Australia Approves Recent Naval Action

MELBOURNE, July 7.—(AP)—Australia's reaction to the seizure by Britain of a part of the French fleet was summed up today in the words of Attorney-General W. M. Hughes, a former premier, who said that "it is a thing calling for no apologies and no explanations; it both explains and justifies itself." The Sydney Morning Herald said the Empire is torn between sorrow and relief by what was in one sense a malignant triumph for Hitler in setting his most powerful enemies into opposition. The Herald called this an act of rearmament by British friends of France, particularly to Prime Minister Churchill who was her staunchest champion. Had France wished, said the Herald, she had a precedent for sinking the fleet in the German port at Scapa Flow at the conclusion of the first great war. The Melbourne Age said that the contrast between desire and duty could scarcely have been presented so clearly. The paper added that it has been relieved by Britain seizing part of the French fleet, the paper said, adding that there is neither occasion nor desire for rearmament against France, said the Herald. The paper added that it was to be hoped that France and Britain may forget their bitterness in their coming years of friendship. A government without freedom, independence or constant authority, said the Melbourne Herald, cannot be recognized as representing the will of the French people. Conduct of the French government indicated inexcusable hostility and forced submission. The paper said that France's cause, to which Britain was pledged, is unrepresented by the present government which has gone to the side of the enemy and therefore Britain must sustain this cause.

U. S. Taxes May Be Boosted To Pay Defence

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—A new $1,000,000,000 annual increase in tax may be proposed, it was reported today as companion legislation to the projected $5,000,000,000 boost in United States national defence outlays. President Roosevelt is expected to issue a special message to Congress by the middle of the week asking for $4,000,000,000 in appropriations and contract authorizations for the army and $1,000,000,000 for the navy. Senator Walter George, a member of the senate finance committee, said it was his understanding that this huge new defence request would be linked with a tax increase of $1,000,000,000. George said he thought a maximum of $350,000,000 additional could be raised by excess profits taxes on corporations, which the President already has suggested to Congress. The remaining $650,000,000, he predicted, would have to be obtained from individuals and through miscellaneous sources. Although this will be a short work week—the plan is to recess Thursday until after next week's Democratic convention—Congressional leaders hope to complete action on two cabinet appointments and the $4,000,000,000 naval expansion bill.

U. S. Destroyer Torpedoing Was Hoax

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—A hoax, according to U.S. officials, was the reported torpedoing of the United States destroyer Barry by a German submarine and was sinking, caused the government an anxious two hours today, before it determined that the message was a hoax. Picked up in the first place by Mackay radio, the U.S.S. Barry, "Sinking slowly, hit by German submarine; water in hold; can last three hours." The position given was 400 miles off the coast of Spain. The navy, whose own communications system had not picked up the message, checked it and then reported: "The navy has received a communication from the Barry, and she is at anchor. She is peacefully at anchor." All that remained of the incident was speculation as to its origin. Mackay radio reports that more sinister forces were behind it, and whether an investigation might be undertaken. "Doubt was cast upon the authenticity of the U. S. O. S. from the fact that it came in, not from Barry's own wave length, but upon a frequency reserved for trans-Atlantic Clipper planes. Mackay attempted to verify the report through the United States liner Manhattan, due to reach Lisbon tomorrow. Word came back from the liner that it had been in communication with the U. S. S. Trenton, also in those waters and that the latter knew nothing of the report. "Mackay was trying to reach the Barry directly, the navy's own wireless system succeeded in that purpose, with its denial of the report.

Britain Gets Tough Over Invasion Plans

LONDON, July 7.—(CP Cable)—Britain has finally started to get tough about German plans to invade this country. The initiative seized when French warships at Oran were destroyed to prevent Hitler and Mussolini from using them as a base for further damage on the German and Italian war machine scattered over a vast area from Narvik in Norway to Bismarck in East Africa. Whether Hitler will attempt the invasion either now or at some future date, is a matter of pure guesswork, but there are military observers in this country who believe it may not come immediately. They base their view on the possibility Hitler will decide he first must do something about the Mediterranean now that he has lost the bulk of the French fleet.

May Attack Egypt

Hitler, they suggest, may decide to move against Egypt and Gibraltar, in an attempt to control both entrances to the Mediterranean Sea which he never will be able to control by naval strength backed up by his air force as long as the British fleet holds its superiority over the Italian forces. If he postpones his major military offensive against Britain, Hitler probably will attempt to raise in an attempt to disrupt industry and spread civil disturbance. But whether Hitler will attempt to invade this country or not, Britain is doing everything safe, pushing ahead with defensive plans and taking the offensive against Germany by sea and air.

