William Powell In "Rendezvous" At Prince Edward

Spies will be with us so long as nations hold any jealousies toward each other. Therefore, spy dramas are always timely — and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer brings to the screen one of the most gripping stories based on this subject in William Powell's next starring film, Rendezvous," which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre.

A Gripping Plot

"Rendezvous" is the story of America's famous spy-catching bureau during the World War, with the science of the cryptographer playing the principle role.

Powell comes to us this time as an entirely different detective from his roles in the past, and the best he has portrayed so far. As a puzzle editor drafted into the spy-catching business at Washington he finds himself enmeshed in many complicated situations with many notorious enemy agents as well as with the lovely daughter of the Assistant Secretary of War.

Rosalind Russell, rapidly ascending toward stardom, is seen as Joel, the Secretary's daughter. Binnie Barnes, the English actress, portrays Olivia, a bewitching spy who proves to be the source of most of Powell's troubles.

Others in the cast, ably directed by William K. Howard, are Lionel Atwell, as Brennan, the British agent; Cesar Romero, the dashing young Russian attache; Henry Stephenson, as the Russian Ambassador; Samuel S. Hinds, as Assistant Secretary Carter, and Sterling Holloway, as the taxi driver who never heats his cab in the springtime.

LIFE IN ARCTIC A MODERN WHIRL

(By The Canadian Press)

REGINA, Nov. 21—Eskimos in the Arctic spend their days fishing from schooners equipped with gas or Diesel engines, and their evenings listening to dance music, James Neely, Hudson Bay company manager, declares. Mr. Neely has just returned from Tuktoyaktuk, 150 miles northeast of Aklavik.

Eskimos, he said, showed marked preference for old-time music, particularly cowboy songs. At their dances, fiddlers play these instead of native airs.

The Eskimo had also revamped his diet, which formerly consisted almost wholly of whale, seal and fish. He now ate many modern foods such as dried fruits and vegetables and some tinned goods.

EAGLES FEED ON SALMON

TERRACE, B. C. — Hundreds of eagles inhabited the Lakelse Lake district this fall, feeding on the salmon in the lake and adjoining streams. Sammy Kirkaldy shot one that had an eight-foot wing spread and weighed 30 pounds.

"Unknown Woman" At The Capitol

All the elements that make for fascinating motion picture entertainment are paraded across the screen of the Capitol Theatre where Columbia's "Unknown Woman" featuring Marian Marsh, Richard Cromwell and Douglas Dumbrille, opened yesterday.

A delightful story of young love with an unusual background that whirls from cyclonic, dangerous action and intrigue to uproarious comedy, "Unknown Woman" touches capably virtually every human emotion.

Richard Cromwell is a young and earnest lawyer whose eloquent court appeal is heard at the opening of the picture. It is disclosed that he is defending a fish peddler whose license was not renewed. But the plea attracts the attention of Douglas Dumbrille who operates a night club.

Dumbrille is actually the leader of a band of bond thieves who are, at the moment, attempting to dispose of a million in hot securities. He puts the bonds in an envelope and tells Cromwell to file his "last will and testament."

Through a raid on Dumbrille's gambling joint, Cromwell meets Marian Marsh, with whom he becomes friendly. There is, however, something mysterious about Miss Marsh, for we discover her searching Dumbrille's office for the bonds. Later, she confesses that she had been trying to hi-jack the securities. Cromwell is disillusioned, but not long after, the girl discloses her real identity and purpose when she and Cromwell are facing death at the hands of the desperate bond thieves.

Miss Marsh has never looked lovelier nor given a greater performance than in "Unknown Woman," while Cromwell is splendid as the eager young attorney. Dumbrille always gives a finished performance. One of the leading roles, and probably the funniest in many months, is that played by Henry Armetta as the head of an association of fish peddlers for whom Cromwell is attorney.

and Southern sector, returned by airplane to Addis Ababa. An official communique said that shortly after his plane took off for the capital, two Italian planes flew over Harar and Diredaw, apparently reconnoitring for the Ethiopian plane.

