Mattern Set On Beating The Post-Gatty Record

Intrepid Flyer Determined To Make Up Lost Time — Fights Head Winds On Moscow-Omsk Flight. Breaks Strut On Landing.

(By Stanley P. Richardson, Associated Press Correspondent.)

MOSCOW, June 6.—(A.P.)—In a telephone interview across 1,400 miles of Russian and Siberian plains and mountains, James Mattern, bold young aviator who is attempting a solo flight around the world, told the Associated Press tonight he had arrived safely at Omsk and would set off in a few hours for Chita, 1,700 miles to the east.

"I am alright and am getting off within two hours," Mattern shouted hoarsely over the uncertain wires from the city in far Siberia. "I hit bad headwinds almost all the way to Omsk and my right landing strut cracked when I came down here but otherwise everything is fine."

The American asked the correspondent at Moscow about his time and was told that he was only a few hours behind the schedule set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in their round-the-world tour in 1931. "That's great! I'll beat 'em yet," Mattern shouted in satisfaction and determination.

"I'm fine," he yelled in reply to a question as to his own physical condition. "Everything's alright," he added. "That wing strut's been fixed here. I've had three hours sleep and I am taking off in a couple of hours. They have been awfully good to me here. They had more food than I've ever seen in one place waiting for me when I pulled in."

Improved Conditions Mark Steady Industrial Advancement In Canada

MANUFACTURERS MEET

Premier Brownlee Predicts Record Crops For Western Canada.

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, June 6.—Criticism of the recent Imperial Conference at Ottawa is unwarranted, for although results have not reached the anticipated peak, it seems certain they will ultimately fulfill expectations, delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association annual meeting tonight were told by manufacturers of various lines in Canadian industry.

The discussion on the Imperial Conference and its value followed the adoption of the report of the tariff committee, and became general as first one delegate and then another joined in to testify to the value of the conference.

Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta in a surprise appearance before the annual convention predicted record crops and improved economic conditions for Western Canada this year, at the same time paying tribute to the calm and sane way the people of the West had faced adversity.

A. McA. Murphy, Montreal, declared export business had become defunct through the fluctuation of exchange. The conference could not be blamed, but there should be stabilization of exchange effected as soon as possible.

CANADA-FRANCE TRADE TREATY TO BE SIGNED

The Treaty Will Be Formally Proclaimed In Both Countries Saturday.

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, June 6.—The treaty between France and Canada, which passed Parliament a few days before the end of the recent session will be proclaimed simultaneously in both countries on Saturday next, it was learned on good authority today.

The French trade treaty was negotiated by Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, who made a journey to France for the purpose last year, and also carried on negotiations with representatives of the French Government on this side. It provides that the two countries will give each other most favored nation treatment in the entry and marketing of its products.

A convention accompanied the treaty, laying down a series of concessions each country accords the other providing greater facility in transportation, conduct of business and travel by business representatives between the signatory nations.

IMPROVEMENT GENERAL

Factories Re-open and a General Expansion in business Recorded.

TORONTO, June 6.—(C.P.)—Canadian business which, compilers of trade statistics estimate, turns the same corners as the United States but from three to four months later, is running true to form in that signs of improvement are becoming more general throughout the Dominion three months after the launching of "the new deal" at Washington.

A long list of factory re-openings have been recorded in the last two weeks. Commercial travellers have noted that merchants are expanding their orders. Electrical production, carloadings and railway earnings are rapidly creeping up on the totals for the corresponding weeks of 1932.

The lumbering industry, lagging behind the general trend because, chiefly, of British and U. S. barriers on imports, is now making better headway according to information gathered by the Canadian Press from the leading lumbering sections of Canada. These points report:

HALIFAX — Lumber operators say exports are fairly good, particularly to England. Indications

(By John L. Cooley, Associated Press Financial Writer.)

NEW YORK, June 6.—(A.P.)—Financial trading continued brisk today, especially on the Stock Exchange where shares stumbled into selling after an early advance and then firmed again. Stocks were mostly higher until noon when Santa Fe's directors announced the preferred dividend cut. This chilled all rail issues and advances in other directions were checked.

Italy joined Germany in abstaining from voting on this report.

Tie-Up In N. S. Mines Averted

(Canadian Press)

SYDNEY MINES, N. S., June 6.—Prospects of a general tie-up of Nova Scotia's coal mines had receded somewhat tonight as miners of Princess and Florence collieries prepared to open negotiations with their employers looking toward a settlement of the wage deadlock that closed the two mines.

In a mass meeting late today the miners instructed a committee to call a conference with the receiver-liquidators of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, operators of the pits. The receiver-liquidators had proposed general wage reductions of 25 per cent several weeks ago, terminating them necessary to continue operation.
