whereby Canada extended the intermediate tariff to German goods imported into Canada in return for most-favored-nation treatment for Canadian goods imported into Germany.

The advantages Canada expected to derive from that arrangement were to a large extent nullified by the drastic control of the granting of foreign exchange introduced in Germany in September 1934.

The German exchange control had the effect of greatly curtailing imports of Canadian goods into Germany and the goods imported have been mostly metals and minerals.

PAYMENTS AGREEMENT

The payments agreement regulates payment for the exchange of goods between the two countries and provides that the exchange accruing from German exports to Canada shall be utilized for the purchase of Canadian goods imported into Germany.

A schedule is attached to the agreement which has the effect of providing for the allocation of 63.1 per cent. of the exchange accruing from German exports to Canada among certain specified commodities.

The unallocated balance of 36.9 per cent. will be available for the purchase of commodities which are not included in the schedule or for the purchase of additional quantities of the enumerated commodities.

Among the percentages specified in the schedule are:—Wheat, 35 per cent.; asbestos, eight per cent.; fish apples, five per cent.; salted salmon, 2.5 per cent.; lumber, two per cent.; fish oil two per cent.; silver and black fox skins, undressed, 1.5 per cent.; fish meal, 1.4 per cent.; seeds, 1.25 per cent.; wood pulp, one per cent. and smaller percentages for other commodities.

AMOUNTS FIXED

In the case of certain goods such as fresh apples, salted salmon, wood pulp, and cheese maximum amounts are fixed beyond which the percentages shall not apply in any year. Thus the foreign exchange available for the importation into Germany of Canadian goods per year may not exceed $100,000 in one year if the allotment of one per cent. of the total foreign exchange accruing from sales to Canada exceeds that figure.

In the cases of wheat, asbestos and lumber, three of the chief commodities exported to Germany, and a few other cases, no maximum amounts are fixed beyond which the percentages shall not apply. No percentages at all are fixed for copper and nickel. Also important commodities in Canada's export trade to Germany.

The payments agreement comes into effect Nov. 15 and extends for a period of one year or thereafter until either government gives two months' notice of termination.

While the trade agreement comes into force two weeks after exchange ratifications by the parliaments of the two countries Mr. Euler signed a note to the German Government undertaking on the basis of reciprocity to give effect to the provisions of the trade agreement on Nov. 15. Thus for practical purposes both agreements come into effect on that date.

"PROVISIONAL" AGREEMENT

The trade agreement is to remain in force for one year also or thereafter until either government gives two months notice of termination. It is called a "provisional" trade agreement and one of its clauses states that it is the intention of the two governments to "replace it with a general convention of commerce and navigation" as soon as possible.

Both agreements contain provisions for adjustment by negotiation and, failing adjustment, termination even within the one year term. If difficulties arise or if either country finds the agreements have not brought the economic benefit desired of them either

Charges Chinese Cafe Proprietor Assaulted Him

SYDNEY, Oct. 25—Ralph Grady, 23, who says he hails from Prince Edward Island, is nursing lacerations about the forehead and left arm, and Charles Kee, 40, Charlotte Street restaurateur, is facing a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm, as a result of an altercation in the celestial's cafe tonight.

Kee, alleges that Grady refused to pay for his meal, and Grady claimed to police that the celestial didn't give him time to pay for it. A poker was used on him. Grady told police tonight when he walked into headquarters with his brother Fred, and exhibited a bandaged forehead, and an arm smeared with iodine and covered with bandages.

Several stitches he said were necessary to close the wound he received on the top of the forehead and treatment was administered at St. Rita's hospital where he was taken by his elder brother following the episode.

Kee was later taken into custody by officer Don Currie and information sworn out against him by Grady.

Farm Problems Discussed At Avondale

A largely attended farmers' meeting was held at Avondale last Thursday evening. Farm problems were discussed by Mr. W. L. Roper, of the Federal Livestock Dept., and Mr. J. A. Gilles of the Livestock Marketing Board.

Mr. Roper outlined at considerable length the different branch policies and also spoke in the absence of the swine grader explaining the rail grading system, as inquiries had been received from the different breeders.

Mr. J. A. Gilles, of the Live Stock Marketing Board, dealt with co-operative marketing.