British and French experts began a conference in Paris on peace proposals but officials saw little hope of a solution to the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes at Washington called upon the United States oil industry to halt voluntarily shipments to Italy.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES AT MAKALE, Nov. 21—(C. P.-Havas)—Six thousand Ethiopians who attacked Italy's 15th battalion of native troops were decisively defeated in a narrow pass near Abaro, 25 miles northwest of Makale, it was reported tonight.

The engagement, which lasted several hours, was going against the Italians until they were joined by reinforcements, who swung the fight in their favor, couriers informed the High Command here.

The Ethiopians were part of Ras Seyoum's tribal army of 30,000 centred in the Tembien mountains between Makale and the Takkaze river, officers said. They were pushing through the foothills in a drive to cut off Italian communication lines with Eritrea when the 15th battalion encountered them.

The Italians suffered only slight losses, the couriers asserted. The extent of the Ethiopian casualties was unknown, since the tribesmen succeeded in carrying off their dead and wounded in their retreat westward into higher ground.

GENEVA, Nov. 21—(A. P.)—Announcement that Secretary of Interior Ickes had asked the United States oil industry to stop shipments to Italy was considered by League of Nations circles tonight a helpful step toward realization of an embargo on oil.

The League's committee of 18 on sanctions will meet next week to consider the possibility of fixing a date for an embargo on the exportation to Italy of oil, coal, iron and steel.

Canada suggested that these be added to the list of key products which sanctions-imposing countries have barred from Italy.

DAIRYMEN DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Educational butter grading, carried on during the months of higher production, the advisability of recommending the adoption of compulsory grading and making of creamery print butter wrappers and ways of improving the quality of Prince Edward Island dairy products were among the things discussed at a meeting of dairymen in the Agricultural Hall yesterday. The meeting was called by Mr. W. L. Brenton, dairy superintendent.

Mr. W. C. Cameron, B.S.A., recently appointed chief inspector of dairy products for all Canada was present and gave an interesting and instructive address stressing cream grading as an essential in the making of high quality butter.

Mr. W. J. Davies of New Glasgow, inspector of dairy products for the Maritime Provinces who assisted Mr. J. T. Morrow, now retired, in the inspection of butter during the past summer reviewed the work and made mention of the marked improvement in quality.

It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that cream grading be more closely attended to and the educational grading be carried on again next year.

The advisability of holding a conference between the wholesale buyers and cream salesmen in the near future to endeavour to stabilize prices received by the creameries for the same quality butter was favorably considered.

Mr. Morrow was unable to be present on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Morrow. On motion of Messrs. Henry MacDonald and Percy Gay, an expression of sympathy was ordered to be sent Mr. Morrow with the hope of his good wife being soon restored to her usual good health.

At 6 p. m. the meeting adjourned to the Canadian National Hotel for dinner, on the invitation of the Dairy Superintendent. Mr. C. E. Gamble of Tryon in behalf of the butter makers thanked Mr. Brenton for his kindness in arranging for the creamery men to meet and enjoy themselves around the banquet table.

Messrs. Cannon and Davies leave this morning by train for points on the mainland.

Improvement In Produce Prices Here

NORTH SYDNEY, Nov. 21. — A scarcity of vessels with produce from Prince Edward Island is noted along the waterfront so far this fall. According to the master of a vessel that completed disposing of his cargo today, produce at Prince Edward Island is exceptionally high this fall, in comparison with last year.

Potatoes are not so plentiful this year, the skipper said, and the price has taken a decided jump. Ordinary whites at the wharf at Charlottetown were quoted at 65 cents a bag and these were sold here at 85 cents per bag. Carrots, turnips, and cabbage were also sold at a higher figure than last year.

