ABSENT MINDED CAR OWNER PAYS PRICE

MAGRATH, Alta., Jan. 16—Absent mindedness costs money according to a certain resident of this town who feels slightly put out over the action of a certain garage owner in Lethbridge. The Magrath man went to Lethbridge in his automobile on a business trip. He placed his car in a garage. His business completed he sought the car but had forgotten where he parked it. Police were notified but a city wide search failed to reveal the car's whereabouts. When a bill for storage arrived two weeks later, however, he suddenly remembered where his car was.

DOING NICELY—It is pleasing to report that Mrs. Leard's young daughter, Miss Norma, whose hands were badly burned when she fell on the furnace register at her home on Eustace street, Summerside, is recovering.—S.

FIRE AT O'LEARY RINK—The splendid new rink at O'Leary was damaged by fire on Thursday, the waiting room being badly burned. The damage amounted to about $100. The rink is built of zinc or the blaze might have been more destructive.—S.

SEWING CIRCLE MEETS—The Ladies' Social Club of Trinity United Church met at the lovely new home of Mrs. Arthur Bell, on Granville Street, Summerside, for their first evening's sewing on Friday last. Mrs. Bell is Vice-president of the Club. A delicious lunch was served at the conclusion of the sewing activities.—S.

BOYS GIVEN A WARNING—Provincial Police Officer Ryan was called out to Wellington on Friday to investigate some petty thieving that had been going on at the rink. One boy confessed to taking tickets. The officer gave him and other small boys a good talking and allowed them to go, warning them that if it happened again they would be taken to Court.—S.

DEATH OF MRS. THOMAS RICHARDS—There passed away on Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Gallant, of Summerside, Mrs. Thomas Richards, at the age of 75 years. The bridge prizes were won by Mrs. William Sullivan and Mr. Fidele Perry. Mr. Ralph Gaudet won the lucky cake number. The lucky number was 8. The proceeds were in aid of the convent.—S.

BURLESQUE HOCKEY—The Crystals will have to go some if they are to beat the fast skating that was displayed by both teams on the Crystal Pool at the Crystal Rink on Friday night. The ice was floating under several inches of water, but that did not deter the Crystal Sisters and the Giddy U-Nites from strutting their stuff. It was clearly a battle of the sexes and goals were made and lost in quick repetition. The girls looked very nifty in their neat black and white uniforms. The Giddy U-Nites in borrowed regalia, from old straw hats, decorated with red herring and "What Nots," down to silk peach bloomers, were a picturesque bunch of males. A certain member of the "Upper House" probably had visions of greater glory when he came on the ice looking like the Sultan of Turkey with a bright red wig for headgear, but even in Turkey women are becoming emancipated and he failed to score. After a hard fought battle the maies fell beneath the superior stick handling and goal tending of the superior sex, the game ending 7-5 in favor of the Crystal Sisters. The losers entertained the girls to a supper and dance at the Capitol Grill. There was a good attendance and the spectators got as much fun out of the show as did the players. Lineup:—Goal, Tessie McNeill; Defence, Ella Gay, Helen Leard; Forwards, Pat McLellan, Irene Linkletter, Ann Green; Subs, Marie Gaudet, Irene Silliphant, Margaret Gallant. Goal, E. P. Foley; Defence, Dr. Simpson, Ernest Harris; Forwards, Sen. MacArthur, Roy Holman and Carl Crockett; Subs, Dr. MacMurdo, Dr. Noonan and Frank Arnett. Referee—Mrs. L. G. Lewis. Mr. W. E. Smallman and Dr. W. B. Watt.—S.

Miss Effie Jeffrey, of Linkletter, left on Saturday morning for New York on a visit to her relatives there.—S.

Friends will regret to hear of the continued illness of Mrs. Duff, who is a guest at the Mawley House, Summerside.—S.

Mrs. William Campbell, of Alberton, was brought to the Prince County Hospital, on Friday morning by Dr. Champlon and operated on for appendicitis. She is making satisfactory progress.—S.

Friends will be glad to hear that Miss Margaret MacNeill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacNeill, of Summerside, is progressing favourably, after her very serious operation on Tuesday last in the Prince County Hospital.—S.

