—A PLEASANT EVENING.—The ice cream social at Northam Station on the evening of June 28th was a pleasant break in farm operation's and was a decided success notwithstanding the fact that there had been a slight misunderstanding with the weatherman and he had sent weather suitable for freezing but not for eating ice cream. This however did not keep the crowd away, and games, home-made candy, fruit etc., etc went to make up an evening that was enjoyed by all. A stag sum was realized which will be used as the Northam Improvement Committee may think best. A pleasing feature of the occasion was the reading of a highly complimentary address and the presentation of a purse of money to Mr. Thomas Hammill, who has taught in Northam School for the past two years. Mr. Hammill, surrounded by his fond pupils and their parents, replied feelingly thanking the people for the kindness they had shown him during his stay in Northam. One cannot fault Mr. Hammill's decision to go west, but everyone feels that his place in the school and in the district cannot easily be filled. His pleasant manner, his gentlemanly conduct at all times, the high moral standard which he endeavoured to hold before his pupils, together with the deep interest he ever took in their welfare have won for him a place in the hearts of pupils and parents that time will not obliterate. The Northam people wish Mr. Hammill every success in his new field of labor wherever it may be.

Her Natural Expression.

He was a very bashful young man. One day his best girl took him to a party, and in order to make him mix with the crowd she made him the principal in a parlor game. The rules of the game were simple. Each player made a face and the worst face won. The game started and the young man gravely walked about the room examining them. At last he stopped before a deardold maiden of forty. "Madam," he said, "I have great pleasure in telling you that you have won." "But," she replied, quietly, "I'm not playing."