ECONOMIC TRAVEL TOPS FOR A DIME

WALDECK, Sask., Nov. 21—Travelling 12,000 miles on a dime was the achievement of Ernest A. Wall of this town—and he brought back the dime, too. He started from here in July, 1934, and returned a year later, bronzed and healthy.

"Canada was my school for a year and it's people my teachers," he said. "It was time well spent, a wonderful education, and despite hardships I encountered at times I would not have missed it for anything.

"I'm going to start farming and I think, with my experience, I can make a success of it."

HALIFAX, Nov. 21—(C. P.)—Formation of two new governing bodies in affiliation with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada was sought in two resolutions confronting delegates at the opening of the organization's annual meeting here today.

The British Columbia branch asked that national bodies governing track and field and boxing and wrestling be created. The two branches of sport are now controlled directly by the A. A. U. of C.

New Star Census Shows Larger Stars Than Earth Exist

(By Howard W. Blakeslee)
(Associated Press Science Editor)
(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 21—An astronomical star census, by a new method reported to the National Academy of Sciences Monday, increases the theoretical mathematical chances of life like that on earth existing elsewhere in the universe.

Today's report does not discuss the possibilities of life, but shows a larger number of stars the size of our sun than previously identified. Its new star census fits directly into the statistics by which astronomers have been calculating the chances that there might be other suns with planet families and evolutions just like ours.

Such an "accident" was once considered remote. Lately the almost incredible multiplication in the estimated numbers of stars has caused astronomers to consider the "accident" of exact similarity more possible. Today's census shows the existence of an increased number of specific places where there might be duplication.

The star count was made on "dwarf" and "giant" stars by P. Van de Kamp and A .N. Vyssotsky of the Leander McCormick Observatory, University of Virginia.

Broadly speaking, there are two kinds of stars, dwarfs and giants. Our sun is a dwarf. Most of the stars visible to the naked eye are giants. As the dwarfs are faint at great distances, it has been impossible to distinguish in most cases between dwarfs lying nearer to earth and giants so distant that they are equally faint.

The Leander McCormick astronomers met the problem of distinguishing between them by applying the same reasoning a person would distinguish between fireflies near him and flashlights carried by men far away. The nearby flies would appear to be moving faster than the lights carried by the distant men. So among the dim stars, those which move rapidly across the sky are assumed to be nearby dwarfs, while equally faint stars moving very slowly are thought to be distant giants.

One result, the astronomers said, is to show more dwarf stars. Second it appears that the giants tend to concentrate in the direction of the milky way. In "high altitudes" or away from the milky way the dwarfs run 35 percent.

Island Exhibits Take Prizes At Toronto

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, Nov. 21—Kings of Canadian cattle farms paraded before judges at the Royal Winter Fair here today, seeking individual recognition. All day the judges viewed hundreds of bulls, the weight of many running more than the ton mark.

After nearly 10 years of striving for championship honors, Carter Mixter King, master of the Oakfield estate, Oakfield, N. S., was judged the grand and senior bull champion in the Guernsey class. He dethroned Bonnie Brae Trojan of Don Alda Farms, Todmorden, Ont. In former years the Nova Scotia champion had to be content with reserve titles.

The reserve senior championship went to the Don Alda Farms' Don Alda Lads Majestic and the grand reserve to Trojan.

The Oakfield estate also took the junior champion bull award with Stella Mixter, the reserve going to Royelen's Bickwick, owned by Allan Case, Todmorden.

LIGUORIAN PLAYERS GIVE FINE PROGRAM

An audience which filled the Holy Redeemer Hall to capacity heard the Liguorian Players present a rollicking musical revue and a two-act comedy last night.

"A Dumb Waiter," presented in two acts, was a comedy in which the acting was of a very high standard. Each of the players characterized his part in an outstanding manner. The playette was interspersed with several well rendered songs by members of the cast.

The performance opened with a musical revue which proved an even greater hit last night than it did at the matinee Wednesday.

