

S'IDE AND PRINCE CO.

BAND at the rink to-morrow evening instead of to-night, on account of the hockey match.

THE funeral of the late Mrs. Massey, will take place this afternoon. Service in St. John's church at 2 o'clock.

HOCKEY MATCH to-night, between the Crescents of Charlottetown, and the Stars of Summerside. This will be a hot game as the last played by these teams resulted in a draw. Band in attendance; admission 15 cents.

It is likely that many Summerside people will take advantage of the special train and attend the concert at Emerald on to-morrow evening, the 17th of March. The programme is a satisfactory evidence of a "bang up" entertainment and the promoters are deserving of a large audience for their trouble in gathering together such good talent for the occasion.

A SUCCESSFUL entertainment was given Tuesday evening in the Presbyterian School Room by the Ladies of the Y. P. S. C. E. The room was crowded—many being unable to secure seats. Mr. W. F. Lyle, occupied the chair. The following programme was rendered:—Opening chorus, Choir; Reading, Miss May McDonald; Solo, Mr. Chas. Birch; Dialogue 1700 and 1800, Miss Jane Brehaut and Miss Hattie McQueen; Drama in three acts, Miss May McDonald, Mr. Colin Townsend, Mr. W. S. Bearns and Miss Laura Baxter taking the leading parts. Cornet Solo, Mr. Reggie Stewart. Accompanists, Miss Pearl McIntyre; Reading, Miss Maggie McKelvie; Male Quartette, Messrs Birch, McDonald, Lard and Bearns; God save the Queen, the choir. The proceeds amounted to over $28 00.

Color Photograph Process.

Madison, Wis; March 10.—Professor E. W. Wood of the University of Wisconsin, the originator of the electrical thaw, has a new method of photographing in natural color.

Professor Wood produces the colors by diffraction, a method not hitherto tried, and though at present the production of the first finished picture is a somewhat tedious, though not difficult process, when it is once made duplicates can be printed from it as easily as ordinary photographs.

The pictures are on glass and are not only colorless but almost invisible when viewed in ordinary lights, but when placed in a viewing apparatus, consisting of a convex lens on a light frame, show the colors of nature with great brilliancy. Professor Wood today said:

"The finished picture is simply a diffraction grating of variable spacing. In other words, it is a transparent film of gelatine with fine parallel and equidistant lines on it, about 2,000 to the inch on the average.

The colors depend solely on the spacing between the lines and are pure spectrum colors, or mixtures of such, the necessity of colored screens or pigments used in all other processes, except that of Lippman, having been overcome.

"The picture can be projected on a screen by employing a suitable lantern, or can be viewed individually with a simple piece of apparatus consisting of a lens and perforated screen mounted on a frame.

"I feel confident that the present process can be greatly simplified and believe that it will be possible to expose a plate in the camera under three-color filters, on the surfaces of which diffraction gratings have been impressed by photography, and develop it at once into a colored photograph, which, strange to say, will be a positive when seen in the viewing apparatus, or projected. A peculiarity of the process is, there is no such thing as a negative in it. I have printed half a dozen pictures in succession one from another, and all are positive and indistinguishable from each other.

"The pictures as I now make them rather exaggerate the luminosity of the subject, but are pleasing to the eye and wholly different in appearance from pictures produced in any other way."

Sydney Smith's Joke.

Sydney Smith was very happy in his country life, and his children caught his spirit of delight over common things. They loved animals and spent long hours in training them. One little beast, a baby donkey, became under their tuition perhaps the most accomplished of his species and unconsciously gave rise to a quatrain which now belongs to the fame of Sydney Smith. The donkey was a well educated chap. He would walk up stairs, follow the family in their rambles like a dog and when they entered his meadow run to meet them with ears down and tail erect, braying joyously.

One day, when Billy's head was crowned with flowers and he was being trained with a handkerchief for a bride, Mr. Jeffrey unexpectedly arrived. He joined in the sport and to the children's infinite delight mounted Billy.