Quebec Women Are Optimistic

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 16—Gratification over the victory won at Quebec by the passage of the Montreal bill clause to give the municipal vote to married women with certain property qualifications was mingled, on the part of feminist leaders here, with an Oliver Twist attitude, in that they hoped for "more" and saw in this measure reason to be optimistic and concerning the outcome of the feminist movement as a whole.

Hope that this is the beginning of "a nice landside," was expressed by Mrs. Pierre F. Casgrain, President of the League for Women's Rights. "We found a great change in opinion at Quebec," reported Miss Idola Saint Jean, President of the Canadian Alliance for Women's vote in Quebec.

The feminists were no sooner here than they were making plans to return to Quebec, where a much greater measure, that aiming at giving the vote in provincial elections, is to come up for second reading shortly. They are feeling much encouraged about their bill, it was stated.

Mrs. Casgrain hoped that the extension of the vote to certain women in Montreal, indicated the beginning of a larger movement.

Wants Eight Flying Deck Cruisers

(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16—Wars of the future were pictured before the House of Representatives Naval Committee today in a plea for more aircraft carriers.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, head of the navy's aeronautics bureau, requested ships to carry 800 more aeroplanes and asked this question:

"If the submarine, with a sub-surface speed of only twelve knots and carrying only a few hundreds of pounds of explosives, with a range of only a few hundred yards, nearly won the last war what will a vehicle having a speed of 200 knots and carrying torpedoes and bombs having 2,000 to 4,000 pounds of explosives do?"

"The importance of aviation can not be over emphasized," he said. "An adequate naval air force, based on carriers and flying deck cruisers, is the best protection against aircraft attack on the shores of the continental United States and our outlying possessions."

Moffett endorsed the pending $616,250,000 Vinson construction bill, but suggested it be changed to require the building of eight instead of one of the newest type ships, not yet tried out by any power—fast cruisers armed with six inch guns and carrying 2R aeroplanes each.

"By building eight flying deck cruisers instead of eight ordinary six inch gun cruisers, we lose twenty four 6-inch guns and gain 160 aeroplanes in the fleet (more than carried by the Lexington and Saratoga) plus eight mobile landing fields," he testified.

He estimated 800 more planes would be needed for the eight flying deck cruisers and the aircraft carriers the navy could build under treaty limits.

Prominent Mining Man's Sudden Death

(Canadian Press)

GLACE BAY, N. S., Jan. 16—John S. Whyte, former mechanical superintendent of the Dominion Coal Company and one of the best known mining officials in Nova Scotia, died here last night after an emergency operation in the General hospital. He was 61 years of age.

A graduate of McGill University, he came to the Dominion Coal Company about thirty years ago. Later he was associated with D. H. McDougall at the Acadia mine in St. Lawrence, N. S., and after that he went to Florida at the time of the real estate boom. While in Florida he was active in real estate and construction business. He returned to Cape Breton and was an official at the New Campbellton mine before rejoining the Dominion Coal Company here.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

On the evening of December 4, 1931, the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Halliwell, Stancho, was the scene of a pleasant event. The occasion was the anniversary of the 83rd birthday of Mrs. Halliwell's mother, Mrs. Annie MacDonald, Springton. Those present were the members of the family circle, residing in the Province, including their families; all were very pleased to have Rev. R. H. Staver, and his presence added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

An excellent supper was prepared, and after all had partaken of it, the nicely decorated birthday cake, with its eighty-three candles, was lighted. Its brilliancy will long be remembered by the children, and after each one had received a share of the cake, Mr. W. P. Cameron, who acceptably presided, called the grandchildren, numbering twenty-two, to stand around their grandmother, while one of them, Mr. E. S. MacDonald, teacher of Bradalbane Village School, read the following address:

Our dearest friend on earth—Mother:

This evening shall surely be an indelible spot in our memories, as it marks a warm place in our hearts, for one so long loved by your dear children, and children's children. If we cast a retrospective glance over even a part of your eighty-three years of a well-spent life, a life of toil and sacrifice, incident to the times and conditions in Prince Edward Island, when you were a little tot of a girl, we can scarcely see it even in our minds eye.

Yet, your courage, your hope, your faith in the future, your charity, must have been heroic, uplifting, inspiring, when we look at your dear sweet face, and view with a sense of love and satisfaction, the bright outlook for several years of health and happiness.

