CLOSING OF SUMMERSIDE HIGH SCHOOL

The closing of the Summerside High School on Friday morning was of more than ordinary interest. Besides the usual presentation of prizes and merit cards to the pupils, the occasion was marked by the presentation of a gold headed walking cane and address to Mr. Neil McLeod, K. C., who was the first principal of the first Summerside School after the passing of the School Board Act in 1877.

Another interesting feature of the closing was the presentation of a prize for an essay on the work of the League of Nations donated by the Abegweit Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire in memory of a former Regent the late Ada McLeod, beloved wife of Mr. Neil McLeod, K. C., this prize is to be a permanent institution and will be known as the Ada McLeod prize.

Another feature was the presentation of prizes by the Summerside Fire Department on "Fire Prevention." The closing exercises opened at 10 a. m. with the singing of O' Canada by the pupils. The commodious new assembly hall was filled to the doors and seated comfortably all the pupils and many parents and visitors.

Mr. Neil McLeod, K. C., who retired from the School Board this year occupied a seat of honour on the platform. Dr. E. T. Tanton, chairman of the School Board presided. Others on the platform were: Mr. J. Frank Arnett, Dr. J. A. McPhee, Mr. John Smallman, members of the School Board, Senator Creelman McArthur, and his charming little grand-son, Master George Pope, Mayor E. W. Manson, Messrs. John E. Campbell, H. T. Holman, A. S. McKay, Herbert Sharp and C. B. Jelly, Principals.

After the opening chorus, Dr. Tanton addressed the pupils and congratulated them on their success and in a few remarks stressed the importance of education and of the higher branches of learning, which although not apparent to the small pupils were a great asset in after life.

Major Manson expressed his pleasure at being present in this fine new assembly hall, which was very necessary for the scholar. He told the pupils that they must take the full advantages which the new eleventh grade affords them of being able to take up the higher branches of learning with little expense. Competition was so keen and positions difficult to get that only those with a good solid education could hope for success. He closed his remarks by wishing pupils and teachers a happy vacation.

Address to Neil McLeod, K. C., veteran School Master of Summerside read by Senator Creelman McArthur former pupil: On the occasion of your retirement from the Summerside School Board, after twenty-five years of valued service as a member of that Board, your former pupils wish to express to you their feeling of gratitude and appreciation for the guidance which you have given them in meeting many of life's problems.

The memories of our school days under your competent instruction are warmly cherished and we gratefully recollect the many lessons, both theoretical and practical which we have learned from yourself. Your instructions did not end with the very thorough school training which you assisted to provide, but throughout our later life, we have always felt confident that we could look to you for sagacious advice and counsel on many difficult problems of life which arose from time to time.

Your pupils always respected you as their teacher, and they have continued to entertain that same high regard of your later conduct as a citizen, not only in your chosen profession of Law, but also as a student of literature, of science and of philosophy. Your continued pursuit of these higher branches of learning has furnished both to young and old an example that is worthy to be cultivated and followed and serves to impress on us that the pursuit of business is not the only object at which a good citizen should aim.

couragement of your former pupils and other friends, but to the furtherance of public objects, as evidenced by the ample time which you have devoted to your duties as a member of the School Board. And on this the occasion of your retirement from that office your former pupils wish to express in some slight degree their appreciation of the assistance and inspiration which you have given them, and beg that you will accept this small tangible token of their good wishes.

Dated this 30th day of June, A.D. 1933. Signed: Creelman McArthur, Albert C. Saunders, John E. Campbell, J. A. McMurdo, W. Warren Baker, G. P. Walker, A. Sterling McKay, R. C. Holman, H. T. Holman, H. S. Sharp, A. W. McDowell.

Mr. McLeod who was quite overcome by the quite unexpected attention on the part of his old pupils expressed his deep gratitude that they should wish to honour him in this manner and that he would cherish the kindly things they had said, and their recognition of his services.

His old pupils standing before him brought back pleasant memories of his early life as school teacher. He had followed their career with great interest and was pleased that so many had risen to some of the highest positions in Canada. He went on to say that he had always been interested in education and had been well repaid for any time he had spent on it by watching many of his pupils take a prominent part in world affairs. He was proud of this new high school and hoped that it would be a lasting benefit, which there is no doubt that it would.

He was also deeply moved by the splendid memorial to his wife the late Ada McLeod which the I. O. D. E. had so fittingly given. Labour is wholesome for the body and good for the mind.—Wm. Penn. The deafest people are those who have ears and will not hear.