Thus he was proceeding in triumph when Sydney Smith and his wife, with three friends, returned from a walk and took in the festive scene. The great man advanced, with extended hands, and greeted his old friend in an impromptu which has become familiar to the reading world:

Witty as Horatius Flaccus, As great a Jacobin as Gracchus, Short, though not as fat as Bacchus Seated on a little jackass! —Youth's Companion.

The Death of Coaching.

The coaching system died a lingering, lamentable death. I can remember something of a few coaches in remote districts which longest escaped strangulation, and memory of those distant days has been sweeter without them. They resemble what Nimrod describes as the obsolete, old fashioned coach of his boyhood, drawn by dispirited, ill fed jades over long stages. One of his paragraphs well describes what used to make my blood boil with impatient fury, imbittering the joy of returning home for the holidays, and deepening the depression of the schoolward journey:

"The four horse whip and the Nottingham whipcord were of no avail over the latter part of the ground, and something like a cat-o-nine-tails was produced out of the boot, which was jocularly called 'the apprentice,' and a shrewd apprentice it was to the art of torturing, which was inflicted on the wheelers without stint or measure, but without which the coach might have been often left on the road."

No; the last of the road coaches—corruptio optima—disappeared and left none to mourn them.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Erasing Spurgeon.

The autobiography of the late Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon contains an account of what may be termed an early business venture and its influence on his character.

Spurgeon was brought up on Watt's hymns, but not altogether willingly. His grandmother coaxed him with money to learn them. At first she gave him a penny, but when she saw how easily it was earned the old lady reduced the prize to a halfpenny and then to a farthing. There is no telling how low the amount per hymn might have fallen, but just at this time his grandfather made a discovery which seemed more desirable to Spurgeon.

He discovered that his house was overrun with rats and offered his grandson a shilling a dozen for all he could kill.

The occupation of rat killing gave him more money than learning hymns. "But," Mr. Spurgeon characteristically says, "I know which employment has been the more permanently profitable to me."

All Business.

"I'm afraid our new son-in-law isn't much of a business man," she said.

"Don't you worry about that," replied the old gentleman. "If he doesn't know how to make the best of a bargain, I don't know who does. The day before the wedding he discovered that Minnie had a freckle under her left ear, and he made me add $1,000 to her dowry on the ground that the goods weren't entirely in accordance with the invoice. I was almost tempted to believe that he wasn't a nobleman at all, but a New England Yankee in disguise."—Chicago Post.

Practical Classics.

Mrs. Timkins was taking her son to school for the first time, and, after impressing the schoolmaster with the necessity of his having a thoroughly good education, finished up by saying, "And be sure he learns Latin."

"But, my dear madam," said the schoolmaster, "Latin is a dead language."

"All right," said Mrs. Timkins. "He'll want it. He's going to be an undertaker."—London Tit-Bits.

An Awful Sentence.

A celebrated Irish judge once passed sentence in the following manner. The prisoner was a butler who had been convicted of stealing his master's wine: "Deod to every claim of natural affection, blind to your own real interests, you have burst through all the restraints of religion and morality and have for many years been feathering your own nest with your master's bottles."—London Telegraph.

Sunday School Lesson.

MARCH 19. CHRIST THE GOOD SHEPHERD. John. 10 10. 1-16, GOLDEN TEXT.

I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep—John 10. 11.

OUTLINE.

- 1. The Shepherd, v. 1-6. 2. The Door of the Sheep, v. 7-10. The Good Shepherd, v. 11-16. Time—Probably A. D. 29. Place—Probably the immediate vicinity of Jerusalem.

Rulers.—Herod in Galilee; Pilate in Judaea. Connecting Links.—This parable is closely connected with an address on blindness which Jesus preached after curing the blind man and warning the multitude against the Pharisees as blind leaders of the blind.

LESSON HELPS.