If we, dear mother, were very often a cause of sorrow or worry to you, ever deepened the furrows on your dear countenance, ever added silver to your hair, or sent a dart of pain to your heart, this evening, when we assemble here to brighten your 83rd birthday, we one and all like the bad little boy, when found out in the wrong, pledge ourselves that we will try to brighten your declining days, and make the evening of your life of toil, and solitude for your beloved children, free from care, filled with love, kindness and service, on the part of us, who owe our lives, our education and our success, largely to you.

Now, dear mother, as we do not wish to embarrass your kindly nature, with a long list of the acts, and motives of kindness, and indulgence showered on us all through our lives, when under your maternal roof, often when we deserved the "birchen rod," let us conclude, by breathing the prayer, that God may prolong your days of happiness and health in this world, and when your earthly sun sets, may you awaken in Heaven, to enjoy forever the presence of Him, who gave you our life.

And may the gift we present you tonight, be an aid to increase your comfort and health, and help prolong your life in this world.

"Our best love we are bringing And a wish from heaven above, To bless with joy unending The mother that we love." In reply, Mrs. MacDonald thanked them for their nicely worded address, and for the many kind expressions it contained, also for the valuable gift, which would certainly supply a comfort in her home.

It might be mentioned that in addition to the twenty-two grandchildren, residing here, are ten abroad, children of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. MacDonald, Victoria, B. C., and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. MacDonald, Eekville, Alberta, who, owing to distant miles away were unable to be present.

The remainder of the evening was enjoyably spent in music, song and games, and before the company took their departure, three cheers were given for the aged grand mother, still wonderfully bright, hale and hearty for her years.

Negro To Be Deported Again

(Canadian Press)

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 16—Cecil James Scott, 29-year-old negro who has been dubbed "the man without a country," will be turned over to the immigration authorities upon arrival of the freighter Brossard from Saint John this morning.

H. M. Grant, immigration officer here, said last night little had been learned about the man since he was deported from Halifax about a month ago and he would have to be held under guard until his nationality is established.

When Scott was deported he had a Bermudian passport, but now it appears the passport was obtained illegally. The Brossard carried him to Bermuda but authorities there refused him admission on the grounds that he was not a citizen of that island. So, chained to a grating to prevent escape and consequent liability of the steamer to a $1,000 fine, he arrived at Saint John, N. B., where immigration authorities also refused him permission to land.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. GEORGE McDONALD

A tribute by a member of the executive of the P. E. I. Women's Institute, copied from the Institute News.

The passing of Mrs. George McDonald, Cornwall, on November 11th came as a distinct shock to the members of the Women's Institutes throughout the Province.

Mrs. McDonald was an outstanding Institute worker since the Association was initiated in 1905, the Cornwall-York Branch, of which she was the first president, being among the first established on the Island. Since that time until her death she was an energetic worker and was almost continuously on the provincial executive, where her wise counsel and constructive ideas were much appreciated. She represented the provincial organization on the Federated Board on two occasions, attending conventions held at Edmonton and Wolfville. At the latter meeting she was made vice-president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada.

In every good cause that has been espoused by Women's Institutes in the province, the progressive and constructive ideas of Mrs. McDonald have been represented. The establishment of the Provincial Sanatorium is due in no small measure to her suggestions and promotion, and in the successful working out of campaign details she played a prominent part. Up to the time of her death she was an active member of the executive, intensely interested in the fine work of the organization which she so dearly loved.

In all her associations with her fellow workers she exemplified the Institute Creed. She was always "large in thought, in order and deed," generous in her judgment and never forgot to be kind.

Mrs. McDonald was endowed by nature with many rare gifts. She was equipped with more than ordinary mental brilliance and was a fine conversationalist. To know her was to love her. One could not resist that fine personality, that kindness and appealing friendliness that she seemed to radiate round about her. Her demise at the age of sixty-four years has removed from a sphere in which her usefulness was still at its zenith, a character of sterling value.

In the home, church, community and province she has exemplified a life of fine devotion and service, the fragrance and influence of which shall remain down through the years, and provide inspiration for others to take up their duties with refreshed vigor and zeal.

"A man should always learn his station in life," said the pompous gentleman in the carriage. "So he should!" agreed his fellow passenger. "There's nothing so annoying as being carried on to the next one and having to take the train back!"

A hearty vote of thanks was also tendered the genial host and hostess, for the jolly time in their cheery and spacious home.

After singing "God be with you till we meet again," all dispersed to their respective homes.
