The Rev. Arthur Whiteside, the Secretary, submitted the report of the Class Meetings Committee, which after being referred back to the Committee for some revision, was adopted as follows:

That whereas the Class Meeting has proved itself to be the best means for growth in grace on the part of membership of our church and has largely been the recruiting ground for the leadership of its various enterprises, especially for our ministry, and that in order to duly adhere to par. 79, section 3, page 41 of the Discipline, We therefore recommend that the Conference advise that the class meeting be restored to its original place of honour and usefulness.

We also recommend that, according to section 11, page 126 of the Discipline, and in view of the urgency to meet the demand for Christian work everywhere throughout our land every encouragement be given to forward this most necessary and wise provision of our church with regard to the office work of its local churches.

The Children's Fund assessment was presented by the Rev. James Crisp, which was as follows—St. John, $10; Fredericton, $48; Woodstock, $25; Chatham, $35; Sackville, $24; Charlottetown, $57; Summerside, $34, the total being $375.

This was also adopted.

COMMITTEES' REPORTS

The next report submitted was that of the Committee on Temperance and Moral Reform as to the election of district secretaries in regard to this department.

The Stationing Committee's report was then presented and read with the following recommendations:

That the unanimous request of the fourth quarterly meeting of the Oromocto circuit that Oromocto be made a Mission and a similar request from Woodstock circuit with regard to Richmond circuit, be granted.

That only one man be sent to Gaspe and Cape Oso and that the grant for only one man be made.

That Bear Island and Grand Manan be worked by a summer supply under the superintendence of Rev. B. W. Weddall.

That Winsloe and York be merged into one circuit with an ordained and an unordained minister, the former to reside at York and the latter at Winsloe; the ministers to have regular exchange in the several parts of the circuit; the ordained minister be responsible for the superintendence of the whole circuit.

That Summer Hill of the Georgetown circuit be placed on the Jerusalem circuit.

That Conference be requested to give authority for the employment by the Superintendent of Missions of the Rev. W. R. Kirby, now a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference in the West Indies.

That Superintendent of Missions and the President of Conference be appointed a committee to provide men to fill the present vacancies in the Conference and any that may occur during the year.

That the Superintendent of Missions put himself in communication with the Superintendent of Missions of the Presbyterian Church with a view to the readjustment of the work in the valley of the Miramichi.

The Rev. J. W. Aikens, representing the General Board of Temperance and Moral Reform, then delivered an interesting address to the Conference on this important department of the church's work, and at the conclusion of his address, the Rev. G. A. Ross moved and the Rev. J. Heaney seconded the following motion, which was carried unanimously:

That the Conference has heard with satisfaction and gratitude the excellent report of the Temperance and Moral Reform Department presented by Rev. Mr. Aikens, and rejoice in what has been achieved in the way of advanced legislation and other requirements during the year; that it would take this opportunity of conveying to Mr. Aikens its appreciation of the services he has rendered to the cause of temperance and moral reform since his appointment as Association Secretary, and extends to him its God speed in his new field of labour as pastor of the Metropolitan Church of Toronto.

FRATERNAL GREETINGS.

At this stage several delegates from the Presbyterian Church and the Charlottetown Ministerial Association who had been deputed by their respective bodies to convey hearty greetings to Conference, addressed the Conference. On behalf of the Presbytery of P. E. Island, the Revs. Dr. Fullerton and G. C. Taylor, and Mr. T. C. James spoke in turn, expressing cordial feelings towards Conference, wishing them success in their work, and the sympathy of their denomination with the Methodist Church's move in the matter of union.

The Ministerial Association were represented by Dr. Fullerton and Rev. J. F. Floyd, the latter of whom added his greetings to those of the other speakers and also spoke with approval of the union question.

It was moved by the Rev. J. L. Dawson and carried that a committee be appointed to prepare an address in recognition of the attainment by the Rev. J. T. Dienstadt of the jubilee of his ministry.

The President as Secretary of the Supernumerary Fund Committee presented the report in reference to that committee. The statement showed the amounts subscribed by the laymen of sums exceeding $5, and the total list of the subscriptions by the ministers, the assessments of whom were all shown to be all fully paid, totalling $8,200.

