RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Yesterday morning, Dr. A. C. Vincent continued an interesting series of sermons on the parables of our Lord with a thoughtful address on "The Parable of the Drag Net." Basing his message on Matthew 13: 47, 48, "Again, the Kingdom of Heaven is like unto a net, that was cast into the sea and gathered of every kind, which when it was full, they drew to the shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away."

This is not the fisher of En-gedi, not the "fishers of men" of the earlier messages but the great world gathering, bringing to us the warning of a judgment final, the time of division and the time of separation. In these days such a teaching is often passed over as "merely imaginary." Is it? It is not any imagination of man, but the direct, plain words of Christ with which we have to deal. The time is coming when the Church shall be removed, prophecy is yet to be fulfilled, the King is yet to come, Christ shall reign.

It is ours to be faithful, ours to be consistent followers of the Master, for only of such are those who are gathered home.

The morning anthems were Shanks' "O Love that Will not Let Me Go," Turner's "O Death Where is Thy Sting."

The subject of the evening sermon was "The times are out of joint." The male quartette, Messrs. Quigley, Calder, Dingwell and Sterns, sang very effectively "Though Your Sins Be as Scarlet," and the full choir rendered Stainer's "What are These?" The music of the day was directed with competence and ability by Miss Lillian McKenzie.

ST. DUNSTAN'S BASILICA

Yesterday, the first Sunday after Easter, Low Sunday, was observed as Holy Name Sunday at St. Dunstan's Basilica. Masses were at the usual hours, 7, 8, 9.30 and Solemn High Mass at 11.00 o'clock. At the 8.00 o'clock Mass celebrated by His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan, the members of the Holy Name Society received Holy Communion in a body. The sermon was delivered by His Excellency on "Catholic Action."

In the afternoon at 2.00 o'clock Sunday School for the boys of the parish and at three o'clock Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

At 7.00 o'clock Holy Hour took place and was conducted by Rev. Louis Dougan who dealt on the Real Presence of our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament and the Institution of the Sacrament at the Last Supper. Benediction was given by Father Dougan.

The Corpus Christi Choir under direction of W. J. Brown, with Miss Lucy Blanchard, soloist, rendered the singing. Miss Bessie Blanchard was organist.

HOLY REDEEMER CHURCH

Masses at the Church of The Most Holy Redeemer yesterday morning were at the usual hours. At the 7.30 Mass, it being Holy Name Sunday, the members of the Holy Name Society received Holy Communion in a body. The 9 o'clock Mass was for the children. At 10.30 o'clock High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Enright. Powerful sermons were preached at all the Masses by Rev. Father Fleming on the Sacrament of Matrimony, its importance, and the necessity of preparing well for the reception of the Sacrament.

In the evening, the regular monthly service in honor of Our Mother of Perpetual Help was held, and consisted of the Rosary, reading of thanksgivings for favors received during the past month, and petitions for favors to be granted, special prayers to the Blessed Virgin and special hymns in her honor. An eloquent sermon was preached by Rev. Father Enright, after which Benediction of The Most Blessed Sacrament was given.

After the services a meeting of the men of the Holy Name Society was held in the parish hall, at which the subject of Christian Education, which has been under discussion at past meetings was continued.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

At the morning service at St. Paul's Church, Reverend H. D. Raymond, taking as his text the 19th verse of the 15th chapter of St. Paul's first Epistle to the Corinthians, "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are all men most miserable," showed that the real truth which St. Paul wished to convey to us was the certainty of Eternal Life. A more recent translation of the text than the one above, (King James) and of earlier Greek manuscripts shows that "only" in the text is not in its correct position, "If in this life we have hope in Christ only, we are all men most miserable."

St. Paul is talking of something far richer and more beautiful than the mere hope of eternal life; he is talking of the absolute certainty of such a life. "I know Him Whom I believe", "I can do all things through Christ, Who strengtheneth me", said St. Paul. If we have a mere hope of eternal life, we would be deprived of those things which make life worth living, namely, His companionship, His power, His inspiration, and last and best of all, His great love for us. During the Offertory, the choir sang very acceptably the anthem, "And Behold I Am Alive."