At the conclusion of the addresses Rev. P. D. McGulgan, of Vernon River, expressed his appreciation of the interest taken in the work by the two speakers.

A number of breeders remarked that they had been greatly interested in the addresses and extended a hearty invitation to the speakers to return at a later date when they would have more information regarding feed, etc.

A vote of thanks, moved by Rev. P. D. McGulgan and seconded by Mr. Carmichael, was tendered the speakers.

Mr. John Lynn was chairman.

To Make Survey Of Province's National Park

Mr. R. W. Cautley, Ottawa, National Parks Surveyor, is at present making a tour of Prince Edward Island's National Park. He is accompanied by Mr. Cromarty who with Mr. Williamson, the deputy commissioner of Parks, made a lengthy inspection of proposed sites in the Province.

Mr. Cautley will define the actual boundaries of the Island park and submit his report to the Provincial Government and Hon. Mr. Creer, Minister of the Interior.

"In Prince Edward Island there is an entirely new type of natural park, the essential features distinguishing it from other parks in Canada being its sand beaches, which are unequalled anywhere," Mr. Cautley said.

He has been engaged in Federal Government survey work for many years. He was in the Yukon from 1897 to 1903, was formerly Inter-Provincial Boundary Commissioner, and also surveyed mining claims in the far north.

May Hear Simpson Divorce Suit Today

IPSWICH, Suffolk, Oct. 25—(AP)—Mrs. Ernest Simpson's suit for divorce may begin late tomorrow instead of Tuesday, it became apparent tonight.

If Mr. Justice Hawke completes two criminal and two civil cases remaining on the docket, the case of the Baltimore woman may begin late in the afternoon.

Her suit charging her husband with misconduct—the only ground for divorce in Britain—is the first on a list of six divorce cases. It was reliably said no jury will be used in the Simpson case.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

In harmony with the programme of the Committee on evangelization of Canadian Life, the Rev. H. L. Denton preached at the morning service yesterday a sermon on "Inspiration to discipleship" based on the words of St. John 1:29, "Behold the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sin of the world." The theme of the day was treated from the points of view of the inspiration of a divine fellowship, the inspiration of a great sacrifice, the inspiration of a noble task.

The ordinance of believer's baptism was administered to three candidates. Included in the music of the morning was the anthem of Sir John Goss, "O Saviour of the World." A mixed quartette, Misses Veva Malcolm Campbell and Pearl Burns, Messrs Calder and Sterns sang very effectively "O! Master, let me walk with Thee."

It was intimated that the speakers in connection with the Committee on evangelization of Canadian Life would address a public meeting in the Baptist Church, on Wednesday evening.

The Rev. H. L. Denton in speaking to his evening congregation took as his theme "The Wherefore of Salvation," the final sermon on a series of evangelistic addresses. The evening service was varied from the regular in that a musical prelude opened at 6.40 P.M. with a song service led by a large choir of men from 6.15 to 7 o'clock. The Hymns of the regular service were led by the same large men's choir, a feature which it is hoped to continue once each month.

The Male quartette, Messrs. Quigley, Calder, Dingwell and Sterns sang, "Day is Dying" and "The Beautiful Land" with impressive effect.

Music was under the direction of Miss Vera H. Malcolm Campbell with Miss Helen Calbeck at the organ.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

The theme of the morning sermon was "Life at Flood Tide", the text John 10:10. It was an exposition of Jesus' declaration that he came to give life, life more abundant. The great teachers of all ages have endeavoured to define success. As Jesus is acknowledged the Great Teacher, we naturally lean to Him.

First of all Jesus demanded a commandment—"follow Me". Our commitments determine our life. The artist commits himself to the life of the artist; the student to his course of study, and so on.

Jesus was careful to explain to His followers what His way of life meant. He frequently expressed Himself in paradox and one of the most startling and perplexing of His paradoxes was if they wished to save their lives they would have to lose it. The way to find life is not to seek it, prompted by our selfish desires and purposes, but to lose it; to count all things, but refuse that one may be found in Him, possessing His life.

