Many New Maps Being Printed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(C. P.) There is one industry which has slackened during the past three years—map-making. With new world names and sovereignties and new railroads stretching into barren fields, at rapid rates, map-making presses have been stopped to make manifold revisions at the last minute many times during the past 10 years. Unheeded of the map-makers' troubles, new railroads have been extended to Hudson Bay and James Bay in Canada. Railroads have stretched in remote sections of Africa and Asia. Inque was transformed into an independent state; the Russian city of Nizhni Novgorod was changed to "Maxim Gorki," and a section of the Arabian peninsula was

Mr. Courtney Walton, cousin of the groom, was best man, while Miss Alice Pooley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, while the bridal party was entering the parlor Mrs. W. A. Wood played Lohengrin's Wedding March. The bride looked charming in a brigade blue gown of silk crepe with metallic and lace trimmings. In travelling she wore a navy hat and coat trimmed with Australian fur in a steel shade. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Walton left by motor for P. E. I. Only the immediate relatives were present at the ceremony but both of these young people are deservedly popular and are followed by good wishes from a host of friends.—Sackville Post.

Womens Clothes Interest II Duce

ROME, Dec. 21—Premier Benito Mussolini has become greatly interested in women's clothes. He has devoted a great deal of time to the subject, has discussed it with grave, bearded men of state, and finally has set aside $100,000 for scarves, gowns, hats, shoes, and the like for a permanent exhibition. For women, says II Duce, in their hands an efficient means of helping forge a powerful Fascist state of the future. The international political influence he desires never could be complete while Italian women order their clothes from Paris dress-makers, he says, and so the state is spending money to win their support. Decorum, the blackshirt chieftain told his Government demands a dominant Italian school of styles. To achieve this, he has created an organization in Turin which will encourage the art of designing dresses, millinery, and footwear, and which will present Italian models to Italian women for their approval. The Premier maintains absolute power in the organization by reserving the right to appoint its director. A permanent national exhibition will be maintained in Turin to display the new styles.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. STANISLAUS DOIRON

There passed peacefully to her rest at her home at Rocky Point, on Nov. 14th, 1932, Sophia Pineau, wife of Stanislaus Doiron, at the age of 74 years. Deceased, who was born at Rustico in 1848 was the daughter of the late Frank Pineau and Ada Blanchard. She was a lady of estimable character and moved to Rocky Point with her husband and son Joseph in the year 1916. Since going to that vicinity, she endeared herself to all by her kindness and sincerity in all of her social obligations. There never was a person sicker, or in any kind of trouble that the deceased did not visit and cheer them up by kind and cheerful words of encouragement. Her passing leaves a void in the community which cannot easily be filled. She was visited in her last illness by Rev. Geo. MacDonald and also by Rev. Monsignor MacDonald, from whose priestly hands she received the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church and, after her death was buried in South Shore Cemetery, beside her grandson Edmund, who predeceased her some twelve years ago. She is survived by a son Joseph, and also by a daughter Emily, wife of Joseph Doucette, Charlottetown, also a daughter-in-law, Mary, who nursed her in her last illness. Her funeral, which was largely attended, took place from her late home to St. Martin's Church, where a Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Geo. McDonald, assisted by the choir of Hope River and Rustico. The pall bearers were: Geo. Wilson, Wellington Murphy, Joseph Doyle, William Mutch, Nelson Currie and James Smith. May her soul rest in peace. Floral tributes, Mass Cards and letters of sympathy were received from many sympathizing friends.

