Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather on Sunday the S. O. E. headed by Worth's Band had a fine parade to Grace Church where a sermon suitable to the occasion was preached in an able manner by Rev. Wm. Harrison. The singing was most inspiring and the whole service one to be long cherished by all those present.

The Canadian Magazine for June contains a considerable amount of unusually attractive material. The first article is entitled A Fragment from a Tragedy, in which is shown the tragic place that narcotics had in the life of the poet Coleridge. The author, S. T. Wood, makes some interesting deductions, and letters of Coleridge's are reproduced, showing the ends to which the poet would go in his efforts to obtain the enslaving drug. The well-known novelist, Robert Knowles, contributes a humorous sketch entitled An Interrupted Toast in which peculiarities of Scotch and Irish temperament are clearly depicted. Morality and Modern Seas? is the title of an article by Rolson Black, dramatic editor of the Toronto News, and there are articles as well, by Frank Yeigh, P. Blake Crofton, Mrs. J. W. F. Harrison, C. L. Armstrong, E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., and Maud Goring, with short stories by Mabel Burkholder, W. E. Elliott, Helen E. Williams, and Dolf Wyllarde and verse by Isabel Ecclestone Macpay, Katherine Hale, and Inglis Morse.