The statement of the Contingent Fund was next submitted to Conference, showing the amount of receipts to be $625.10, including a sum of $25 realized by the collection taken at the service at the First Methodist Church on Sunday. There was a balance of $165.57 shown to the credit of this fund, which was stated to have been paid towards the liquidation of the debt in regard to this fund. The Committee also made the following recommendations which were approved by Conference:

That in view of the claims upon the Fund, the income should not be less than $535, and that the Secretary-Treasurer prepare and forward to the financial district meetings the apportionments upon that basis, that the Treasurer and the Rev. Thomas Hicks be authorized to borrow sufficient money to meet all liabilities.

The Rev. H. S. B. Strothard presented the report of the Statistical Fund Committee, particulars regarding which have already been published in the Guardian.

The report of the Laymen's Association regarding the appointment of its officers for the ensuing year, also already published in these columns, was next submitted and received for record on the minutes.

The minutes of the Ministerial Sessions were read, and this was followed by the nomination by the President, Rev. Mr. Dawson, of the laymen members of the Conference Special Committee for the year. The members of the Committee consisted he said, of the President, the Secretary of the Conference, and the chairmen and secretaries of districts, and five other persons of the Conference, who must be nominated by the President of Conference. The nominations he made as follows: Messrs. V. Baekum, J. J. Weddall, F. O. Sullivan, E. R. Machum and J. A. Lindsay, who were accepted by Conference.

The Rev. Mr. Weddall then said that in recording their appreciation of the services of several persons, they had failed to recognize in any way the value of the services of their worthy Book Room steward, and he

SUPREME COURT AT SUMMERSIDE

(Special by Phone.)
SUMMERSIDE, June 16.—When Supreme Court resumed in Summerside this morning the case of the King vs. Lemuel Coghlan, charged with receiving stolen foxes, was commenced before the Chief Justice and a jury.

The principal evidence given at the morning session was that of Ernest Stapleton who told the story of how he and Thomas Gallant went to the ranch of James E. Birch on January 2nd, last, and stole the foxes known as the Bennett foxes, delivering the same after taking them to E.C. Maxwell of Fortune Cove, but denied positively that the prisoner had anything to do with the foxes after they had been stolen, as far as he knew.

The first witness at the afternoon session was Ernest Gallant, aged 7 years, whose evidence, like that given at the preliminary examination, was very erratic. He first made a statement denying the whole story. The next and last witness was Russell Maxwell, but from his evidence very little was drawn out with regard to the connection of the prisoner with the stolen foxes.

The principal questions asked him were regarding the disappearance and present whereabouts of his father, for whom a warrant has been issued on the strength of Stapleton's confession, but, from his answers, practically no information was gleaned as to his whereabouts. At the conclusion of Maxwell's evidence the Attorney General moved for a stay of proceedings which motion court granted, the same being entered upon the records of the Court. The prisoner was discharged upon his own recognizance in the sum of $2,000. The effect of this proceeding is that the accused may be tried at the next or any subsequent session of the court on this same charge. Attorney General and McQuarrie, K.C., for Crown; McCallum for prisoner. The next and last criminal case, that of the King vs. Edgar Cannon, on a charge of stealing and conspiring to steal a pair of black foxes, was next taken up and the jury empanelled. One witness, a man named Langhille, keeper of the ranch from which the foxes were stolen, was examined before the court adjourned for the day.

When court resumes this morning the case will again be taken up.—J.

THUNDERSTORM STRIKES CAMP

(Canadian Press)
THREE RIVERS, June 16.—The City of Three Rivers and the military camp of Montreal Infantry Regiment here were visited by the worst thunderstorm in years, late this afternoon. More than half the camp was leveled to the ground. Supplies and bedding were strewn about and thoroughly water-soaked. In the town the power wires are down and no light is promised for two days. The roof of the Dominion Convent was blown off. Many houses suffered similar treatment from the wind which blew with hurricane velocity. In camp supper had been spread in the mess tent. Almost with the first full blast of wind the tent pegs went out, and the ridge poles snapped like matches. The tent collapsed burying everything beneath it. No serious injuries were sustained but a number of men were cut and bruised by falling tents.

LEAGUE OF CROSS WELCOMES BISHOP

A special meeting of the League of the Cross was held last night to welcome His Lordship Bishop O'Leary.