- 1. "The sheepfold"—Usually a stone walled inclosure, with a well-roofed pen at one end. "A thief"—What we would call a "sneak thief." "A robber"—A brigand. 2. "Entereth in by the door"—The shepherd must enter the same way as his flock. "There is not one salvation for the teacher and another for the taught." The seventh verse tells us that Jesus is "the door." 3. "Calleth his own sheep by name"—Asiatic sheep readily distinguish the voice of their shepherd, and sometimes each sheep has a name of his own, and knows it. 4. "They know his voice"—The true discipleship lives in fellowship with the Master and hears his voice speaking in the silence of the soul.

5. "A stranger"—One of the "thieves and robbers." "Will flee from him"—Travellers in the East have often noticed that when they attempt to call the flock, using the words of the shepherd, the sheep will run from them.

6. "They" (the Pharisees) "understood not"—Their notions of the dignity of the priests and rabbis and the insignificance of the common people were radically different from the Christian conception of "pastor" and "flock."

7. "I am the door"—Whosoever cometh to preach any other gospel comes to rob the sheep of their Saviour and salvation.

8. "Before me"—Claiming precedence in rank or authority over me. "Robbers"—The Pharisees, who held Jesus in contempt because he belonged not to their schools, were brigands, ready to raven the flock of Christ. "The sheep did not hear them"—True Christians are not diverted from the Gospel by false teaching.

9. "I am the door"—There is no other door. "Pasture"—Food for the spiritual nature.

10. "The thief" is the enemy of souls, whether as the false teacher, the persecutor, or the opposer of the Gospel. "To kill, and to destroy"—The devil's messenger brings death, and worse than death—the blasting of all that is good and lovely. Christ brings life and more than life—the fullness of divine blessing.

11. "The good shepherd"—Our beautiful and bountiful Care-taker and Provider. "Giveth his life"—Jesus sacrificed his life by living as really as he did by dying.

It is Different

Is what a lady told a grocer when she was asked how she liked the tea he persuaded her to take instead of Monsoon. No tea pleases like Monsoon—25, 30, 40, 50, and 60 cents.

INDO-CEYLON TEA.

12. "He that is a hireling"—This does not mean, "he that is hired." The Bible tells us that "the labourer is worthy of his hire," and it is right and duty full to pay wages to the men of God who "minister to us in holy things." "A hireling" is he that serves for hire merely, and uses the church to forward his secular interests. "Whose own the sheep are not"—Who does not feel a personal responsibility for the sheep. "The wolf"—Any sudden emergency or danger: "Fleeth"—Deserts his sacred trust. 14. "Know my sheep"—Know their every trial, weakness, hope, and fear, all the vicissitudes of their experience. "Known of mine"—Trusted in fully. 15. "As the Father knoweth me."—This and what follows should run on without break from the preceding sentence: "I know mine, and mine know me, as the Father knows me, and I know the Father." 16. "Other sheep I have" His sincere but unsheltered followers in heathen lands. "Oae fold" This should read "one flock." All alike must be brought into Christian fellowship.

DR. TALMAGE HAS RESIGNED.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15, 1899.—The Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage, who, for nearly four years, has been the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, has sent a letter to the session of that church tendering his resignation. Dr. Talmage intends to continue his residence in this city. He will devote most of his time to literary pursuits.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

CURE BY MAKING RICH, RED BLOOD AND STRENGTHENING THE NERVES.

PALE AND SICKLY.

Mr. F. H. Hibbard, of Sawyerville, Que., says:—"My daughter Lena kept gradually failing in health for nearly two years. She was studying hard at school and this may have been the origin of the trouble. She lost flesh, was very pale, subject to headaches, and had a poor appetite. We became very much alarmed and doctored for some time, but with little or no benefit. Finally we read the testimonial of a young girl whose symptoms were familiar, who was cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decided us to give them a trial in my daughter's case, and the result was beyond our most sanguine expectations. Before more than a few boxes were used Lena was rapidly getting better and gained many pounds in weight. She is now as healthy as any girl in Sawyerville, and I am quite willing this statement should be published, that our experience may prove an equal blessing to some other similar sufferer."