Another law of life Jesus laid down was that of self-denial—"deny yourself and take up my cross". Concluding Mr. Miller plead for a new commitment to Christ and the programme of His Kingdom. We are Christians in part only; areas of our lives have not yet been surrendered to God; consequently our civilization is a mixture of Christianity and paganism, threatened with self destruction.

The evening sermon was based on Galatians 1:6 "I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the Grace of Christ". The courses of our spiritual relapses mentioned were the incredible reaction that follows every great undertaking, the lack of personal responsibility and our failure to draw upon the provisions of God; self discipline and whole-hearted service.

At the morning service the choir was assisted by Mr. Victor E. Pyke, whose solo was a delight and profit to the congregation. The evening anthem "Lord for Thy Tender Mercies"—Farrant, was sung by the full choir. A special feature, since vacation, of the evening service, is the organ recital by the organist and choir director.

ST. JAMES KIRK Rev. J. Keir Fraser, M.A., D.D., Alton, preached at both services yesterday in St. James Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Fraser took as his text for the morning sermon; "Be ye kind one to another." Ephesians IV, verse 32, and pointed out the great necessity for kindness in the world today. "No matter what creed or profession one may claim, if he is unkind, he is not a Christian," the speaker said. Kindness contributes to the enjoyment of life, and we can be kind one to another, in our attitudes and dealings, even if we are unable to contribute to kindly and charitable causes in any other way.

The anthem "God is a Spirit"—Bennett, was sung by the choir, and Mr. Wilfred MacDonald rendered a solo, "Thanks be to God"—Alliston.

In the evening, Dr. Fraser preached from Isaiah LXIV, verse 6 "We all do fall as a leaf". We may observe many lessons from the falling leaves; change and decay; the shortness of life, and the certainty of death.

The fading leaves become more beautiful as they grow older. It is possible for us, too, to grow more beautiful with the years.

The inner part of man, the soul, lives on, just as does the life of the tree continue, in spite of the fact that the physical body, like the leaves, is shed.

We should be thankful that we are privileged to grow old, to become more beautiful in character and spirit, realizing that we shall pass into newness of life and enter into that peace which passeth all understanding.

The anthem for the evening was, "Consider and Hear Me"—Pfeuffer, the solo parts being rendered by Mrs. N. D. MacLean.

Dr. Fraser announced that there is to be no mid week service at the Kirk this week.

ST. DUNSTAN'S BASILICA

Yesterday the feast of Christ the King brought to a close the Novena in St. Dunstan's Basilica. Rev. John Healy, O.P., from the Dominican House at New York City conducted the Novena.

The solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Ellsworth. Bishop O'Sullivan assisted at his throne, attended by Rev. Dr. Murphy, rector of St. Dunstan's University, Rev. Father George McDonald and Rev. Father O'wald Murphy. The sermon was preached by Rev. John Healy, O.P.

At 2 o'clock there was a procession of children in honor of Christ the King. Rev. Father Healy preached a sermon to the children on the Feast of Christ the King.

In the evening at 6.30 the special services for the women closed and at 8 o'clock the closing of the special services for the men took place. Rev. Father Healy preached at both services.

All the services yesterday were very largely attended.

CHURCH OF THE MOST HOLY REDEEMER

Rev. Father R. H. L. Baines, C.S.S.R., preached at all masses at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer yesterday. The solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. R. I. McKenna.

Last evening the procession of the Children's Crusade in honour of Christ the King took place. Rev. Father McKenna preached a sermon on Christ the King and also gave Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Yesterday was a red-letter day at the Central Christian Church it being "Rally Day" for the Church and Bible School.