A stage was erected in the handball court, upon which sat His Lordship, Father Pius MacDonald, Spiritual Director of the Society, Mr. P. A. Smith, President of the Society, and Father Maurice McDonald.

The reception hall was beautifully decorated and illuminated. A large arch of welcome, electrically illuminated, was to be seen in the foreground, while patriotic and emblematic bunting and stringers of the national colors were lavishly displayed.

Mr. W. J. Brawlers, Secretary of the Society, read the address to His Lordship, and Mr. P. A. Smith made the presentation, a beautiful gold crucifix stand, with wine and water cruets.

His Lordship in replying said he was very happy to be present to meet the Catholic young men of Charlottetown. He had heard of the Society many times and nothing would be dearer to his heart than their welfare. He assured them of his hearty assistance and co-operation in all their efforts. He spoke encouragingly of the project of building a new hall, in which he would be pleased to give every assistance possible.

Excellent addresses were delivered by Revs. Pius and Maurice McDonald, Messrs. Thomas Trainor, Joseph Francis, Ambrose Joy, R. F. Maddigan, Peter Doyle and P. A. Smith.

A point emphasized strongly by the speakers was the need of a new building which would aid the society greatly in carrying on its noble work.

The League of the Cross band rendered some choice selections throughout the evening.

BOTANIST FOR P. E. ISLAND

OTTAWA, June 16.—The Minister of Agriculture has appointed Mr. G. C. Cunningham as botanist and plant pathologist for the study and control of potato diseases in Prince Edward Island. Mr. Cunningham will probably conduct field laboratory work at Montague and other points in King's County where powdery scab has appeared.

Mr. Cunningham is a born Canadian, took his undergraduate work at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, specializing in botany and bacteriology. In the fall of 1909 he was appointed Scholar in Bacteriology at the University of Wisconsin. Since 1910 he has been connected with the Vermont Agricultural Station formerly in charge of Dr. L. R. Johnson who has carried on probably the most extensive series of experiments with the view of controlling potato diseases. During the last year Mr. Cunningham had charge of the College and Experiment Station work in the Department of Pathology. He has carried on very useful work on the control of potato scab and has studied the physiological and pathological effects of Bordeaux mixture on potatoes.

Dr. Cunningham is an outstanding authority on this subject and the province is fortunate in having him appointed for this important work especially at this time when an outbreak of the ruinous potato canker is threatened.

ORDINATION OF FOUR MINISTERS

As briefly reported in yesterday's Guardian, the First Methodist Church, Prince Street, was the scene of an unusually interesting service on Sunday morning, when the four candidates who had been accepted at the present session of the N.E. and P.E.I. Conference for full connection with the church, were ordained to the ministry, viz. Messrs F. T. Bertram, F. H. Holmes, B. A., J. V. Howie, B. A., and George Somers, B. A.

The proceedings of service were intensely interesting and impressive. On the rostrum were Revs. Dr. Carman, (the General Superintendent of the Church), G. F. Dawson, M. A., (the President of Conference), H. H. Heartz, D.R. Chown, (Secretary of Conference) and H. E. Thomas (Journal Secretary).

The four candidates for ordination were conducted by Rev. Mr. Heaney to a pew at the head of the aisle.

Rev. Mr. Dawson led the service and after an inspiring prayer by Dr. Heartz, the Rev. Mr. Chown presented "these persons to be ordained ministers," after which the General Superintendent formally called upon any one knowing any impediment to the ordination of any of the candidates to come forward and so declare it.

The President of Conference then announced addresses by the candidates and asked the congregation to listen with sympathy and to bear in their hearts those young men as they spoke a few words of their conversion to God and their call to the ministry.