The end men work was exceptionally well received, as were the other numbers of the revue. The number which perhaps made the biggest hit was "Top Hat, White Tie and Tails," by Dan Wedge, who was enthusiastically encored.

The following was the program:

BIRD LIFE SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Mr. Hoyes Lloyd Gave Interesting Talk — Wild Life Pictures Shown By Mr. Tufts.

Bird life was the subject of an intensely interesting address by Mr. Hoyes Lloyd, supervisor of wild life protection for Canada, at a meeting in the City Building Board Room last night under the auspices of the Fish and Game Association. Following the lecture lantern slides and motion picture views of wild life in different parts of Canada were shown by Mr. R. W. Tufts, migratory bird inspector for the Maritimes. The president of the Association, Mr. Harry Tidmarsh, presided and introduced the speaker.

Speaking on the migratory bird treaty between Canada and the United States Mr. Lloyd said that despite the criticism often levelled at it, the treaty has done much to preserve wild fowl for the future generations. Some say, the speaker remarked, that the birds belong to this country because they nest here. It must be remembered, however, that most of them cannot winter here and that the United States are of equal importance in the lives of the birds providing them as it does with a wintering ground.

Eel grass, the cause of so much depletion in the ranks of wild fowl in Eastern Canada, especially among the brant, is not coming back to any extent, Mr. Lloyd claimed. It is true that it begins to grow in many places but dies out again after a year. The only place the grass has made any progress has been in the estuaries of fresh water rivers where the water was not so saline as it is in the ocean. It has been a major disaster in the life of wild fowl, however, and it will be fortunate if it does not result in the final destruction of brant. In their feeding grounds on the Arctic islands there is no eel grass. There they feed on the uplands but they do not do so further south perhaps because they do not find the same food plants.

Black ducks, which had their ranks thinned out two years ago have made a good recovery. It was thought at the time that a disease was attacking the birds but since they have been making such a rapid recovery it is assumed that two very cold waves late in the winter, when the vitality of the birds was at a very low ebb, was responsible.

Mr. Lloyd requested that all banded birds be reported to the Department at Ottawa as each additional bit of information may help to solve some problem for which the answer is not known.

The lantern slides and moving pictures shown by Mr. Tufts were exceptionally intersting, showing in some cases really remarkable scenes of wild life in Canada. Some fine views of the work of Grey Ow., well known as an authority on wild animal life and for his work with the beavers, were in the collection shown. Fishing for Tyee, a large variety of salmon, at Vancouver Island and shooting big game with a camera in the Rocky Mountains were among other scenes.

Mr. Tufts told of the findings of thirty observers in the Maritime Provinces selected by him in order to form an estimate of the number of birds in the autumn migration. In 1933 the peak of the flight was reached the first week in November so far as brant were concerned. In that week there were 20,000 observed by the men. In 1934 the peak was reached in the second week in November and the total number of birds was only 3,000. The third week in November 1933 there were 9,000 and the corrosponding week in 1934 there were 1,200. The figures this year are not yet complete, Mr. Tufts said.

Mr. Lloyd made the plea that all sportsmen stand openly for conservation.

A vote of thanks moved by Mr. R. E. Mutch and seconded by Mr. D. A. MacKinnon was tendered the visiting speakers.

Stock Derby Has Many Applicants

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, Nov. 21—A 36-year-old mother today announced herself as a new applicant for the half million dollars which under the will of the late Charles Vance Miller of Toronto is to be awarded in October, 1936, to the Toronto mother who has borne the greatest number of children in the previous 10 years.

Mrs. Arthur Hollis Timleck, the new applicant, claims to have given birth to nine babies in the past nine years. A tenth is expected within a few months. She is the mother of 16 children, 13 of them living.

Her husband, Arthur Hollis Timleck, 38, is employed in motor-boat work. The Timlecks have had to go on relief occasionally during the last flew years.

Mrs. Joseph Bagnato and Mrs. John Nagle each report nine children in the 10-year period, and Mrs. Stefano Darrigo, Mrs. Ambrose Harrison and Mrs. Gus Graziano, eight apiece.

