Capt. George Patrick Campbell-Preston, the Black Watch, aide-de-camp to His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and Miss Frances Olivia Grenfell, daughter of Lieut-Colonel and Mrs. A. M. Grenfell, of London, England whose engagement was announced recently. Captain Campbell-Preston is the second son of the late Colonel R. W. P. C. Campbell-Preston and Mrs. Campbell-Preston of Connel, Argyll, Scotland. Miss Grenfell proceeded to Quebec recently from Ottawa with Mrs. A. S. Redfern and has been staying at the Citadelle.

Above are (right) Mrs. Ross Macdonald, Montreal, Quebec provincial commissioner, and (left) Miss Nadine Barty, Kingston, Ont., member of the Dominion Executive of the Girl Guide organization aboard the Alania en route to Adelboden, Switzerland. They will represent the 55,000 Guides in Canada at the biennial international conference.

Ruth and Henry Kitson, of Arundel, England, are shown above looking down from the cab of a locomotive of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the road of steel across Canada in the building of which their great-grandfather, the late Lord Strathcona, was so largely instrumental. The young brother and sister reached Quebec recently with a visit for a hour of Canada which they hope will include a visit to the spot where their great-grandfather, then Sir Donald Smith, drove home the last spike to complete the transcontinental line, at Craigellachie, B.C.

Susie, the monkey, seems far more at ease than her little playmate Gloria. In fact Gloria looks worried and unhappy. Perhaps she thinks Susie is too young to smoke. The reason for Susie's workmanlike costume is because she's going to ride her bicycle in a special race just for monkeys.

Earl Beatty, seriously injured four months ago in a hunting accident, was only recently able to be moved to his London home in Grosvenor Square, from the War Memorial Hospital in Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire. The hundred-mile trip was made in a special ambulance with two nurses in attendance. Earl Beatty will be bed-ridden for some time yet, doctors report.

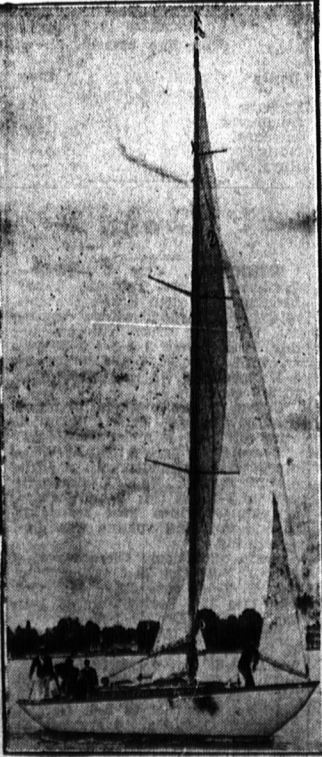

Rasputin, the mad monk, was killed by Prince Felix Yusupoff, whose daughter, Princess Irina, is shown here with her fiance, Count Nikolai Scheremeteff. She is also granddaughter to Grand Duchess Xenia Alexandrowna. The count is a descendant of Peter the Great. They plan to marry in Rome.

questioning and photographic negatives in her Street Address examined, Miss Sylvia May Bradshaw 22, of Nova City -- has been completely freed of any connection with espionage. Miss Bradshaw was detained for two days at Barksdale Field, Army pictures of letters to Germany.

A long sharp thorn in the flesh of the military authorities in India is the Fakir of Ipi, who has kept the warlike Waziristan tribes on the northwest frontier in almost chronic revolt for months. A recent outbreak necessitated the sending of a strong punitive expedition accompanied by bombing planes which brought the realities of battle home to the rebels in the most literal sense by raiding their villages. Above is seen a detachment of the Royal Horse Artillery fording a stream near the scene of trouble, under the watchful eyes of two natives squatting on the bank.

Sailing is just another of man's domains to be invaded and the ladies at the Royal Canadian Yacht club, Toronto, are finding the boats an exciting pastime. Majorie Lister and Sister McGibbon (Right) have learned the ropes and know how and when to hoist the sail. Over week-ends the bay is filled with all manner of wind-propelled craft such as this (Left) shown leaving the club docks on the Island.