The sermon of the evening was based on the closing verses of the twentieth chapter of St. John's Gospel. "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of His disciples, which are not written in this book. But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through His Name." John, the author of these words, was a man of discernment and character. He was perhaps Our Lord's most intimate disciple. It was to him that Jesus committed His mother. His gospel has a very distinct offering of its own to give. The other gospels had been written, he may have had copies of them, but he wishes to give his own version. He wants the light that has burned into his soul to shine into the lives of others. His purpose in writing is that men may believe that Jesus is the Messiah and that He is the Son of God. He wants every man, regardless of his nation to believe this. The Rector then pointed out that 'to believe' is to make a part of oneself the truth that we have gripped, and to live it out day by day. The Book was written to be read—to be read by everyone. It is our responsibility to see that the reading goes on because it offers the priceless boon in His Name.

The anthem, "The Resurrection and Ascension" was very beautifully rendered by the choir.

SONG SERVICE

Regular Student's Song Service was held last night in St. Paul's Anglican Church, and was attended by a large number of the students and young people of the city. The service was depicted on a screen, as it has been at the song services at St. Paul's this year. The Scripture lesson was read by Mr. Gus Farquharson. Mr. W. G. Hogg addressed the young people on the text "The peace of God will keep our hearts and minds through Jesus Christ." Several exquisitely rendered selections of special music completed the inspiring service To all who took part in the service the S. C. M. and Y. M. C. A. extend their thanks.

THE SALVATION ARMY

At the Holiness Meeting at 11 o'clock Adjutant Stevens took as his subject "Walking and Talking with Jesus."

He walks with God who speaks to God in prayer,
And daily brings to him his daily
care,
Possessing inward peace, he truly knows
A heart's refreshment and a soul's repose.

A meeting was held at the jail in the afternoon when the prisoners enjoyed helping with the singing and listening to an earnest address by Adjutant Stevens.

Helpful services were held at 3 and 7 and it was announced that a United prayer meeting would be held Wednesday evening in the Citadel.

Rev. Mr. Webster will be the speaker and the Salvation Army Band will furnish the music.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

On this first Sunday after Easter the resurrection of our Lord is still the attractive and interesting theme. The text for the morning worship was from Luke 24:34, "The Lord is risen indeed" and Rev. Dr. Ramsay in his sermon set forth what the resurrection of our Lord signifies. He claimed among other things that it was evidence of the Messiahship of Jesus, further, that it was evidence of his divine Sonship. He was declared to be the Son of God with power. The resurrection confirms the life and work of Jesus. His death was a divine appointment for the salvation of men. The resurrection is evidence of man's eternal destiny. "Even so, them that sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him." The resurrection meant something mightily important in the life of Christ himself. He reigns at the right hand of God. "The Lord Omnipotent is King." The resurrection means much for humanity, a new life principle. The second Adam, bringing in a spiritual race through a new birth.

In the evening service Rev. Mr. Brown read as his scripture lesson the second chapter of John's gospel ministers to take charge here com-mencing 1st July.

STILL ALARM — The firemen were called out by a still alarm about 10.40 yesterday morning to extinguish a fire in a car on Great George Street in front of St. Dunstan's Basilica. Damage was slight.

REQUIEM MASS—His Excellency Bishop O'Sullivan offered Requiem Mass for the repose of the soul of Rev. Joseph Gallant in the Chapel of the Sacred Heart Home Saturday morning. Rev. Dr. Gillis sang the Libera and His Excellency gave the Absolution. The remains were taken Saturday to Egmont Bay where the funeral will take place on Tuesday.

CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE —Mr. H. E. Dawson, Clerk of the Legislature, returned to his home, Augustine Cove, on Saturday, after completing his work for the time. Mr. Dawson has now concluded his fourteenth session as the executive head of the paid officials of the Legislature, and has enjoyed the utmost confidence and respect of members and officials alike. His work has always been discharged admirably, and his journals have been models of accuracy and completeness.

DAMAGE BETWEEN $7,000 AND $8,000—The damage resulting from the fire in the offices in the C. N. R. freight shed is estimated at between $7,000 and $8,000. In addition to the damage to the building, further loss was sustained in the destruction of all records, extending back for several years. Temporary repairs were made Saturday afternoon, and business is being carried on in the offices. An investigation into the cause of the fire will be held in the course of a few days.

WAITS ESCORT TO P. E. I.—The following news item appeared in a Saint John, N. B. exchange of Saturday: "A bright little girl of eight years wants an escort to take her safely from Saint John to Prince Edward Island. Because of sickness, her home in Saint John must be broken up and a new home with relatives awaits her in Prince Edward Island. She is ready for the journey, and the Children's Aid Society will make all arrangements about her transportation. The society is anxious to find some one travelling to Prince Edward Island who will give kindly care to the little girl on the way."

