Rheumatism

Rheumatism has become so common nowadays that hundreds of people make no effort to rid themselves of its fatal grip, believing it to be incurable save in exceptional cases.

No greater fallacy exists. Sufferers from rheumatism can be relieved if the cause is remedied and removed. Let us examine the facts. The direct cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is poisoning of the blood stream, through failure of the kidneys to filter and remove the impurities that are constantly collecting in the system.

Once the kidneys are out of order, the trouble starts. The poison-laden blood circulating through the system deposits its impurities in the muscles and joints, setting up infection; and Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, etc., follow.

The first step necessary is to bring the kidneys to perform their natural function once again, and relief will be the immediate result. Gin Pills will do it, and will save weeks of fearful suffering if taken at the first indications of rheumatism.

Gin Pills have been recognized as an assured relief to sufferers from rheumatism, backache, painful urination, brick dust deposits, and gravel. Thousands of testimonials bear witness to the fact that they relieve kidney or bladder troubles instantly. Try them. For sale everywhere at 50c a box. Gin Pills cost little, but are worth a lot. Sample free on request.

Autoists

A word to the wise is sufficient. Do not have your cars overhauled by inexperienced parties. You will find it much cheaper to have them repaired and placed in perfect running order by our experts.

REMEMBER what the wear and tear of your car will cost by being imperfectly overhauled. The services of experts are most essential. We have them. Every car repaired at our establishment is under the most complete supervision.

The work done by us will be most satisfactory to the owner as well as a pleasure to ourselves. We supply the extras for any car.

THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS

BARBARA ANGERS NEIL BY CALLING HIM AT BLANCHE ORTON'S

CHAPTER LXXXVI

The clock had struck the half hour before I left the house. I did not care to wait in the station at that hour. Someone might see me and wonder why Neil was not with me. I hated to have anyone pity me because of his shortcomings.

Twelve o'clock came, and the train had not come in. I had waited some distance back of the crowd, hoping by doing so to be unobserved. Then I heard a murmur of horror, and pressed forward.

"An accident!" I heard a man say. "The train ran into a freight."

"What is it please?" I asked the man who had spoken. "I have a relative coming on the train. Is anything serious the matter?"

"They don't know yet Miss, but if you wait here I will find out." The kindly man moved away, and I again stood a little apart from the crowd.

"It is quite bad Miss," his voice started me. I had not expected him back so soon. "Some of the people are badly hurt."

"Do you know if they are bringing them here?" "Yes—it is the nearest place where they can get attention. The right kind of attention."

"How long before they can be expected?" I asked, my heart contracting as I thought that perhaps gentle, kind Mrs. Carter, whom I had always known might be among the injured or killed.

"No one knows ma'am." If there is anything I can do for you—I am afraid my sister is on that train, although I am not sure. I shall wait and see however, so don't be afraid to ask me anything."

I didn't know what to do. It was only I knew where Neil was. He was terrible to wait here indefinitely alone. I thought of Mr. Frederick, if only he were with me. I went into the booth and called his hotel.

"No. Mr. Frederick doesn't answer." I left no message, and returned to my place of waiting.

"Is there any further news?" I asked the man who so kindly had offered to do what he could for me. "No, Miss. I am afraid it will be a long wait. You see they had to send a wrecking train first. You better go inside and sit down. I will come and call you if there is any news."

I thanked him, but remained where I was. To sit quiet would be impossible and also intolerable. It was now one o'clock. I had left no word for Neil, supposing I should be back directly. I called the house. It was some time before Ada answered. She had been asleep she explained.

"No, Mr. Forbes has not come in." "If he does tell him to come at once to the station. The train upon which his aunt was to come has met with an accident. She may be injured. And Ada, you better sit up. We may need you."

I waited until two o'clock. If you know what it means to wait in a Railroad Station until two o'clock in the morning, wait for someone who may have been injured—perhaps killed, you will realize something of my distress. I really could remain inactive no longer. I called Blanche Orton's house.

"May I speak to Mrs. Orton?" I asked. "This is Mrs. Orton. What is it?" Suddenly it came to me that I would let her know who I was. I had not intended to say who was talking unless Neil came to the telephone. But I would show her that I knew of his visits.

"Is Mr. Forbes there? I should like to speak with him. The train upon which his aunt was to arrive has met with an accident." I waited an appreciable time before she answered.

"No, Mr. Forbes is not here." There was something in her voice, the hesitating manner in which she spoke which made me ask:

"How long ago did he leave?" "About thirty minutes."

"Thank you, he is probably on his way to the station by this time." I hung up the receiver trembling. I had received the information I wanted.

I returned to my place with the rest of the watchers just as Neil dashed up.

"I just got home, Bab! hurried right up here. Have they heard anything?"

"No—I knew you only just got home" Blanche Orton told me you had left only half an hour ago."

"The devil she did—what business had you calling her. I won't have you meddling with me, and my business, and the sooner you understand it the better!" He stalked over to one of the officials leaving me standing alone, the man who so kindly had helped me eyeing me with obvious pity. He had heard what Neil had said.

Fagged Out Women Vinol is What You Need

If all the tired, overworked, run-down women in this community could realize how our delicious Vinol, which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycerophosphates supplies the vital elements necessary to enrich the blood and create working strength, we wouldn't be able to supply the demand.

Dukedom, Tenn. "I live on a farm and keep house for six in my family. I got into a nervous, run-down condition so it seemed as though I would die. A friend advised me to try Vinol. I have been greatly improved by its use and am better and stronger in every way."—Mrs. H. H. Goodwin. Burdett, N. Y. "I keep house for my family of three, and raise chickens. I had a nervous breakdown, so I was unable to work. The doctor did not seem to help me, and a cousin asked me to try Vinol. It built me up—I now have a good appetite and am well and strong."—Mrs. Loyal Palmer. For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like Vinol.

Home in Halifax roofed with Brantford Asphalt Slates

A handsome roof that defies the weather

An added touch of beauty to any house is a roof of Brantford Asphalt Slates, which are in soft, harmonious shades of reddish brown and dark green. The colors are permanent and fadeless, being the natural shades of the slate just as it is taken out of the quarries.

It will also prove a very economical roof, because Brantford Asphalt Slates do not split, get loose, absorb water or rot. They are strongly fire-resistant and are classified as non-combustible by the fire insurance companies, and allowed to be used in cities where the most rigid fire-prevention By-laws are in force.

Brantford Asphalt Slates are very moderate in cost. The regular size of the slates and their pliability make them easily and quickly laid, thus saving time and cost of labor. Being made of high grade felt saturated and coated with asphalt, and with a surface of crushed slate, they make a roof that defies the elements and is a permanent part of the building, just like the walls and the foundation.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are being used more extensively every year for city, country and summer homes, churches, golf clubs, stores, garages, and wherever an artistic effect is desired on a pitch roof.

If you are going to do any building this year or have an old roof that needs replacing, it will be to your advantage to investigate Brantford Asphalt Slates.