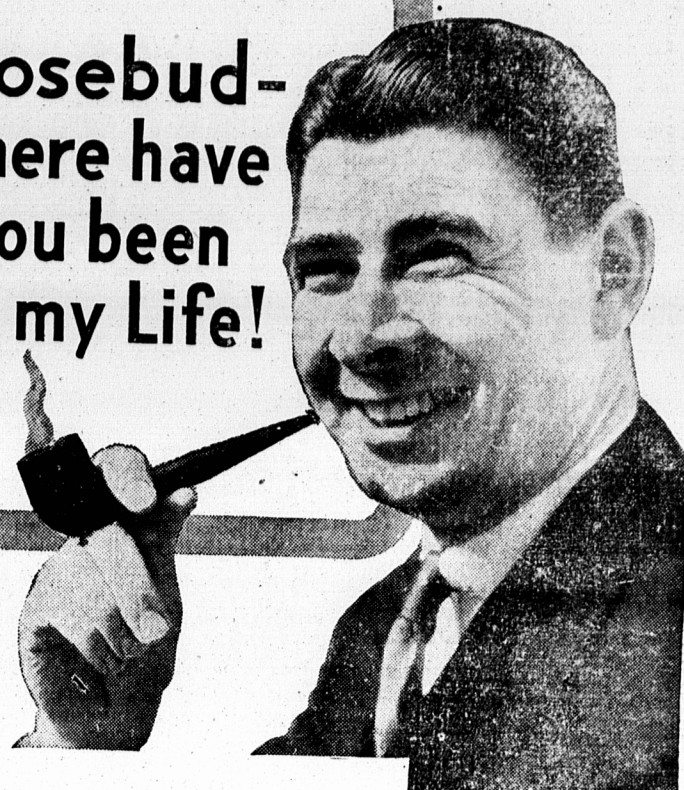

The morning service was of particular interest, with a special consecration programme for a combined service of the church and Bible school. This order of service was impressive and instructive and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience present. Mr. Cooper preached from the subject "The Teacher and His Pupils". He stressed the influence of the teacher upon the lives of his pupils and that the Sunday school scholars should be taught to attend the services of the church. Jesus Christ, said Mr. Cooper, was the greatest teacher of all time and we should heed His admonitions.

At the Bible school session at 2.30 p.m. the largest attendance in four years attended when a special programme was rendered by representatives of the different classes, including solos, duets, quartette, reading and recitations. The service as a whole was very successfully carried out. Mr. R. H. McNeill the Superintendent presided and the pastor, Rev. Mr. Cooper gave a short address.

The service at 7 o'clock p.m. was well attended and listened with rapt attention to Mr. Cooper as he preached an eloquent and powerful sermon on the subject "Judging the Christ". He pictured in vivid form the scenes of the trial of Jesus before Pilate, and brought the question before his audience, asking what answer they would make to the question, "What will you do with Jesus who is called the Christ?" Would they say as was said of old, "Crucify Him"; Crucify Him" or should they accept Him as their Saviour.

The music for the day was an anthem at the morning service,

Rosebud—where have you been all my Life!

That's what a Maritime man says when he smokes his first pipeful of Rosebud. It's got what you want, too! Mild, without a trace of "bite", the mellow flavour is something you've got to taste to appreciate. And man, oh! man! Rosebud is a smoke you'll stick to, because it "has what it takes" to keep on satisfying.

THE MARITIME SMOKE

"Still Still With Thee" and at the evening service "Saviour, When Night Involves the Sky" by Shelley. The whole day's services were inspiring and shows a wonderful interest on the part of the congregation and a great improvement in attendance and interest since Mr. Cooper commenced his pastorate with the congregation.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

Seems to be moonlight, but it's sunlight. A snapshot with a small lens opening, preferably when the sun is low, will get pictures like this.

Do you know that— Slight overexposure is always preferable to underexposure?

A small stop opening must be used when both nearby and distant objects are to be sharply defined at the same time?

For good composition, the object of principal interest should never be placed in the center of a picture?

In striving for pictorial effect, it is best not to hurry in making the exposure unless moving objects demand immediate action, as a little time spent in selecting the viewpoint proves a good investment?

Highlights are the portions of a picture upon which the greatest amount of light is centered and reflected—the densest portion of the negative and the lightest portion of the print?

Enlarging from sections of your choice negatives is a source of great satisfaction, and that many exhibition prints are prepared in this way from negatives which, taken as a whole, lack just the right spacing or arrangement?

A diagonal rather than a full face view of a building is usually more pleasing, particularly if a portion of the building is in shadow?

More pleasure comes from keeping your prints mounted in an album than keeping them loosely anywhere, perhaps to be lost or damaged?

Regrets and annoyance come from not keeping your negatives in orderly fashion in a negative album so that, when you want new prints of any picture, you know where the negative is?