BENEVOLENT IRISH SOCIETY —The regular monthly meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society was held in their hall on last Thursday night, with President J. A. Cronin in the chair. Although not very well attended, the members present took a whole-hearted interest in the proceedings and no doubt future meetings will bring larger numbers. The report of the recent St. Patrick's play was given and although it was not as successful, financially, as other years, it was felt the show ranked well up with the past hits on St. Patrick's Day. Bro. Patrick Doyle, chairman of the Sick Committee, stated he was called upon on several occasions and the Society's good work in this branch is still to the fore. Considerable discussion arose as to the possible changes of some of the by-laws of the constitution to meet with present-day requirements. Finally it was decided to arrange this at a special meeting to be announced later. The good work of the Social Evening Committee of last year was rewarded recently with a well-deserved banquet and needless to say the members involved enjoyed themselves. President Cronin referred to the splendid parade held this year and thanked all who in any way helped to make it a success, the new regalias, etc., making a fine appearance. Before concluding the meeting it was voted that the following receive a donation from the Society to help in their worthy cause: Charlottetown Hospital, Social Service, Free Dispensary, Mt. Herbert Orphanage and St. Vincent's Orphanage. The meeting then adjourned on motion of Bro. Callaghan and seconded by Bro. Doyle.

The Late Mrs. R. E. Spillett

The death of Mrs. R. E. Spillett of this city occurred yesterday morning, after a lingering illness. The deceased, who was formerly Miss Harriet Matthew, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Matthew of this city. She was 55 years of age.

The late Mrs. Spillett bore her long period of suffering with great patience and true Christian fortitude. Her passing will be mourned by a wide circle of friends. She was a member of the United Church. She is survived by her husband, by three sons, Arthur in East Royalty, Russel and Harry of this city, by two sisters, Miss Amy Matthew and Mrs. Nelson Winchester of this city and by one brother Mr. Vernon Matthew, Summerside, to whom sympathy is extended in their bereavement.

The funeral will be held from her late residence on Tuesday at 2 p.m. to the People's Cemetery.

Improved Business Conditions Likely to Warrant Working of Two of Three Pictou Mines.

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

HALIFAX, April 8—Management of the Acadia Coal Company hopes improved business conditions will warrant operation of two of its three mines in Pictou County but it still insists on the necessity of closing one mine to cut down operating losses.

In a supplemental report to the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia Saturday, receivers of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, the parent organization, repeated a request for authority to close Acadia No. 3 mine at Thorburn. They asked that judgment be deferred for a month on a previous application for authority to close the Allan Shaft at New Glasgow.

It was hoped, their presentation said, that improvement in general business might justify operation of the Allan mine at the end of that time. The judges consented to defer judgment. They reserved decision, also, in the Acadia No. 3 application.

The two mines, with the Albion Pit at Stellarton, have been idle since March 1. On that date, the men walked out to consider whether they should accept or reject proferred wage cuts. They have reached no decision.

of blood."

M. Daladier blamed Fascists for the February riots in Place de la Concorde.

Re-affirms Statements

Re-affirming his statements that the Government at no time ordered the soldiers to fire on the crowds, he told the regional Congress of the Radical Socialist party that he believed the Fascists were prepared for the riots.

It was significant, he observed, that not a single Fascist was among those fatally injured during the clashes.

Speaking in his native province, the former Premier retraced the events of Feb. 6.

"The Fascist groups wished to invade the Chamber, to proclaim the collapse of our parliament and to impose a dictatorship," Mr. Daladier declared. He charged the first shots were fired by rioters; no orders were given by the government to fire; the soldiers acted entirely in self-defence.

BRANTFORD LADY DIES

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 8—Residents of this city were shocked today to learn of the death of Mrs. W. E. Phin of Hamilton, who died aboard ship while returning from Bermuda. The late Mrs. Phin was Bertha Scarfe, daughter of the late Sheriff W. J. Scarfe and resided here until her marriage in 1896.

"Every man at the beginning do set forth good wine but thou hast kept the good wine until now." This illustrated an underlying principle of Jesus. The best always comes last, in contra-distinction to the way of the world.

There were good congregations at both services and in the Sunday school there was an attendance of 462. The music for the day embraced selections from the new Hymnary in the morning and an anthem "Seek Ye the Lord,' also a solo by Mr. Roy Smallman at night.