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

Mr. James Grigg, West Devon, P. E. I., writes:—"I am glad to say that the last supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which I procured from you was very effective in restoring the health of my son Robert, who is now thirteen years of age. He was taken sick in the fall of 1897 with a severe pain in the right side and had a bad cough. He lost his appetite and was running down very fast. The doctor told me his trouble was turning to consumption. We had some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on hand and began to give them to him. They helped him almost at once. His cough became less frequent, the pain left him and his appetite returned. A second lot of pills completely restored his health, and he is now as well as ever and has been for the last three months. I think your valuable pills should be kept in every home, and I am sending you the price for a dozen boxes."

FEMALE TROUBLES.

Mrs. L. L. Legere, wife of the Roman Catholic choir master at Cocagne, N. B., says:—"For about five or six years I have been a constant sufferer from female complaints. The misery I underwent can scarcely be imagined. Often I suffered so much that I could not leave my bed, and even when I was able to go about it seemed only to add to the torture I was constantly undergoing. I was treated by four different doctors, but to no avail. My husband finally persuaded me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after I had used six boxes I experienced a wonderful benefit. I continued using the pills until I had taken thirteen boxes, when my cure was complete. I attribute my restoration solely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I greatly recommend them to the thousands of women throughout the land who are suffering as I did."

The Way to be Well.

If you want to be well take care of your blood. When the blood is poor and watery, the whole system is weakened and falls an easy prey to disease. Pure blood and strong nerves is the secret of health and vigor.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

surpass all other medicines in building up blood and strengthening the nerves. Through their action on the blood and nerves it is proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will CURE the following troubles:

- Anaemia, Chlorosis or Green Sickness, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous Headache, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, After-Effects of LaGrippe, Eruptions and Pimples, Pale or sallow Complexion, Swelling of Hands or Feet, General Debility, Neuralgic Troubles, Partial Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Chronic or Acute Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Chronic Erysipelas, Kidney Troubles, St. Vitus' Dance, Consumption of Bowels and Lungs, Scrofula, All Female Weakness, Loss of Vital Forces.

But remember that you must get the genuine—substitutes are worse than useless, they are dangerous. The genuine are sold only in packages like the engraving on the right, bearing the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Sold by all dealers or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50.

BILIOUSNESS AND HEADACHE.

Mr. William Morrow, St. Patrick, Ont., says:—"I suffered very much from biliousness, and sick headache. For months my stomach seemed to be in an unseated condition and often I would vomit my food almost as soon as I had taken it. On one occasion a doctor remained with me all night before he could stop the vomiting, but beyond stopping it temporarily I received no other benefit. Though a little book which came into my possession telling of the cures effected through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I was induced to give them a trial, and to my joy they have removed all the disagreeable symptoms and made me a well man again."

DYSPEPSIA CURED.

Mrs. Caleb Dorey, of Hemford, N.S., says:—"For a number of years I was the victim of a complication of diseases, which left me in a weak and miserable condition, and untimely culminated in dyspepsia, from which I suffered much agony. I was extremely nervous, food distressed me, and at night I could obtain little sleep, and that was broken by disturbing dreams. After trying several remedies, without any beneficial results I was at last persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which, I am thankful to say, have fully restored my health. I used nine boxes in all, and not only did they relieve me of the horrors of dyspepsia, but in other respects I feel stronger and better than I had been for years before."

HEART WEAKNESS.

Mrs. Parker, wife of Rev. J. M. Parker, Baptist minister at River Herbert, N. S., says that she had been a sufferer for years with heart trouble, and had tried many advertised remedies. She was also under the care of a physician, but finding herself no better she decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills without mentioning it to her friends. She was not taking them very long, however, when there was a decided improvement in her condition, and her friends began to enquire what she was taking. She was so encouraged that she preserved in the use of the pills, and has regarded her health, and is able once more to assume the duties incumbent upon her. Having so benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, she feels it her duty to recommend them to others.

KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Mrs. Jas. Gage, Brookdale, Que., writes:—"I have suffered very much from kidney trouble, and did not find any relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have been of the greatest benefit to me, and I am sure others will find equally good results from their use."
