Hardy Family In The "Hardy's Ride High"

"The Hardys' Ride High" the sixth of a series of the Hardy family on the screen opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, S'side, and completely captivated the hearts of the audience.

This delightful screen family gave one of the best performances in an entirely new role.

The picture shows the Hardy's as inheriting a large fortune and there is plenty of laughs and thrills as each member reacts in their only special way to their changed status.

Only the Judge (Lewis Stone) and his wife (Fay Holden) maintain their equilibrium.

The family is on edge, figuratively hanging over the precipice of new-found wealth, when the Judge discovers evidence to prove that he is not the legal heir. He can destroy the evidence and retain the fortune, or produce it and give up everything. There is never a question in his mind.

The Hardys are brought back to grim reality. They return to Carvel, poor as ever but proud of their heritage of honor and none the worse for their interlude in the realms of luxury.

Without exception, every member of the cast turns in an excellent performance. George Seitz, director of all six of the Hardy pictures, has again done a superb job of combining human understanding with the foibles of family life familiar to every one of every age.

FIERCE

Schneeberg Heights, which form a bastion east of Apach. Thin lines of French observation posts, guarded by land mines, were penetrated by the Germans.

Before the French were able to reorganize their defences Nazi troops swept into French territory and occupied the first houses of the village of Apach.

Immediately, however, the French said, French artillery found the range of the advancing Germans and forced them to halt on the outskirts of the little Lorraine Village.

The French reformed their lines and drove the Germans back to a position 400 yards north of Apach, which left the Nazis holding a line 100 yards inside the French territory.

This would mean a total advance of between 1 1-4 mile and 1 1-2 mile for them during the day.

Unconfirmed reports said that in other sectors of the northern flank the French withdrew their most advanced posts to main line positions on German territory to be better prepared to repulse German attacks.

Today's fighting undoubtedly was the heaviest on the western front, although no figures were available immediately on the number of men involved or the number of casualties.

There was no indication whether today's Nazi drive was the beginning of a general attack or merely the strongest local action to date.

First reports said the Germans used companies of heavy tanks in advance of infantry which moved forward behind a rolling barrage of artillery fire reminiscent of Great War days.

Calm Before Storm

The sector were the action occurred had been one of the most active areas for German patrols for weeks. German artillery had pounded the French lines between Apach and Sierck until a sudden silence fell over the entire German front 24 hours before the attack began, giving the French commanders adequate warning that an offensive was imminent.

The German were reported by French military observers to have massed between 70 and 80 divisions on the western front.

(A German division's strength is estimated at between 12,000 and 15,000 men

(From Basel, Switzerland, on the German-French frontier, came reports of heavy troop concentrations on both sides of the front.

(Some neutral military observers in Basel believed that France and Britain might take the initiative in the first widescale offensive, despite the defensive impressions gained from some French communiques.)

Germans Concentrate

The Germans were reported by observers to be concentrated in four sectors.

Following the French-German frontier south from Luxembourg to Switzerland, the first main concentration point was reported to be near the neutral Grand Duchy of Luxemburgh in the Moselle Valley. The second abnormal German activity was reported on the wooded slopes of the Haardt Mountains, 65 miles southeast as a plane flies.

The third concentration reported was in the vicinity of Karlsruhe where the Rhine becomes the frontier at a point where the river turns into Germany. Troops here could swing into action on either the northern or the southern flank which are hinged just west of Karlsruhe.

The fourth concentration was reported in the German Black Forest near the Swiss border.

Since the French took the precaution of blowing up three of the five main bridges across the Rhine last week, they apparently were not concerned about the possibility of a surprise attack from the two southern concentrations.

TOWN COUNCIL HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Summerside Town Council was held last night, Mayor Campbell presiding. The usual reports and town bills were approved and passed. In the financial report Councillor Mollison pointed out that the expenditure for the year up to September 30th is down $1922.17 as compared with last year. The financial statement up to Sept. 30th, 1938 was $55890.60 and for the corresponding time in 1939, $53,968.43 which is a very creditable showing. Town paid bills for the month were $2,371.12. Unpaid bills $2558.20. Electric light paid bills $819.26. Unpaid bills $628.48. On motion of Councillor MacNeill and seconded by Councillor Mollison it was agreed to waive the poll tax of the young men who had enlisted and had not paid their tax before leaving. Mayor Campbell said it was a splendid gesture.