A meeting of the official board is to be held on Thursday night next and a special meeting of the congregation is called for Monday the 16th to choose a minister or

Congratulations Received From Lieut. Governor

The following letter was received from His Honour Lieutenant Governor DeBlois by Lieut. Colonel E. H. Strong, M.C., officer commanding the Prince Edward Island Highlanders.

5th April

Dear Col. Strong,—

Will you kindly accept for yourself and convey to the Officers and Men of the Prince Edward Island Highlanders my warm and sincere congratulations upon the success achieved in again winning the General Efficiency Cup for Military District Number 6.

In doing so, I feel that you have not only brought credit and honour upon yourselves but to the Province as a whole.

With best wishes for continued success, and with kind regards, I am,

Faithfully yours,
(Sgd.) George D. DeBlois.

now before the committee of the whole House.

Parliament Hill was deserted during the Easter holiday season, but members flocked back over the week end and no time will be lost in getting down to the hard work necessary if the law-makers are to get release from their duties before the hot weather sets in.

Banking Legislation

Much important legislation, now before the House and to be introduced later, will face the members in the next few weeks. Little progress has been made with the banking legislation before the committee on banking and commerce, and long discussions on these measures will likely take place even after the committee has dealt with them.

The bill to set up a marketing board, exceptionally broad and far-reaching in its powers, has only passed first reading and will be subjected to long and wordy examination and treatment both in committee and before the House.

Private Bills

There are a half dozen more less contentious Government measures before the House, some private bills, a large volume of estimates yet unvoted, and numerous notices of motion. In addition there will be the budget which Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, will probably present within the next fortnight, and several new government measures of which no notice has yet been given.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett announced before the recess that, shortly after the House reassembled, he would give some indication of what further Government business would be brought in. One measure anticipated is that which will provide for the public works programme which has been officially forecast several times in the past six months.

FUTURE OF OTTAWA PACTS

No Changes Likely Without Mutual Consent.

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, April 7—Growing concern over the future of the imperial trade agreements Britain signed at Ottawa was disclosed today in British political circles.

Both Stanley Baldwin and Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, have recently hinted the privileges the Dominions enjoy in the British market may be curtailed. Measures to restrict imports from the Dominions, to which the government appears likely to be driven in the interests of the British farmer, are bound to have an effect on the imperial pacts and the extent of this effect is causing much pondering.

Much will depend on the report, expected in a few weeks time, of the fat-stock reorganization committee appointed in December to prepare a national marketing scheme. It is generally held the level of prices is such that drastic restriction of imports is inevitable.

Mr. Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, told Worcestershire farmers "an entirely new factor enters the situation in June when arrangements with the Dominions under the Ottawa agreements end so far as meat is concerned."

Construed

His speech and those of Mr. Elliot have been variously construed but it seemed a fair inference they were serving a warning.

No authoritative statement of the position could be obtained today however, all officials having scattered over the countryside to enjoy a weekend of pleasant weather.

Ottawa Not Apprehensive

OTTAWA, April 8—No great apprehension is apparent in official circles here over the news reports from London with respect to the possibilities of curtailment of some of the export privileges accorded the Dominions in the 1932 agreements. A cable from London at the week-end stated that there was a "growing concern" over the future of the Ottawa agreements, and that both Stanley Baldwin and Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, had hinted that the privileges the Dominions enjoy in the British market, may be curtailed.

CANNIBALISM IN CANADA'S NORTHLAND

Hardships Encountered By Eskimos And Indians Because of Scarcity of Animal Life Described.

HALIFAX, April 8—(Canadian Press)—Cannibalism among the hunger-crazed eskimos and indians of Canada's northland was described here Saturday by Rev. W. G. Walton—the famous "Reindeer Walton" who fought for more than a decade to have reindeer brought into the northern wastes.

He gained that title because he succeeded finally in persuading the Canadian Government to populate the North with reindeer after the disappearance of the huge caribou herds that once roamed the sub-Arctic territory.

Starvation

Extinction of the caribou brought starvation to thousands of eskimos across the top of Canada, he said, and conditions were particularly bad in his territory of Ungava around the latter part of the 19th century. In the winter of 1892-1893 —the year he came to the north— 164 Indians and Eskimos starved to death in his district alone.

Some of the survivors, driven to that extremity by the tortures of hunger, ate the dead. There was no food to be had, the veteran clergyman said. The aborigines had depended almost solely on the caribou for food, and when the animals migrated into Labrador in 1883 they were left helpless.

