—ABRAM'S VILLAGE.—Mr. Augustine Arsenault had a hauling frolic the other day, hauling the house purchased from Joseph F. Arsenault, formerly belonging to the late Edward F. Arsenault. The distance was only a quarter of a mile, yet considerable difficulty was experienced owing at first to not having sufficient teams, and secondly, after making a start the kitchen was separated from the main house. His many friends regret this incident and in addition, an expense will be incurred in re-joining the two buildings. However the haul was completed in the day and Mr. Arsenault wishes to thank all those who gave a helping hand. As the house was fairly large and completed in and out, the 19 teams would have had a tough time of it; but as it happened, each part was hauled without any trouble. At night an enjoyable whist game was enjoyed by some, while the others whilled away the time in talking and laughing. Her brother attending her funeral and seeming in his usual good health in two days time he also was stricken and despite all that medical science and careful nursing could do, he also succumbed to the same disease. Both were suddenly called and ushered into the great beyond from which none ever return. They both were of a kind and genial disposition and many knew their hospitality and kindness.