MRS. WILLIAM DAY

Funeral services for Mrs. William Day, who died Wednesday, November 30th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Faulkner in town of Washburn, Wisconsin, Saturday afternoon, December third, at two-thirty o'clock with Rev. David Lavin of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Burial was in Woodland cemetery. The deceased was born on Prince Edward Island, Canada, July 11, 1856, and was thus 76 years, 4 months and 11 days old at the time of her death. Her maiden name was Hannah Maria Cudmore. She married William Day, October 2, 1876, and she and her husband had passed their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary two months ago. Coming to Washburn in 1885, Mr. and Mrs. Day lived in the city for twenty-two years and then moved to the farm home at Four Mile Creek in the town of Washburn, where they have lived for the past quarter century. Mrs. Day who had been unwell for the past eight years and could not lie down for the past three years was able to walk. About six months ago she became an invalid and from then to the end was constantly attended by members of her family. She was a patient sufferer and bore her pain with little complaint, death relieving her last Wednesday evening at 10.30 o'clock at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Faulkner in the town of Washburn. Grandma Day, as she was generally known, was a kind and loving wife and mother and was held in high esteem and great affection by her many friends and acquaintances. The sympathy of the community is extended to the husband and children in their sorrow. Surviving relatives are: Her husband, William Day; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Faulkner, Mrs. Frank Faulkner and Ida Day of the town of Washburn; three sons, George of Bayfield; William, of Barksdale and Rutherford, of the town of Washburn; also two sisters Mrs. Alfred Sherren, Victoria, P. E. I., Mrs. John McQuarrie, Charlottetown; and two brothers, William Cudmore, Appin Road, and Robert Cudmore, Brookvale, P. E. I.—(Wisconsin paper).

Married Within Tower of London

LONDON, Dec. 21—A soldier and a pretty girl were married today within the forbidding walls of the Tower of London and in the little chapel of St. Peter ad Vincula, where they used to bury the headless bodies of persons executed at the block on Tower Hill outside. Beneath the floor on which the couple stood and said "I do" are the crypts in which were buried many notables of old who went under the axe, including Anne Bolwyn and Katherine Howard, second and fifth wives of Henry VIII, beheaded four centuries ago for alleged infidelity to that "Merry Monarch."

Today's bride was Winnifred Hall, daughter of the yeoman warden of the tower, and the groom Cyril Baker, who served recently with the Hussars in India. The chapel in which they were wed was described by the historian Macaulay as the "saddest spot on earth" on account of its painful associations.

Today, however, it looked bright and gay as the bridal party stepped down the aisle. The bride's father wore the full Tudor dress of his office—be-ribboned hat, scarlet slashed tunic, silken hose and buckled shoes.

Gangster Wars In Bee Colony

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 21—Bees, says Frank Bohnhoffer, who owns 70,000 of them, have gang wars of their own.

All is peaceful when the "take" is good, but let the supply of honey run low, and another "gang" try to "muscle in" on a hive's territory, and the war is on. Moreover, bees on the warpath are markedly imperial and indifferent about whom they fight. At times like that they will attack humans with fervor.

Handling bees in numbers, Bohnhoffer says, is chiefly a matter of nerve and keeping them well fed. But they are short tempered insects. A shower that washes nectar from the flowers, or a heat wave, puts them on edge and they are ready to fight.

He credits them, too, with being sensitive about making friends. Some people cannot go near a bee without reason for an attack. And he credits bees with having long memories. They know which hive they occupied in a previous year, and where the most honey was available.

A Question of Law

EDMONTON, Dec. 21—(C.P.)—In a store in this city husband and wife, prospective customers, had an argument and scuffle. The wife tossed an ash tray in the direction of her husband, but his dodging abilities were better than her aim. In police court the judge asked who should pay for the broken window, which stopped the ash tray's progress. "I don't think I should," said the lady in the case. "He started it."

"Well, he can't assess the husband when you broke the window," she was told. Further discussion followed, and crown counsel said that the woman could not be charged with willful damage. It could not be proved he pointed out, that the woman deliberately broke the window and she was trying to hit her husband and not the glass.

WIFE KILLS "OTHER WOMAN" TO PREVENT SONS DOING IT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 21—Mrs. C. R. Frazier, wife of the District Director of Narcotic Law Enforcement in Florida and Georgia, shot and killed her husband's secretary, Miss Manona Murrell, on the post office lawn here today and told officers the young woman "tried to break up my home."

Mrs. Frazier, mother of five sons ranging in age from 4 to 19 years, was held on a murder charge. The 41-year-old mother told authorities of the 26-year-old secretary, "I hope she is dead. She tried to break up my home. If I hadn't killed her my two oldest sons were going to."

