GOOD SPORTSMAN PATRIOTIC CITIZEN

A. Hamilton Gault, whose magnifi- cent offer to bear the expense of raising a Canadian regiment resulted in the organization of Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, is perhaps better known to Montreal people for his sporting proclivities than as a financier and business man. As a polo player A. Hamilton Gault has few equals among the native-born players of the game in Canada, while in that dull season between the break-up of winter and the real opening of spring, he cuts a pretty considerable figure in the annual competitions of Mon- treal Racquet Club. In business, A. Hamilton Gault is a member of the firm of Gault Brothers and Company, the great wholesale dry goods house and is a member of the directorate of a number of institutions, among them being the Montreal Cotton Company, the Van Allen Company, the Trent Valley Woollen Company, the Crescent Manufacturing Com- pany, Gault Bros. of Winnipeg and Gault Bros. of Vancouver. Though occupying a prominent position in the Canadian business world, Mr. Hamil- ton Gault is still quite a young man, being now in his thirty-second year. He has found time apart from his business and his sports for consid- erable soldiering and served as a sub- altern with the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles in South Africa, receiving, at the termination of the war, the Queen's medal and three clasps. Latterly he has borne a commission in the Royal Highlanders of Canada. He was educated at Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, and McGill Uni- versity and married in 1904 Mar- guerite Claire, the youngest daughter of the late George Washington Stephens.

American Sentiment

Anybody who knew the United States could have told the Kaiser that American sentiment would be practically unanimous against such a war for such a purpose. Anybody who knew Great Britain could have told him that the minute the Empire was threatened, political differences at home would end, the Irish question would disappear and English, Irish, Scotch, Australians, Canadians, South Africans and New Zealanders would be united under the flag against the common enemy. Likewise anybody who knew Italy could have told him that the Italian people would never consent to be drawn into a war of aggression against France and Eng- land for the benefit of Austria and Germany. A military despot and autocrat may despise public opinion, but there are times when the inability to under- stand it is practically suicide.-New York World.

What Dyspeptics Should Eat

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; there- fore stomach sufferers should, when- ever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach de- velops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most food which is pleasant to the taste and such as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all stu- chy, sweet or fatty food, and are try- ing to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immedi- ately afterwards a teaspoonful of bisu- rated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of heaviness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bisurated magne- sia is doubtless the best food cor- rective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which in- flames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by acid or drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stom- ach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid-the cause of all the trouble. Get a little bisurated magne- sia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal take some of the bisurated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."
