Here's Hope For Aspiring Authors

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 3.—"Anne of Green Gables," the story that depicted life of Prince Edward Island at the turn of the century and a "best-seller" more than two decades ago, was turned down five times before it was finally accepted by the publishers, Mrs. L. M. Montgomery Macdonald, the author, said in a lecture here.

"Don't be discouraged if your stories aren't accepted," the noted Canadian author told her audience, a large part of it young girls, assembled under the auspices of the Border Council of the Home and School Association, "Anne of Green Gables" was rejected five times," she continued.

"I put the manuscript away in the attic. A couple of years later, while housecleaning, I found it and sat down and read it."

"I found it interesting, so I thought there must be something to it, so I sent it to the Page Company of Boston. They accepted it only because a girl on their staff of readers came from Prince Edward Island, and she bulldozed them into it."

Lucy Maude Montgomery, to use her pen name, suggested that all young people should form the habit of noting in books any experiences and stories they hear from older persons. Such notations, perhaps in later years, would form real material for books if those in possession of them developed a desire to write.

Virtual Autonomy For North China

(A. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) SHANGHAI, Dec. 3.—The Chinese National Government decided to give North China virtual autonomy in a move to prevent encroachment in that area by Japan an authoritative source said tonight.

Administration of the northern provinces will be radically changed. Nothing, it was said, will be done until the Japanese have granted wider governmental powers and sharply curtailed the operation of its new monetary measures in the north Japanese especially had objected to the new financial program.

The opinion was expressed in official Japanese quarters that the proposals have a good chance to succeed. The autonomy movement has not gained too much momentum.

Japanese apparently were divided on the issue. Diplomats and moderate army officers were represented as favoring the plan, but the army officers on the scene as reluctant to give up the plan for absolute autonomy.

Informed circles it was said the far-reaching new program concerning North China's many millions was adopted at a conference between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and other ranking leaders.

Maternal Mortality In Canada

Press summary of address by Dr. W. W. Chipman, Emeritus Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, McGill University, to a meeting under the auspices of the Canadian Welfare Council, Ottawa, Tuesday evening, December 3rd, 1935.

A "Safety first for Mothers" campaign, to bring down the high maternal death rate in this country was advocated by Dr. W. W. Chipman, Emeritus Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology of McGill University, in an address to the Canadian Welfare Council in Ottawa last night.

"It is generally agreed that maternal mortality is a chief interest in the world today," he declared. "It is important to the world at all, and most of us act as if it were, surely this matter of our entrance is a first consideration, and the price of this entrance is still 'crucial high' surely in this year of grace 1935, the time is ripe to mend the trouble."

"Safety First" is a familiar slogan, a warning against the dangers that everywhere beset us upon the highways, the curbs, and the cross roads of our daily life. We earnestly bespeak a 'safety first' for the mothers who bear us and who will in turn bear our children. It is indeed good business, for it is a vital concern of our national life."

In an average year in Canada 230,000 babies were born to 180,000 mothers, the by-product of the process of our entrance to the world of our fathers and mothers, 23,000 more were more or less permanently disabled, Dr. Chipman said. "The very crown of this sorrow is that a full half of these might have been saved, sepsis, hemorrhage and the toxemia are the deadly enemies within our gates, accounting as they do for seventy per cent of the deaths, and, as he said, we can do better, for it is indeed good business, for it is a vital concern of our national life."

On the evening of Sunday, Nov. 17th, a Thankoffering service under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society and the Mission Band was held in the Presbyterian Wood Islands Church.

The evening was grand and a large congregation was present.

Harrowing Tales Of Morro Castle

(A. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Malcolm Ferguson, waiter on the Morro Castle when she burned off New Jersey with a loss of 124 lives, told a court today how he found a nine-year-old boy, last of a family of six, dying of burns.

"The boy, a Cuban, cried piteously for his mother in Spanish, Ferguson said, and died soon after he was carried to another deck of the flaming liner."

Ferguson said passengers prayed and wept in turns before they leaped into the sea. He himself, he said, succeeded in getting to a deck not yet ablaze and later into a lifeboat.

On trial on negligence charges are William Warns, acting captain; Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott; Henry E. Cabaud, executive vice-president of the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship Company, and the company. Abbott is from Yarmouth, N. S.