Tryon and Vicinity Historic Homes In Old Quebec

The funeral of the late Mr. Frederick Leard of West, Tryon who passed away in the Prince County Hospital was held on Sunday, Dec. 11th, with a large attendance of relatives and friends who came to pay their last tribute of respect to one who was well and favorably known. The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Lund. Interment was made in People's Cemetery, Tryon.

The flooding of the Victoria Rink has been going on for some time and a very good sheet of ice is now available. At a late date skating has not commenced but in all probability both skating and hockey will have commenced ere this is printed. The hockey boys of Tryon have been organizing their teams for some time past and will likely shine brightly before the winter is over. The young people of this district have been skating on the pond for some time now and are talking of putting up some boards and making a rink proper.

Mrs. W. T. Bowness and son Walter of Bedeque motored to Tryon on Sunday where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacKay of Albany are receiving the congratulations of their many friends on the arrival of a fine baby boy on Saturday, Dec. 10th.

Mrs. A. T. Wright of Middletown recently paid a flying visit to the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Chas Wright, Tryon.

Miss Dorothy Crossman of New Brunswick is spending some time the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Rev. F. and Mrs. Crossman of Tryon.

The Y. P. S. of the United Church held their regular weekly meeting on Friday Dec. 16th with a far attendance. Mr. Archy Thompson was the leader for the evening taking as his topic, "What Xmas means to us." The scripture reading was Luke 2 verses 7-20. The regular business came before the meeting. It was decided to have no meeting on Dec. 23rd, but that the meeting of Dec. 30th would be held in the hall and would take the form of a social.

The pupils of Tryon School are progressing very favorably under the skilful management of their teachers Miss Victoria MacLean, (Principal) and Miss Florence Mabey (assistant).

Rev. and Mrs. F. Crossman of Tryon recently motored to Summerside.

The Presbyterian Ladies held a birthday party for one and all on Thursday evening of last week. There was a good attendance, and everyone had a jolly evening. A nice sum rewarded the ladies for their work. Delicious refreshments were served to the guests by the ladies.

EMERALD WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of Emerald Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. John McEntee on December 13th, and thirteen members answered their names to roll call with a potato

MONTREAL, Dec. 21—(C.P.)—Lecturing on the old houses of the Province of Quebec, Prof. Ramsay Traquair said: "No houses in Canada can be dated earlier than 1670 or so, and very few as early as that. Pierre Boucher, writing in 1663, has left a description of the houses in his book on Canada framed to attract settlers. Some houses are built entirely of stone and covered with planks or pine boards; others have a wooden framework of uprights with masonry between and others are wholly of wood. All, however, are covered with boards. Thus there is a tradition of stone and wood building from the very first. Panellings, wood fittings and furniture were surveyed to indicate the sort of culture of the early settlers.

"Extreme austerity was noted in Canadian monasteries which have character but no grace except in one instance, the Ursuline Monastery at Three Rivers, which shows what might be made of the type. Its date was given as 1700 or 1750. The farm at St. Gabriel at Point St. Charles, belonging to the Ladies of the Congregation was stated to be one of the oldest houses in the province."

"Turning to the manor houses, Prof. Traquair said they were neither large nor elaborate. The Seigneur was a farmer like his tenants and seems to have lived in a similar home. There are, in fact, no large houses in the province. The Manoir Mauvide on the Island of Orleans must be one of the largest and is of a type not uncommon in French domestic architecture with a hipped roof and slight bellcast. A period of great activity began in 1770 and reached up to about 1790 when a large amount of fine woodwork was made. Illustrations of this in various buildings were shown, including the presbytery of the Basilica in Quebec which was torn down to allow more room for the automobiles of tourists who go to that city to see the old buildings. This was odd reasoning, the speaker commented.

"Interesting types of work in heavy end gables and double chimneys are to be seen round Montreal. Towards the end of the 18th century, English influence began to creep in which is in full swing today, specially in the towns. In conclusion, Prof. Traquair deprecated the 'hard-boiled' attitude of today and said that the need of modern times was only an excuse for bad architecture."

receipts, he minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The following committees were appointed as follows:—Sick: Mrs. P. D. Duffy and Mrs. C. W. Croken; School: Mrs. J. A.
