

ANGLO-AMERICAN TREATY PUBLIC

United States, by and with the advice and consent of the senate there of, his majesty's government reserves the right before commencing any special agreement in any matter affecting the interests of a self-governing dominion of the British Empire, to obtain the concurrence therein of the government of that dominion.

Such agreement shall be binding when confirmed by the two governments by an exchange of notes.

Article II. The high contracting parties further agree to institute, as occasion arises, and as herein after provided, a joint high commission of inquiry, to which, upon the request of either party, shall be referred for impartial and conscientious investigation of any controversy between the parties within the scope of article I, before such controversy has been submitted to arbitration, and also any other controversy hereafter arising between them, even if they are not agreed that it falls within the scope of article I, provided, however, that such reference may be postponed until the expiration of one year after the date of the formal request therefore, in order to afford an opportunity for diplomatic discussion and adjustment of the questions in controversy, if either party desires such postponement.

Article (III) The joint high commission of inquiry, instituted in each case as provided for in article II, is authorized to examine and report the particular questions or matters referred to it for the purpose of facilitating the solution of disputes by elucidating the facts, and to define the issues presented by such questions, and also to include in its report such recommendations and conclusions as may be appropriate.

The reports of the commission shall not be regarded as decisions of the questions or matters so submitted either on the facts or on the law, or shall in no way have the character of an arbitral award.

It is further agreed, however, that in cases in which the parties disagree as to whether or not a difference is subject to arbitration under article I of this treaty, that question shall be submitted to the joint high commission of inquiry; and if all or all but one of the members of the commission agree and report that such difference is within the scope of article I, it shall be referred to arbitration in accordance with the provision of this treaty.

Article (IV) The commission shall have the power to administer oaths to witnesses and take evidence on oath whenever deemed necessary in any proceeding or inquiry or matter within its jurisdiction under this treaty, and the high contracting parties agree to adopt such measures as may be appropriate and necessary to give the commission the power above mentioned, and to provide for the issue of subpoenas and for compelling the attendance of witnesses in the proceedings before the commission.

On the inquiry both sides must be heard, and such is certified to as point as great, whose duty it shall be to represent his government before the commission, either personally or through counsel retained for that purpose, such evidence and arguments as he may deem necessary and appropriate for the information of the commission.

Article (V) The commission shall meet whenever called upon to make an examination and report under the terms of this treaty, and the commission may at such times and places for its meetings as may be deemed necessary, subject at all times to special call or direction of the two governments.

Each commissioner, upon the first joint meeting of the commission after his appointment, shall, before proceeding with the work of the commission, make and subscribe a solemn declaration in writing that he will faithfully and impartially perform the duties imposed upon him under the treaty, and such declaration shall be entered upon the records of the proceedings of the commission.

The United States and British sections of the commission may each appoint a secretary, and they shall act as joint secretaries of the commission at its joint sessions, and the commission may employ experts and clerical assistants from time to time as it may deem advisable.

The salaries and personal expenses of the commission and of the agents and counsel, and of the secretaries shall be paid by their respective governments, and what reasonable and necessary joint expenses of the commission incurred by it shall be paid in equal moieties by the high contracting parties.

Article (VI) This treaty shall supersede the arbitration treaty concluded between the high contracting parties on April 4, 1908, but all agreements, awards and proceedings under that treaty shall continue in force and effect, and this treaty shall not affect in any way the provisions of the treaty of January 11, 1909, relative to questions arising between the United States and the Dominion of Canada.

Gentlemen,—In June, '98, I had my hand and wrist bitten and badly lacerated by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days and the tooth cuts refused to heal until our agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using. The effect was magical; in five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

AT DEATH'S DOOR FROM KIDNEY DISEASE

SAVED ONLY BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

CLANBRASSIE, ONT.

"Two years ago, the doctor made forty-four calls on me and then said he had done all he could for me. I was suffering with intense Kidney Trouble and inflammation had set in. Two other doctors were consulted and agreed that nothing could be done to help me. To-day, I take 'Fruit-a-tives' as my only medicine. I am in excellent health, and 'Fruit-a-tives' is the medicine that cured me after I had been at Death's Door for months."

I am glad to be able to give you this testimonial. I may benefit some other suffering as I suffered, as I believe that I would not be alive to-day had I not used 'Fruit-a-tives'.

Mrs. P. E. WEBBER.

"Fruit-a-tives"—by its marvellous action on the kidneys—completely restores these vital organs to their normal strength and vigor and cures every trace of Kidney Trouble. 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine in the world made of fruit.

Article (VII)—The present treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States of America by and with the advice and consent of the senate thereof, and by his Britannic Majesty, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible, and the treaty shall take effect on the date of the exchange of its ratifications. It shall therefore remain in force continuously unless and until terminated by twenty-four months written notice given by either high contracting party to the other.

In faith whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty in duplicate and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done at Washington the third day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

CABBAGE AND CANDY.

A Pennsylvania woman claims to have discovered a process for making candies out of vegetables. If the discovery proves to be of practical value we shall doubtless soon become familiar with the product, though the process may remain a secret. Long cooking, she says, is an essential part of the programme, after which the pasty vegetable mass is molded into attractive forms. Potato caramels, carrot nougats, turnip fudge, beet marshmallows and bean toffee are among the confectionery triumphs announced. It is even solemnly stated that a tempting confection has been made of parsnips.

If all this proves true, the good lady will have accomplished two desirable results at one blow. She will have been the first to convince children that garden truck is acceptable for internal use, at the same time providing strong competition for sulphur-bleached marshmallows, fudge colored with iron rust, furniture-polish bonbons—in fact, for all the glittering combinations of chemicals and glue that a child with a penny has at his command.

