TEMPERANCE MEETING HELD LAST EVENING

The opening meeting of Victoria Division S. of T. last night was quite a success. The worthy Patriarch Andrew McNeil opened the meeting with a pleasant address. After singing "Hold the Fort" and prayer, John L. Godkin read a paper on the "Origin of the Order in New York City 67 years ago." Letters of regret were read from Rev. Neil McLaughlin of St. John and the Rev. E. Bell of Little Rock, who were unable to attend. The speakers of the evening were: Rev. J. P. Floyd; Rev. William Harrison; J. J. Chappell; R. C. Coffey; Inspector Jenkins Henry Rackham, James Brody Victor Creed. The address was interspersed by a solo entitled "Rum Must Go" by William Rowe, and a duet entitled "I Surrender All" by William Duffy and Leslie Toombs. ## WRIGHT AEROPLANE ALMOST FINISHED

BROOKLYN, Sept. 26—Over on Governor's Island in a pine shed, two quiet impassive men are busily at work in their shirt sleeves putting a flying machine together. One of them has had the praise of kings and emperors showered upon him, and he has heard the plaudits of the civilized world singing in his ears, while the other has scarcely traveled beyond the confines of his Ohio home. But they call each other "Will" and "Charlie" as they fuss with hammer and saw and wrench, utterly oblivious to the onlooking crowd of gold-laced officers and civilians who follow their movements with eager attention. These two democratic workmen are Wilbur Wright and his principal mechanic, Charles E. Taylor. Already they have made good progress on the job. The lower and upper surfaces of the airplane are in place and attached to their struts; the motor is in position; the chain belts and inclosing tubes have been carried to the shafting for the propellers; and the front and rear rudders are complete and ready for installation. Mr. Wright says that he will be ready for a trial flight next Saturday. The direction of the wind and weather conditions. He likes the condition around Governor's Island, however, and does not hesitate to say that he will feel safer in the up-ber currents of the air than in those closer to the earth. Those who know him best predict that New York will witness some of the loftiest and most surprising aerplane flights that the world has ever known.

REFUGEE DIVISION PLEASING PROGRAM

On Friday evening, 24th inst., a large orderly and appreciative audience gathered in the Fredericton Hall to hear the fifteenth anniversary program given by the far-famed Division, known as "Refuge," No. 201. John H. Weeks, presided, and in a pleasant manner tempered his remarks to suit the occasion, and called the different members on the program, with promptness. Miss Myrtle Weeks was organist and she did the meeting real good service. The addresses were read by them were pointed and forestal. Rev. E. S. Weeks, G.W.P. treated the liquor problem from two standpoints—the Economic and the Moral. Rev. Mr. Bell thought if a man's heart was right in the sight of God, that was all that was needed. Mr. Rackham in a few well chosen remarks spoke good words for the local Division. The meeting was pronounced a splendid success, and those present quietly went to their homes—looking to the next anniversary of this flourishing Division with over 130 members. ## COLONIAL STOCK CO. CONCLUDE ENGAGEMENT

Last night the Colonial Stock Company brought to a close their engagement in this City by producing an intensely interesting drama, "The Woman in the Case." There was a large audience, filling the Opera House, and emphasizing, in a tangible way, the fact that the Company has by no means outgrown its welcome. The performance was most successful—the situations affording opportunity for very effective work by the star which Miss Warren used to advantage. The audience applauded heartily and generously, as the play progressed. Others who were marked for notice were: Frank Oliver, Courtland Hopkins, Manuel Reed and Myra Crowe. In fact all the members of the company did well and their work was additionally, worth the praise because this performance was their first one of "The Woman in the Case." Some members of the Colonial Stock Company have entrenched themselves strongly in the favor of the play-goers of this City. Their return next spring will be looked forward to with eagerness.

TWO BLACK HAND LEADERS ARRESTED

MONTREAL, Sept. 26—The Black Hand leaders arrested at midnight last night in St. David's Lane, are believed to be the leaders of that organization in this city, and the detectives think that owing to the arrests they can break up the operations of the gang. An Italian shoe shine store proprietor named Senora received a letter on Tuesday demanding $1,000 on the pain of death. It was signed La Mano Nera, "The Blackhand." This letter was handed over to the police, who set a trap and arrested two Italians named Mettign and Castino. Today Mettign admitted that he wrote the letter, giving as an excuse that he wanted the amount to take him back to Italy. He also confessed that he had lived with Rosa and Lungo, two Italians who are now awaiting trial on murder charges. The police are satisfied that they have secured the leaders of the Black Hand gang.

The pearls will be taken to a city jeweler to find out their value.

THE GOULD MILLIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—The Gould separation suit, apart from the side-lights it has thrown on millionaire social customs, has served the useful purpose of disclosing the present size of the Gould fortune. According to the testimony of George Jay Gould, second in command of the Gould family, the fortune has remained undivided and on Jan. 1, 1906, amounted to $90,000,000, the annual income from which is approximately $3,000,000. It compares with the original Vanderbilt fortune of $80,000,000, left by the commodore in 1877 and increased by William H. Vanderbilt to $200,000,000 on his death in 1885. The Gould fortune is interesting by reason of the extent to which it has remained intact in the second generation. It is said that the Goulds are in spite of the inroads of extravagance and while exposed to the attacks of hostile capital. It is perhaps most interesting as the unique example of great wealth in this country accumulated under conditions which in the present state of public opinion with regard to "wollen fortunes" would not be tolerated. It bears the taint of "Black Friday" and the gold corner and is spotted with dark episodes to which the law would no longer serve as a passive instrument. The discreditable "chapter of Erie" is not likely ever to be repeated. It is to be said that the Gould millions under their present control have largely redeemed their old reputation. They are not now employed for predatory ends, but are more and more devoted to the less harmful uses of lavish display and in part to philanthropy. To what extent this altered policy is due to feminine influence need not be discussed.