Mounties And Skyscrapers Is Ambition

MONTREAL, July 7.—(CP)—Master Christopher Wilson, 13-year-old British evacuee from Oxford, won't be happy until he's seen at least a troop of Mounties and a block of skyscrapers. Like the scores of other English children who arrived here today on their way to temporary North American homes, Christopher thinks of Canada and the United States in terms of red-coated R.C.M.P. or towering buildings. Standing on the dock while luggage was being checked, the friendly school boy, a mighty sturdiness perched squarely on his head, explained he was going to Northampton, Mass., with his sister Elizabeth Joanna, 14, and two younger brothers, John, Richard, nine, and Robert Julian, seven. The four children, were invited to Northampton by H. J. Davis, president of Smith College, and an acquaintance of their father, Professor F. P. Wilson of Bedford College in England. Because of the prospect of seeing Royal Canadian Mounted Police and great buildings, and the adventure of the trip overseas, Christopher said his sorrow over leaving parents was somewhat reduced. Altogether his feelings were "half-and-half."

Monroe Plan Seen Useful For Dividing Spoil

By Douglas B. Cornell Associated Press Staff Writer HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt suggests that Europe and Asia apply the principles of the Monroe Doctrine as a means of reaching agreement on the disposition of possessions of conquered nations. He took the position Saturday that European, Asiatic and American nations should get together in their respective spheres and settle problems involving territorial possessions among themselves, instead of allowing a conquering power to make the decisions. The President relayed his views to reporters through his Secretary, Stephen Early, following a 30-minute talk with State Secretary Cordell Hull Friday night on the implications of the exchange of notes, involving the interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine, between Germany and the United States. Backing up Hull's pronouncement that the United States would continue to enforce the doctrine, Mr. Roosevelt let it be known through Early that should Germany or the Netherlands possess the United States would make no effort to take them over. Rather, all the American nations would be asked to decide whether they should be placed under a mandate or held in trust in some manner until they could be returned to their present owners. The President said he thought European and Asiatic nations should make similar joint arrangements.

British Place Fresh Orders In Canada

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—The British government is placing further large orders for the manufacture of munitions in Canada. It was announced simultaneously Saturday by Munitions Minister Howes here and by the Ministry of Supply in London. Type of the orders to be placed in Canada, or the quantities to be purchased and their cost were not indicated in Mr. Howes' brief announcement. It was understood however the announcement covered important orders and developments of substantial nature. The orders which are to be placed immediately, will expand materially the already extensive British munition program in Canada. To date, Great Britain has assumed the principal cost of plant construction on behalf of some 35 Canadian companies. The program presently underway involves commitments in excess of $50,000,000 and includes several explosives plants together with many plants producing ammunition and a variety of weapons.

Transport Planes Make Good Bombers

AT A BRITISH AIRFIELD, July 7.—(AP)—Ordinary transport planes with the seats taken out and bomb racks and gun turrets put in have become a source of satisfaction to fliers of the Royal Air Force. Young pilots who showed reports around this airfield and took them on a short over-water demonstration flight, call their stubby, twin-motored, California-made Lockheed "Wizards" because: 1. Although they started out primarily as scouting planes, they were found good enough for fighting and bombing, and have shot down more German planes than any other British type except the Spitfire and Hurricane fighters. 2. No German Messerschmitt has been able to shoot one down. 3. They have been driven at more than 400 miles an hour. 4. They are so sturdy that one came back from Germany with a broken wing which was enough for a mastiff to jump through. Flying out over the coast as the eyes of Britain for convoy protection, they look almost like any airliner carrying passengers and mail.

QUEBEC, July 7.—(CP)—The third group of British evacuees to arrive here this week—including youthful relatives of Sir John Simon and Anthony Eden—reached Quebec Saturday on their way to new temporary homes far from the menace of Nazi bombers. Fourteen-year-old John Eden and his three sisters, Ann, 16, Rose, 13, and Amelia, 7—nephew and niece of the popular War Secretary—reported they and their three young cousins will attend a school to be established at Vernon, B. C., by their mother. Jimmy Stockley, 13, and his sisters, 10-year-old Roseanne and 9-year-old Priscilla, grinned in agreement as they listened to their cousin John describe his distinguished uncles as "very popular indeed."

Angela will stay with relatives at Lancaster, Pa., while the other two girls will visit relatives in Toronto. Young Eden said he was "not very sorry to leave England, because this is quite an adventure, you know."

She said five extra stewardesses had made the trip to help care for the children traveling alone and for others who came as young as four months old. Most of the children had never been in Canada before and among those who were all but one of the young relatives of Sir John. One of the Eden girls previously made the trip.