To boot to juvenile humanity surely, we should credit the entire story gladly if it were not for the parsnips.—(From Success Magazine.)

IT TAKES COURAGE.

To speak the truth when, by a little pervariation, you can get some great advance.

To live according to your convictions.

To be what you are, and not pretend to be what you are not.

To live honestly within your means, and not dishonestly upon the means of others.

To refuse to knuckle and bend the knee to the wealthy, even though poor.

To refuse to make a living in a questionable vocation.

To refuse to do a thing which you think is wrong, because it is customary and done in trade.

To be talked about and yet remain silent when a word would justify you in the eyes of others, but which you cannot speak without injury to another.

To face slander and lies, and to carry yourself with cheerfulness, grace and dignity for years before the lie can be corrected.

To stand firmly erect while others are bowing and fawning for praise and powers.

To remain in honest poverty while others grow rich by questionable methods.

To say "No" squarely when those around you say "Yes."

To do your duty in silence, obscurity and poverty, while others about you prosper through neglecting or violating sacred obligations.

No to bend the knee to popular opinion.

IMMATERIAL TO HIM.

The usual large crowd was gathered at the New York end of the Brooklyn bridge waiting for trolley cars. An elderly lady, red in the face, lustered and fussy, dug her elbow into convenient ribs irrespective of owners.

A fat man on her left was the recipient of a particularly vicious jab. She yelled at him: "Say!"

He winced slightly and moved to one side.

"Say," she persisted, "does it make any difference which of these cars I take to Greenwood cemetery?"

"Not to me, madam," he answered, slipping through an opening in the crowd.

A Georgia woman who moved to Philadelphia found she could not be contented without the colored mammy who had been her servant for many years. She sent for old mammy, and the servant arrived in due season. It so happened that the Georgia woman had to leave town the very day mammy arrived. Before departing she had just time to explain to mammy the modern conveniences with which her apartment was furnished. The gas stove was the contrivance which interested the colored woman most. After the mistress of the household had lighted the oven, the broiler and the other burners and felt certain that the old servant understood its operations, the mistress hurried to the train.

She was absent two weeks and one of her first questions to mammy was how she had worked along.

"De fines' ever," was the reply. "And dat air gas stove—oh, my whar do you know, Miss Po'ence, dat fire ain't gon out yet."

IP-YOU HAVE NO ICE.

The July Woman's Home Companion contains a great variety of practical housewifery suggestions. Here is one for the housekeeper who gets along without ice:

"Obtain a large, common flowerpot and seal the whole in the bottom with plaster of Paris. Place in the pot the bottle containing milk, or a covered crock containing butter, and fill the pot with water to as great a depth as possible without the bottle or crock floating. Cover the pot with a board or a plate and set out in the open air, away from the direct sunlight, and preferably where there is a current of air. The evaporation of the water from the surface of the porous pot will keep the contents several degrees colder than the outside air, when there is the slightest amount of air stirring. The higher the wind, or the drier the air, the greater will be the cooling effect."

FASHIONS AND FADS.

Ruchings back again in Fashion's favor.

Slide shoes with tiny straps over the insteps are very popular.

Berou mousseline de soie has superseded white for separate collars and cuffs.

On the beaches are seen many black silk bathing suits with white empire revers.

Any amount of head-work and alluring embroidery effects are used as garniture.

Single and sashes, in colors, with black silk fringe, are all the thing at both seashore and mountain resorts.

Flour paste may be kept indefinitely by adding to it a little formaldehyde, which may be procured at any drug store.

You can set the color in any article that has red in it by soaking the cloth for fifteen or twenty minutes in salt water.

One of the most soothing and healing eye-washes consists of a saturated solution of boric acid in camphor water.

Strong sunshine will ruin entirely the polish of your piano. Be careful this summer to keep it in the dark or covered.

Peach stains are removed with a weak solution of chloride of lime. Linens require a long soaking to remove any stain.

All or nearly all of the late summer gowns are showing the high waist line, and the skirts, if not really trim, are tunie in effect.

In skirts the popularity of the panel back and front still holds. The newest-skirts have pleats inset at the sides to give the desired fullness.

Probably more one-piece silk dresses are seen this season than at any previous time, and nothing has in it more satisfaction for a woman.

Gloves are dyed in every conceivable shade to match the colored shoes and stockings, which in every case ought to harmonize with the toilette.

This is the first season that material of all weaves, whether silk, cotton or wool, have been combined, and the effect has been one of artistic merit.

Petticoats in natural colored pongee, with printed bands in color on the edges, are used for linen suits.

Rose and blue are the favorite shades for the decoration.

New jabots are lace trimmed and are worn with linen suits or separate blouses. The one sided effect is evident, a wide frill being attached to a central frill of lace.

A fashionable idea for linen and wool frocks is to place a twelve to sixteen-inch colored band around the bottom of the skirt, and then introduce a touch of the color in the waist.

USE NULIFE FOR YOUR COMPLEXION

Your form may be perfect, your features perfect and your complexion handsome, but if your blood begins to get impure you will lose all your charms and become a disfigured, emaciated weakling and have a system unprepared for the attacks of disease. By using Nulife when first symptoms begin to appear you will be able to successfully thwart the advancement of any disease and build up your system better than it was before.

NULIFE (Red Blood Tablets) is not a cure-all. It acts directly on the system and enriches the blood and thereby strengthens the wasted tissues, further helping to offset any disease.