Mr. Bertram was the first speaker. "I cannot point," he said, "to any particular hour or day in which I found myself brought into a new relationship with Jesus Christ. Through the influence of Christian parents and Sunday School teachers I was kept from wandering into the by-paths of sin. Although I did not find myself in the Church of Christ previous to that of nine, yet I was previous to that what is known as a secret Christian and knew what it was to have the companionship of Christ long before I acknowledged him." Mr. Bertram went on to say that there came a time in his experience when he was convinced that the confession of the Light by voice was necessary and that which he attended. He would not say that the earliest days of his Christian experience were his happiest; as he got to learn more of Christ greater was his joy. There were family disadvantages and other great reasons he would not enter into in saying he would not enter the ministry of the Master, but one day the struggle became so great that he turned to the Lord and said what madness it would be for him to talk up such work, with those insurmountable difficulties before him. But wonderfully to him the obstacles fell the way immediately appeared less difficult, the path to his attaining his purpose seemed easier. For the help and encouragement of his pastor and the assistance of the chairman and members of the circuit in which he worked he was most grateful. He felt like shrinking from the responsibilities of that noble calling he was to undertake, but by God's power he could be made to make some work he felt like a little better, that would be his joy and he trusted he might never bring discredit upon the cause.

The next speaker was Mr. Holmes, who said he was brought up in a Christian home and he did not remember the time when he did not want to do what was right. He owed much to the influence of his Sabbath School teacher, Mr. Brown, who left him to keep to his honour and even to live up to whose expectations it was a joy. It was during this time he was led to forsake sin and give his life to the Lord Jesus, and one day he made his public confession of Christ. Soon after leaving the Sabbath School he began to teach and while engaged in such work he joined the Methodist Church. Some years previous to this his mind had been made up to go in for the study of medicine. But not being able to raise the funds for that purpose he went to prepare himself for a business career and he went to Belmont with that object. But while he was in that city he came under the influence which eventually caused him to prepare himself for the ministry. He attended class meetings there and his heart was touched in such a manner that he felt that God was calling him to His work. His leanings were towards the medical profession, and he underwent a great struggle; the climax came one night when after hours of bitter combat he overcame self and was restored to God's favour. Recovering from a serious illness, he prepared to do the Master's will, and eventually assumed in earnest his preparation for the ministry. And that morning as he stood on the threshold of his life's work, it was with a deep sense of his unworthiness and unfitness for that great work. But his Lord God had called him to preach the Gospel; therefore it was with joy and the fervor of his heart that he consecrated his life to the service of God and his fellowmen. He must preach the Gospel. He could do no other. He craved the congregation's blessing, and their prayers.

Mr. Howie said that like his Brother Bertram, he could not point to any time or any place where he felt that God was calling him to the ministry. It was at the age of eleven during some special services that he felt that on his own shoulders and not on his parents' must rest the responsibility of his life. Having Godly parents behind him and careful Sunday School training, he set this face to the Kingdom of God, and continued in the way he had been brought up. He was then a member of the Presbyterian church but a change of residence had brought him into active relation with the Methodist Church at Epworth League, where he got opportunities for work which were never given him in the Presbyterian Church. He was delighted with the work but he had no thought of entering the ministry until on going one evening with a young man who had felt himself called his friend represented to him the great need of the world and told him he believed that he (the speaker) ought to be a minister. At the time he did not agree with his friend, but he could not shake off the idea. Living in the age of hero-worship he had regarded as his hero an uncle who was a butcher, and it had been his desire to become a butcher too. He tried to shake off the idea of his entering the ministry but on finding it impossible, he began to set his face in that direction, but many a time

BLACK FOX CAPTURED

One of the most exciting experiences that ever took place at Brackley Beach, or in P. E. I., or in the Maritime Provinces, occurred on May 18th at Brackley Beach. On Friday night, 15th, a Black Fox was seen on the farm of Mr. McCallum, by Mr. McDonald of Cove Head, carpenter, while working at the McCallum Hotel about sunset, too late to try to do anything towards trying to capture it. On the morning of the 16th he was seen by Mr. Joseph Burigan, Assistant of Mr. Charles Gregor of Brackley Beach, in a field quite near the shore of beach. Word was sent to Shaw's Hotel and Mr. Robert Shaw and Mr. Gordon Dingwell responded to the alarm, and in a short time by telephone Mr. Shaw had quite a number on the scene, ready for the fox chase. He made for the beach, the men following him, Mr. Gordon Dingwell and Mr. Charles Gregor, each on one horse back, and the others walking started the fox chase. He tried hard to make his escape for freedom up and down the beach but Mr. Dingwell and Mr. Gregor were determined to make a capture if possible before returning home.
