provided for joint

HEBRON SCHOOL RECALLED TO ANNIVERSARY

One of Prince Edward Island's oldest couples celebrated the 70th anniversary of their marriage last Saturday. They are Mr. and Mrs. Leod of Hampshire who have spent all of their married life in that community.

Seventy years ago on Nov. 4th, Mr. and Mrs. Leod were married in St. James Presbyterian Church here in Charlottetown by Rev. Dr. Duncan and took up their residence at Hampshire where Mr. Leod is a respected farmer.

Born at Hampshire 98 years ago, Mr. Leod is the son of the late Mr. James Leod who came here from Edinburgh, Scotland as an apprentice to assist in the erection of the Colonial Building.

This aged couple have been blessed with 8 children, 35 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

All of the children are still living with the exception of William Leod who was accidentally drowned at Freetown 40 years ago. The living children include: Mrs. Frank Sanderson, North River; Hamilton of Hampshire; Reuben of Vanover, B. C.; Miss Olga Leod, Freetown; Mrs. Oester of Hampshire.

Owing to the ill health of Mrs. Leod the anniversary was quietly celebrated. She is 87 years old.

Describes Fair As Greatest In World History

That the New York World's Fair has been "the greatest Exposition ever presented to the public" is the opinion expressed by Mr. J. F. Wheat, Canadian representative of the Government representative of the Fair, who has returned home after the closing of the Fair for the present year.

The Canadian Government, Mr. Wheat said, has not yet made a decision about being represented in 1940, but the opinion is generally held that a decision will be arrived at within a month and that it will be favorable.

Canada's Pavilion, he reports, was one of the best of the Foreign Pavilions in the United States. He was visited by hundreds of thousands of people, an estimate of attendance running from 85,000 to 200,000 weekly during September and October. Interest taken in Canada by the United States public was further evidenced by the fact that almost 9,000,000 entered this country during the first seven months of the year.

Mr. Wheat said that results so far as this Province is concerned, Mr. Wheat said he had been asked that question by the Commissioner General, Mr. A. T. Seaman, a former Charlottetown resident, and his reply was: "It is a great difficulty to give statistics. Our Island probably more than any other Province lacked publicity and it was for this reason we decided to participate. I think the result of the Fair was a success. It has afforded a higher standard of living and a wonderful opportunity for publicity, business and our Province will gain in results from a tourist standpoint."

Many residents and former residents of the Island called and registered, 500,000 copies of a folder were distributed besides hundreds of booklets and other literature, and there were several hundreds of signed and stamped postcards from prospective summer visitors.

The Department of Trade and Commerce maintains a suite of offices in the British Empire Building on 8th Avenue, which is of great value in promoting all Canadian interests. Mr. Wheat added. He received every consideration and assistance from the United States Travel Bureau also has a New York office and the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick which have similar agents who keep in close touch with the newspapers and the various travel bureaus and agencies.

The cost of the Fair—$155,000,000—was three times greater than that of any previous World's Fair. Mr. Wheat said it covered a greater area than any of the 29 world exhibitions that preceded it, starting with the Crystal Palace at London in 1851. It was gratifying to the directors that the attendance increased as the months passed, October being the best month of all, notwithstanding the many wet and cold days experienced. This is regarded as a hopeful sign for next year when the Fair runs from May 25 until October 27.

Mr. Wheat said that the fair enjoyed visiting New York where seven and a half million of population includes 39,622 Canadians. Mr. Wheat said that the Government representative at the Fair was Mr. Albert E. Murley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Murley, Charlottetown, who returned home Wednesday night.

U. S. To Permit Armed Vessels To Use Ports

By Andrew Berding
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—The administration has decided not to close United States ports to armed merchant ships and to provide for the belligerents for defensive purposes only.

Last Saturday President Roosevelt issued a proclamation granting the new neutrality act belligerents in submarines from United States ports and territorial waters but did not allow them to use the waters relating to merchantmen. The administration's policy toward armed merchantmen therefore will be the following:

A belligerent merchantman is not a warship if it is armed defensively. International law sanctions this view.

A merchantman is armed defensively if:

1. It carries no more than four six-inch guns.
2. The guns are mounted in the stern.
3. There has been no strengthening of the lateral decks.

Under these circumstances to indicate the ship has been acting as a raider.

American port authorities already are examining ships coming into United States ports, to see that they conform to these rules. If they find any that do not they must inform the treaty department, and the state department. So far no such notification has come in.

defence of the German-Belgian frontier in case of invasion.

From that day the French command made a major effort to put the northern French departments in a proper state of defence and thus prevent another German invasion by the traditional route—the so-called "Meuse" (gap) of the Sambre and Meuse Rivers.