"Mecry Lights" All Out For Winter

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

SYDNEY, N. S., Nov. 21—Stormbound districts in northern Cape Breton will be without the advantage of "mercy" flights this winter because the Cape Breton Flying Club has concluded its operations for the year.

Last winter 49 flights were made carrying doctors and supplies to otherwise inaccessible sections of the island. Several patients were flown to hospital in Sydney for treatment.

Passengers and supplies were carried to destinations they were unable to reach by train or car when railways and highways were blocked by snowdrifts.

INDIANS FRONTED WITH DECIMATION

EDMONTON, Nov. 21. (C.P.)— Disease and poverty in an alarming degree were found in some Indian settlements of Canada's northwest by Very Rev. T. Laboure, O.M.I. The superior-general of the Oblate order of the Roman Catholic Church has just returned from an inspection of the Order's missions along the Mackenzie river, the Great Bear and Athabaska lakes' mining camps.

Accompanied by Bishop T. Breynat, Father Laboure covered 6500 miles by use of motorboats and airplanes on his tour. He was impressed with the need of more doctors and hospitals to save the native population from decimation by disease.

FINDS NEWSPAPER PRINTED IN 1814

(By The Canadian Press)

EDMONTON, Nov. 21—A copy of the Quebec Mercury, dated April 5, 1814, one of the few in existence is owned by an Edmonton resident. It contains news of the legislative assembly of Quebec and stories of the Napoleonic war—front page copy of that day.

One, Patrick Murphy, a ship's worker, pays tribute to the skill of "Doctor Laterrier whose skill and judgment have prolonged my days." Dangerously wounded by a piece of lumber, Patrick, in the news columns of the Mercury, tells of his treatment at the hands of the doctor.

The story describes how Dr. Laterrier took the patient's "jaw bone out in four pieces" and how he was fed "through a glass pipe" for 18 days when he was unable "to make use of any nourishment."

NEW GLASGOW WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The annual meeting of the New Glasgow Women's Institute was held at the home of the President, Mrs. M. McLeod on Nov. 4th.

There were fourteen members and five visitors present. One new member was cordially welcomed. The meeting opened by singing the Institute ode, followed by the Creed.

Roll call was answered with a Remembrance Day quotation. Minutes of the previous annual meeting, and of the last regular meeting were read and approved. A financial statement of the year's work was given by the Secretary-Treasurer.

The sick and school committees reported favorably, and the officers for the coming year were then elected.

President, Mrs. H. B. Stevenson.
Vice-President, Mrs. Harland Hill.
Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Ella Semple (re-elected).
Directors, Mrs. J. B. Dickieson, Mrs. Percy Dickieson, Miss Elsie Laird (re-elected), Mrs. E. E. MacKay; Auditors, Mrs. A. B. Stevenson and Miss Elsie Laird.
Press committee, Mrs. E. E. MacKay and Mrs. Rendal Houston.

Five dollars was voted to each of the following institutions: the P. E. Island Orphanage and the Red Cross Society. The retiring President graciously thanked the members for their loyal co-operation during her term of office. Miss Elsie Laird kindly invited the Institute to meet with her in December, when roll call will be answered by paying membership fee. Lunch committee, Mrs. E. E. MacKay, Mrs. A. B. Stevenson and Miss Ruth Dickieson.

Program committee, Mrs. M. McLeod, Mrs. H. B. Stevenson and Miss Ella Semple.

The program for the evening was then carried out under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Dickieson: chorus, O Canada; reading, Mrs. W. B. Bulman; reading, Mrs. R. A. Houston; duet, "The Faded Coat of Blue," Mrs. Bulman and Mr. G. H. Stevenson; reading, Mrs. W. J. McLeod; reading, Mrs. P. L. Campbell; instrumental music, Mrs. W. B. Bulman. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the committee in charge.
