rolling for the remainder of the year.

From a general observation of the situation in Canada today Mr. Partridge is of the opinion that business is not fundamentally unsound, and that it is just waiting to start up again. The present depression, he believes, is as much psychological as actual. "I cannot find anybody, manufacturer or business man, who will admit that it is not a mere phase," he states. "In fact, if there is actual depression in Canada it is purely temporary."

While in the Western provinces conditions have been somewhat worse than usual this year, yet there is a considerable amount of manufacturing going on and a good deal more mixed farming than in other years.

"Another feature that cannot be overlooked," Mr. Partridge continued, "is that while there has been a tremendous amount of money taken from the ordinary unsophisticated speculator there is still a very sound and constantly increasing mining development in Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta, and British Columbia - wherever the great pre-cambrian shield is found. In the wake of that development comes increased business for the supply houses, for the people who furnish the food and clothing and carry on the general business of the country."

"The best proof of that situation is the development of Toronto at the present time. The number of large new buildings that have been put up and are fully occupied. In other words, mining is on a sound basis and is furthering development; and the day when the promoter can take the money away from the ignorant investor is disappearing."

Mr. Partridge reports that throughout Eastern Canada crop prospects are fair and in many cases above the average.

The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association of which Mr. Partridge is manager is a co-operative organization of which ninety-five of the daily newspapers of Canada are members. It functions for the general benefit of newspapers and all who deal with them in a business way, and has proven to be of much value in its particular field.

Mr. Partridge who left Saturday on the S. S. Hochelaga for Sydney, N. S., will make a general tour of the Maritimes before returning to Toronto. He plans to be in Halifax by the middle of August to participate in the reunion of Kings College alumni.

even there, because it is larger and on the Pacific, the salty tang of the sea does not penetrate to its utmost parts. He was aware also that the Island stands for the greatest things in life; its people are noted for their great moral and christian principles; no hanging has occurred in this Province for forty years; the Province has contributed amazingly to the brains of Canada.

Mr. Knowles was greatly impressed with the intellectual power of the average Islander and met many in the highest positions who claim the Island as their native province, especially ministers and more especially Presbyterian ministers.

One thing Mr. Knowles noticed was that a visitor can not say anything complimentary, that Islanders do not believe themselves.

The roads, he declared are "atrocious," a veritable terror to all tourists. "Our lack of development"

In this respect, Mr. Knowles attributed to a "Farmer Government being in power!"

Sees Mr. King in Philosophic Mood

Mr. Knowles was with the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King on the night of the election, in Mr. King's private office Eastern Block, Ottawa, between the hours of 7:30 p. m. and 2:30 a. m. When the returns showed a Conservative victory "Mr. King was very calm so that when a party drove up outside in a car and shouted, hurrah for Billie King!" he turned to Mr. Knowles and said "Well, I have one supporter anyway! There were three things which Mr. King lamented, the loss of the two Oxforde, although one has since been conceded to the Liberals; the amazing turnover in Quebec, and lastly he said, "I cannot understand what happened to Prince Edward Island." Mr. King attributes his defeat to the New Zealand, but 'er question. In the midst of his despondency Mr. King summed up one of his secretaries and sent him all the way to Laurier House for his little dog, Pat.

Mr. Knowles opinion on the political situation was in line with the orthodox Liberal viewpoint. He believed the policy of Mr. Bennett carried great weight especially in Quebec. Mr. Bennett's Old Age Pensions policy and the general adverse business conditions also had much to do with the defeat of the Liberal party. Mr. Knowles thinks that Mr. Bennett will have a difficult time in implementing his election promises.

In Prince Edward Island, he admitted, Mr. King should not have forced his choice upon the people.

Mr. Knowles was well acquainted with the late Sir Louis Davies and found him a sincere friend as well as a great statesman.

Asked as to the personality that had most impressed him in his interviews Mr. Knowles mentioned Lloyd George for his full orb'd genius; Sir Austen Chamberlain for his keenness of intellect, and fine expression; and Charles E. Hughes, Justice of the Supreme Court of the U. S. A."

In the opinion of Mr. Knowles, New Brunswick deserves credit for having produced the greatest lyric singer of Canada, the late Bliss Carman, and also the only Canadian who ever became Prime Minister of Great Britain, Bonar Law.

Mr. Knowles is accompanied on his present visit by his wife and is combining business with pleasure, as he intends to interview some of our public men before returning to the mainland.

ST. JAMES AND ZION CHURCHES Yesterday morning Mr. Thos. C. James delivered a thoughtful and very practical address on "Man's True Food." "Man shall not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Mr. James has been visiting friends in the city and we understand, will leave soon for his home in N. B. The good wishes of our churches will follow him.

In the evening Dr. Fulton preached from Paul's Epistle to the Philippians, "I am in a strait betwixt two." There was a good attendance at both services today, and the congregational singing was very hearty. In the morning, Mr. James selected "O Master, let me walk with Thee," as it embodied the thoughts of the sermon.

"There is a green hill far away" was sung in Zion. Solo - "I Come To Thee," - Miss Margaret Stierns. Anthem - "Take Up Thy Cross" - Evening - Tenor Solo If With All Your Heart" - Mr. A. R. Mosher. Duet - "I Need Thee Every Hour" - Mrs J. A. Lawson and Mr. C. J. Gallagher.

To get Britain out of the slough of despond the association urges need for: First, strict economy in national expenditure; second, reduction in transport and dock charges; third, a truce from all legislation imposing new regulations adding to the cost of production; fourth, encouragement to young people willing to emigrate within the Empire by payment of a bonus; and fifth, the abolition of such trade union restrictions as increase the cost of production.

The association generally held the shortest cut to better employment is the extension of protective tariffs and adjustment of wages in certain highly organized units.

Statistics showing how Britain's share of world trade has fallen from 13.9 per cent. in 1913 to 10.9 in 1928 says the association, does not reflect the seriousness of the position "Many industries have been working at a loss to maintain trade," it says, "and as reserves of the companies in these industries become exhausted and their financial position difficult there is danger of closing down."
