

A Big Bid for Your Money.

Our Goods For What They Cost Us.

Beat This, Who Will?

While this advertisement stands we offer all goods enumerated in list below at what they cost us. Our service given free. It is not likely you are prepared to believe that any merchant is selling up-to date goods at a lower price than he has to pay for them. We do not prefer to do it. We want money and are certainly making a high bid for it, when we offer our goods without profit. Our stock is a very choice one. Give us a share of your patronage and we will do as we advertise.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

marital partners. It is high time for us ministers to band together and rouse public sentiment upon this question. I once heard of a young lady who used to boast that she was engaged to three different young men at the same time. She had in her possession three different engagement rings. After awhile she dismissed all three suitors and married a fourth. Do you wonder that after such perfidies her married life was unhappy? Untrue to her fiance, of course she was untrue to her husband. A divorce scandal a few years later was the result. Her father, a noble Christian man of the west, as a result felt himself disgraced and resigned his pulpit for he was a minister. His life was to some extent wrecked, as well as hers. You say such a course as that is an extreme case? Of course. But all evils should not be despised because they are not monstrous evils. The little, seemingly harmless flirtations during summer vacations or at a church picnic or in the street car or concert hall are all divorce seed plantings. You cannot trifle with human affections in youth without being in danger, as an iconoclast, of smashing the marriage shrine when you are middle-aged. Let parents be careful with whom their children associate. Let them beware of what they are allowed to say to others and what others are allowed to say to them. It is all well enough to talk about the vaunted freedom of the American boy and girl; but, for my own part, especially in reference to the promiscuous association of young people and the careless promises they are allowed to make, I think they have altogether too much freedom. Another divorce preventive: Financial expenses in the great majority of homes should be curtailed and greatly diminished. The income should not be made to meet the outgo. The outgo should be contracted until there is a sufficient margin left for unexpected expenses, such as sickness or loss of work or financial reverses. The proverb says, "When poverty comes in at the door love flies out of the window." That is not true when all members are systematically trying to do their best. But when husband and wife go upon the supposition that marriages are made in heaven and then, with blinded eyes, run needlessly into debt there is nearly always marital friction. The wife blames the husband, the husband the wife. Perpetual friction, then, on account of the money question ignites the divorce fires. Then the family altar goes up in a Satanic blaze. Another divorce preventive: The purification of the American press, both in book form and in periodical and in the morning newspaper. The pestiferous trash which every day and every week and every month, like a winter blizzard, is flung into our faces by the snowstorm of the printing press is enough to destroy the healthy heart throbs of any young person who is allowed to read it. I am, of course, not speaking against good publications, but bad publications. Go to almost any bookstore that you see and open some of the books at random and read. There you find the authors make their heroes out of bad men and their heroines out of bad women, with here and there a redeeming white spot to offset these black characters. Broken marriage vows, "Childe Harold" indecencies, deceitful wives, deceiving men—these move as an ever changing kaleidoscope before the fascinated eyes of the young readers. There the boy and the girl learn to call crime respectable and a man's dishonor a "free lance of gold." A bad book worms its way into the moral vitals and finally poisons the heart. The way for good people to keep pure and to prepare themselves for a Christian marriage, which will never be broken this side or on the other side of the grave, is for them to live with good people. They must work to make men good. But some one asks me, in closing: "Are divorces always wrong? Should a husband and wife be compelled to live together under all conditions?" Oh, no. The violation of the marriage vow justifies divorce. Christ's own words imply that. There are other conditions which justify separation, even when there has been no violation of that vow. It would be a grievous injustice to enforce constant companionship when one of the parties to a marriage has contracted habits which render the continued relation an intolerable misery to the other. I have known such cases and have rejoiced that the law permits the innocent party to be relieved of the burden and affords protection from molestation. But I protest against the diversity of the divorce laws of the different states, which tends to confusion and uncertainty in the relation so vital as this to the morality and stability of society. My belief in reference to divorce can be summed up in the words of Sir Walter Scott in the case of Eddie versus Evans, "Though in particular cases the repugnance of the law to dissolve the obligations of matrimonial cohabitation may operate with great severity upon individuals, yet it must be carefully remembered that the general happiness of the married life is secured by its indissolubility." My belief is summed up in the thought that the more people realize when they marry that they must marry for life the more future generations will be careful how they marry and the more the sanctity of the home will be preserved. Therefore, my friends, suffer almost every injustice for your children's sake, for the community's sake, for God's sake, rather than break the nuptial bonds. In this discussion I have presented, for the most part, only the temporal side of the divorce question. If I had spoken from the spiritual side the result would have been self evident. Gospel love never gave birth to legal hate. May the Christ who uttered the protest of the text against promiscuous divorce bless the earnest words of one whom God has greatly blessed with a happy home.

BAD KIDNEYS BLAMED

For Numerous Deaths—Quebec Man Gives Fuller Proof Dadd's Kidney Pills is the Cure.

VAL RACINE, Que., Jan. 11th—(Special.) Like an echo from nearly every funeral comes the words "Death was due to Kidney Disease," and for that reason the experience of Emellen Clouatre, of this place, is of especial interest. It is further evidence that Dadd's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Disease of any and every kind. "I had pains in the back and headache and could not sleep at night," M. Clouatre states, "I got up in the morning more fatigued than the night before. I took nine boxes of Dadd's Kidney Pills and they cured me completely. Now I can sleep well and work well, and my backache and headache are gone. I have had no trouble since I took Dadd's Kidney Pills."

AND STILL THEY COME.

Every day the crowds attending our Great Bargain Sale are getting larger and larger. Saturday evening the store was thronged with delighted buyers who evidently knew they were in the Right Shop. And no wonder, when they can secure here stylish new dress goods, purchased last Autumn, in Tweeds, Cheviots, Fancy Mixtures, Black fancies, Colored Silks, Colored Silk velvet and velveteen, besides fancy velvets for cushions and fancy work—all at half price. Then all our Silk Waists including that elegant lot we opened a few days before the sale began are selling at 67 cts on the dollar. Besides all our Skirts, including 75 new ones, in the Spring Styles and no two alike. Ladies say they are the dressiest skirts ever shown here, and a decided Bargain. These also go at 1-3 off. Also All Ladies Cloth Jackets in stock, while a few of the largest sizes we will clear at Half Price. All Trimmed Millinery Half Price. And still a nice lot of these Furs in Collars, Muffs and etc., which we will clear at Half Price. Other Furs 1-3 off. These are only a few of the many Bargains we are offering. In the Men's Clothing Department, prices have also taken a tumble, a great many lines going at Half Price, others 1-3 off. Come in men and have a look at these. They are Genuine Snaps. It will pay you to buy now, and buy here. You don't get Bargains like these very often. Read the following list