Judges Define Meaning of "Bum"

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The definition of the word "bum" was the issue today in hearing on a motion to dismiss a $50,000 slander suit brought against Mayor LaGuardia.

"What is the meaning of 'bum'?" asked Supreme Court Justice Philip McCook.

Decidedly not slanderous, said counsel for Mayor LaGuardia, who was charged by Charles Shankroff, real estate broker, with addressing him as "you bum," before the board of estimate.

"I've heard good friends call each other 'bum,'" continued the Mayor's counsel.

"No, no," protested Shankroff's counsel. "The word 'bum' involves moral turpitude. It signifies a person of low respect, a scoundrel."

The court reserved decision.

Bride's School Is Latest Idea

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(C.P.)—The society's dancing daughters are flocking to the Brides' School to learn the intricacies of housekeeping—in case they marry.

The school, sponsored by society women's charges, tuition free, has five stories contain rooms designed to be typical of those in which the modern young miss will live as bride and matron. Its purpose is to instruct prospective brides to run their households efficiently and economically.

The direction of servants is an important part of the curriculum. Meals, formal and informal, are served from their own—so the graduates—into the kitchen, thence through the mysteries of cookery to the table. Real silver is used. The rugs are genuine.

Cocktails—as a world, that's it—said Mrs. Richard Boardman, president of Scientific Housekeeping, Inc., of which the Brides' School is an offshoot. "It gives a wrong impression."

Scientific housekeeping, in existence 10 years, was launched by a group of society women for the purpose of training servants. After 10 years, Mrs. Boardman said, it was found that the servant level had been raised, but that the inexperienced housekeeper was still a barrier to an efficiently run home. The Brides' School was the result.

The school schews words like

Yin-Ju King Flies From Angry Horde

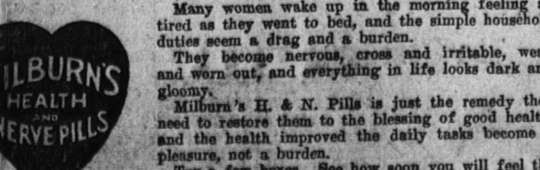

SHANGHAI, Dec. 3.—Reports reaching here today said Yin Ju-Keng, who set up an autonomous state in East Hopeh Province nine days ago, had been forced to flee his home in disguise when it was surrounded by clamoring citizens, demanding his arrest.

North China tension eased with northern leaders conferring at Paoing to see a satisfactory formula for political readjustment. An authoritative source said the central Chinese government had decided to give North China virtual autonomy to forestall Japanese encroachment.

Autonomy agitation, however, continued in the area. Chinese press reports said Japanese outposts were travelling over the countryside inciting the populace, which hitherto had received them "friendly."

"domestic" substituting "worker." A chambermaid is now a "worker on daily care."

Weak, Tired, Nervous Women Nourished Back to Health

Many women wake up in the morning feeling as tired as they went to bed, and the simple household duties seem a drag and a burden. They become nervous, cross and irritable, weak and worn out, and everything in life looks dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Health Nerve Pills is just the remedy they need to restore them to the blessing of good health, and the health improved the daily tasks become a pleasure, not a burden.

Try a few boxes. See how soon you will feel the beneficial effect.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—(C.P.)—Sweetstakes on the November Handicap, run at Manchester, England, brought a total of $17,700 to three Massachusetts women when Free Fare won, Thrapston ran second, Jeumont came third, and Bacchus fourth.

"Mother's been buying those tickets for years. It's the first time she ever won anything," said a son, and spokesman for the family. "Everybody in the family had a book of seven tickets."

WORE OLD GARB OF QUAKER DAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(C.P.)—The 150th anniversary of Friends Seminary, one of the oldest schools in New York, was signaled at its opening of the 47th annual fair, held at the school.

Quaker costumes of earlier times, worn by the girl students of the school, featured the opening. Henry L. Messner, principal, said that the collection was the most varied and largest worn on one occasion for many years. The costumes came from several museums in the city and state as well as from the private collections of friends of the school.

The costumes were between 100 and 200 years old, he said, and extremely valuable.

The Friends in New York have long been leaders in the educational field.