It was decided after a brief discussion on the matter that the grant of 100 dollars that was given to the committee of fox educational week and again requested this year, would not be granted, but that the council agred that if the money collected by the committee this year and the surplus reported to be over from last year did not cover expenses and there was a deficit that the council would provide the deficit up to the sum of 100 dollars.

The police report is as follows:—

Convictions for drunkenness 22; drunken driving 2; theft 3; vagrancy 1.

Fines collected $146.60.

A report of work on the streets stated that work was completed at the west end crossing and the drainage on Duke Street. The west and east butments had been gravelled and posts painted.—S.

W. M. S. Meeting At Kensington

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church, Kensington, was held on Thursday evening, Oct. 5th, with a large attendance. In the regrettable absence of the President, Mrs. Thomas J. Humphrey, Mrs. Hammond Toombs capably presided, and opened the meeting with hymn "I to the Hills Will Lift Mine Eyes", and a Worship Service. Reading responsively from Hymnary the Psalm, beginning, "Lord Thou has been our dwelling place in all generations" was followed by silent prayer, with Mrs. K. Waite leading in a season of prayer. At the Missionary Rally held some time ago at Cavendish, Mrs. Toombs earnestly brought this though for reflection, from the address delivered at the evening meeting by the Rev. J. B. McDonald, of Trinidad; a great many professing Christian people have the wrong attitude toward Missionary work; they say they don't believe in missions. If we are Christ's followers we must believe in missions. We must never forget that the Church was instituted for that one thing. We must never forget it was Jesus' commandment to take to all people the story of His redeeming love. One of His last commands was "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature", if we are not doing that we are not doing God's will.

The Scripture selections from Isaiah were read by Miss Gertrude Buntain. Minutes of September meeting were read and approved. A motion was made and carried that all plans for the special Thank-Offering Service be left in the hands of the committee appointed at last meeting. The Thank-Offering envelopes having been received by Mrs. W. G. Simpson, a motion was made and carried that Mrs. Simpson appoint her own helpers for the distribution of the envelopes. Through letters from the Supply Dept. read by Mrs. Chas. Yeo, thanks and appreciation of boxes sent to different mission stations, were received—also a reminder that the need is great—the glory of life is to give, not to get to serve, not to be served. Some discussion over making up a box for Trinidad followed. Though a bit late, it was decided to send a box as soon as possible, group leaders to see the members of their group and bring in all contributions by Thursday, the 12th inst. Reports from the treasurer and Missionary Monthly secretary, were submitted. Mrs. George Locknart expressed sincere appreciation for a card received from the Society during her recent indisposition. The President, Mrs. Humphrey, though unable to be present, also sent an expression of gratitude for card received.

Beginning the new study book program "Rural Millions of India" Mrs. Toombs read a short poem from one who knew and loved India, that land of many contrasts. Mrs. B. C. Salter gave an instructive and informative reading. Thinking of the vast population of India, 352,000,000—one fifth of the population of the world,—we learn there were Christians in India since the first century of the Christian era, yet today only one in fifty is Christian. Meeting many of India's women, particularly those in villages and rural districts, we find that only one woman in fifty can read or write.

Turning the spotlight again "A Brighter Side" was presented by Mrs. Thos. Stewart. We see some of the Christian forces at work and India was a land of great importance in the life of the world and the Christian church. Particularizing on this brighter side of the picture, Mrs. Chas. Yeo turned the light on "An Indian Christian Village". Proving responsive to Christian teaching, the life of the village was changed. A church and a school and more habitable homes were built, the money for these purposes being saved over a long period of years The lives of the people of this village were transformed. So we see the power of Christ touching the untouchables, the Outcasts and the Pariahs and winning the higher castes to acknowledging Him as Lord. So a light shining in the darkness dispels the gloom, or "A Little leaven leaventh the whole lump". Concluding the program with a few lines from "The Indian Road" read by Mrs. Toombs the meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah Benediction.—B.

