Early returns From B. C. fail To show trend

VANCOUVER, Oct. 21—(CP)—Early returns trickling in from scattered ridings throughout British Columbia tonight gave little indication of how the province's voters had cast their ballots in choosing 48 members for the next legislature. In no case were the first returns after the polls closed at 8 p. m. P. S. T. (Midnight EDT) conclusive enough to indicate a trend toward any of the three major parties—Liberal, Conservative and C. C. F.—who are contesting nearly every riding. In several cases the three parties showed almost even strength in the first few polls. In others individual candidates did not show sufficient strength to give a clue as to what the final result would be.

Liguorian Credit Union holds Annual meeting

The Liguorian Credit Union, Ltd., held its sixth annual meeting last evening at the Holy Redeemer Hall. Mr. Cecil Costello presided and about 250 members attended. Mr. J. Plus Callaghan, the treasurer, reported a total membership of 503 and that the total business of the year was in excess of $65,000. Total assets of the credit union amounted to $23,000 and share holdings are around $20,000.

Mr. Costello also reported that the usual 20 per cent of net earnings had been set aside in the Guaranty Fund and that five per cent had been put in an education fund. "Be true to the principles of social justice, as exemplified in your credit union," urged Mr. Costello. "The credit union is a means to an end; and that end is the distribution of property and the control of our economic life, according to Christian principles," stated Mr. Costello in his address.

Navy week In the city

This week the Navy League of Canada is calling the nation to pay tribute to the men of the sea who are winning the war for democracy and everywhere throughout the Dominion people are honoring the men in navy blue. Last night a very enjoyable function took place at the Charlottetown Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve Barracks when the Navy Club—women's auxiliary to the local navy—sponsored a mixed bridge party.

Through the kind permission of Lieut. K. Birtwhistle, were thrown open for the event and 48 tables of bridge were held. A large number of the visitors availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the Navy building and courteous officers conducted them on a tour of inspection. The citizens, who were fortunate enough to be present, were surprised to find such a well equipped naval training building in the city. Spotlessly clean and well laid out, the various quarters were a revelation to many and in each part of the building, which is designed like a ship, well trained naval men explained the various operations carried on during training periods.

After this intimate glance into the surroundings of the men of the "Silent Service" as the Navy is nicknamed, to bring the night to a close, when the results of the night's play were announced the following winners were named: For rubbers, Ladies, first, Mrs. S. G. Peppin; consolation, Mrs. G. Hardie, Quick games, first, Mrs. Robert Sutherland; second, Mrs. Jean Crockett; for woodburn, first, Dr. Joseph McMillan; second, Mr. M. Bagnall; consolation, Mr. George Hardie. Grand, first, Mrs. A. Birtwhistle; consolation, Dr. C. Beer.

A lunch was then served by the ladies to conclude a most enjoyable evening.

Navy Week in Schools

School children in the city and throughout the province are patriotically observing Navy Week and at the same time are learning a great deal about the history of Canada and the British Empire. Teachers have co-operated to the fullest extent with the program mapped out by the Navy League of Canada for the observance of this important week.

A convenient little pamphlet, issued by the Navy League, had been distributed to the schools in the province by the Provincial Department of Education. This contains interesting accounts of naval engagements and other stories pertaining to the adventurous and glorious deeds of the Navy. A few of the articles include: Our Great Empire; The Sinking of the Bismarck; The Men of the Merchant Marine. These stories served as subject matter for short discussions in the classroom.

In addition to this 10,000 school children are proudly displaying an attractive navy button which was distributed by the Navy League. This pin is decorated with an anchor, crown and other emblems and at the top is printed "Navy League" while the words "Keep Watch" are written on the bottom. The pupils are also going over the top in their voluntary contributions to the Navy League of Canada to give accommodation, recreation and other facilities for sailors on shore leave in Canada; to provide comforts and Christmas cheer for thousands of Canadian, British and Allied sailors who may be unable to secure home leave at the Christmas season, and to care for the dependents of Canadian sailors lost at sea.

FIELD FRAGRANCE

No summer would be complete without a new perfume which steals its fragrance from the fresh country field. This summer it is the clover which gives its great charm when we wear its essence—a fresh loveliness which men seem to appreciate after sniffing heavier brews for months!

An exception was Oak Bay, newly-created riding, where Herbert Anson, Conservative member for Victoria in the last legislature, took a commanding lead with 12 of 24 polls heard from. The riding was carved out of Victoria City, which formerly returned four members but will now elect three.

already tied to the cost of living "the general ceiling helps Canada to achieve at least a measure of uniformity of sacrifices." Henderson by inference at least approved the extension of the cost of living bonuses to all industries in Canada. It has been paid to war industries since December, 1940, and he believed its extension was inevitable for two reasons: 1. Because civilian industries were free to bid labor away from vital war work. 2. Because the bonus system in war industries was operating unfairly to the government through civilian industries increasing both wages and prices, shooting up the cost of living and raising the bonus to the federal government must pay.

"It was obviously unfair to leave the unrestrained private employers to compete with the government outside the bonus system," Henderson reported.

1. Canada is devoting 44 per cent of her productive capacity to the war, whereas the United States has mobilized only 15 per cent. Until this mobilization had been completed, Canada relied on selective price controls and only now, with output assured and war industries manned, has the all-embracing scheme been put into operation.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS

Repeated bombing raids on British port areas and the industrial midlands has attracted fresh attention to the frightful suffering of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places are found for them all places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult. To meet these enormous needs funds have been started in various parts of the world.