Scarcity of Animal Life

One of the peculiarities of the region to the east of Hudson Bay, he said, was the scarcity of animal life. "The scarcity of seals in Hudson Bay particularly has caused a large number of deaths by starvation," Rev. Mr. Walton said.

Even now, he declared, food is still scarce among the natives in this territory. Only two years ago 22 persons died there of starvation. "Quite a number are still starving," the minister said. And from time to time, he declared, there have been instances of cannibalism.

He hopes this will be curbed when the great reindeer herd which the Government brought down from Alaska spreads further east. This will be a matter of years. Right now, the herd of 3,000 animals is around the MacKenzie River.

Only Livelihood

When it has increased to 5,000, about half will be moved further east. And as this smaller group multiplies, animals will be moved eastward from year to year "until they cross the whole of Canada, and all the northern residents have been provided with a livelihood."

"The eskimo race," he declared, "should be preserved. They are a bright, jolly, independent and ambitious people." Advent of the reindeer should provide them with what would develop eventually into a huge industry. "Raising reindeer is generally conceded to be Alaska's major industry," the clergyman said, "and there is no reason to believe that it should not be just as succesful in Canada."

Still in North

Five ships have not yet come back to port. The Little Eagle, "log loaded" with 26,000 pelts, was steaming towards home tonight, and back among the floes were the other four.

They will soon be starting south, with big kills for the most part. Captain Abraham Kean, 79 year old commodore of the fleet, is high liner among the remaining skippers. His old Beothic has loaded well over 40,000 pelts, and the Captain has achieved a personal kill of better than a million seals.

No other sealing captain in history has come near this mark, achieved in 62 years "on the ice." This was the veteran master's 66th voyage into the Arctic, but he led his men into the "main patch" of seals just as unerringly as he did a quarter century ago. And he vows he'll be up there looking for the herds again next Spring.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

By John L. Cooley, Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 8—(Associated Press)—The sight-seeing Congress men who spent half an hour in the Stock Exchange visitors gallery Saturday saw a quiet, routine market. Final changes for stocks mostly of the fractional variety, averaged into a small net loss, while transactions, amounting to only 548,020 shares, represented the smallest Saturday business in three months.

Wall Street went home for the weekend without learning what the House of Representatives interstate and foreign commerce committee had decided with regard to redrafting the Stock Exchange regulation bill, but it later developed that most of this work had been put over to next week. Washington dispatches, at the same time, expressed a general opinion that modifications were coming, especially with respect to margin provisions.

Bonds were quiet also, although their advance, which featured the week's security dealings, made another new high on the basis of the closing composite. Commodities fluctuated narrowly, except for rye which extended its original gains. Numerous preferred stocks continued to attract buyers.

A few stocks escaped from the narrow groove which bounded movements of the usual leaders. American Telephone ran into some selling, presumably a reflection of the Spiawn report's recommendation of a thorough inquiry into communication company affairs; at the worst it was off a point and a half. Allied Chemical sagged 2. Otherwise the larger changes were mostly made by inactives.

Cluett Peabody, Curtis Publishing, Devoe and Raynolds "A," Hershey Chocolate and United Dyewood rose a point or more in small transfers. Noranda and Howe Sound were firm metals, the former being fairly active. Chesapeake Corp. worked a little higher in furtherance of yesterday's efforts, but shares of the railway companies were quiet though firm. Light and power issues accomplished little.

Business news contributed scantily to market fare. One estimate placed the probable increase in U. S. Steel's March shipments at 150,000 tons or more, on the theory that operations had expanded substantially last month and that March contained more working days than February. Such an increase would bring total shipments for the quarter to approximately 1,250,000 tons. April has witnessed a mild recession, but everyone is looking for a marked pick-up because of the active consumer buying which is being done as a protection against the higher prices.

Every Month a Cheque
Every month a holiday!

Every progressive man or woman ought to ask this question: "Since I cannot work all my life, what should I do about an Income for my later years?"

Here is the answer. An Imperial Pension Bond will guarantee to pay you a certain definite income every month after you reach the age you want it to commence.

For instance, a $50 a month Pension Bond to commence at age 60 would give you $50 plus profits every month as long as you live. This income would be paid for at least 10 years, even should you not live that long.

Should you not live to age 60 the Bond would pay your beneficiaries all the money you had paid in plus profits.

Any time after three years you could withdraw the full surrender value plus profits or a monthly income payable as long as you live.

No medical examination is required to secure an Imperial Pension Bond.