On Oct. 15th a meeting was held in St. James's Church, Summerfield, to discuss the organization of a sub-division of the C. W. L. The Diocesan President, Mrs. Leslie Ramsay and the organizer for Prince County, Mrs. James Saunders, attended the meeting. Mrs. Ramsay outlined the aims and objects of the C. W. L. after which it was moved by Mrs. James B. Croken and seconded by Mrs. James O'Connor that a sub-division be formed. Mrs. James Saunders proceeded to organize the unit which is to be known as St. James's Sub-Division. Thirty-one members signed their names as members. The following officers were elected by ballot. President, Mrs. J. Austin Murphy, 1st Vice-Pres.:—Mrs. James B. Croken, 2nd Vice-President—Mrs. James W. Allen, 3rd Vice President —Miss Mary O'Connor, Recording Secretary — Miss Frank J. MacDougall, Sec'y-Treas —Mrs. Alfred Curley, Corresponding-Sec'y— Mrs. Maurice Tierney. Wallace opened the gifts, Miss Della Callaghan presented them and Miss Florence Keefe arranged them. The happy couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts, testifying to the esteem in which they are held. Congratulations and the best wishes for a happy wedded life together are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Leo McInnis, Brockton, and to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rennie, Alma.

The Misses Annie and Veronica O'Connor entertained at an afternoon tea at their lovely home in Elmsdale on October 6th, in honor of Mrs. John A. Callaghan. Members of the Elmsdale Women's Institute and other friends welcomed the bride to our community and expressed their pleasure at her presence in our midst.

The many friends of Mrs. Leonard Williams are pleased to learn that her health is much improved.—E

That Body of Yours

A BLOOD BUILDING DIET

Now that liver and liver extract are being used so much in anaemia you are not hearing or reading much about remedies to enrich the blood. Unfortunately also you do not hear or read so much about blood making foods as formerly, yet the right kinds of food may be all that is necessary to bring the blood up to normal strength.

In former days, the strength of the blood was estimated by the amount of iron contained in the red corpuscles and this is still very important, but in many cases of anaemia the great need is the substance which matures or develops the red corpuscles themselves. It is this substance — found in liver — which increases the number and completes the development of the red corpuscles. As long as liver or liver extrast is taken, the strength of the blood is maintained.

It is these two substances —iron and the substance found in liver— that are in general use in anaemia.

Dr. M. M. Wintrobe, Baltimore in New International Clinics, after outlining the various types, causes, and methods of treatment of anaemia, says:

"A good diet is very necessary help in anaemia. Proteins — meat, eggs, fish, cereals — and iron are needed for the formation of haemoglobin and also certain vitamins. All these substances can be given in the form of natural foods to which is added, in some cases, brewers' yeast. The diet should include whole liver, kidney and red meats, eggs, fruits such as apricots, peaches, prunes, apples, grapes and raisins; vegetables such as beet greens, spinach, cabbage, asparagus and lettuce; and whole grain cereals."

The thought then in the prevention or correction of anaemia is to undergo examination by your physician and dentist, so that no underlying infection is allowed to reduce the strength of the blood, and to eat the foods mentioned above as they are rich in iron, minerals, and vitamins.

Seven Feared Drowned In West Ontario

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 16—(CP)—Seven persons were feared tonight to have drowned in two separate boating accidents in northwestern Ontario.

The body of George Mallcom, 30, was found near Cameron Falls on the Nipigon River 70 miles east of Port Arthur and a search was under way for his two companions on a week-end duck hunting trip. It was believed the two, Griffith Hawkins, 37, and Ed Christenson, 35, also had drowned. The three were employees of the Cameron Falls power station.

Four Winnipeg residents are missing near Ingolf, 100 miles east of Winnipeg. When Bob and Stewart Ogilvie, brothers, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Escott failed to return to Ingolf when expected today, a search was started and their overturned canoe was found in Long Lake.

POULTRY

Buying live fowl every day. Can use a few heavy milk fed chicken. No call for light medium quality chicken.

MOULTING

The hens are in their annual moult, feed bountifully, add more protien, keep them comfortable and contented.

CLEANLINESS

A number of us poultrymen have made numerous calls on the farmer this past month. You have splendid barns. The horses look wonderful. The cattle are sleek and clean. You took real pride in showing us your well-kept pigs.

BUT

The hard working, money every day, hen.

Covered with vermin, plenty of manure all around, but no straw. Looking in vain for a dry mash, charcoal, grit and oyster shell. Little or no clean water.

This faithful creature deserves a better break.
