BELGIAN KING BECOMES A DICTATOR

King Albert Joins the Fight to Save the Franc and Will Rule Over His Country's Finances For Six Months.

BRUSSELS, July 16.—King Albert by virtue of an overwhelming majority in the Chamber and a unanimous vote in the Senate in which Socialist Deputies and Senators concurred, has become the financial dictator of his own kingdom for a period of six months. The Premier today put the full bill granting the King authority to issue the franc, through both Houses inside of an hour.

During the short debate on the bill, the exchange market was highly nervous and showed fluctuations. The official closing figure of the franc was 211 to the pound sterling and 43.50 to the dollar.

A decree will be issued within a few days providing for the use of bread similar to that used in war time. The railways, telephones and telegraphs will be turned over to private companies for operation.

King Albert is expected to be a good-natured dictator and M. Thiébaux and M. Franque, both of whom are very prominent financiers of Belgium and well known in the United States will be the real powers behind the throne.

Some idea of the crisis which the country has passed through and the lack of confidence among small investors and workmen is to be found in the announcement that between July 1st and 13th, more than five million francs were withdrawn from the public savings bank in Antwerp alone.

J. G. O'Donoghue, well-known counsel for Canadian Labor, who is going to the United States to join a law firm. He has long practiced law in Toronto.

ISLAND STRAWBERRY CROP HAS BEEN SERIOUSLY DAMAGED

By Insect Pest Known as Strawberry Weevil, Preventive Measures Recommended by Mr. Hurst, Plant Pathologist, Charlottetown Experimental Station.

Mr. R. R. Hurst, Plant Pathologist at the Charlottetown Experimental Station, in conversation with The Guardian yesterday, states that the pest found in many places and seriously injuring the strawberry crop, is known as the "strawberry weevil." This little pest is almost one-tenth of an inch in length and is often unnoticed and the loss is often attributed to other causes. The weevil varies from nearly black to dull red, with a dark spot just back of the centre of each wing cover. The head is prolonged and has a slender curved snout, about half as long as the body. The weevil, on account of this peculiar formation is sometimes known as the "snout beetle." Numerous reports from different parts of the province indicate that the ravages of the pest are quite extensive. The injury to the strawberry plant is done by the female. The first indication of its presence may be detected by the discovery of small holes in the outer husk of nearly mature buds. These holes are made by the female and in the centre she deposits her eggs. In the process of eating away the cavity the stem of the bud is cut almost or wholly through and the bud drops to the ground. The eggs hatch in about seven days, and the larvae feed on the fallen bud. In three or four weeks the larvae are full grown and ready to go into the pupal or resting stage in five or eight days. The adult beetle is ready to resume operations on the strawberry plant. The matter of control for strawberry weevil is to dust the plants thoroughly with a mixture of five parts powdered sulphur and one part arsenate of lead. The 85-15 orchard sulphur arsenate of lead dust may also be used. The first application should be made just as soon as the injury to the plant is discovered and a second application a week later. It is not safe to dust once the fruit has begun to form for fear of poisoning the berry.

As a preventative, strawberry plots should not be continued longer than two seasons. As soon as the second crop is off the plants should be mown off and when dried burned where they fell and plowed down. Even after the first crop is taken off the strawberry plants should be burned lightly. The crowns of the plants are sufficiently deep in the ground to prevent injury from a light burning.

Mr. Hurst states that the weevil is a difficult pest to control and that only by continued vigilance and most watchfulness. It is necessary, he says, to keep the surroundings as free from weeds and rubbish as possible so that no shelter be afforded to the pest. There is danger of this pest also in raspberries near the strawberry plantation. In some cases the injury done this year by this pest amounted to 85 per cent of the crop and indications are that the strawberry crop this year will be greatly reduced in volume.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING LAST NIGHT

Extended Discussion on Police Report—Report of Meat and Milk Inspector—Other Civic Matters Discussed.

The meeting of the City Council which was adjourned on Monday night was held last evening with all Councilors present.

A bill was received from Miss Helen Hobkirk for $11.25 for purchases to car tires from nails on Church Street.

It was ascertained that the material which had recently been spent on improving that street was good and had come from reliable sources. After some discussion, His Worship Mayor Miller said that it was evident that there were nails in the material, and it was up to the Council to decide whether or not the bill should be paid. Councillor Prowse said that there was no precedent it was his opinion that this should be done. Councillor Hennessey wanted to know whether they were to pay all bills incurred in this manner. The Council finally decided to pay the bill. After some minor matters had been disposed of Mayor Miller produced a letter signed "Dissatisfied Tax Payer," which claimed that his neighbours property was in an unsanitary condition. This was not read as there was no signature.

The Health Report was read and adopted. Councillor Hennessey then stated that there should be a change in the law with regard to testing of milk samples. He declared that while the people who bought from vendors were protected, the poor people who bought from stores were obliged to take milk and water. He said that samples should be taken from stores in the same manner as from vendors.

Councillor Prowse said that this should be brought to the attention of the Health Officer.

The Police Report was then brought up. Councillor Hennessey immediately launched an attack on the manner in which the speed law was observed. He declared that the police were neglectful of auto traffic. He said that the police station at a greater speed than the law allows. If they don't attend to duty there will be an accident when it is too late.

Councillor Moran said that the law was not being carried out and there was only one solution to amend this condition. We must have a man with a motor-cycle. He said that citizens must be protected, especially the children. This could be done with only a small expenditure. He believed that there would be a great decrease in speeding if there was a motor-cyclist about the town.

Councillor Yeo agreed with Councillor Moran that the law was not being carried out. He stated that several years ago when we had a special traffic officer, he made twice as many convictions as the whole force on doing now. He said that the Press, the citizens and respectable motorists were demanding that the law should be enforced and he thought the best thing to do was to appoint a special traffic agent. But he thought the root of the whole trouble was that the policemen are not doing their duty. We must take the whole force up before the Council, tell them what we want them to
