

HAIR GROWTH

Promoted by Shampoos of Cuticura Soap

And Dressings of Cuticura the Great Skin Cure

Purest, Sweetest, Most Effective Remedies for Skin, Scalp and Hair.

This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales and dandruff, destroys hair parasites, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, loosens the scalp skin, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

Millions of women now rely on Cuticura Soap assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening and soothing red, rough and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings and chaffings, for annoying irritations, or too free or offensive perspiration, for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative, anti-septic purposes which readily suggest themselves, as well as for all the purposes of the toilet and nursery.

Cuticura remedies are the standard skin cures and humors remedies of the world. Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, in the severer forms, take Cuticura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp and humors, from pimples to scrofula, from infancy to age, when all else fails.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depot: London, 22 Charterhouse St.; Paris, 8 Rue de la Paix; Australia, 21, Town & Co., Sydney; Boston, 107 Columbia Ave.; Boston, 107 & 109, Chemical Co., Sole Proprietors.

HOTEL WRECKED AT RIDGETOWN

Two Killed and six Injured in Explosion.

RIDGETOWN, November 12.—Two people were killed and six injured by an explosion of an acetylene gas machine in the cellar of the Lazar House. The explosion blew out the whole front of the hotel.

The explosion occurred at 5.10 p. m., and excepting to people in the immediate vicinity occasioned no alarm until the fire bell began to ring. It was thought by some to be a clap of thunder, and to others the charge of a loaded gun. The alarm had scarcely ceased ringing, when the firemen, followed by hundreds of citizens, were on the scene. An appalling and ghastly sight met their gaze. In addition to the gruesome sight of unconscious men being carried out, the whole front part of the house was blown out, and the entrance badly wrecked. The force of the explosion broke a majority of the windows in the stores across the street, a distance of several rods in each direction, many having plate glass being practically ground to powder. The damage on the other side of the street, was not so serious, although many windows were broken, some even on the third story of the Porter Block. On the west side of the hotel is a wide archway, while on the east side a passage of a couple feet wide acted as an air cushion, to which fact is due the little damage done to Gillin's grocery on the west, and to Beattie's hardware, on the east.

The disaster like all of its kind, had many peculiarities. The machine stood in front of the cellar directly under the pipe, and, while entirely wrecking the front part of the house, it left the rear uninjured. Mrs. Purcell and her staff of five girls, who were in the kitchen, escaped without a scratch. A horse, tied in front of Northway's, fifty yards away, was struck by flying glass, and had one foot nearly severed.

SHOPLIFTING IN LONDON

How Kleptomaniacs Are Wanted.

Though there is every appearance in all the great London shops that the public is to be trusted implicitly an elaborate and carefully organized system of espionage prevails to circumvent the designs of the peripatetic thief and the marauding kleptomaniac.

The invisible detective, whose office is some unsuspected gallery in the ceiling, whence from artfully designed peep holes in the molding he can survey the whole establishment, is the most successful foil to the shoplifter. But there are only a few shops so structurally designed that surveillance of this kind is possible. Some of the jeweler's treasure palaces are guarded in this manner, and, to make assurance doubly sure, no attendant is without his satellite, who keeps a wary eye on the cases of gems exposed to the customers' inspection, standing at the salesman's elbow while he is showing them.

At all periods a careful watch is kept on those dress establishments that are pervaded by women, but more especially at sale time, for it is then that covetousness overwhelms morality most easily, and the crowded state of the shops favors the pick-up of unconsidered trifles. A manager of one of the largest establishments in those departments that are not spacious that pilfering principally goes on, and that in them detective supervision is always most acute.

Every shopwalker and counter attendant is in effect a detective, but there are some professionals who assume the guise to hide their real position. It is the duty of each attendant when he is suspicious of a customer to call the attention of the detective to her, not blatantly, but by prearranged sign. The detective then keeps the suspect under her immediate eye. In the large emporiums where women chiefly congregate the most efficient, because least conspicuous, detectives are women, either employed as shopwalkers or as customers.

When an attendant misses or thinks he misses something, or notices disturbing signs of thievery, he speaks to the detective, who, as an elegantly garbed customer, seats herself in a position commanding a good view of the suspect and makes her purchases like any other woman, all the while gathering data, upon which to proceed. The disguise assumed by the shop detective differs day by day. If there be one result less desired by the shop proprietor than another it is to convict a kleptomaniac. Prosecutions do not forward business. The proprietor's policy is to prevent pilfering by every conceivable means. Hence a blind eye is turned to what is a theft in embryo, and the wretched shoplifter caught in the act of purloining a blouse under cover of her waterproof is asked whether the article may not be sent home for her. To the bulging umbrella or the gaping handbag the detective alludes with an apology, fearing that madam has incommenced herself with something that fell from the counter.

First offenders are often cured by narrow escapes such as this from falling into the abyss that leads to the dock, and gladly pay for the experience in coin of the realm as if they had all the while meant to purchase instead of to purloin the goods. Should leniency of such a kind fail to lead the trespasser back to the paths of rectitude, the manager's office is made the scene of more serious negotiations, on which it is well to draw the veil. But as a rule it does not.

Considering the immense population of London and the ease with which beautiful objects can apparently be taken in the great shops, the detectives find their talents called but seldom into play, probably because their system of surveillance is so capitally organized and carried out.—London Mail.
